Preparation for the Army—Sandhurst, Woolwich, or Militia—and Civil Service.

HOLLYWOOD, FOREST HILL, S.E., KENT.

Mr. H. R. CLINTON, M.A., F.R. Hist. S.,

*Author of the historical manuals for Sandhurst and Woolwich candidates,
"From Crécy to Assye,"* "The Peninsular War and Wellington's Campaigns in France and Belgium,"†*

Prepares about Twelve Pupils for the above examinations. He is assisted by a staff of thoroughly efficient and experienced masters, graduates of English and Foreign Universities. The small number of Pupils admits of the tuition being really individual.

* "To students of military history it will be a most useful work."—Letter from Lord Wolseley. "A unique feature in the work is that the plans of Crécy, Poitiers, and Agincourt are contributed by French collaborators. It also contains, by permission of Lord Hartington, Clive's original despatch on the battle of Plassey. Earl Stanhope has supplied a copy of his ancestor's victory at Almenara; and there are some new 'ana' à propos of Assye."—United Service Gazette.—"Ought to be in the hands of every student of military history."—Broad Arrow.—"Clear and concise."—Daily News.—"Especially valuable for the new facts it supplies."—Military Budget.—"Sketched in clear detail, with admirable conciseness, and with a graphic power of portrayal."—Scotsman.—"Mr. Clinton shows a capacity for research sufficient to establish a reputation in any other department of history."—Academy.

† "Admirably adapted to the purpose for which it was written."—Broad Arrow.—"Clear and vigorous."—Standard.—"Excellent reading, and altogether good."—Scotsman.—"Clear and concise: a succinct sketch of a notable contest."—John Bull.—"For the ordinary student of military history it is well adapted by its lucidity and terseness of style."—Edinburgh Courant.—"A useful and spirited epitome."—Graphic.

During an experience of twelve years MR. CLINTON has been very successful with his pupils; and only one has failed on his final competitive trial.

A list of Pupils who have passed in recent Examinations will be forwarded on application.

The House occupies a commanding and salubrious position, on the Sydenham Hills, sufficiently removed from Town to avoid the temptations of London life, and sufficiently near to secure the advantages of London masters.

Each Pupil has a separate bedroom.

Pupils are received by the Month or Term. There are three Terms, of about three months each, the Vacations being at Christmas and after the Summer Army Examinations; but during the Vacations arrangements can be made for the tuition and board of Candidates who desire to continue their studies.

The Fee is Forty-five Pounds per Term, or Sixteen Guineas per Month. It includes tuition in all the ordinary subjects (except, if required, Freehand Drawing—One Guinea per Term), and Board; the only extras being Laundry, Books (if supplied), Stationery, and Church Sitting.

The School.

NEW PUPILS will be admitted in September, after Christmas, and at Easter.

There are Four Divisions:—

1. Upper Classical School, intended to prepare Pupils for the Universities, for the Theological, General Literature, and Medical Departments of the College, and for the Learned Professions.

2. Upper Modern School, intended to prepare Pupils for General and Mercantile Pursuits, for the Department of Engineering in the College, and for the Military Academies.

3. The Middle School comprises several Classes, each with its Classical and Modern Division, for Pupils who are too old for the Lower, but not sufficiently advanced for the Upper School.

4. Lower School.—This Division includes Boys over eight years of age, and is intended to prepare them to enter the Senior Divisions.

For the Prospectus of any of the above Departments, apply, personally or by post-card, to

J. W. CUNNINGHAM, Esq., Secretary, King's College, London.

CORRIGENDA AND OCCURRENCES DURING PRINTING.

Changes in Head Masterships, and a few emendations and typographical errors which have occurred during the passing of the numerous sheets of this work through the press, will be found duly noted and corrected at the end of the Introductory chapter. The author would ask those readers who purpose using this work for referential purposes, to kindly transfer with a pen, to the respective pages, the few corrections therein given, and he will consider it a gratifying recognition of his labours if SUBSCRIBERS would allow this book to be seen by their friends. Any written expression of opinion, from observant readers, as to the usefulness of the work in its present form, will be most thankfully received, and practical suggestions, with a view to improvement in future editions, will confer a still greater obligation.

Dec. 11th, 1883.

CHEL TEN HAM HOUSE, BOURNEMOUTH.

MR. ALFRED F. ROPER, M.A. (Class Hon.) of Keble College, Oxford, receives a limited number of Pupils to prepare for the Public Schools, Universities, the Britannia and other Examinations.

Mr. Roper is assisted by a Resident Tutor and a Resident German Master (for Music and Languages), besides well-qualified Visiting Masters.

The staff of teachers is large in proportion to the number of boys, which permits of those who are backward or in delicate health receiving much individual help. Care is taken to interest all boys in their work, and to make it thorough.

Particular attention is paid to the study of French, and boys can be otherwise specially prepared, if wished, in modern subjects.

Hours of work are from 9.30 to 12.30, 3.30 to 5.30, and 7 to 8. Wednesdays and Saturdays are half-holidays.

The House stands on the East Cliff, in the best part of Bournemouth. It is close to the sea, but well sheltered by the pines. The soil is gravel and sand.

The household management is superintended by Mrs. Roper; there is also a competent Matron. The bedrooms are large and airy, and the arrangements thoroughly comfortable.

The well known mild but bracing climate of Bournemouth, and the beneficial effects of the pine trees, render it a very desirable place for boys in delicate health. The situation and general arrangements of the House are well adapted to meet the requirements of those who are not strong, and great care is taken of them, both in School and out.

There is a Playground attached to the House, and a large covered Gymnasium. A Drill-Sergeant attends regularly. All healthy amusements are encouraged; Mr. Roper, or those helping him, always joining with the boys in their games.

There is good bathing in the sea close by, and swimming lessons may be had. The House is near the Church.

The year is divided into Three Terms, according to the Public School System. A Term's Notice, or Fee, required previous to the removal of a Pupil.

FEES, PAYABLE EACH TERM IN ADVANCE.

For boys under twelve	80 guineas a year.
over twelve	100 „ „

The extras are Music, Drawing, and the usual personal expenses.

A reduction in terms is made for brothers in the house at the same time.

Arrangements may be made for Indian boys, or others, if wished, to stay throughout the holidays.

RAITHBY, FITZJOHN'S AVENUE, HAMPSTEAD

(Late 84 and 86, King Henry's Road, N.W.)

Principals—MR. J. ASHTON, M.A.,

(Fifth Wrangler) Camb.;

Fellow of University College, London, and late Assistant Examiner in the University of London; and

MR. A. T. PYNE, B.A.,

(Mathematical Honours), Camb.,

Prepare Candidates for the Indian Civil Service, Woolwich, Sandhurst, the Indian Forests, University Scholarships, and other Competitive Examinations.

There is a large staff of excellent masters, and no pains are spared to ensure a successful result.

At the last Examination for the Indian Forests, Mr. Ashton sent up two Candidates, both of whom were successful, one securing the First place in the list and the other the Sixth place; and at the last Examination for the Indian Civil Service, one of his pupils passed 26th. Numerous pupils have passed for Woolwich, Sandhurst, and Cooper's Hill.

Mr. Ashton having bought the above freehold property (the healthiest spot near London), has spared no trouble or expense in making it fit for the reception of pupils; it is easy of access, being very near four Railway Stations, and is but ten minutes' walk from Hampstead Heath.

Raithby contains twenty-four bedrooms and eight reception rooms, and stands in upwards of half an acre of land. No other London tutor can offer such advantages to resident pupils; illness is unknown.

There are every facilities for teaching science.

Electrical and Chemical Laboratories, and a collection of Geological Specimens.

The sons of the undermentioned have been recent pupils of Mr. Ashton.

The Marquis of Londonderry,

Earl Shannon,

Lord Napier of Magdala,

Lord Walter Scott,

Baron de Robeck,

Col. Chesney,

General Agnew,

General Elrington, C.B.,

Major-General the Honorable E. T. Gage,

Admiral Sir John Dalrymple-Hay, Bart., M.P., etc.

Also the nephew of the Marquis of Sligo.

The Fees are inclusive, and are payable in advance; they are fixed at the rate of Seventy Pounds for the term of twelve weeks for Resident Pupils, and at the rate of Thirty-five Pounds for Non-Resident Pupils. When the term happens to be longer a proportionate fee is charged. Pupils can enter at any time, and instruction is given in the holidays when necessary.

The Michaelmas term begins about Sept. 1st; the Lent term early in January; and the Easter term about the middle of April.

Prospectuses forwarded on application, or they may be obtained at Hewetson's Library, High Street, Hampstead.

SOUTH KENSINGTON PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

FOR THE

Sons of Noblemen and Gentlemen,

35, HEREFORD SQUARE, GLOUCESTER ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON,
LONDON, S.W.

PRINCIPAL - - A. S. B. SCOTT,
Assisted by Masters and Governesses.

THIS School was established in 1867 for the purpose of providing for the sons of noblemen and gentlemen thorough training and instruction on the soundest educational principles, thereby enabling them to take a high position in any of the great public schools.

The School is situated at the corner of Hereford Square and Gloucester Road, South Kensington. It stands on a deep bed of gravel in one of the healthiest parts of London, and within two minutes' walk of the Metropolitan Station, Gloucester Road. It is within three or four minutes' walk of the Horticultural Gardens, the South Kensington, Natural History, and India Museums, all of which are favourite resorts of the boys in recreation hours. Kensington Gardens are also within a few minutes' walk of the School, and to these the boys have access for play.

During play and recreation hours the boys are under the supervision of a master.

The class-rooms are provided with diagrams, models, specimens of plants, minerals, and objects of natural history, as well as with the most highly approved educational apparatus.

Special care is taken not to over-tax or weary young pupils by long and uninviting lessons, but on the contrary to present every subject to the mind in its most attractive form, in order to awaken in the pupils a lively and intelligent interest in their studies, and in all that is passing around them.

But the chief feature of the School is the thoroughness of the system adopted for GROUNDING the pupils in each branch of instruction. By this method the more advanced course is rendered comparatively easy, and the progress much more rapid and pleasant than usual.

Another beneficial result of the system pursued is that the pupils are singularly happy, and rarely fail to take a lively and increasing interest in their studies.

The youngest pupils are taught by an experienced governess, under the direct and constant supervision of the Principal.

In order that pupils may enjoy all the comforts of a home, and that strict individual attention may be given to their religious, moral, and intellectual training, as well as to their health and physical education, the numbers received at the School are strictly limited.

Written and viva voce examinations by public examiners take place at the end of the term; and the papers, as well as reports of the results of the examinations and of the work done during the term, are sent home for the inspection of parents. No pupil is retained at the School whose conduct and progress are considered unsatisfactory.

Particular attention is paid to the development of the varied powers of the mind, as well as the emotional nature, in order to lay the foundation of those principles which will enable them in after life to occupy the positions of Christians and gentlemen.

The course of instruction includes all English subjects, together with Latin, Greek, French, and Mathematics. The extra subjects are German, Music, Drawing, Drilling, Gymnastics, and Riding.

{	Boarders	25 to 35 guineas	per term, inclusive.
	Day Boarders . .	10 „ 14 „ „ „
	Day Pupils . . .	4 „ 10 „ „ „

The year is divided into Three Terms of about thirteen weeks each.

A TERM'S NOTICE, or payment of the fees, is required previous to the removal of a pupil.

P R E F A C E .

MORE than ten years have passed away since "Our Schools and Colleges" made its first appeal to public favour. Between that period and the present time seven successive editions have been published, and the work has grown into such proportions that it has now expanded into a book comprising nearly 1,300 pages of closely-printed matter.

In this much enlarged edition we have endeavoured to supply all the necessary data respecting the newly-founded Institutions known as the "Royal University of Ireland," "Victoria University, Manchester," the "Royal College of Music," the "City and Guilds of London Institute for the Advancement of Technical Education," "Intermediate Education in Ireland," and the scarcely yet founded Colleges of "Bangor" and "Cardiff," in North and South Wales.

These and other educational institutions of recent creation will be found fully represented in this volume, and an interesting chapter is also introduced on "Continental Education."

Many other subjects of importance bearing upon educational progress in this country have been carefully introduced and adequately treated. To accomplish this, requisite space has been secured, by rejecting from the pages of the present edition such matter as changes have rendered superfluous or irrelevant, or by curtailing what, upon a closer examination, proved to be of secondary moment. The advantage gained by this elimination has been utilised for a fuller development of those subjects which have of late become of increased interest to both teacher and student.

With regard to the re-classification of our great Institutions termed "Public Schools," we hope that by incorporating, as we have now done, twenty-four other large schools in that special section of the work which has hitherto been devoted exclusively to the "nine ancient schools," that we have discharged what we hold to be a duty towards such establishments as Marlborough, Clifton, Wellington, Cheltenham, and Institutions of similar standing; which, although of comparatively recent origin, have already nobly won their way to popularity, having achieved the highest educational position for physical, moral, and intellectual training.

In this change of classification we are glad to find that our views have been fully supported by the recognised authorities at the leading Universities, who have likewise advanced these great schools of the "Victorian epoch," and several others of equal importance, to the high level of Eton and Winchester.

We are quite prepared to find some objections to this new system of classification, and possibly from a few Head Masters of the leading reorganised Grammar Schools, which, to do them justice, are now playing an influential part in the education of the upper and middle classes. However this may be, we have been guided, in this rearrangement of the great Schools, by what appeared to be the truest and the most accepted popular tests—namely, those of numbers and general importance, as well as by educational results, or the dates of respective foundations.

We have, after due consideration, declined to follow, in this section, the principle of classification adopted by the Endowed Schools' Commissioners—for the distinctions they use of "first grade," "second grade," and "third grade" Schools are such as appear, in the eyes of many, to be occasionally arbitrary, and invariably invidious. We have, therefore, preferred to follow the present method of classifying our great schools. The term "grade," however, is still applied to nearly all the other endowed schools which fall into the common category of middle-class schools, and these are placed in topographical order among the private schools in Part VIII., giving, as in most cases has been hitherto done, the full curriculum of studies, the fees and exhibitions, scholarships and bursaries attached, as well as other items of necessary information, to enable the inquirer to form an adequate conception as to the real character, standing, and educational advantages of those schools.

The subject of the Higher Education of Girls and Women has been, for some time past, a theme of such deep interest, that it was the Author's wish to publish, simultaneously with this volume, a companion work uniform with it, and treating exhaustively upon the existing systems and institutions for the education of girls and women. The labour necessary in the preparation of so important a book is the chief cause of the prolonged delay in the publication of this edition.

It is with unfeigned pleasure we announce that this educational work has received the gracious approval of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and of several other members of the Royal Family, including H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge.

A further flattering evidence of this recognition is to be found in the fact that their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Albany, have graciously accepted the dedication of these volumes; a distinction which is not without marked significance when we consider how great is the support uniformly bestowed by our Student Prince upon every educational movement in this country. Testimonies to the value of "Our Schools and Colleges," as a work on education, have also been received from Cabinet Ministers, from Members of Parliament of both political parties, from Archbishops and Bishops, from the Head Masters of our great Public Schools, and from other personages distinguished in politics, literature, art, and science, many of whom considered that such an educational work was a desideratum, and that the void in this particular field of literature had been at length adequately filled.

As a record of the usefulness of this work, and especially as an illustration of its far-reaching influence, it may be opportune to relate the following incident, which at least has the peculiar interest of novelty, and which may possibly be quoted as a literary fact by writers on educational subjects in the future. At the opening of the exhibition of the Royal Academy in 1883, the author incidentally met a highly-intelligent Negro, who informed him that having carefully studied an early edition of this work, whilst still at home in Africa, he was induced to leave that Continent in order to pursue his studies in England ; and that, long prior to his arrival in Liverpool, he had, by means of this book, made himself thoroughly acquainted with all our Institutions and systems of education. This African gentleman is now a graduate of University College, Oxford, and a Barrister-at-law of the Inner Temple, being at present in practice in this country.

With some pardonable degree of pride, therefore, "Our Schools and Colleges" may justly claim the merit of having introduced the first Negro graduate of the University of Oxford, and certainly the first Negro who has ever pleaded at the Bar of England.

Numerous subscribers of rank and influence in other distant regions of the globe, have also made direct application to the author for copies of this work, in the concluding pages of which will be found several Appendices containing authenticated particulars of a few selected private schools for boys and young ladies in England, France, Germany, Belgium, and Switzerland. Such information cannot fail to be of considerable service to parents and guardians who contemplate sending their children or wards to efficient schools at home or on the Continent.

With the satisfactory results which have attended the publication of this work in the past, it may reasonably be anticipated that the present edition will meet with the same favour and encouragement from a discerning public.

INTRODUCTORY CHAPTER.

NO one can compare, or rather contrast, the character and extent of English education at the present time, with its character and extent twenty-five years ago, without being struck with the silent and significant revolution which has passed over it, and completely transformed it. This change has affected every department of our education. New studies, new methods of instruction, new facilities, and new rewards for training, have come to the front, and led on the educational progress of the age to grander and greater issues than have ever before been realized in the history of the English people. A quarter of a century ago, the higher as well as the lower education of the country was equally in a deplorable and defective condition. The most venerable seats of higher education—the ancient Universities—were at this period closed, on denominational grounds, against the great bulk of the English people; the curriculum then pursued excluded studies imperatively demanded by a scientific and progressive age, and the growing requirements of a great commercial people. At that time, the most profitable and becoming rewards of learning were monopolised at our Universities, in the majority of cases to the exclusion of the more meritorious, by men who happened to be brought up at a particular school, to be born in a particular county, or to be akin, or perhaps named after the name of a benefactor or founder of a College. All these “barriers” to progress have been broken down, and a free career has been opened for industry, character, and talent, to the highest honours, and to the most honourable and lucrative positions in Oxford and Cambridge, irrespective of social rank or denominational profession.

Nor is this all. To the narrow and meagre range of the old curriculum of these Universities has succeeded a course of studies, broader and deeper, and incomparably more worthy of the name and the professed scope of a University, which, as the term itself implies, should be a seat of Universal learning. The student at Oxford and Cambridge in these days can study with advantage any language, any science, any literature, and almost any art known to civilised humanity; and it is well that it is so, for it should never be forgotten anywhere, and least of all at the highest seats of English education, that when the range of education is narrow, some of the minds submitted to its discipline will necessarily acquire no education at all, and this purely from the innate want of aptitude and capacity for such studies; for it is an axiom in education, which admits of no dispute, that there are some studies which exercise and educate with advantage all the faculties of some minds, and others which educate some of the faculties of all minds, while the old almost exclusive study of classics, as at Oxford, and of mathematics at Cambridge, was found utterly incapable of educating the faculties of some minds. We must also chronicle amongst the changes for the better the increased facilities which Oxford and Cambridge have now furnished to students, by throwing open to public competition its once closed Scholarships and Exhibitions, by the admission to the privileges of a University career of non-attached students, and by the magnificent foundation of Keble College, which is every way worthy of the saintly scholar and the scholarly saint whose honoured name it bears, and is well doing a great educational work for those whose circumstances impose on them the very strictest economy in their University career.

Each of the two great Universities has extended its functions as an "Alma Mater" to all the sons and daughters of England by the establishment of local examinations, and, by thus testing the character of the education of our middle-class schools, has raised its quality and given an onward impulse to middle-class education throughout the country, by at once stimulating a more active competition amongst our schoolmasters, and a more generous and wholesome rivalry amongst their pupils. Nor have our great Public Schools been uninfluenced by the spirit of the age, following step by step, as they have done, the changes adopted by the Universities in the enlargement of their curriculum. The Latin and Greek languages are no longer the "be all and the end all" of the teaching of our great schools, which now find an appropriate place for, and foster all branches of, learning and science of a real educational value to the faculties they profess to train and discipline. Twenty years ago it was notorious, that a large proportion of boys sent to our Public Schools learned nothing but idleness and bad habits, simply because there was nothing taught that they could learn, while for the "little Latin and less Greek" they had "little talent and less taste." It would however, on the contrary, be almost impossible at the present time for any boy at a Public School, who has any faculties at all, not to find some study or pursuit which will exercise and educate those faculties to the advantage of the student himself, as well as to the interest of society.

It will not be necessary to enter into particulars as to the great elementary educational work now going on under the direction of our School Boards, which has been in active operation for the past few years in every district and town in the kingdom, effectually reaching the hearths and homes of all the working classes of this country; nor is this educational progress by any means confined to our own country—it is spreading far and near; at the present moment an amazing mental revolution is in operation across the Channel, greatly affecting the national elementary culture of the people; for in the recent budget of the French Republic, no less a sum than four million pounds sterling figures therein for the purpose of building twenty thousand good school-houses, to be erected at once in various parts of France, and it is proposed to make the popular instruction of the future compulsory and gratuitous. A law is also in preparation for the erection and endowment of several Colleges, in order to secure the formation of a better class of popular teachers; and the appointment of the schoolmasters, which has hitherto been in the hands of the Prefects, is to be transferred to the Rectors of the Academies. There are fifteen of these administrators of instruction, all nominees of the Government, and they reside in the different departments of France, and constitute the heads of the University of France. These Rectors will be called upon to nominate no fewer than thirty-six thousand elementary teachers, being an average of about two thousand two hundred each, a truly appalling amount of educational patronage. The enormous significance of this bold and recent educational legislation, with its certain influences on the future of France, cannot be easily estimated, for it will place a high degree of culture within the reach of every French citizen.

These changes are evidently the outcome of two kindred causes—a clearer and fuller insight into the truer principles of education, in relation to the imperative necessities of an age remarkable, above and beyond all others, for its progressive character; and further, the privilege of competitive examinations adopted so largely, and so liberally, by the successive Governments of this Empire in the selection of officials in the Army and Navy, as well as for the Civil Services of the country. The old régime of patronage has passed away, and we trust for ever, to make room for the principle of selection on the sole ground of merit, so as to put "the right man in the right place," and secure to the country the services of those most competent to advance her best interests. Though the system of competitive examinations has worked well, in every department into which it has been introduced, and has won for itself the approval of the nation at large, it is still not without opposition and objections in some quarters. We are frequently told that a competitive system would have deprived the English Army of the services of a Duke of Wellington, and the Indian Civil Service of the capacities of a Clive; but what right, may we venture to ask, has anyone to assume that either Clive or Wellington would have failed in any test of open competition, possessed as they were of all the essential qualities necessary to ensure success, and capable as they were of finding their way into the profession by dint of merit, as they actually did by the caprice of fortune in the first instance? Nor can we at all admit the force of the pertinence of the objection made by an intellectual test and an intellectual training, as inadequate to secure practical men with business capacities for the public service. The scholar is not necessarily a pedant and a necessary failure in all that is practical. This objection has been abundantly replied to by the experience of the last twenty years in the selection of candidates for the Indian Civil Service, and, nearer home, of the marked business abilities, and the masterly practical capacities of our leading statesmen, such as Mr. Gathorne Hardy, now Viscount Cranbrook, Lord Salisbury, Lord Carnarvon, Lord Shaftesbury, Sir Stafford Northcote, and many others, who are all scholars as well as statesmen of mark, and who won high honours at the Universities. The truth is, an intellectual training, and an intellectual test of the higher kind, always carry with them a moral training and a moral test; for it is impossible for men to succeed in winning their way to the highest intellectual honours at our Universities, without the continued exercise of principles and habits such as industry, self-restraint, economy of time, punctuality, and patience, which are not only of an essentially moral nature, but by which we lay the most permanent foundations for the development and perfection of business habits of the highest value in after life.

Such then, briefly, is the nature of the new phases of modern education, and the new demands made on it by the changed character of our age. In the volume now submitted to the public, I trust will be found a full and faithful record of all the requirements necessary to candidates for all competitive or qualifying examinations in the Universities or our great Public Schools, in the Army and Navy, Home and Indian Civil Services, the Colonial Service, in the Royal Military Schools, the Theological Colleges, Training Colleges, Royal College of Surgeons and Schools of Medicine, Inns of Court, and the Incorporated Law Society, the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, and our Banks.

The work has been delayed considerably in passing through the press, for which the only apology is the desire I have earnestly felt to render it as complete and as trustworthy as possible, to make it indeed a standard work of reference, and a practical guide to the high and middle-class education of the realm ; a desire which induced me to submit to the necessary delay in waiting for the best and most accurate information which I had applied for at the "fountain-heads." The authorised information I have been at length favoured with, by those who were most competent to give it, now enables me not merely to correct the errors and amend the inadvertencies of a former edition, but to add largely to the details of almost every educational institution and public examination formerly recorded, and to give such additional matter of educational interest, not only omitted in my former work, but not to be found in any other publication of the present character. I may add that I have been, in some cases, under the necessity of applying repeatedly in many authoritative quarters before I succeeded in gaining the required information, which I held to be essential to render the book complete in itself, and accordingly valuable to the public in general; and I can venture to assert that no labour, time, or expense has been wanting on my part to make this work a standard authority, and a trustworthy national guide on all matters of educational interest. With this end in view, in dealing with the Universities, I have not confined myself to a somewhat brief, yet comprehensive history of each college, but I have given particulars as to the various examinations students at each University are required to pass, with a view to their taking their final degree, as well as an account of the scholarships, fellowships, prizes, and other rewards and helps open to them, and the items of the necessary expenses. Candidates for Commissions in the Army will find in these pages all the details respecting the various examinations, and the means for entrance into the Military Colleges. In every department of the Civil Service—Home, Colonial, and Indian—the requisite information respecting the age of candidates, the subjects of examination, and the nature and value of the office competed for, is furnished with full particulars. Ample space and consideration have been bestowed on the Local and Higher Oxford and Cambridge Examinations, the Cambridge Extension Scheme, and the nature of the tests applied, and the rewards and degrees conferred on the successful candidates by the examiners.

In the interest alike of education and of the public, I have presented a summary of the conference of the Head Masters of our first-grade schools, as well as a brief article on the conference of Head Masters of our middle-class schools.

The volume further embraces summarised particulars of every public and endowed school in Great Britain and Ireland, as well as of nearly every private school and college, with the course of education pursued in each establishment, the educational staff, the fees, and the names of their respective Head Masters.

To add to the utility of the work, a carefully compiled and classified Index is given of 6,570 names, with the place of residence affixed to each ; and in addition to this all the schools will be found arranged in topographical order. These points will ensure the great facility of a double reference, and it is to be confidently hoped that the book will prove most useful, not merely to those who are engaged professionally in the great and growing necessities of education, but also to every head of a family who is anxious to furnish himself with clear information as to the character of the school or college most suited to his son's requirements, and likewise the nature and the character of the examination for which he must be prepared in the profession marked out for his future career.

Finally, those who are interested in education of any kind, may test the useful and practical nature of the work in many ways, as for example :—

(1) The student who is looking forward to matriculation at one of our Universities will learn from its pages the conditions on which he can enter, the restrictions of age, the nature of the examinations required at entrance and during his whole University course, the amount of fees, and the honours, degrees, and emoluments open to a successful career.

(2) Intending candidates for appointments open to public competition in any branch of the Civil Service, the Army or Navy, may learn, by ready reference to its pages, the kind of examination they would have to pass, the conditions of the competitive test, the proper authorities to whom they should apply, as well as the best known tutors for training candidates with a view to success in such competitions.

(3) To students intending to enter the legal profession, the same remarks are equally applicable.

(4) To the student who has a desire to enter the Church, either through the Universities or the Theological Colleges, these pages will supply every item of the needful and necessary information respecting fees, the heads of preliminary instruction and method of procedure, as well as the various means of assistance afforded by several societies towards the expenses incident on the training and education of candidates for Holy Orders.

A careful and candid examination of the volume, as a whole, which virtually embraces a condensed Calendar of every University, a Civil Service, Legal, Theological, Army, and an Educational Guide, will, I trust, leave an impression on the minds of the majority of my readers, that, notwithstanding the incidental errors inseparable from the most accurate compilation, and for which others may be responsible, some measure of success has crowned my efforts to render this book a valuable work of reference on all educational matters as they exist at the present day; and, in conclusion, I shall esteem it a personal favour if any one, on discovering an inaccuracy, or an omission of any kind, will kindly take the trouble to communicate the same, so that the ensuing volume may be made as perfect and as reliable as it is possible to be in a work of so complicated and diffusive a nature.

“Each finding, like a friend,

The College of Preceptors was established in the year 1846, and incorporated by Royal Charter in the year 1849, "for the purpose of promoting sound learning and of advancing the interests of education, especially among the middle classes, by affording facilities to the teacher for acquiring a knowledge of his profession, and by providing for the periodical session of a competent Board of Examiners, to ascertain and give certificates of the acquirements and fitness for their office of persons engaged or desiring to be engaged in the education of youth." With this view, the Charter empowers the College to hold Examinations of Teachers and Schools, and to grant Diplomas and Certificates to such persons as pass these Examinations satisfactorily.

To effect these objects, two plans of examination have been established :

- 1st. That of Teachers, to ascertain their qualifications and fitness to take part in the work of instruction ; and,
- 2nd. That of Pupils, to test their progress, and to afford at once to the Teacher and to the public a satisfactory criterion of the value of the instruction they receive.

The Diplomas granted by the College to Teachers are of three grades ; viz., Associate, Licentiate, and Fellow ; and the distinctive feature of these Examinations is, that in all cases the "Theory and Practice of Education" is an obligatory subject for each grade.

The Pupils' Examinations were established in the year 1854, and have been carried on periodically since that time with steadily increasing success. The number of pupils examined for Certificates during the year 1883 was about 14,000 ; and at the present time more than 2,700 schools in various parts of the country from time to time send up candidates for examination.

The Higher Certificates of the College are recognised by Her Majesty's Judges, and by the General Medical Council, as guarantees of good general education ; and consequently the holders of them, who may intend to enter the Legal and Medical professions, are exempted from the necessity of submitting to the Preliminary Literary Examinations held by the Incorporated Law Society, and by the various Medical Corporations of the United Kingdom.

The Examinations, both of Teachers and of Pupils, are open to both sexes. There is a large proportion of female candidates at each Examination for Diplomas, and the number of Girls' Schools from which pupils are sent up as candidates for certificates is now very considerable, and is rapidly increasing.

Courses of Lectures on the Science and Art of Education are regularly delivered under the direction of the Council, and Evening Meetings of the members of the College are held monthly (except during the Christmas and Midsummer vacations), for the purpose of reading and discussing papers upon subjects connected with education. Full reports of these meetings and discussions are published in the Educational Times, the journal of the College, which is sent monthly to every Member. Members also have the use of a Library of Educational Works, consisting of about 5,000 volumes, to which additions are constantly being made.

The Annual Subscription to the College is one guinea ; a single payment of ten guineas confers the privilege of Life Membership. All persons engaged in education are admissible as members, subject to election by the Council ; but all candidates are required to give evidence of having passed an examination satisfactory to the Council before some recognised examining body, or, failing that, to pass an examination at the College.

The Regulations of the Examinations of candidates for Diplomas and membership, and of pupils in schools, may be obtained on application to the Secretary at the College.

HILL LANDS, WARGRAVE, BERKS.

POSTAL ADDRESS—Wargrave, Henley, Oxon.

RAILWAY STATION—Twyford, G.W.R.

TELEGRAPH OFFICE—Twyford, Berks.

Principal: The Rev. A. R. PRITCHARD, M.A. Oxon.

Vice-Principal: E. CARLISLE, Esq. (late Foundation Scholar of St. John's College Cambridge, 19th Wrangler in 1878).

The staff of Assistant Instructors now consists of seven gentlemen, five of whom are resident in Wargrave, and, like Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Carlisle, devoting their entire time to the Pupils at Hill Lands. All these gentlemen are graduates in (very) high honours from their respective Universities, and possessed of some years' successful experience in instructing in the subjects they undertake previously to their joining Mr. Pritchard.

Mr. PRITCHARD has had fifteen years' experience in Tuition, and Mr. CARLISLE was four years Senior Mathematical Lecturer in the establishment of the late Mr. Rippin, of Woolwich Common, after whose death, in the spring of 1883, he joined Mr. Pritchard. While with Mr. Rippin an average of nine Pupils passed from Mr. Carlisle into Sandhurst and Woolwich.

During the last four and a half years candidates from Hill Lands (whose number now exceeds 40) have been successful 148 times at one or other of the Army Examinations.

Highest Places gained in Lists—

some of the foregoing twice, and even thrice over, and among the successes for 1883 are the very highest of all ever yet gained.

Eight out of nine Candidates for the most recent Sandhurst Preliminary Examinations passed.

All four Woolwich Candidates November and December, 1883, qualified. Lists of the successful at this and the corresponding competition for Sandhurst not published at time of preparing this for press.

Mr. PRITCHARD'S success enabled him to purchase the grounds of Hill Lands (10 acres) in 1881 where he has built already three spacious houses, and a fourth is in course of erection, carefully designed to meet the requirements of his work. The site is on the incline of a hill, and is most bracing. In the arrangements, the Pupils' wants during leisure hours have not been forgotten. There is a large Cricket and Football Ground, besides Lawn Tennis, etc.

Work is continued through every Vacation to the extent needful.

Militia Officers seeking Direct Commissions in Her Majesty's Service.

A distinct department has been established in a separate building at Hill Lands for the reception of Militia Officers desirous of competing at the half-yearly Examinations held in the months of March and September in the Four Military Subjects only, viz.:

MILITARY LAW,
MILITARY TACTICS,
MILITARY TOPOGRAPHY,
FORTIFICATION,

as well as for Commissioned Officers preparing for the Staff College.

Mr. PRITCHARD has placed the General Superintendence of the Instruction of Officers of this department in charge of Lieut.-Colonel P. C. Story, late of the 40th Regiment and 26th Regiment Cameronian.

Colonel Story and another resident officer, of subordinate rank, as his assistant, devote their whole time to the officers undergoing the requisite course of instruction at Hill Lands.

Colonel Story is a Graduate of the Staff College, and has had eight years' experience as Garrison Instructor, during which period an average of nine out of every ten Officers instructed by him passed their Examination. He has also served on the Staff of both Adjutant and Quartermaster-General.

The officer assisting him has had considerable experience in Instruction.

Candidates from Hill Lands have been successful at all the Military Competitive Examinations hitherto held.

Usually thirty Commissions are offered at each Examination to 270 Candidates, so that only one in nine can succeed.

In the Examinations held in 1882, and March, 1883, one officer out of every four sent from Hill Lands obtained his Commission.

Twenty Militia Officers have gained direct Commissions from Wargrave since the formation of the department. The highest place gained on these lists has been won September, 1883, viz., 2nd; among the other high places are 3rd, 9th, 18th, 20th, etc.

For Terms, References, etc., apply to the Rev. A. R. PRITCHARD.

THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

THE origin of this University cannot now be discovered. By some, Alfred the Great is said to have been its founder, but the statement is not supported by history. What we do know, however, is that Oxford dates from before the time of Edward the Confessor, and that its first charter was granted by Henry III. It has twenty Colleges and five Halls, each College being a corporate body, administering its own affairs, but the property of the Halls is held in trust by the University, which carries on its business by means of two sets of members, the House of Congregation and the House of Convocation; the former of which receives from the Hebdomadal Council, consisting of the heads of Colleges, etc., statutes framed for the government of the University, and transmits them, if approved, to the latter for enactment. Convocation elects the two members of Parliament who sit for Oxford University. Candidates for Degrees have to be in residence twelve Terms at least before they can proceed to the Examination for B.A. The cost of a career at Oxford depends to a great extent upon the habits of the Student. The University Commissioners estimated it recently at about 600*l.*, but it has since been shown that, with economy, half that sum may be made to suffice. 400*l.* would be ample for one of moderate means and wants. It has been calculated that the cost of tuition, rent, and food in the College erected as a memorial to Keble is about 51*l.* per annum, or 153*l.* for the whole course. This of course does not include the expenses of a Student during the vacations. The following brief summary of the method of proceeding for a Degree in Arts (as the one most commonly taken) may be found useful: more detailed information, as given in the Examination Statutes of the University, will be found further on.

1. The first step of a Student upon joining the University is to Matriculate at some College or Hall, and there is a preliminary (College) examination, the subjects being elementary classics and mathematics, varying slightly at the different Colleges. In some Colleges (e.g. Balliol) this examination is sometimes found difficult. The amount of caution money also varies. Testimonials of character and fitness are required. The Term in which a Student Matriculates counts (with or without residence) as one of the twelve Terms required for the Degree of Bachelor. At Matriculation, after writing his name in the Register in the presence of the Vice-Chancellor, the Student will then receive for future guidance an academical blue-book containing the University statutes, and he is then (but not before this) a member of the University, with the title of Undergraduate. After this he will be required to pass Responsions, and he will continue to be in statu pupillari until admitted to the full benefits of Graduate life.

2. RESPONSIONS are usually passed soon after Matriculation. The subjects are—Arithmetic, Euclid or Algebra, Latin, Greek, and in Latin prose composition.

3. FIRST PUBLIC EXAMINATION (commonly called “Moderations”). For Pass as early as the fourth Term from Matriculation; for Honours from fifth to eighth Term. Subjects: Latin and Greek (including portions at sight), Logic, or Euclid and Algebra. The Honour subjects are similar, but more extensive, except that Logic is compulsory instead of alternative.

4. SECOND PUBLIC EXAMINATION. For Pass, “as soon as they have satisfied the Moderators” Candidates may present themselves; for Honours only from their twelfth to sixteenth Term. If a candidate has taken Honours in one School by the sixteenth Term, he may present himself for Honours in other Schools up to the twentieth Term. Pass subjects (under certain limitations) are to be taken from the following:—Greek or Greek and Latin Philosophical and Historical Authors, Greek and Roman History, English Composition, Modern History, a Modern Language, Political Economy, Law, Geometry, Mechanics, Chemistry, Physics.

The Honour subjects scarcely admit of brief enumeration, but will be found in fuller detail further on. They are ranged under the heads of (1) Classics, (2) Mathematics, (3) Natural Science, (4) Jurisprudence, (5) Modern History, (6) Theology. In granting Students their first Degree—that is, when the final examination is passed and they are permitted to don their Bachelor gown—the Vice-Chancellor does not recognise them as having fully attained to the honour of being his confrères, and therefore they do not return into the Congregation House in their new robes, as the M.A.’s do, to salute him, and receive his salutation in return, as being now of equal rank with himself. And as for the Degree of Master of Arts, no further examination is required, but merely the payment of certain fees amounting to about 12*l.* The greater distinction is accessible to all. Other Degrees are granted in Music, Civil Law, Medicine, and Divinity, particulars of which are given in this article.

By a Statute of the University passed in 1880, any College or Institution within the United Kingdom, or in any part of the British Dominions, being a place of Education in which the majority of the students are of the age of 17 at least, may on certain conditions be admitted to the privileges of an affiliated College. The College or Institution must be incorporated by Royal Charter or otherwise established on a permanent and efficient footing. The effect of this statute reduces the period of Academical residence from 3 years to 2 years.

The Institutions at present admitted to this privilege are—1880 June 1, St. David's College, Lampeter.

1882 June 15, University College, Nottingham.

THE HOUSE OF CONGREGATION consists of Regents. Doctors of every Faculty and all Masters of Arts are necessario Regentes for two years from the end of the Term in which they are admitted to their respective Degrees; and the following, if members of Convocation, are Regentes ad placitum: Professors; Doctors of every Faculty resident in the University; Heads of Colleges and Halls, or in their absence their deputies; Masters of the Schools; Censors, and Deans of Colleges.

The business of this House is confined almost exclusively to ratifying the nomination of Examiners by the Vice-Chancellor and Proctors, and to the granting of ordinary Degrees.

HOUSE OF CONVOCATION. This consists of both Regents and Non-Regents. In this House is transacted all the formal business of the University as a Corporate body, except what is above named as belonging to the House of Congregation.

No Statute is binding until it has received the assent of Convocation.

Matters of special and individual concern, anything which requires immediate provision, payments of money from the University Chest, are settled by Decree of Convocation.

The House of Convocation confers Honorary Degrees and others granted out of the usual course by Diploma or by Decree.

It also decides whether the Seal of the University shall be affixed to any document for whose validity the Seal is requisite.

In Convocation nearly all Elections to offices in the gift of the University take place.

In both the House of Congregation and the House of Convocation the Chancellor or the Vice-Chancellor or his Deputy singly, and the two Proctors together, have the right of veto in all matters except elections; otherwise every question is decided by the majority of votes.

THE CONGREGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD consists of certain official persons of all those members of Convocation who resided within one mile and a half of Carfax during the year.

The Chancellor or the Vice-Chancellor or one of his Deputies, and the two Proctors or their respective Deputies, preside. No quorum is specified in order to constitute a meeting.

The business of this body is almost entirely confined to legislation. When the Hebdomadal Council has framed any new Statute, it must first be promulgated, after due notice, in this assembly, and the question that the principle of the Statute as stated in the Preamble be approved must be then submitted to Congregation.

No right of negative is allowed to the Vice-Chancellors or the Proctors in this assembly, but every question is decided by the majority of votes. A Statute approved by Congregation is to be submitted to Convocation after an interval of seven entire days for final adoption or rejection.

THE HEBDOMADAL COUNCIL consists of certain official and of certain elected members.

The official members are the Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, the late Vice-Chancellor for one year after he has ceased to hold office or until the next triennial election, and the two Proctors.

The elected members are six Heads of Colleges or Halls, six Professors, and six members of Convocation. These are elected by the Congregation of the University of Oxford for six years. This Council meets every Monday at 1.30 P.M. in Term time, and whenever convoked by the Vice-Chancellor, and has the initiative in all the legislation of the University.

UNIVERSITY TERMS.

There are four Terms for academical exercises in each year, but for many Professors' Lectures and some other purposes Easter and Trinity Terms together count as only one.

No provision respecting the standing of Candidates shall be so construed as to debar anyone from offering himself for any Examination held in either Easter or Trinity Term, who might have offered himself had the Examination fallen in the other of those two Terms.

1. MICHAELMAS TERM begins on the 10th of October, and ends on the 17th of December.

2. HILARY (OR LENT) TERM begins on the 24th of January, and ends on the day before Palm-Sunday.

3. EASTER TERM begins on the Wednesday after Easter Day, and ends on the Friday before Whitsun Day.

4. TRINITY (OR ACT) TERM begins on the day before Whitsun Day, and usually ends on the Saturday after the first Tuesday in July, but may be continued beyond that day by Congregation.

If the day fixed for the beginning or end of any Term happen to be a festival, the beginning or end of such Term is deferred till the day after, except only that Easter Term in such case ends the day before.

Full Term begins on the Sunday after the first Congregation, that is, on the Sunday after the first day of Term.

Michaelmas and Hilary Terms are kept by six weeks' residence in each, Easter and Trinity Terms either by three weeks' in each, or by forty-eight days' residence in the two Terms jointly.

He will then retain for life all the rights and privileges belonging to his Degree, provided he keeps his name on the books of some College or Hall, or upon the Register of Unattached Students, but not otherwise.

DEGREES.

(Taken from the Examination Statutes of the University.)

THE DEGREES conferred by the University upon Students are those of BACHELOR and MASTER in ARTS, and of BACHELOR and DOCTOR in MUSIC, and in the three superior faculties of MEDICINE, CIVIL LAW, and DIVINITY. Sometimes, but very rarely, Degrees are granted out of the ordinary course, by DECREE of CONVOCATION, or by DIPLOMA, to persons who have not, as well as to persons who have, been previously Members of the University ; and less rarely they are given honoris causa without the full rights which ordinarily belong to them.

RESIDENCE FOR DEGREES.

Twelve Terms of Residence are required for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts. No further residence is necessary for any other Degree.

TIME REQUIRED FOR DEGREES.

In Arts.

1. For the Degree of Bachelor of Arts twelve Terms are required, which must be Terms of residence.

2. A Bachelor of Arts can proceed to the Degree of Master in the twenty-seventh Term from his Matriculation, provided he has had his name on the Books of some College or Hall or upon the Register of the Delegates of Unattached Students for a period of Twenty-six Terms.

In Music.

1. No residence or Academical standing is required for the Degree of Bachelor of Music.

2. A Bachelor of Music wishing to proceed to the Degree of Doctor, must produce a certificate signed by two or more trustworthy persons that he has been studying or practising Music for five years from his admission to his present Degree.

In Medicine.

1. Any person who has been admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts may be admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine in the twenty-seventh Term from his Matriculation.

A Bachelor of Medicine may be admitted to the Degree of Master of Arts, and yet retain his former Degree.

2. A Bachelor of Medicine may proceed to the Degree of Doctor at the end of three years from his admission to the Degree of Bachelor.

In Civil Law.

1. Any person who has been admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts may be admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Civil Law in the twenty-seventh Term from his Matriculation.

A Bachelor of Civil Law may be admitted to the Degree of Master of Arts, and yet retain his former Degree.

2. A Bachelor of Civil Law may proceed to the Degree of Doctor at the end of five years from his admission to the Degree of Bachelor.

In Divinity.

1. A Master of Arts may be admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Divinity at the end of three years from his admission to Regency.

2. A Bachelor of Divinity may proceed to the Degree of Doctor at the end of four years from his admission to the Degree of Bachelor.

EXAMINATIONS AND EXERCISES FOR DEGREES, AS TAKEN FROM THE STATUTES OF THE UNIVERSITY.

In Arts.

Candidates for the Degree of B.A. are required to pass three distinct Examinations, I. RESPONSIONS (no one need pass Responsions who has passed the Previous Examination at Cambridge or has satisfied the Examiners appointed by the Delegates for the Examination of Schools in Greek, in Latin, and in Elementary Mathematics) before the MASTERS OF THE SCHOOLS, II. the FIRST PUBLIC EXAMINATION before the MODERATORS, III. the SECOND PUBLIC EXAMINATION before the PUBLIC EXAMINERS.

I. RESPONSIONS :

There are six MASTERS OF THE SCHOOLS, nominated yearly in Convocation. They must be Masters of Arts or Bachelors of Civil Law or of Medicine at the least. No one who has held the office for two years together can be nominated again till after a year's interval, and no Master of the Schools can be either a Moderator or a Public Examiner at the same time.

Responsions are held three times every year. Every Candidate must be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Latin Prose Composition, one Latin and one Greek author, Arithmetic, and the elements of either Geometry or Algebra.

The Examination is conducted partly in writing, partly viva voce. In the written part of the Examination, questions are given in Grammar, in Arithmetic, and in Euclid's Elements, Books I. and II., or Algebra ; a passage is set for translation from English prose into Latin ; and each Candidate has to construe and answer questions from the books which he offers. Every Candidate who passes to the satisfaction of his Examiners receives from them a certificate to that effect, commonly called a Testamur. After the Examination is ended a list is printed of all those who have satisfied the Masters of the Schools.

II. FIRST PUBLIC EXAMINATION :

There are thirteen Moderators, viz. in the Classical Schools ten [four to examine Candidates for Honours, and six to examine those who do not seek Honours], in the Mathematical School three. These are nominated by the Vice-Chancellor and the two Proctors severally in succession, subject to the approval of Congregation and of Convocation. If members of the University, they must be at least M.A. or B.C.L. or B.M. ; or they may be persons not members of the University.

In the Pass School Candidates are admitted as early as their fourth Term ; in the Honour Schools only from their fifth Term to their eighth inclusively.

The Examination, held twice a year, begins on the 23rd of November or if this be Sunday, on the 24th, and on the third Friday before the Commemoration.

After the Examination is ended a list is printed containing the names of (1) those who have gained Honours in Classics, (2) those who have gained Honours in Mathematics, (3) those who have satisfied the Moderators.

Candidates who do not seek Honours are examined in—

1. The Greek Text and the contents of the Holy Gospels.
2. Portions of at least Three Greek and Latin authors of the best age (two Greek and one Latin, or one Greek and two Latin) ; one at least being a portion of a historical or a philosophical work :
3. Either the Elements of Logic, Deductive and Inductive, or the Elements of Geometry and of Algebra :
4. Latin Prose :
5. Translation of short passages from Greek and Latin books not specially offered.

All Candidates who seek Honours in Classics are examined in—

1. The Greek Text and the contents of the Holy Gospels :
2. Translation of unprepared passages, both Greek and Latin :
3. Latin Prose :
4. Not less than five Greek and Latin authors, to be selected from the list issued by the Board of Studies under the conditions published therewith.

Papers are also set in the following subjects:—

1. Greek Prose.
2. Latin Verse.
3. Greek Verse.
4. The elements of Comparative Philology, especially as applied to the illustration of Greek and Latin inflexions.
5. The history of the Greek Drama, with Aristotle's Poetics, except ch. 20 and 25 ; or as an alternative,
The general history of Roman Poetry to the end of the Augustan Age, with Hor. Epist. II. 1.
6. The elements of Deductive Logic with either Magrath's Selections from the Organon, §§ 3-6 ; 22-33 ; 36-47 ; 50-53 ; 61-66 ; 68 and 1st paragraph of 69 ; 105-112 ; 118-127 ; or, such portions of Inductive Logic as are contained in Mill's Logic, Book iii., ch. 1-4, 6-8, 10-12, and 20.

The Examination of Candidates for Honours in Mathematics begins Michaelmas Term on the 18th of December (or if this be Sunday, on the 19th), and in Trinity Term on the day after the Commemoration.

Candidates may offer themselves in a different Term from that in which they are examined in Classics.

The subjects of Examination are :—

(1) Algebra and the Theory of Equations ; (2) Trigonometry ; (3) Plane Geometry, including the Conic Sections, treated both geometrically and analytically ; (4) Geometry of Three Dimensions ; (5) The Differential Calculus ; (6) The Integration of Differential Expressions with Geometrical applications ; (7) The Elements of the Calculus of Finite Differences.

III. SECOND PUBLIC EXAMINATION :

Every Candidate must pass the Examination in the Rudiments of Faith and Religion, as well as in either the Pass School or one of the six Honour Schools.

There are twenty-six PUBLIC EXAMINERS divided among seven Schools, six in the PASS SCHOOL, five in the School of LITERÆ HUMANIORES, three in each of the Schools of MATHEMATICS, NATURAL SCIENCE, JURISPRUDENCE, MODERN HISTORY, and THEOLOGY.

There are six Examiners in the Rudiments of Faith and Religion, designated by the Vice-Chancellor and Proctors conjointly from among those who either are or have been Public Examiners.

The Examination is held twice every year, and begins on the 16th Nov., and on the fourth Friday before the Commemoration. Each Candidate, in person or through his Tutor, must put down his name with the Senior Proctor, give in a list of his books and subjects, and exhibit his Matriculation Paper and the Testamur of the Moderators—(1) on the 7th or 8th Nov., (2) on the fifth Thursday or Friday before the Commemoration.

In the Pass School and for the Preliminary Examination in the Natural Science School Candidates are admitted as soon as they have satisfied the Moderators ; in the Honour Schools only from their twelfth Term to their sixteenth inclusively ; to the Examination in the Rudiments of Faith and Religion at any time after the beginning of their twelfth Term.

After the Examination is ended a list is printed containing the names of those who have gained Honours in the various Schools, and of those who have satisfied the Examiners in the Rudiments of Faith and Religion and in each Group of the Pass School.

In the RUDIMENTS OF FAITH AND RELIGION the subjects of Examination are :—

1. The Books of the Old and New Testaments, the Four Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles being required in the original Greek.
2. The Thirty-nine Articles of Religion.

In the PASS SCHOOL the subjects of Examination are arranged in three groups :

1. Two Books, either both Greek, or one Greek and one Latin, one of such Books being some portion of a Greek philosophical work, and the other a portion of a Greek or Latin historian ; the Outlines of Greek and Roman History, with a special period of one or the other, and English Composition.
2. Either English History and a period or subject of English Literature or a period of Modern European History with Political and Descriptive Geography ; together (in each case) with English Composition ; a Modern Language, either French or German, including composition in the language, and a period of its Literature ; the Elements of Political Economy ; a branch of legal study.
3. The Elements of Geometry, including Geometrical Trigonometry ; The Elements of Mechanics, Solid and Fluid ; The Elements of Chemistry ; The Elements of Physics.

Each Candidate is examined in three subjects, of which not more than two may be taken from any one of these three Groups. The Examination in each of the three subjects may be passed in a separate Term.

In the HONOUR SCHOOL OF LITERÆ HUMANIORES the stated subjects of Examination are :—

1. The Greek and Latin languages :
2. The histories of ancient Greece and Rome :
3. Logic and the Outlines of Moral and of Political Philosophy, at least two treatises thereon by ancient authors to be offered. The writings of Modern Philosophers are admitted but not required.

All Candidates must translate the Greek and Latin books which they offer, as well as passages from other books not specially offered. Passages will be set for translation into Greek and Latin Prose. Questions will also be set in the general results of the Science of Language with especial reference to Greek and Latin.

All Candidates must offer a period of Greek and a period of Roman History. In Greek History either To the end of the Peloponnesian War, or From B.C. 500 to the death of Philip : In Roman History either From the beginning of the 1st Punic War to the Battle of Actium, or From the end of the 3rd Punic War to the accession of Vespasian.

Any Candidate, who shall not present himself for Examination as soon as he is of standing to do so, or who shall not have gained Honours, may offer at any future Examination the same special subjects which he then offered or might have offered.

In the HONOUR SCHOOL OF MATHEMATICS the subjects of Examination are:—

Pure Mathematics. (1) Algebra; (2) Trigonometry, plane and spherical; (3) Geometry of two and three dimensions; (4) Differential Calculus; (5) Integral Calculus; (6) Calculus of Variations; (7) Calculus of Finite Differences; (8) Theory of Chances.

Mixed Mathematics. (1) Mechanics of Solid and Fluid Bodies; (2) Optics, Geometrical and Physical; (3) Newton's Principia, Sections I., II., III., and parts of IX. and XI.; (4) Astronomy, including the more elementary parts of the Lunar and Planetary Theories.

In the HONOUR SCHOOL OF NATURAL SCIENCE Candidates have to pass both a Preliminary and a Final Examination: these need not be passed in the same Term, and a Candidate may offer himself for the Preliminary Examination as soon as he has passed the First Public Examination.

The Preliminary Examination is compulsory upon all in this School, and is restricted to the more elementary parts of (1) Mechanics and Physics, (2) Chemistry, with a simple practical examination in this subject at least; but these two divisions of the examination need not be passed in the same Term.

In the Final Examination a Candidate may offer one or more of the three subjects, Physics, Chemistry, Biology; and in each the Examination is partly practical. The following special subjects may be offered as supplementary to one or more of the three before named: (1) Crystallography and Mineralogy, (2) Geology and Palæontology, (3) Zoology, (4) Botany.

In the HONOUR SCHOOL OF JURISPRUDENCE the Examination includes (1) General Jurisprudence, (2) History of English Law, (3) Roman Law, (4) English Law, (5) International Law.

In the HONOUR SCHOOL OF MODERN HISTORY the Examination included the following subjects:—

I. The History of England to the Accession of Queen Victoria.

II. One of the following periods of General History, to be studied in the best modern writers:—(1) A.D. 476—1272; (2) A.D. 1000—1519; (3) A.D. 1328—1648; (4) A.D. 1643—1815.

III. (In the case of those Candidates who aim at a place in the First or Second Class) a special portion of History or a Historical subject, carefully studied with reference to original authorities.

1. Candidates proposing to offer any other Historical subject or portion of History must give notice six months before the Examination, and obtain the approval of the Board of Studies. Every application by a Candidate proposing to offer a special subject or period not included in the list suggested by the Board of Studies must be accompanied by a statement of the books, documents, and other authorities which the Candidate proposes to use.

2. The History of the Law of Real Property or The General History of International Law (to be studied as for the School of Jurisprudence) may be substituted for the special portion of History, or Historical subject required.

3. In the case of a Candidate offering a special subject or portion of History, other than the above suggested subjects or portions numbered 4 and 5, such special subject or portion must fall within the period of General History offered by him.

All Candidates will be required to have a knowledge of Political Economy to Constitutional Law, and of Political and Descriptive Geography.

In the HONOUR SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY the Examination includes the following subjects :—

(1) The Holy Scriptures; (2) Dogmatic and Symbolic Theology; (3) Ecclesiastical History and the Fathers; (4) The Evidences of Religion; (5) Liturgies; (6) Sacred Criticism, and the Archæology of the Old and New Testaments.

The Books of the New Testament are to be studied in the Greek text. The History of the Church and of the Liturgies is to be studied with reference to original authorities.

Elementary knowledge of Hebrew has some weight, advanced knowledge great weight, in the distribution of Honours.

No Candidate will obtain Honours unless, in addition to a competent knowledge of the contents of the Old and New Testaments, he shall have given proof of diligent study of the Epistles of St. Paul, and also of either Dogmatic Theology, or Ecclesiastical History, or the Evidences of Religion, or Liturgies, or Hebrew.

For the Degree of Master of Arts no further Examination or Exercise is required.

In Music.

1. Candidates for the Degree of B. Mus. are required to pass two Examinations and to compose a piece of Music.

The first Examination is held once a-year in Hilary Term, and is conducted partly in writing, partly viva voce, in Harmony and Counterpoint in not more than four parts.

Before presenting himself for this Examination every Candidate must show to the Professor of Music either his Testamur for Responsions, or a Certificate from the Delegates for the Examination of Schools; or a Certificate must be procured from the Delegates of Local Examinations that he has satisfied them in English, in Mathematics, in Latin, and in one of these four languages, Greek, French, German, Italian.

The second Examination is held also once a-year in Michaelmas Term, and is conducted partly in writing, partly viva voce, in five-part Harmony and Counterpoint, in the History of Music, in the use of musical instruments, and in the form and structure of the works of such distinguished composers as shall be designated by the Professor of Music. Before any candidate can present himself for this second Examination, he must not only produce the Testamur of having passed the first Examination, but Must also have submitted for the approval of the Examiners a piece of music in five-part harmony with an accompaniment for at least five stringed instruments; together with a written assurance that the whole of this piece of Music is of his own composition. A copy of the exercise must be deposited in the Music School.

The Examiners are the Professor of Music, the Choragus, and some other Graduate nominated by the Vice-Chancellor and Proctors, and approved by Convocation.

2. A Bachelor of Music wishing to proceed to the Degree of Doctor is required both to pass an Examination conducted wholly in writing by the Examiners above mentioned, and previously to compose a piece of Vocal Music of eight parts with an accompaniment for a full orchestra; lastly the exercise is to be performed in public, and a copy of it to be deposited in the Music School.

In Civil Law.

1. Candidates for the Degree of B.C.L. must pass an Examination which held once a-year in Trinity Term, and conducted by the Regius Professor of Civil Law, the Vinerian Professor, the Chichele Professor of International Law, the Corpus Professor of Jurisprudence (or some or one of them), and the Examiners in the Honour School of Jurisprudence. The Examination includes (1) Jurisprudence, general or comparative, (2) Roman Law, (3) English Law, (4) International Law: it is partly in writing, partly viva voce; Honours may be obtained in it by any who have not exceeded the twenty-fourth Term from their Matriculation.

Every Candidate must give in his name to the Superior Bedel of the Faculty of Law seven days at least before the Examination, together with certificates of his Matriculation and of his having been admitted to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts. He must also give notice to the Regius Professor of Civil Law of the particular subjects he offers four weeks at least before the first day of Trinity Term.

2. A Bachelor of Civil Law wishing to proceed to the Degree of Doctor is required to read publicly within the precinct of the Schools in the presence of the Regius Professor a Dissertation composed by himself on some subject pertaining to Civil Law approved by the Professor, and to deliver to him a copy of it.

In Medicine.

1. Candidates for the Degree of B.M. are required to pass two Examinations, each of which is held yearly in full Michaelmas Term, usually in November, the first by the Regius Professor of Medicine and three persons who have been admitted to Regency either as Masters of Arts or as Doctors, and who are nominated yearly by the Vice-Chancellor subject to the approval of Convocation, the second by the Regius Professor and two Doctors of Medicine nominated in like manner. Each Examination is conducted partly in writing, partly viva voce, and part of each is practical. The subjects of the first Examination are Human Anatomy and Physiology, Comparative Anatomy and Physiology to a certain extent, and those parts of Mechanical Philosophy, Botany, and Chemistry which illustrate Medicine. The subjects of the second Examination are the Theory and Practice of Medicine (including diseases of women and children), the Materia Medica, Therapeutics, Pathology, the principles of Surgery and Midwifery, Medical Jurisprudence, and General Hygiene. Every Candidate at this second Examination is to be examined in two of the ancient authors, Hippocrates, Aretæus, Galen, and Celsus, or in one of those four and in some modern author approved by the Regius Professor.

Before a Candidate is admitted to the first of these two Examinations, he must have completed eight Terms from the date of his Testamur in one of the Schools at the Second Public Examination for the Degree of B.A.; unless he was placed in the First or Second Class in the School of Natural Science, in which case, if he received from the Public Examiners a special Certificate of his attainments in Mechanical Philosophy, Chemistry, Botany, or Biology, he may be admitted to this Examination at once, and need not then be examined again in any Science specified in such Certificate. Before a Candidate is admitted to the second Examination, he must have completed sixteen Terms from the date of the same Testamur and eight Terms from the date of his Testamur in the first Medical Examination, and must deliver to the Regius Professor satisfactory Certificates of his attendance at some Hospital of good repute. Everyone intending to be a Candidate at either Examination is required to give the Professor notice of his intention a fortnight at least before the week in which the Examination is to be held.

2. A Bachelor of Medicine wishing to proceed to the Degree of Doctor is required to read publicly within the precinct of the Schools in the presence of the Regius Professor a Dissertation composed by himself on some Medical subject approved by the Professor, and to deliver to him a copy of it.

In Preventive Medicine.

An Examination, open only to those who have obtained the Degree of B.M. in the University of Oxford, is held yearly in Michaelmas Term in subjects bearing on Preventive Medicine and Public Health (Hygiene, Sanitary Law, Sanitary Engineering, and Vital Statistics).

The Examiners are the Regius Professor of Medicine, and four other persons (not necessarily members of the University), appointed by the Vice-Chancellor, subject to the approval of Convocation.

Certificates of proficiency are granted to those who pass this Examination.

In Divinity.

1. A Candidate for the Degree of Bachelor of Divinity is required to read before the Regius Professor in the Divinity School two Dissertations upon subjects previously approved by the Professor.

No one can be admitted to the Degree without exhibiting his Letters of Priest's Orders, or a Certificate from the Registrar of the diocese where he was ordained stating that he had obtained them.

2. A Bachelor of Divinity wishing to proceed to the Degree of Doctor is to read in the Divinity School three exegetical Lectures upon portions of Holy Scripture.

A Master of Arts who has completed fifteen years from his admission to Regency may, with the consent of Convocation, take the two Degrees in Divinity by accumulation, that is, both at the same time, doing the Exercises for one of the two only, whichever he may choose.

DECLARATION ON TAKING DEGREES.

Before admission to the Degree of M.A., D.M., D.C.L., B.D., or D.D., each person is required to promise that he will observe the Statutes, Privileges, Customs, and Liberties of the University, and will act faithfully, creditably, and honestly in the two Houses of Congregation and Convocation, especially in all that concerns Graces for Degrees and in Elections. Candidates for the Degree of B.D. or D.D. have also to make and subscribe a Declaration of Assent to the XXXIX Articles and to the Book of Common Prayer.

Candidates for any other Degree are merely admonished that they are bound to observe the Statutes, Privileges, Customs, and Liberties of the University.

DEGREES GRANTED TO ABSENT PERSONS.

A Bachelor of Arts, or of Civil Law, or of Medicine, resident in any British Colony, may have the Degree of Master of Arts, or of Doctor of any of the three superior faculties, conferred upon him in his absence. For this purpose, he must of course attain the standing requisite for each Degree, and obtain the Grace of his College or Hall or of the Censors of unattached Students; he must transmit letters testimonial of his good conduct and character, signed, if he be in Holy Orders, either by the Bishop or the Archdeacon of the colony, or, if he be a layman, by either the Bishop, the Archdeacon, or the Governor of the colony, or by a Judge in the Supreme Court of it; and, if he desire the Degree of Doctor of Civil Law or of Medicine, he must compose the requisite Dissertation and send it to the Regius Professor of the faculty; or, if he desire the Degree of Doctor of Divinity, he must compose two Dissertations on some theological subject proposed to him by the Regius Professor of Divinity, and his Dissertations must be approved by the Professor; a Candidate for either Degree in Divinity must also transmit to the Vice-Chancellor satisfactory proof that he has subscribed the Declaration of Assent.

INCORPORATION.

Members of the Universities of Cambridge or Dublin may be incorporated, that is, received as members of this University at their own standing or Degree, provided they have kept as much residence in their own University as would have been required of them here. An Undergraduate can count no Term except one kept by a residence of six weeks. A Graduate must have kept nine Terms by a residence of at least the greater part of each of them before he was admitted to his first Degree. Graduates in Divinity incorporating are required to subscribe the Declaration of Assent. Graduates in Law and Medicine can be incorporated only upon passing the Examinations in those Faculties respectively, and they must also have passed at their own Universities all the Examinations required for the B.A. Degree. No Graduate in any Faculty can be incorporated without the express consent of the Hebdomadal Council.

EXTENSION OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

In a congregation held in March, 1878, the following forms of statute, the preambles of which were approved by Congregation and to which no amendments had been proposed, were submitted to the House and approved.

Nemoine contracidente.:—Whereas it is expedient that the University should take part in the extension of University teaching to large towns in England and Wales, the University enacts as follows: in Statt. Tit. xix., iv. (p. 284, ed. 1877) the following sub-section shall be added:

Sec. 4. Of the establishment of lectures and teaching in the large towns of England and Wales:

(1) The Delegates shall receive proposals for the establishment of lectures and teaching in large towns of England and Wales, and shall be authorised to appoint lecturers and examiners for carrying out such proposals.

(2) The Delegates shall also be authorised in cases where lectures and teaching have been or may hereafter be by local bodies, to appoint representatives out of their own number to co-operate with such local bodies in such manner as may seem to the Delegates advisable, provided that in every case in which the Delegates propose so to co-operate with local bodies, the sanction to such co-operation shall have been previously given by decree.

(3) The Delegates shall appoint a Secretary for the purpose of this sub-section, who shall receive a stipend from the University Chest, to be fixed from time to time by the Vice-Chancellor and Proctors. But the expense of lectures and examinations shall not be defrayed out of the University funds.

(4) This sub-section shall remain in force until Jan. 1st, 1884.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS.

Craven Scholarships, founded in 1647 by Lord Craven, now consist at Oxford of 6, of 80*l.* per ann. each, tenable 3 years. ORIEL COLLEGE, founded in 1326 by Edward II., consists of a Provost, 15 Fellows, and 10 Scholar, with 22 Exhibitioners, the value of each of the Scholarships and of four of the Exhibitions being 80*l.* per ann. 13 benefices in gift. 80 resident members in 1882. Provost : The Rev. D. B. Monro, M.A., elected in 1862.

PEMBROKE COLLEGE, founded in 1624, and named after William Herbert, Earl of Pembroke, then Chancellor of the University, consists of a Master, 10 Fellows, and 12 Scholars, 2 of the latter to be held with Bible Clerkships. 8 benefices in gift. Master : The Rev. E. Evans, D.D., elected 1864.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE, founded in 1340 by the Chaplain to Queen Philippa, after whom it was named, consists of a Provost, 19 Fellows, 3 Chaplains, 15 Scholars, and 2 Bible Clerks, and has numerous Exhibitions from different Schools. 29 benefices in gift. Provost : The Rev. John R. Magrath, D.D., elected in 1878.

S. JOHN'S COLLEGE, founded in 1555, by Alderman Sir T. White of London, will hereafter consist of a President, 18 Fellows, and 34 Scholars. The Fellowships are tenable for life, and are all open. 6 of the Scholarships only are open, the remainder are appropriated—21 to Merchant Taylors' School, 2 to Coventry, 2 to Bristol, 2 to Reading, and 1 to Tunbridge Schools. 4 Fellowships on the Fereday foundation, not included amongst the above 18, are partially restricted, and are tenable for 14 years. 33 benefices in gift. President : The Rev. James Bellamy, D.D., elected Dec. 7th, 1871.

TRINITY COLLEGE, originally founded by Edward III., was re-founded in 1554, and possesses a President, 12 Fellows, and 13 Scholars ; both Fellowships and Scholarships being open : the latter worth 80*l.* per ann. It has also several Exhibitions. 10 benefices in gift. President : The Rev. J. Percival, M.A., LL.D., elected Nov. 1st, 1878.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, said to have been founded by Alfred the Great in 872, and restored by William of Durham in 1249, consists of a Master, 13 Fellows, 3 Honorary Fellows, 12 Scholars. It has 5 Exhibitions, 2 of which are open. 10 benefices in gift. Master : The Rev. J. Frank Bright, M.A., elected in 1881.

WADHAM COLLEGE, founded in 1613 by Nicholas Wadham, Esq., consists of a Warden, 14 Fellows, 15 Scholars, 2 Chaplains, and 2 Clerks. Both Fellowships and Scholarships open. It has 10 Exhibitions (4 for Hebrew, 6 for Greek), besides several of smaller importance. 13 benefices in gift. Warden : George Easlam Thorley, M.A., elected in 1881.

WORCESTER COLLEGE, founded in 1714 by Sir Thomas Cooke, consists of a Provost, 12 Fellows, and 16 Scholars. The Fellowships nearly all open. It has 11 Exhibitions. 10 benefices in gift. 90 resident members in 1882. Provost : The Rev. W. Inge, M.A., appointed in 1881.

HALLS.

NEW INN HALL was fully established in 1438, but existed 100 years previously under another name, viz., Trillecks Inn. 4 resident members in 1878. Principal and Tutor : The Rev. H. H. Cornish, D.D., appointed in 1866.

S. ALBAN HALL, named after Robert S. Alban, a citizen of Oxford, who once owned it, had 12 resident members in 1878. Fees payable at Matriculation to University, 2*l.* 8*s.* ; to Hall, 5*l.* A quarterly payment of 16*l.* includes the charge for tuition, furnished rooms, board, coals, servants, and almost all necessaries. This Hall now comes into the possession of Merton College, and is annexed to it. It is the first Hall to suffer extinction. St. Mary Hall, New Inn Hall, and St. Edmund Hall are ultimately destined to absorption by Oriel, Balliol, and Queen's Colleges respectively. Their disappearance will efface a very peculiar relic of old Oxford institutions.

A new "private hall" has been opened by Mr. Turrell, which numbers on its books eight undergraduates.

S. EDMUND HALL, supposed to be named after S. Edmund, Archbishop of Canterbury, temp. Henry III. There is one Advowson, held by the University in trust for the Hall, and forming the endowment of the Principal. 30 resident members in 1882. Principal : The Rev. E. Moore, D.D., appointed in 1864.

S. MARY HALL dates from 1333 ; possesses 4 Scholarships of 50*l.* per ann., tenable for 4 years, and 1 Exhibition of 30*l.* per ann. 20 resident members in 1878. Principal : The Rev. D. P. Chase, M.A., appointed in 1857.

The cost of the entire Three Years' University Course at these Halls seems to vary between 281*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*, as at S. Edmund's Hall, and 297*l.* 10*s.*, as at S. Mary's Hall. The aggregate expenses of the former have been authoritatively stated, thus :—

PRIVATE HALLS.

A statute passed in 1882 (in substitution for an earlier one dating from 1855) enacts that any Member of Convocation above the age of twenty-eight may, under certain conditions, obtain from the Vice-Chancellor, with the consent of the Hebdomadal Council, a licence to open a suitable building as a Private Hall for the reception of academical Students, with the title of "Licensed Master," and make provision for the proper government of the Students under his charge. They are subject to all other statutes of the University, and they partake in its privileges, and are admissible to its degrees, in the same way as other Students.

TURRELL'S HALL.—Licensed Master, Rev. Henry Joseph Turrell, M.A.

CHARSLEY'S HALL is the only instance of such an institution being open for the reception of Students under the Oxford University Act of 1854. It has 6 resident members. Licensed Master : William H. Charsley, M.A.

STUDENTS NOT ATTACHED TO ANY HALL OR COLLEGE.

In the year 1868 the restrictions of an ancient Statute, which has been already mentioned, were removed; and persons are now permitted, under certain conditions prescribed in Statt. Tit. III. Sect. I., to become Students and Members of the University without being attached to any College or Hall. Such persons keep their statutable residence in houses or lodgings in the town, with the same rights of profiting by Professors' lectures, of competing for University Prizes, of attaining distinction in the Public Examinations, and of being admitted to Degrees and to all the consequent privileges, as are enjoyed by other Students. In 1882 there were 206 unattached students.

The reception of Students into the University under the prescribed conditions, and the general direction and superintendence of them during their residence in Oxford, are committed to a Board consisting of the Vice-Chancellor and four Members of Convocation nominated by the Vice-Chancellor and Proctors, two of whom are styled Censors, under the title of "Delegates of Students not attached to any College or Hall."

The Students are under the supervision of the Censors, who are charged with the care of their conduct and studies.

The Worshipful the Master and Assistants of the Company of Cloth workers in the city of London having granted to the Delegacy to Unattached Students three exhibitions of 50*l.* a year, tenable each for three years from the date of election, and intended as an encouragement of the study of natural science, the delegates have made arrangements by which one of these exhibitions shall be offered yearly for competition among those who may offer themselves in natural science at the examination held in July, under the authority of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board. A similar exhibition of 50*l.* a year will be offered at the same time by the Company, to be held by a non-collegiate Student at Cambridge. The subjects for examination in 1878 may be found in the "Regulations of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board. Candidates for the exhibition may be, but are not required to be, candidates for the certificates granted by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board; and may either be unattached students of one term's standing (the Easter and Act terms counting for this purpose as one term), or persons not yet members of the University. All who desire to be candidates for the exhibitions, without being also candidates for certificates, must send either to the Rev. W. W. Jackson, Exeter College, Oxford, or to Mr. E. J. Gross, Caius College, Cambridge, notice of their names and ages, with certificates of character.

Censors—Rev. G. W. Kitchen, M.A., and Rev. G. S. Ward, M.A.

Bodleian Library.

This Library was founded by Sir Thomas Bodley, of Merton College, and opened in 1602. The stipend of the Librarian is £1,000 a year. The Library is opened on weekdays throughout the year from 9 a.m. All Graduate members of the University have the right to use the Library. The Librarian is E. W. B. Nicholson, M.A.

Clarendon Press.

This building was completed and the University Press transferred to it in 1830.

Theatre.

The Theatre was erected by Gilbert Sheldon, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Chancellor of the University, and was opened July 9th, 1669.

Ashmolean Museum.

Elias Ashmole, Esq., sent a collection of natural and artificial curiosities, provided a building was erected by the University; and the Museum was begun in 1679 and finished in 1683. It is open daily.

The Clarendon.

This building derives its name from the Lord Chancellor. The University Press was set up therein from 1713 to 1830; it is now used by the Hebdomadal Council and for other public purposes.

Radcliffe Library.

This Library was founded by the celebrated physician, John Radcliffe, M.D., Fellow of Lincoln, and of University College, who died 1714. The Library was opened April 18th, 1749. The Librarian is Henry Wentworth Acland, D.M., Ch. Ch.

Radcliffe Observatory.

This building was erected out of the funds of Dr. Radcliffe. The foundation-stone was laid June 27th, 1772.

Astronomical Observations are here made regularly when the weather permits, and are duly recorded.

Robert Main (M.A. of Queen's College, Cambridge), M.A., Pembroke.

This building was erected in 1848 from a bequest of Sir R. Taylor.

There are connected with the Institution four Teacherships of Modern European Languages, a Scholarship, and an Exhibition.

The Library is open to all Members of the University who have free admission to it, and resident Members are allowed to take books out of the Library, subject to its regulations. Literary persons not members of the University are also admissible by special permission. The leading Periodicals of France, Germany, and Italy, are taken in, and lie upon the table. The present Librarian is Heinrich Krebs.

University Galleries.

The University Galleries, opened in 1845, form the Central and Western portions of the building, are under the charge of a resident Keeper, Mr. Joseph Fisher, appointed by the Curators with a stipend of £100 a-year. They are open daily from 12 to 4.

The Ruskin Drawing School was established in 1872 by the munificence of John Ruskin, M.A., Honorary Student of Christ Church, who gave £5000 to the University for this purpose. The Teacher of Drawing, with the stipend of £150 a-year, is Mr. Alex. Macdonald.

University Museum.

This building, intended for the promotion of the study of Natural Science, was erected at the charge of the University. The first stone was laid June 20th, 1855, by the Earl of Derby, Chancellor of the University.

The Museum contains Lecture-rooms, with Work-rooms and Laboratories where these are required, for the Regius Professor of Medicine, and the Professors of Geometry, Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Mineralogy, Geology, Physiology, and Zoology, a Dissecting-room at the North-eastern angle, a large Laboratory for Students in Chemistry at the South-western, and along the front upstairs a spacious Library and Reading-room.

University Observatory.

Warren de La Rue, D.C.L. and M.A. of New College, presented a large Reflecting Telescope with other astronomical apparatus to this Observatory, which is under the charge of the Savilian Professor of Astronomy.

Of Affiliated Colleges.

By a statute of the University, passed in 1880, any College or Institution within the United Kingdom, or in any part of the British Dominions, being a place of education in which the majority of the students are of the age of 17 at least, may, on certain conditions, be admitted to the privileges of an Affiliated College. The conditions are in effect as follows:—The College or Institution must be incorporated by Royal Charter, or otherwise established on a permanent and efficient footing; it must allow the University to be represented on the Governing Board, and to take part in its examinations; it must have been admitted to the privileges of an Affiliated College by a vote of Convocation, and the connection between it and the University must be terminable at the will of either body.

Any person who has completed a course of three years at such a College, and obtained honours at its second or final examination, may, without being previously matriculated, be admitted to the first Public Examination in this University, and if he passes that examination, and is matriculated in the next following Term, he is absolved from responsions, and may, as regards all provisions affecting academical standing, reckon the Term in which he was matriculated as the fifth Term from his matriculation.

If further he obtains honours at the first or second Public Examination, he may be admitted B.A. after eight Terms of academical residence, provided he has then passed his final examination. The effect of this statute is to reduce the period of necessary academical residence for a person coming from an Affiliated College from three to two years.

The Institutions at present admitted to these privileges are, June 1st, 1880, St. David's College, Lampeter; June 16th, 1882, University College, Nottingham.

The Indian Institute at Oxford.

The establishment of this Institute, which was opened by the Prince of Wales on May 2nd, 1883, was first proposed in 1875, by Professor Monier Williams, who in that and the following year undertook two journeys at his own expense to India, where he held meetings in favour of his project. Subsequently the scheme received the support of Her Majesty and the Royal Princes, and of many influential persons in this country. The list of subscribers is headed by the Queen, the Prince of Wales; the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Albany are also contributors as well as Lord Salisbury, the Chancellor of the University, Lord Northbrook, Lord Lytton, Lord Hartington, Lord Cranbrook, and many others, both Englishmen and natives, who are connected with or interested in Indian affairs. The largest subscriber by far is Sir Thomas Brassey, who has contributed 8,750*l.*, and Mr. Edward Cazalet has given 1,100*l.* The money subscribed, which at present amounts to 20,150*l.*, has been invested in the names of three trustees, Sir E. Colebrooke, M.P., Sir Thomas Brassey, and Professor Monier Williams. A central site has been secured, close to the Bodleian Library, for 7,800*l.* The building is in progress of erection from designs by Mr. Basil Champneys, and is to contain lecture rooms, library, reading room, an Indian museum, and all necessary appliances; but the present contributions, it is feared, will not be sufficient to complete more than half of it. The chief objects of the Institute are "to give effective and trustworthy teaching in all subjects that relate to India and its inhabitants; to promote and encourage Indian researches; to concentrate and disseminate correct ideas on Indian matters by united effort and combined action." The Boden Professor of Sanscrit is to be ex-officio director of the Institute, and there will be a council or board of management. The founding of various fellowships, scholarships, and prizes is contemplated, and there will be an ample staff of University Professors and teachers connected with the Institute. Contributions and gifts of books and objects for the museum should be sent to the Boden Professor of Sanscrit, Merton-Lea, Oxford.

THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD COMMISSION.—From a report issued by the Commissioners for the University of Oxford, appointed in 1878, to inquire into the state of the University of Oxford, it would seem that the extension and endowment of the Oxford Professorate, and the better organization of teaching throughout the University, are among the principal objects to which the attention of the Commissioners has been called; but their recommendations on these points are far from revolutionary, and they profess themselves content that the teaching of the place should be left, for the most part, as it has hitherto been, in the hands of the Colleges. For the more important Chairs, twenty-five in number—some of them already existing, and others to be created, wholly or in part, as new foundations—the stipends are to be fixed at a maximum of 900*l.* per annum, and a minimum of 700*l.* Greek, Latin, Comparative Philology, Moral Philosophy, Astronomy, and Chemistry are among the class first named as represented by the existing staff of professors. The Chair of Ancient History is to be divided, and Ancient Greek and Ancient Latin History are to be taught separately. The Chichele Professorship of Modern History is to be reduced, and is also to become a Professorship of English History. Three entirely new Chairs are to be founded among the highest class—one of English Language and Literature, one of Pure Mathematics, and one of Mechanics and Engineering. Three thousand pounds a year are set down as the least sum needed for keeping up the Bodleian Library.

A sum of 1,200*l.* has now been invested as the Rolleston Memorial Fund. The fund is to be expended in the institution of a prize to be awarded every two years, for original research in any subject comprised under the following heads:—Animal and vegetable morphology, physiology and pathology, and anthropology, to be selected by the candidates themselves. The period during which this prize may be obtained by a candidate is to be limited to ten years after the date of matriculation; and the prize bearing Professor Rolleston's name is open to the members of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

THIS University, which is supposed to have been founded in the seventh century, is a corporation comprising students in Arts and Sciences, deriving its present legal existence from a charter of Queen Elizabeth (13 Eliz. c. 9), under the denomination or name of "The Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge." Its early charters were lost or destroyed during the rebellion of Wat Tyler; but its first authentic charter, which was granted about fifty years after the foundation of its oldest College—Peterhouse, now better known as St. Peter's College—is said to be dated 45 Henry III., and is to be found among the records of the Tower. Its authority as a University is now derived from the Charter of Queen Elizabeth, together with the "New Statutes," which were confirmed by Her Majesty in Council, July 31st, 1858.

The University includes seventeen Colleges and Halls, or, to speak more correctly, sixteen Colleges and one Hall; although, as a matter of fact, Colleges and Halls at Cambridge are synonymous and not different, as is the case at Oxford. These Colleges have all been founded since the beginning of the reign of Edward I., and they are maintained principally by the endowments of their several founders and benefactors. Each College is a separate corporate body, possessing its own statutes, governed by its own regulations, and entirely distinct from the University, although their several members, whether Graduates or Undergraduates, are also members of the University, and, as such, are subject to its paramount laws and regulations. In addition to becoming a member of the University by joining one of the Colleges, a new system, or mode, of doing so, has recently been established. A person who desires to become a Student of the University, without becoming a member of any College, can now do so by entering the University directly as an "Unattached," or "Non-Collegiate," Student. This method of passing through the ordinary academic curriculum, and of subsequently obtaining a Degree, involves far less expense, and is resorted to by a large number of those whose means do not permit the luxury, and consequent increase in expense, resulting to those who enter at one of the Colleges. Non-Collegiate Students have exactly the same privileges as other Undergraduates, so far as the University is concerned, and proceed to Degrees in precisely the same manner. These Students are controlled and superintended by a permanent Syndicate, appointed by the Senate of the University, called the "Board for the Regulation of Unattached Students;" its executive officer (whose position is analogous to that of a College Tutor), being designated the Censor.

The governing body of the University is the Senate, which is composed of all persons who are Masters of Arts, or Law, or Doctors in one of the three faculties, viz., Divinity, Law, or Physic, having their names on the University Register. The Senate elect the more important officers of the University, including the Chancellor, the Lord High Steward, and the Representatives in Parliament. The appointment of many of its officials, however, as well as the transaction of the greater part of the University business, rests with a more select body, called the "Electoral Roll." This is a list of persons which is published annually, in the Michaelmas Term of each year, and is composed of all members of the Senate who have resided within the jurisdiction of the University, i.e., within a mile and a-half of Great St. Mary's Church, for fourteen weeks at least between the first day of that Michaelmas Term and the first day of the preceding Michaelmas Term, together with all officers of the University, being Members of the Senate, Heads of Houses, Professors, and Public Examiners. All matters which are submitted to the Senate take the form of resolutions called Graces, which possess generally the force of Statutes; but before any Grace can be submitted to the Senate, it must have previously received the "sanction of the Council." This "Council of the Senate," as it is called, consists of the Chancellor (who, however, seldom acts), the Vice-Chancellor (who is the presiding officer of the University in the absence of the Chancellor), four Heads of Houses, four Professors, and eight other members of the Senate chosen from the Electoral Roll; the election of two Heads of Houses, two Professors, and four other members of the Senate taking place biennially.

The Principal Officers of the University and their respective duties are the following:—

The CHANCELLOR, who is the head of the whole University, and presides over all cases relating to that body. In him is placed the sole executive authority within the precincts, except in matters of mayhem and felony.

The HIGH STEWARD, who has special power to take the trial of scholars impeached of felony within the limits of the University, and to hold and keep a leet according to the established charter and custom. He appoints Deputy.

The VICE-CHANCELLOR, who is elected annually on the 4th of November, by the Senate. His office, in the absence of the Chancellor, embraces the execution of the Chancellor's powers, and the government of the University according to her Statutes. He must, by Statute 19 and 20 Vict. c. 88, be the Head of some College; and during his continuance in office he acts as a magistrate for the University, the Town, and the County.

The COMMISSARY, who is an officer, under the Chancellor, and appointed by him. He holds a court of record for all privileged persons and scholars under the Degree of M.A.

The SEX VIRI, elected by Grace of the Senate, to hold office for two years ; whose business it is to hear and adjudicate, together with the Vice-Chancellor, all accusations against members of the University who are not in statu pupillari, for offences against the Statutes or Ordinances of the University. They have the power of punishing offenders, by deprivation or suspension of degrees ; but there is liberty of appeal to the Senate from their decision.

The PUBLIC ORATOR, who is the voice of the Senate upon all public occasions. He writes, reads, and records the letters to and from the body of the Senate, and presents to all honorary degrees with an appropriate speech.

The LIBRARIAN, to whom the regulation and management of the University Library is confided.

The REGISTRARY, who is obliged, either by himself, or deputy properly authorized, to attend all Congregations, to receive Graces when passed, and to register them in the University records.

The ASSESSOR, who is an officer specially appointed, by Grace of the Senate, to assist the Vice-Chancellor in his court, in causis forensibus et domesticis.

Two PROCTORS, who are peace-officers, elected annually. It is their especial duty to attend to the discipline and behaviour of all persons in statu pupillari, and to search houses of ill fame. Another part of their duty is to be present at all Congregations of the Senate, to read the Graces, to take the assent or dissent, and to pronounce the same. They must be Masters of Arts or Law of three years' standing at the least, or Bachelors of Divinity. They must also have resided during the major part of each of three Terms during the two preceding years.

Two MODERATORS, nominated by the Colleges which present the Proctors, and appointed by Graces of the Senate. They conduct the examinations of the Candidates for Honours in the Mathematical Tripos.

Four PRO-PROCTORS, who assist the Proctors in that part of their duty which relates to the discipline and behaviour of those persons who are in statu pupillari, and the preservation of public morals ; but in other parts of the Proctors' office they have not any concern, or control.

Two ESQUIRE BEDELLS, whose office is to attend the Vice-Chancellor, whom they precede with their silver maces upon all public occasions and solemnities ; to receive from the Vice-Chancellor the Graces delivered to them, and to deliver them to the Proctors, and to summon to the Chancellor's Court all members of the Senate.

Two MEMBERS, whom the University sends to Parliament. These are elected by the collective body of the Senate.

The UNIVERSITY COUNSEL, who are appointed by Grace of the Senate, and are consulted upon various occasions.

The SOLICITOR, who is appointed by the Vice-Chancellor.

The PROFESSORS, who are elected in different ways, and who are paid from various sources.

The respective Orders in the several Colleges are as follows :—

1. A HEAD of a College or House, who is generally a Doctor in his Faculty. The Head of King's is styled Provost ; of Queen's, President. Every other Head is called Master.

2. FELLOWS, who generally are Doctors in Divinity, Law, or Physic ; Bachelors in Divinity ; Masters or Bachelors of Arts ; and some few Bachelors in Law or Physic, as at Trinity Hall, and Caius College. The number of Fellowships in the University is nearly 400.

3. NOBLEMEN GRADUATES, DOCTORS in the several Faculties, BACHELORS in DIVINITY, MASTERS OF ARTS, and MASTERS OF LAW, who are not on the Foundation.

4. BACHELORS OF ARTS, LAW and PHYSIC.

5. FELLOW-COMMONERS, who are generally the younger sons of the nobility, or young men of fortune, and have the privilege of dining at the Fellows' table, whence the appellation originated. Of this class there are now very few indeed.

6. SCHOLARS, who are generally Foundation members of their respective Colleges, and who enjoy various advantages; in some cases they have their commons free, their chambers rent-free, and various weekly or other allowances: in other cases they have specific stipends only, in conformity with the conditions of their foundation. They are for the most part elected, by direct examination or otherwise, at different periods either prior or subsequent to the commencement of their residence at the University, from the most promising and distinguished Students.

7. PENSIONERS, who form the great body of the Students, who pay for their commons, chambers, &c., and enjoy generally no pecuniary advantages from their respective Colleges.

8. SIZARS, who are generally Students of limited means. They usually have their commons free, and receive various emoluments.

METHOD OF OBTAINING A DEGREE.

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts is either an "Honour" Degree or an "Ordinary" Degree, either of which can be obtained in many ways.

In order to obtain a Degree three things are necessary: 1. To obtain admission as an Undergraduate at one of the Colleges, or to become an Unattached Student; application being made in the first instance to the Tutor of the College which the applicant desires to join, or, in the latter case, to the University Censor.—2. To keep Terms, i.e., to reside at Cambridge, in College rooms; or in lodgings licensed by the University, for a period of about three years.—3. To pass certain Examinations.

Anyone wishing to enter as an Undergraduate at one of the Colleges, or to become an Unattached Student, should, in the one instance, make application to the Tutor of the particular College which he desires to join, and, in the other, to the Censor of Non-Collegiate Students. At some of the Colleges a Preliminary Examination of an easy nature is held, but in every case the applicant will have to obtain, before entrance, a certificate signed by an M.A. of Oxford or Cambridge, showing that the person giving the certificate has examined the applicant, and that, as a result of such examination, he considers him to be a fit and proper person, both on account of his learning and moral character, to become a member of the University, and of the College which he proposes to enter. At some Colleges it has been usual to require a certificate of baptism as well; but since the passing of the Universities Tests Act, 1871, it is to be presumed that this is not now required in any case.

Having satisfied the College Tutor as to his eligibility to become a member of the Society, the Student has then to pay his Caution Money and certain Fees, which are given on another page, and a few weeks afterwards he is enrolled as a member of the University, at a formal ceremony called "Matriculation." This consists chiefly in the payment of a Fee, which, in the case of ordinary Students, called Pensioners, is 5*l*.

The Student must now keep Terms and pass Examinations. In each academical year, which extends from October to June, there are three Terms (at Oxford there are four). The first, or Michaelmas Term, begins on the 1st of October and ends on the 16th of December. The second, or Lent Term, begins on the 13th of January and ends on the Friday before Palm Sunday. The third, or Easter Term, begins on the Friday after Easter Day, and ends on the Friday after "Commencement Day," which is the last Tuesday in June. The period of residence required is nine Terms, and "keeping Term" is residence during two-thirds of the period known as the Term.

Having been duly enrolled as a member of the University in statu pupilari, the Student must next decide whether he will become a Candidate for the ordinary Degree, or "go out in Honours." If he chooses to be content with the ordinary Degree he will have to pass three Examinations: 1. The Previous Examination; 2. The General Examination; 3. One of the Special Examinations. Should the Student desire to obtain his Degree with Honours, he has to pass two Examinations only; viz., the Previous Examination, including additional subjects, which are not set to those who are candidates for the ordinary Degree, and lastly, one of the Triposes.

Each of these numerous Examinations will now be treated of.

THE PREVIOUS EXAMINATION.

The first Examination is one which all Students must pass before they can be admitted to the subsequent Examinations, by means of which they ultimately obtain their Degree. This is the Previous Examination, more familiarly known as the "Little Go," which consists of two parts. The first part embraces four subjects; viz.:—

1. One of the Four Gospels in the original Greek.
2. One of the Latin Classics.
3. One of the Greek Classics.
4. A paper of questions on Latin and Greek Grammar, with especial reference to the set Latin and Greek subjects.

The second part of the Examination also embraces four subjects; viz.:—

1. Paley's Evidences of Christianity.
2. Euclid, Books I., II., III., Definitions 1-10 Book V., and Props. 1-19 and A of Book VI.
3. Arithmetic.
4. Elementary Algebra; viz., definitions and explanations of algebraical terms and signs; addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of algebraical quantities and algebraical fractions; the elementary rules of ratio, proportion, and variation; and easy equations of a degree not higher than the second, involving not more than two unknown quantities.

Both parts of this Examination must be passed (but not necessarily at the same time) by all Students who intend to take a Degree; but for Students who intend to be Candidates for Honours in any Tripos there is a further Examination commonly known as the "Additional," the subjects of which are:

1. Algebra; viz., the proofs of the rules of Arithmetical and Geometrical Progression, with simple examples; easy problems in Elementary Algebra; and the nature and use of logarithms.
2. The Elementary parts of Trigonometry; viz., modes of measuring angles, trigonometrical ratios, functions of two angles, and the solution of triangles.

3. Elementary Mechanics ; viz., the composition and resolution of forces acting in one plane at a point, the mechanical powers, and the properties of the centre of gravity.

The Previous Examination, together with that in the additional subjects, is held twice in each academical year, in the Michaelmas and Easter Terms ; and it is open to all matriculated Students in their first or any later Term of residence. Matriculated Students are not obliged to pass in both Parts of the Previous Examination at the same time, but may offer themselves for examination either in both Parts or in one Part only.

The selected Gospel and the Classical subjects given in the first part are announced, at least, twelve months before the Examination takes place at which they will be set.

THE GENERAL EXAMINATION.

Students who intend to take the ordinary Degree, having "got through" both parts of the "Little Go," will next have to pass what is known as the "General Examination for the ordinary Degree." This they can do at any time after having kept four Terms, the Examination being held twice a year, viz., in the Michaelmas and Easter Terms. The subjects of the General Examination are :

1. The Acts of the Apostles in the original Greek.
2. One of the Latin Classics.
3. One of the Greek Classics.
4. Algebra ; viz., easy equations of a degree not higher than the second, involving not more than two unknown quantities ; the proofs of the rules of Arithmetical and Geometrical Progression, with simple examples ; and easy problems in Elementary Algebra.
5. Elementary Statics, treated so as not necessarily to require a knowledge of Trigonometry, namely, the composition and resolution of forces acting in one plane at a point, the mechanical powers, and the properties of the centre of gravity.
6. Elementary Hydrostatics, namely, the pressure of non-elastic fluids, specific gravities, the properties of elastic fluids, and the principal instruments and machines whose action depends on the properties of fluids : and Heat, as defined in Regulation 9.

Two Additional Papers are given, one containing one or more passages of English for translation into Latin Prose ; and the other containing one or more subjects for an English Essay, and one or more passages from Shakespeare or Milton, to be punctuated and paraphrased. Students are not required to present themselves for either of these Papers, but the results of both are taken into account in assigning the places in the Class-List.

The appointment of the Greek and Latin Classics, which are to be the subjects of Examination in any year, shall rest with the Board of Classical Studies. Public notice of the Classics is given a year, at least, before the Examination takes place.

The names of Students who pass the Examination appear in four classes, the names in each class being arranged alphabetically.

THE SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS.

Presuming that the Candidate for an ordinary Degree has satisfactorily passed the two Examinations already mentioned, he will next have to present himself for one of the "Special Examinations for the ordinary Degree." This he can do at any time after he has kept eight Terms, and entered on his ninth Term.

These Special Examinations, only one of which can be taken up, are as follows :—

This Examination includes the following subjects :—

1. Selected Books of the Old Testament in the English Version.
2. One of the Four Gospels in the original Greek.
3. One or more of the Epistles of the New Testament in the original Greek.
4. (a) The Outlines of English Church History down to 1830. (b) A selected subject or period of English Church History.

A paper is also set in a selected portion of the Old Testament in Hebrew, for which Students are not required to present themselves, but the result of which is taken into account in assigning them places in the Class-List. Marks of distinction are also affixed to the names of those who acquit themselves with credit.

Special Examination in Moral Science.

This Examination comprises the following branches of knowledge, in each of which branches three papers are set, viz. :—

MORAL PHILOSOPHY.

Stewart's Active and Moral Powers, Bk. 2. Butler's Three Sermons on Human Nature (Whewell's Edition). Calderwood's Handbook of Moral Philosophy, Parts 1 and 2. Whewell's Lectures on the History of Moral Philosophy, 1-12. Mill's Utilitarianism. Cicero de Finibus, Books 1 and 2.

POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Smith's Wealth of Nations (McCulloch's Edition), Books 3 and 4. Fawcett's Manual of Political Economy. Mill's Political Economy, Books 1, 2, 3. Cairns' Character and Method of Political Economy.

Students presenting themselves for this Examination are required to select one of these branches of study, and to show a competent knowledge in the branch selected; but no Student is examined in more than one branch.

Special Examination in Law and Modern History.

The subjects for this Examination are the following :—

LAW.

Justinian's Institutes in the original Latin; Lord Mackenzie on Roman Law (or the elements of Hindu and Mohammedan Law; any recent edition of Blackstone's Commentaries on the Laws of England, except the parts relating to Procedure, viz., chapters 6 to 18 inclusive of Bk. 3.

HISTORY.

Outlines of English History, from the Norman Conquest to the Accession of George IV. Hallam's Constitutional History. A Period of European History to be selected by the Board of Historical Studies, of which notice shall be given in the preceding Michaelmas Term.

Students are only allowed to take up one of the foregoing branches of knowledge, either Law or History.

Special Examination in Natural Science.

This Examination comprises the following branches of Natural Science, viz.: 1. Chemistry ; 2. Geology ; 3. Botany ; 4. Zoology, including Anatomy and Physiology. Three papers at least are set in each branch, and no student can be examined in more than one branch.

The following schedule defines the range of the subjects in the various branches of this Examination :--

CHEMISTRY--PART I.

Heat. The questions may embrace

The different sources of heat. The general effects of heat in producing expansion, liquefaction, and vaporization.

Definition of temperature, measure of temperature.

Construction of a common thermometer, and comparison of thermometric scales. Co-efficient of expansion. Expansion of water. Tension of aqueous vapour at different temperatures. Difference between saturated and unsaturated vapour.

Dalton's laws. Disappearance of heat during liquefaction, evaporation, and expansion of gases.

Measure of quantity of heat.

Communication of heat by conduction, convection, and radiation. Relative conducting powers of common substances. Comparative absorption of radiant heat from different sources in passing through air, glass, and rock-salt. Reflection or absorption of heat at the surface of bodies. Newton's law of cooling.

Simple calculations or questions depending directly upon the facts or laws above specified.

PART II.

Chemistry. The questions may embrace

The definition of an element. The conditions of occurrence in nature, and the leading characters of the following elements : Oxygen, Hydrogen, Nitrogen, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Chlorine, Bromine, Iodine, Carbon, Potassium, Sodium, Iron, Zinc, Copper, Tin, Lead, Mercury, Silver, Gold, Platinum ; and the preparation of such of these as are in Italics.

The composition, preparation, and chief characters of the following compounds : Water, Nitrous, Nitric and Pernitric Oxides, Ammonia, Carbonic Oxide, Potash, Soda, Lime, Magnesia, Alumina, Oxides of Iron, Manganese, Zinc, Tin, Copper, Silver, Lead and Mercury. Also of the following acids : Nitric, Sulphurous, Sulphuric, common Phosphoric, Carbonic, Silicic, Hydrochloric, Hydrosulphuric, and the salts of these acids with any of the metals of which the Oxides are above enumerated. Olefiant gas and Marsh gas.

PART III.

The difference between a chemical and a mechanical compound.

The constitution of the atmosphere, and reasons for regarding it as a mixture. Theory of combustion.

Laws of combination, by volume, and by weight.

The expression of the reactions in any of the foregoing cases in the form of equations.

Definition of chemical equivalents. Determination of the quantitative composition of Water, Air, Carbonic Acid, Chloride of Silver, and black Oxide of Copper.

Calculation of the relative quantities of the several elements or compounds in any of the foregoing reactions, the atomic numbers being given.

GEOLOGY—PART I.

The principal rock-forming minerals, quartz, rock-salt, oxide of iron, carbonate of lime, gypsum, serpentine, talc, mica, chlorite, augite, horn blende, felspar : of which specimens may be given for recognition.

The classification of rocks, igneous, aqueous, metamorphic.

The principal igneous rocks, trachyte, dolerite, felstone, greenstone porphyry, basalt, granite, syenite.

The principal aqueous rocks, sand, gravel, conglomerate, breccia, sandstone, clay, shale, limestone, marl, loam, coal.

The principal metamorphic rocks, quartzite, clay-slate, crystalline limestone, schist, gneiss.

Specimens of any of the foregoing rocks may be given for recognition.

The mineral composition, and external characters of the several rocks above named, the general mode in which they are severally supposed to be produced. In particular the action of rain, frost, glaciers, icebergs, rivers, lakes, sea ; and the reasons for thinking the rocks called igneous to be produced by heat, those called aqueous to be deposited under water, and those called metamorphic to be altered.

Lamination and stratification, ripple-mark, joints, cleavage, dip, strike, anticlinal and synclinal axes, faults, veins, dykes, denudation, unconformability, intrusion. The description of the phenomena in these several cases, and the general account of their origin. Modern instances of elevation and depression of land.

Lava and craters of modern volcanoes, description of the phenomena.

PART II.

Definition of fossil. Origin of fossils.

Classification of the animal kingdom so far as the sub-kingdoms and classes. The relative meaning of class, order, genus and species.

The principles on which the relative ages of rocks, stratified and unstratified, are determined.

The order of superposition of stratified rocks. The reasons for the divisions Palæozoic, Mesozoic, and Kainozoic. The division of the Kainozoic into recent, pleistocene, pleiocene, niocene, and eocene. The division of Mesozoic into cretaceous, oolitic, and triassic ; and of the Palæozoic into Permian, Carboniferous, Devonian, Silurian, and Cambrian. The chief subdivisions of the cretaceous and oolitic.

Explanation of what is represented by a geological map. General position, dip, and strike of English Palæozoic, Mesozoic, and Kainozoic rocks. Geology of Cambridgeshire and the immediate neighbourhood more in detail.

PART III.

The recognition of the fossils in the subjoined list, and the periods to which they severally belong :—

BOTANY.

1. One portion of the Examination consists wholly of descriptions of living plants.

2. The other portion of the Examination comprises two papers ; one on Vegetable Organography, and the other on the Physiology of Plants and the more important Natural Orders of British Plants.

The questions may relate to the Elementary Organs. Forms, sizes, structure, and development of cells. Vascular and woody tissue. Fibres, ducts, vessels, tracheæ. Ducts of latex and their contents. Origin of dotted, annular, scalariform, reticulate and spiral vessels. Intercellular passages, air spaces. Raphides and sphæraphides.

Structure of the wood of Dicotyledonous, Monocotyledonous, and Acotyledonous plants ; tracing the growth of each kind through several years.

Ascending and descending axes, their difference of structure and functions. Forms and directions of stems and roots. Nodes and internodes, branches, buds, thorns. Bulb, rhizome, runner, sobole. Adventitious buds and roots, spongioles.

Leaves, simple and compound. Petiole, limb. Position, arrangement, vernation, venation, shape, subdivision, dentition. Stipules. Tendrils.

Anatomical structure ; stomates ; articulation.

Hairs, glands, prickles.

Inflorescence. Its kinds and their modifications. Floral whorls and their arrangement. Hypogynous, perigynous, epigynous, epipetalous. Origin of flower, and leaf-bud, their identity and difference, and that of floral organs and leaves. Morphology. Æstivation.

Fruit. Of what it consists. Syncarpous, apocarpous, collective. Different kinds of fruit, as follicle, legume, etc.

Seeds; embryo, cotyledons, radicle, plumule, albumen.

Nutrition of plants. Absorption by leaves and roots, its difference. Fixation of carbon. Movement of fluids in tissue by action of Osmotic Force. Local circulations. Exhalation in presence and absence of light. Ascent and descent of sap. Effects of ligatures and ringing; of pruning and grafting. Parasitic and epiphytic plants; how nourished.

Reproductions. Essential organs of flowers. Pistil: ovary, style and stigma. Ovary of one or more carpels; septa, placenta. Ovules, funiculus. Structure of ovules and seeds: hyle, chalaze, raphe, micropile or foramen, testa or primine, tegmen or secundine, nucleus; and their positions and forms relative to the funiculus or seedstalk, and to each other. Style; its position on ovary and carpels; conducting tissue. Stigma, its forms, its action during and after the fertilization of the ovules.

Stamens; filament, anther. Forms of anther and its mode of attachment to the filament. Pollen and its coats; its diffusion and conveyance to stigma: pollen-tubes, their productions, and action in fertilization.

Cross fertilization and its use. Hybridization. Fertility and sterility of hybrid plants. Supposed change of one species into another.

Dissemination of seeds. Modes in which seed-vessels open. Pseudomorphs, winged, and fleshy fruits and their modes of dissemination. Vitality of Seeds.

Germination. Action of heat, light, and moisture. Use of albumen and cotyledons. Similarity of embryo to bud; their difference.

Some knowledge of the following Natural Orders alone to be expected; and the general structure, peculiarities, and affinities, rather than the technical characters, to be required:—

|                |                 |                |
|----------------|-----------------|----------------|
| Ranunculaceæ   | Boraginaceæ     | Orchidaceæ     |
| Cruciferae     | Scrophulariaceæ | Amarylloidaceæ |
| Caryophyllaceæ | Labiatae        | Iridaceæ       |
| Leguminosæ     | Primulaceæ      | Araceæ         |
| Rosaceæ        | Euphorbiaceæ    | Cyperaceæ      |
| Umbelliferae   | Amentiferae     | Gramineæ       |
| Compositæ      | Coniferae       | Filices        |

Every Student will be required to pass in each portion (Nos. 1 and 2) separately.

ZOOLOGY—PART I.

Systematic. To describe the four general plans or types of structure on which all animals (according to Cuvier) are modelled.

To name, define, and state the general characters of the Classes comprehended within each of these four types.

To give the division into Orders, in accordance with any recent and well-known System of Classification, of any of the classes named in the subjoined list, stating the characters by which each of such Orders is distinguished.

Preserved specimens, or characteristic drawings of animals, within the limits of the subjoined Classes, will be exhibited for determination of the classes and orders to which they severally belong, the reasons being required for each determination.

List of Classes. Mammalia, Aves, Reptilia, Pisces, Cephalopoda, Gasteropoda, Lamellibranchiata, Crustacea, Arachnida, Insecta, Echinodermata, and Polypi.

Note.—Such simple anatomical and physiological questions as Candidates for the Ordinary B.A. Degree may be reasonably expected to answer are asked, in reference to the Classes named in the above list, and under the following heads :—

PART II.

Anatomical. 1. The composition of the Vertebrate skeleton; and the various modifications in the form of its elements in particular Classes and Orders to suit the habits and modes of life characteristic of such Classes and Orders.

2. Character of the integuments.

3. Form of the Nervous System, and structure of the Organs of the Senses.

4. Form and structure of the Digestive Organs, and of the Secreting Glands.

5. Form and structure of the Circulating and Respiratory Organs.

6. Marked variations of character in any of these organs occurring in particular Orders.

7. Preparations or drawings of any of the above organs may be exhibited to be identified and described.

PART III.

Physiological. 1. The animal functions, namely, ordinary and special sensation, voluntary and involuntary motion.

2. The nutritive functions, namely, digestion, absorption, circulation, respiration, and secretion.

3. The reproductive functions, namely, modes of reproduction, and embryonic development.

Special Examination in Mechanism and Applied Science.

This Examination comprises the practical application of Mechanics, Hydrostatics, Hydraulics, Heat, Electricity, and Magnetism, in which three papers are set.

The following Schedule defines the range of the subjects in this Examination :—

MECHANISM AND APPLIED MECHANICS.

General principles of Machines and Mechanism, or Kinematics.

The elements of Applied Mechanics, including the laws and practical application of Friction and Elasticity, and strength of materials.

The elements of Graphical statics as applied to simple frames.

Steam and Steam Engines.

Candidates are expected to pay attention to clearness of drawing in such sketches as may be required in illustration of their written answers throughout this part of the Examination.

HEAT.

Temperature ; thermometers. Expansion of solids and fluids ; coefficients of expansion. Calorimetry ; units of heat. Conduction, convection, and radiation of heat. Specific heat ; latent heat ; heat of combination. Laws of gases and of saturated vapours. General principles of heat engines ; Carnot's engine ; mechanical equivalent of heat. Steam and steam engines. Watt's Indicator, and interpretation of its diagram. Sources of heat.

ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM.

Excitement of electricity ; conductors and non-conductors ; attraction and repulsion of electrified bodies ; positive and negative electricities ; electric induction ; electroscopes ; law of electric force ; electricity on surface of conductors ; electric density and distribution.

Electrical machines ; the electrophorus ; Holtz machine.

Electrical potential, and lines of electric force ; charge and capacity ; electrical condensers ; Leyden jar and battery of jars ; dielectrics.

Atmospheric electricity ; lightning conductors.

Magnetic attraction and repulsion ; magnetic induction ; modes of magnetising steel bars ; leading phenomena of terrestrial magnetism ; mariner's compass ; earth's magnetic force, and instruments for measuring it.

Voltaic element ; Volta's pile ; galvanic cells and batteries ; action of current on magnet ; galvanometers ; Ohm's law ; resistance ; Wheatstone's bridge ; electromagnets.

Telegraphy in its practical applications.

SPECIAL EXAMINATION IN MUSIC.

This Examination has only been recently established. The first Examination was held in 1878, when the subjects of Examination for the Easter term were :—

1. Elementary Acoustics.
2. Counterpoint in not more than three parts.
3. Harmony in not more than four parts.

All the before mentioned Special Examinations are held twice a year, viz., at the end of the Easter and Michaelmas Terms. Those who are approved are divided into two classes ; the names of those in the FIRST class being arranged in order of merit, those in the SECOND class being arranged alphabetically.

B.A. DEGREE jure natalium.

Students entitled to the Degree of B.A. jure natalium, may be admitted to that Degree without passing the General Examination. They have simply to pass the Previous and one of the Special Examinations.

HONOUR TRIPOSES.

In order to obtain a Degree with Honours, Students must first pass in both parts of the Previous Examination, and also in the additional subjects, and subsequently enter for one of the Triposes, which are as follows : Mathematical, Classical, Moral Sciences, Natural Sciences, Theological, Law, Historical, Semitic Languages, Indian Languages.

The Senate of Cambridge University has decided to admit female students, resident at either Girton or Newnham College, to the Tripos Examinations.

THE MATHEMATICAL TRIPOS.

This Examination takes place annually. The Mathematical Tripos hitherto consisted of two sets of examinations, but after January 1882 it will be divided into three parts, and the changes will be in operation on all this year's freshmen.

The first part of the Examination, now held during the first week in January, will take place, under the new regulations, in the last week in May, and the second part will commence on the Monday following the second Sunday in June. Eight days after the first Examination, the examiners will declare which competitors have acquitted themselves so as to deserve mathematical honours. The principal regulations of the Examination being as follows :—

Questions and Problems are proposed to the Candidates on nine days, the first three days being assigned to the more elementary parts of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, the fourth day to the easier parts of the higher subjects, and the last five days to the higher parts of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy.

After the first four days there is an interval of ten days ; and on the ninth of those days the Moderators and Examiners who have been engaged in the Examination of the first three days, taking account of that part of the Examination only, declare what persons have so acquitted themselves as to deserve Mathematical Honours. They are also empowered to declare what persons have so acquitted themselves as to deserve an ordinary Degree only, or to be excused from the General Examination.

Those who are declared to have so acquitted themselves as to deserve Mathematical Honours, and no others, are admitted to the rest of the Examination in the higher subjects, which includes Heat, Electricity, and Magnetism (both the elementary and the more advanced parts), in addition to those at present recognized in the Examination for the Mathematical Tripos ; and after that Examination, the Moderators and Examiners, taking into account the Examination of all the nine days, arrange in order of merit all the Candidates who have been declared to deserve Mathematical Honours into three classes of Wranglers, Senior Optimes, and Junior Optimes, and these classes are published in the Senate-house at nine o'clock on the Friday morning preceding the general B.A. admission.

An Undergraduate or Bachelor designate in Arts may be a Candidate for Honours in the Mathematical Tripos of any year, if at the end of the Examination for such Tripos he shall have entered upon his ninth Term at least, having previously kept eight Terms ; provided that not more than ten Terms shall have passed after the first of the said eight Terms ; and, excepting Candidates for Degrees jure natalium, no Student of a different standing shall be allowed to be a Candidate, unless he shall have obtained permission from the Council of the Senate.

A Student who has been admitted to the Degree of B.A. jure natalium, or is a Candidate for such Degree, may be a Candidate for Honours in the Mathematical Tripos of any year, if at the end of the Examination for such Tripos he shall have entered upon his seventh Term at least, having previously kept six Terms ; provided that not more than eight Terms shall have passed after the first of the said six Terms.

Any Student who may be admitted to the Examination in his seventh or ninth Term is required to keep that Term, and no certificate of approval shall continue in force, unless it shall appear, when he applies for admission to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, that he has kept the said seventh or ninth Term.

The subjects of the Examination on the first three days are the following, treated without the Differential Calculus, and without the methods of Analytical Geometry :—

Euclid. Books I. to VI. Book XI. Props. I. to XXI. Book XII. Props. I. II.

Arithmetic ; and the elementary parts of Algebra ; namely, the rules for the fundamental operations upon algebraical symbols with their proofs, the solution of simple and quadratic equations, ratio and proportion, arithmetical, geometrical, and harmonical progression, permutations and combinations, the binomial theorem, and logarithms.

The elementary parts of Plane Trigonometry, so far as to include the solution and properties of triangles.

The elementary parts of Conic Sections, treated geometrically, but not excluding the method of orthogonal projections ; curvature.

The elementary parts of Statics ; namely, the equilibrium of forces acting in one plane and of parallel forces, the centre of gravity, the mechanical powers, friction.

The elementary parts of Dynamics ; namely, uniform, uniformly accelerated, and uniform circular motion, falling bodies and projectiles in vacuo, cycloidal oscillations, collisions, work.

The first, second, and third sections of Newton's Principia ; the propositions to be proved by Newton's methods.

The elementary parts of Hydrostatics ; namely, the pressure of fluids, specific gravities, floating bodies, density of gases as depending on pressure and temperature, the construction and use of the more simple instruments and machines.

The elementary parts of Optics ; namely, the reflection and refraction of light at plane and spherical surfaces, not including aberrations ; the eye ; construction and use of the more simple instruments.

The elementary parts of Astronomy ; so far as they are necessary for the explanation of the more simple phenomena, without the use of spherical trigonometry ; astronomical instruments.

The subjects of Examination on the fourth and on the last five days are arranged in five divisions, as follows :—

First Division.

|                                        |                           |
|----------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| Algebra.                               | Differential Equations.   |
| Trigonometry ; Plane and Spherical.    | Statics.                  |
| Theory of Equations.                   | Hydrostatics.             |
| Analytical Geometry ; Plane and Solid. | Dynamics of a Particle.   |
| Finite Differences.                    | Dynamics of Rigid Bodies. |
| Differential and Integral Calculus.    | Optics.                   |
|                                        | Spherical Astronomy.      |

Second Division.

|                                                         |                                                           |
|---------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| Higher parts of Algebra and of the Theory of Equations. | Higher parts of Differential Equations.                   |
| Higher parts of Finite Differences.                     | Calculus of Variations.                                   |
| Elliptic Functions.                                     | Theory of Chances, including Combination of Observations. |
| Higher parts of Analytical Geometry.                    |                                                           |

|                                                   |                          |
|---------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Newton's Principia, Book I., Sections IX. and XI. | Laplace's Coefficients.  |
| Lunar and Planetary Theories.                     | Attractions.             |
| Higher parts of Dynamics.                         | Figure of the Earth.     |
|                                                   | Precession and Nutation. |

Fourth Division.

|                  |                                                 |
|------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Hydrodynamics.   | Vibrations of Strings and Bars.                 |
| Theory of Sound. | Theory of Elastic Solids treated as continuous. |
| Physical Optics. |                                                 |
| Waves and Tides. |                                                 |

Fifth Division.

|                                                                                      |              |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Expression of arbitrary functions by series or integrals involving sines or cosines. | Heat.        |
|                                                                                      | Electricity. |
|                                                                                      | Magnetism.   |

THE CLASSICAL TRIPOS.

This Examination, which takes place annually, commences in every year on the fourth Monday after the last Saturday in January.

The Examination continues for eight days in the following subjects :— Latin and Greek Prose and Verse composition ; passages for translation selected from the best Latin and Greek authors, together with questions arising out of such passages ; Ancient History ; Classical Philology ; passages for translation taken from the works of (1) Plato and Aristotle, (2) the Philosophical and Rhetorical Treatises of Cicero, Lucretius de Rerum Natura, and Quintilian's Institutio Oratoria, with questions on the subject-matter of such passages, and of the entire works from which such passages are taken. A list of books recommended for the Philological Paper, and for the paper on the Latin and Greek philosophers and rhetoricians, is announced some time before the Examination takes place.

Any Undergraduate or Bachelor designate in Arts may be a Candidate for Honours in the Classical Tripos of any year if, at the end of the Examination for such Tripos, he shall have entered upon his ninth Term at least, having previously kept eight Terms ; provided that not more than ten Terms shall have passed after the first of the said eight Terms ; and, excepting Candidates for Degrees jure natalium, no Student of a different standing is allowed to be a Candidate, unless he has obtained permission from the Council of the Senate.

Any Student who has been admitted to the Degree of B.A. jure natalium, or is a Candidate for such Degree, may be a Candidate for Honours in the Classical Tripos of any year, if at the end of the Examination for such Tripos he shall have entered upon his seventh Term at least, having previously kept six Terms ; provided that not more than eight Terms shall have passed after the first of the said six Terms.

Any Student who may be admitted to the Examination in his ninth Term is required to keep that Term, and no certificate of approval shall continue in force, unless it shall appear, when he applies for admission to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, that he has kept the said ninth Term.

Any Student who may be admitted to the Examination in his seventh Term is required to keep that Term, and no certificate of approval shall continue in force, unless it shall appear, when he applies for admission to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, that he has kept the said seventh Term.

If any Candidate has been prevented by illness or any other sufficient cause from attending part of the Examination, it is competent to the Examiners to recommend him for an Ordinary Degree, if he have acquitted himself so far with credit.

The names of Candidates who pass the Examination are arranged in three classes in order of merit ; the list being published at the end of the Lent Term in each year.

THE MORAL SCIENCES TRIPOS.

This Examination takes place annually, and occupies six days, commencing on the last Monday in November in each year.

Any Undergraduate or Bachelor designate in Arts or Law may be admitted to the Examination in any year, if at the time of such Examination he has entered upon his eighth Term at least, having previously kept seven Terms; provided that not more than nine Terms shall have passed after the first of the said seven Terms; and, excepting Candidates for Degrees jure natalium, no Student of a different standing is admitted to the Examination, unless he has obtained permission from the Council of the Senate.

Any Student who has been admitted to the Degree of B.A. jure natalium, or is a Candidate for such Degree, may, without passing the Previous Examination, be admitted to the Examination in any year, if at the time of such Examination he shall have entered upon his sixth Term at least, having previously kept five Terms; provided that not more than seven Terms shall have passed after the first of the said five Terms.

A Student who has obtained Honours in the Mathematical or Classical Tripos of any year, may be admitted to the Examination in the following Michaelmas Term.

A Student who has obtained Honours in the Law Tripos, may be admitted to the Examination in the following Michaelmas Term; provided that not more than ten Terms shall have passed after his first Term of residence before he was admitted to the Law Tripos Examination.

An Undergraduate, or Bachelor of Arts, who has obtained Honours in the Natural Sciences Tripos in any year, may be admitted to the Examination in the following Michaelmas Term; provided that not more than nine Terms had passed after his first Term of residence before he was admitted to the Examination for the Natural Sciences Tripos, and provided also that no person shall present himself as a Candidate for Honours in the Moral Sciences Tripos on more than one occasion.

The subjects of Examination, with the books recommended, are as follows :—

I. Moral and Political Philosophy.

I. The different sources, occasions, or determining causes of human action, and their mutual relations : (i) Pleasure, pain ; desire, aversion, and their varieties : (ii) Will, freedom of will, practical reason : (iii) Conscience, moral sentiments, moral perception or judgment, moral reasoning : Theories of the origin of the moral faculty.

II. The good or ultimate end of rational action : happiness, right and wrong, moral obligation, moral excellence : rules and sanctions.

III. Exposition and classification of particular duties and virtues.

IV. Relation of Ethics to Psychology, Law, Politics, Theology.

V. The general principles of Jurisprudence, civil and penal : rights to property and services, and modes of acquiring them : contracts : rights and obligations attached to different private conditions : theory of punishment.

VI. The general principles of Politics : the different functions of government, and the modes of their distribution : mutual rights and obligations of governors and governed : general limits of governmental interference.

VII. The history of ethical and political opinion.

List of books recommended on this subject : Plato, Protagoras, Gorgias, Philebus, and Republic. Aristotle, Ethics. Cicero, De Finibus. Hobbes, Leviathan, Part i. c. 6—11, and 13—15. Clarke, Evidences of Natural Religion, Props. i—iv. Shaftesbury, Inquiry concerning Virtue. Butler, Sermons 1—3, 5, 8, 11. Adam Smith, Moral Sentiments. Hume, Inquiry into the Principles of Morals. Kant, Groundwork of the Metaphysic of Ethics. Paley, Moral Philosophy, Book VI. Bentham, Principles of Morals and Legislation, omitting c. xviii. (or the corresponding part of Dumont's work), and Principles of the Civil Code. Whewell, Lectures on Systematic Morality, and Lectures on the History of Moral Philosophy. Mill, Utilitarianism and Representative Government. Grote, Examination of Utilitarianism.

II. Mental Philosophy.

I. Analysis and classification of mental powers and mental phenomena, and determination of their mutual relations : consciousness, sensation, emotion, volition, perception, memory, imagination, conception, judgment, reasoning.

II. Laws of mental development and association of mental phenomena.

III. Subject, object, and their relation in cognition : the origin and extent of knowledge : the criteria of truth and certainty.

IV. The Categories or fundamental forms of the object of knowledge, their origin and mutual relations : Space, time, substance, quantity, quality, relation, cause and effect.

V. The principal modes of Being, and their relations : mind, matter, and their different modes or qualities.

VI. Physiological concomitants of mental phenomena : organs of sense and nervous system.

VII. The history of metaphysical opinion.

List of books recommended on this subject : Descartes, Method and Meditations. Locke, Essay on the Human Understanding. Berkeley, Three Dialogues between Hylas and Philonous. Hume, Treatise on Human Nature, Book I. Reid, Essays on the Intellectual Powers (Hamilton's Edition). Kant, Kritik der reinen Vernunft. Hamilton, Lectures on Metaphysics. Ferrier, Institutes of Metaphysic. Bain, Handbook of Mental Science. Grote, Exploratio Philosophica. Spencer, Principles of Psychology. Calderwood, Philosophy of the Infinite.

III. Logic.

I. Province of Logic, formal and material.

II. Functions of Language : names, and their kinds : definition, division, and classification : predicables and categories : scientific nomenclature and terminology : abstraction, conception, and generalisation.

III. Propositions and their import : opposition and conversion of propositions.

IV. Analysis and laws of syllogism.

V. The fundamental laws of thought, and their application to logical processes.

VI. The nature of the inductive process : ground of induction : connection between induction and deduction : analogy.

VII. Uniformities of nature, and their combinations : their analysis, and the methods of discovering and proving them: observation and experiment: scientific explanation : the nature and uses of hypothesis.

VIII. Doctrine of chance.

IX. Error, its nature and causes, and the safeguards against it : classification of logical fallacies.

X. Relation of Logic to Psychology, Metaphysics, Grammar : methods of different sciences.

List of books recommended on this subject, in addition to some elementary handbook : Aldrich, Artis Logicæ Rudimenta, with Introduction and Notes by Mansel. Kant, Logic. Whateley, Logic. Hamilton, Lectures on Logic. Mansel, Prolegomena Logica. De Morgan, Formal Logic. Boole, Laws of Thought. Bacon, Novum Organon. Whewell, Novum Organon Renovatum. Mill, Logic. Venn, Logic of Chance.

IV. Political Economy.

I. Preliminary.

The scope and method of Political Economy.

II. Production of Wealth.

Causes which affect or determine

- (i) The efficiency of capital and of labour, (ii) The difficulty of obtaining natural agents and raw materials, (iii) The rate of increase of capital and population.

III. Exchange and distribution of Wealth.

Causes which affect or determine

- (i) The value of commodities produced at home, (ii) The rent of land, (iii) Profits and wages, (iv) The value of currency, (v) The value of imported commodities.

Monopolies. Gluts and crises. Banking, and the Foreign Exchanges.

IV. Taxation.

The principles of taxation : the incidence of various taxes : public loans and their results.

V. History.

- (i) The gradual development of the existing forms of competition contract, credit and usury, and other economic habits and principles of action. (ii) The history of trade-associations and economic legislation. (iii) The history of the theories of Political Economy. Communism and Socialism.

VI. Applications to various practical subjects.

- (i) Industrial education. (ii) Co-operation. (iii) Trade combinations. (iv) Public and private charity.

The limits of the economic intervention of Government.

The relation of Political Economy to other branches of Social Science, and to Ethics.

List of books recommended on this subject: Adam Smith, Wealth of Nations. Ricardo, Principles of Political Economy and Taxation. Bastiat, Essays on Political Economy. Jones, on Political Economy (Whewell's Edition). J. S. Mill, Essays on Unsettled Questions of Political Economy. J. S. Mill, Principles of Political Economy. Fawcett, Manual of Political Economy. Thornton, on Labour. Bagehot, Lombard Street. Cairnes, Some Leading Principles of Political Economy. Leone Levi, History of British Commerce. Bretano, History of Guilds.

The names of the Students who pass the Examination with credit are placed according to merit in three classes; the places being determined by estimating the aggregate merits of each Student in all the subjects of Examination, and marks of distinction being affixed to the names of those who have shown eminent proficiency in particular subjects, but no credit is given to a Student in any subject unless it appear that he has shown a competent knowledge of that subject.

Candidates who may not be entitled to Honours may be declared by the Examiners to be entitled to an ordinary Degree, or to be excused the General Examination.

NATURAL SCIENCES TRIPOS.

In this Tripos, which is now divided into two parts, there are a viva voce Examination and a practical Examination, in addition to twelve papers; the regulations as to residence being precisely similar to those for the Moral Sciences Tripos. The subjects of the Examination are as follows:—1. Chemistry and certain other branches of Physics; 2. Botany, including Vegetable Anatomy and Physiology; 3. Geology, including Palæontology and Petrology; 4. Mineralogy; 5. Zoology and Comparative Anatomy, Human Anatomy, and Physiology.

The first part of the Examination is held annually in June, and occupies three days, the questions set being of an elementary character. The result of this part of the Examination is declared before the end of the Easter Term, and successful Candidates are divided into (1) those who are deserving of Honours; (2) those who are deserving of an ordinary Degree; and (3) those who are only entitled to be excused the General Examination. Those who come under the first two heads can at once take their Degree, provided they have completed their ninth Term of residence.

The second part of the Examination, to which only those who have been declared entitled to Honours are admitted, is held in the following December, and occupies five days or more. Six papers are set, the questions taking a wider range, and including a large number on the several subjects, some of which have special reference to the philosophy and history of these subjects.

This Tripos is divided into three classes, the first class being again divided into two divisions, these classes and divisions being determined by the merits of the Students in the two parts of the Examination. The first class comprises those who have shown superior proficiency in some one, at least, of the subjects mentioned above, and the subject or subjects for which the Student is placed in the first class is signified, and marks of distinction are affixed to the names of Candidates who have shown eminent proficiency in particular subjects. The names in each division of the first class, and in the second and third classes, are arranged in alphabetical order, and not in order of merit, as is the case with the other principal Triposes.

In the papers set in the first three days, (in June), the questions are of a comparatively elementary nature, with a view to test a knowledge of principles rather than of details. Specimens are also exhibited for description and determination.

The Board of Natural Science Studies is empowered to define the parts of the several subjects to be included in the first three days of the Examination. At present these are as follows :

In Physics the questions to be limited to the elementary and fundamental parts of the subject, and, in particular, special attention to be paid to the definition of physical quantities, the general principles of measurement, the configuration and motion of a material system, the laws of motion, and the comparison of forces and of masses. In Sound, Light, Heat, Electricity, and Magnetism, only the fundamental laws, their simpler applications, and the experiments which illustrate them, to be required.

In Chemistry the questions to relate to the leading principles and experimental laws of Chemistry, the properties of the commoner elements and their principal inorganic compounds, the outlines of metallurgy, and simple qualitative and quantitative analysis.

In Mineralogy the questions to be confined to Elementary Crystallography, the general properties of minerals and the special characters of those species only which are of common occurrence.

In Geology the questions to be limited to Physical Geography, the interpretation of the structure of the crust of the earth and the history of its formation, so far as to involve only the elementary parts of Palæontology and Lithology.

In Botany the questions to relate to the elementary parts of Vegetable Morphology, Histology, and Physiology ; and to the principles of a natural system of classification.

Candidates to be required to describe flowering plants in technical language.

Questions not to be set in the first three days on Vegetable Palæontology, the Geographical Distribution of Plants, or details of classification.

In Zoology with Comparative Anatomy minor details are not to be included in the questions relating to classification. Geographical distribution of animals is held to be a part of Zoology, and Comparative Anatomy includes the structure of extinct as well as of recent forms.

Human Anatomy to include the mechanism of the human body, the comparison of its parts with those of lower animals, its development, &c. ; but the questions are to be of a simple and elementary character.

In Physiology the questions to be of a comparatively elementary character.

THEOLOGICAL TRIPOS.

The regulations for this Tripos, which has only recently been established, are, as regards residence, similar to those for the other Triposes which have already been given, with the exception that a Student who has obtained Honours in any Tripos is permitted to become a Candidate for Honours in this Tripos, provided that not more than six complete Terms have passed since the Examination for the Tripos in which he first obtained Honours.

The Examination is held annually in the month of January, in the following subjects :—

Old Testament (General Paper).

The Book of Genesis in Hebrew.

Greek Testament (General Paper).

The four Gospels, with special reference to one selected Gospel.

The Acts, the Epistles, and the Apocalypse, with special reference to selected portions.

Ecclesiastical History of the first six centuries ; special attention being paid to the History of Doctrine during the period.

The Book of Isaiah in Hebrew.

Selected Books of the Hebrew Scriptures and of the Septuagint.

The Ancient Creeds ; and the Confessions of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries, with special reference to the Articles of the Church of England.

Liturgiology.

Selected Works of Greek Ecclesiastical Writers.

Selected Works of Latin Ecclesiastical Writers.

Selected periods of Ecclesiastical History ; special attention being paid to the History of Doctrine during the periods.

Selected Works of modern Theological Writers.

The General Paper on the Old Testament contains questions (1) on the contents of the Old Testament Scriptures, and on the History of the Jews down to the Christian Era ; (2) on the authorship, date, substance, and form of the several Books. Questions are also set on the History of the Hebrew Text, and of the Greek and English Versions.

The General Paper on the Greek Testament contains questions on the formation of the Canon ; on the language ; on the authorship, date, and subject-matter of the several Books ; and on the History of the Greek Text, and of the principal Versions.

The Papers on the fixed Books of the Hebrew Scriptures contain passages for translation, and questions on the criticism, exegesis, and subject-matter of such Books.

The Paper on Genesis also contains passages for translation from the rest of the Pentateuch and the Historical Books. The Paper on Isaiah contains one or more passages for translations from the Hebrew Scriptures generally, and each Paper on the fixed Books contains one or more passages from the Hebrew Scriptures for pointing.

The Paper on the selected Books of the Hebrew Scriptures and of the Septuagint, and the two special Papers on the Greek Testament, contain passages for translation and questions on the subject-matter, criticism, and exegesis of such Books.

The Papers on Creeds and Confessions contain questions on their history, text, and subject-matter.

The Paper on Liturgiology contains questions on the text and subject-matter of the principal ancient Liturgies, and on the history of Christian Worship, with special reference to the Book of Common Prayer.

Public notice of all the variable subjects selected for the Examination in any year is given by the Board of Theological Studies before the beginning of the Michaelmas Term in the year next but two preceding the Examination.

The names of those Students who pass the Examination with credit are placed in three classes, the names in each class being arranged in alphabetical order; but no Student is classed who has not so acquitted himself in the first three days of the Examination as to deserve Honours.

No credit is given to a Student in any of the last eight Papers unless it appear to the Examiners that he has shown a competent knowledge in that Paper.

THE LAW TRIPOS.

The regulations for this Tripos, as regards residence, and in other respects, are similar to those mentioned in the foregoing Triposes, with the exception that Students who pass with credit in Honours have the option of taking the Degree of LL.B. instead of that of B.A. should they desire to do so.

The Examination takes place annually in December, the subjects being as Follows :—

1. General and Comparative Jurisprudence.
2. Passages for Translation, taken from the sources of Roman Law, particularly from Gaius, Ulpian, Justinian, and some specified portion of the Digest.
3. Questions on Roman Law and its History.
4. The English Law of Personal Property.
5. The English Law of Real Property.
6. English Criminal Law.
7. The Legal and Constitutional History of England.
8. Public International Law.
9. Essays or Problems on the subjects of Examination.

A list of Books on the foregoing subjects recommended are published eighteen months before the Examination.

HISTORICAL TRIPOS.

The regulations for this Examination are similar to those for the other Triposes. The subjects of the Examination are as follows :—

1. English History.
2. } Special subjects, to be selected, generally speaking, from the periods
3. } termed Ancient, Mediæval, and Modern respectively.

(Either (3) or (4) to be always taken from English History. In subjects (2), (3), and (4) some knowledge of the chief original sources will be expected.

5. Principles of Political Philosophy and of General Jurisprudence.
6. Constitutional Law and Constitutional History.
7. Political Economy and Economic History.
8. Public International Law in connection with selected Treaties.
9. Subjects for Essays.

The Board of Historical Studies gives notice, from time to time, of the variable subjects.

The names of those Candidates who acquit themselves so as to deserve Honours are arranged, in three classes, in order of merit; and, with regard to Candidates who are (1) only deserving of an ordinary Degree, or (2) of being excused the General Examination, the same rules apply as in the case of the other Triposes.

THE SEMITIC AND INDIAN LANGUAGES TRIPOSES.

These Triposes have only been recently established, and no Examination has yet, in either case, been held.

DEGREES jure dignitatis aut natalium.

By the University Statutes, cap. 3, sect. 5, Degrees may be conferred, without residence or examinations or exercises, on the following persons, viz. :—

1. Privy Counsellors.
2. Bishops, or Bishops designate.
3. Noblemen :—Dukes, Marquises, Earls, Viscounts, Barons.
4. Sons of Noblemen, or their heirs apparent.
5. Deans of Cathedrals.
6. Heads of Colleges.

If, however, Noblemen, or the sons or heirs apparent of Noblemen, come to the University as juvenes, they can take the Degree of B.A. only, and must pass the same Examination for that Degree as other Students. Such persons are required to reside seven Terms, and may be Candidates for Honours in any of the Honour Triposes in their seventh Term of residence ; they do not wait for inauguration as Bachelors of Arts, but are at once admitted ad perfectum gradum.

No person taking a Degree jure dignitatis is entitled to a vote in the Senate, unless he shall have resided three Terms.

UNIVERSITY AND COLLEGE FEES.

Caution Money.

The money paid on admission at each College is, for

|                       | £  | s. | d. |                 | £  | s. | d. |
|-----------------------|----|----|----|-----------------|----|----|----|
| Fellow-Commoner ..... | 25 | 0  | 0  | Sizar.....      | 10 | 0  | 0  |

The Caution Money remains in the hands of the Tutor, and is not returned till a person takes his name off the boards. Noblemen and Fellow-Commoners usually make a present of Plate to the College.

Admission Fees (College).

In addition to the caution, every Student on admission, or coming into residence, makes a payment, differing at different Colleges.

Matriculation Fees (University).

By Graces of the Senate it has been decreed that the Matriculation Fees paid to the Registry for the common chest be as follows :—

|                       | £  | s. | d. |                 | £ | s. | d. |
|-----------------------|----|----|----|-----------------|---|----|----|
| Nobleman .....        | 15 | 0  | 10 | Pensioner ..... | 5 | 0  | 0  |
| Fellow-Commoner ..... | 10 | 10 | 0  | Sizar.....      | 0 | 15 | 0  |

Examination Fees (University).

Every Student is required, upon admission to Examination in the first part of the Previous Examination, to pay a fee of twenty-five shillings, and the same sum before admission to the second part of the same Examination. Students have also to pay twenty-five shillings upon each occasion that they may enter for either part of the Examination.

Before admission to the General Examination, Students are required to pay the sum of twenty-five shillings ; and when unsuccessful, the same sum is again payable each time they present themselves for Examination.

College Payments.

In each College, a quarterly payment is made by each member of it, according to his Degree and condition, on a scale which differs in the several Colleges.

This payment includes the annual contributions made to the University. These payments may be compounded for in several Colleges, subsequent to the Degrees of D.D., B.D., LL.D., M.D., M.A., and LL.M.

College Tuition Fees.

The terminal payments of persons in statu pupillari in every College are the following :—

|                       | £  | s. | d. |                        | £ | s. | d. |

Lodging-House Charges.—Rent of rooms varies in the several Colleges from £4 to £30.

Price of lodgings—£6 to £15 per Term; the most frequent payment is £8 or £10; and half-price is paid in vacations.

Entertainment in rooms, attendance of a gyp, orders in the hall, are extra and optional.

The fee for private tuition is 9 guineas a Term, and 9 guineas for the long vacation.

Personal expenses and tradesmen's bills are independent of the place: they are paid by the Student himself, or through the Tutor, as may be found expedient.

No person in statu pupillari, lodging in a house not duly licensed, is considered as resident in the University or keeping Term.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY ACCOUNTS.

Yearly Financial Statement.

The principal items of the receipts are as follows:—Rental of property 2,843*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.*; Government Stock, 386*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.*; payments, by members of the University, 8,839*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.*; Matriculation fees, 3,298*l.* 1*s.*; Previous Examination fees, 2,072*l.* 10*s.*; General Examination fees, 521*l.* 5*s.* M.B. and M.D. fees, 248*l.* 17*s.*; fees for attendance on Professors' lectures, 338*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*; fines and degree fees, 8,326*l.* 14*s.*; lodging-house licenses, 25*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* The total amount of receipts was 26,900*l.* 4*s.* The payments consist principally of stipends and salaries. The paid University officers are the Vice-Chancellor, the Public Orator, the two Proctors, two pro-Proctors, Deputy High Steward, Registrary, Deputy Registrary, Librarian, Assessor to the Chancellor, Esquire Bedells; and the total payments to these officials absorbed, less Income-tax, the sum of 2,574*l.* 18*s.* 3*d.* There was paid to the University servants 658*l.* 3*s.* The Public Examiners entailed an expenditure of 1,675*l.* 10*s.* The stipends paid are inconsiderable. The two Moderators for the Mathematical Tripos receive 80*l.* each, the three Examiners 40*l.* each. The six Examiners for the Classical Tripos receive 50*l.* each. For the Previous Examination there are nine Examiners at 30*l.*, the stipends of the other Examiners vary from 30*l.* to 10*l.* each. The total stipends of the Professors paid by the University was 6,044*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.* The Regius Professor of Law, the Woodwardian Professor of Geology, the Professor of Experimental Physics, each receive 500*l.*, the other Professors' amounts varying from 250*l.* to 400*l.* The stipends to other University teachers, secretaries, and curators amount to 1,129*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.* The Select Preachers, Assize, and Commencement Sermons cost 144*l.* 18*s.*, the maintenance of the Senate House, Schools, &c., cost 445*l.* 3*s.* 7*d.*, the Observatory, including the stipend to Professor Adams and his assistants, 815*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.*, while the Spinning-house, the University prison for women "suspected of evil," was a charge to the chest of 236*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.* Printing and stationery are charged at 1,257*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.*, including 429*l.* 17*s.* 2*d.* for the University Reporter, the official record of events. The total ordinary expenditure was 18,009*l.* 4*s.* 5*d.*; thus the excess of receipts over expenditure was 8,890*l.* 19*s.* 7*d.* Of this balance 7,000*l.* was transferred to the University Building and Library funds, in accordance with graces passed by the Senate. Extraordinary payments for purchase of Consols and site for Divinity School amounted to 1,623*l.* 3*s.* 11*d.*, while there was a balance due to the chest last year of 2,609*l.* 16*s.* 2*d.* The accounts also contain details of the receipts and expenditure of numerous trust funds, with which are endowed Professorships, prizes, and scholarships. Coming to the public buildings, the expenditure on the University Library was 3,287*l.* 7*s.* 9*d.*; on the Fitzwilliam Museum, 4,902*l.* 16*s.* 10*d.*; the new museums and lecture rooms, 2,309*l.* 3*s.* 3*d.*; the Botanic garden, 1,194*l.* 3*s.* 11*d.* The receipts from the local examinations, including a balance of 861*l.* 6*s.* 4*d.* from the previous year, amounted to 6,711*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.* Fees from Candidates and Schools brought in 5,497*l.*; the expense of Examiners was 3,732*l.* 10*s.*; printing 622*l.* 3*s.*; secretary and clerk 680*l.*; and after other payments the balance in hand is 1,388*l.* 14*s.*; showing that those Examinations produce a considerable revenue to the University. The State Medicine Examination produced 138*l.* 12*s.* in fees from Candidates, while the expenses of the Examination were 136*l.* 1*s.* 11*d.* The Board for superintending Non-Collegiate Students communicate a statement from which it appears that the fees received from Students amounted to 406*l.* 14*s.* The principal payments were the Censor, 200*l.*; rent of rooms and salary of clerk, 100*l.*; printing, stationery, insurance, &c., 44*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.* The scheme is now self-supporting.

ADDITIONAL TEACHING POWER.

Cambridge.

The Vice-Chancellor, in his Report just issued, published a statement by the University Commissioners, who recommend among other things that provision should be made from College grants for additional teaching power by the institution of new permanent or temporary professorships, the employment of lecturers and readers, the increase in the stipends of some of the existing professorships, and the provision of retiring pensions.

"READING FOR HONOURS."

The Syndicate appointed to consider whether Students should be encouraged to read for Honours in more than one Tripos have issued a report, in which they state they are of opinion that it would be inexpedient to require from Candidates for Honours in any Tripos a higher standard of attainment in other subjects than is at present imposed upon them by the Previous Examination, but they consider it very desirable to give as much encouragement as possible to serious and effective work—such as is generally involved in reading for Honours—in more than one department of study. It appears to them that such reading is at present discouraged, partly by the absorbing nature of the preparation now required for either of the older Triposes (which still attract a majority of the Candidates for Honours), and partly, again, by the times at which the different Examinations are held. The interval between the Mathematical and Classical Triposes is at present so short that it is obviously almost impossible for a Candidate to do himself justice in both Examinations, while even the longer period intervening between either of these and any of the newer Triposes is not really sufficient to enable a Student to go through a satisfactory course of preparation for a second severe Examination in a large and diversified aggregate of subjects. Further, since the Examinations for these latter Triposes all take place in the Michaelmas Term or later, a Student who presents himself for any of them after taking Honours in Mathematics or Classics is forced to break into a fifth year of residence, whereby he is liable to incur an additional year's delay before he can enter upon his professional career. The Syndicate think it possible to diminish the first discouragement very materially and to remove the two others altogether by (1) carrying somewhat further the plan of dividing the Tripos Examinations, which has been already introduced to some extent in the case of the Mathematical and Natural Sciences Triposes; and (2) by placing all the Honour Examinations in May or June. They accordingly propose as follows:—1. The Classical Tripos shall be divided into two parts according to a scheme to be prepared by the Board of Classical Studies and approved by the Senate.—2. Both parts of the Classical Tripos Examination and of the Natural Sciences Tripos Examination shall take place in the latter part of the Easter Term, and separate class lists shall be issued for each part of the Examination. The Examinations for the Moral Sciences, Law, and History Triposes shall take place at about the same time.—3. Students may be Candidates for the first part of the Classical Tripos or Natural Sciences Tripos Examination at the end of their second, third, or, if they have already passed one of the Honours Examinations, fourth year.—4. They may be Candidates for the second part of the Classical Tripos or Natural Sciences Tripos Examination at the end of their third or fourth year, provided they have already passed the first part of their Examination.—5. They may be Candidates for the Moral Sciences, Law, or History Triposes at the end of their third, or, if they have already passed one of the Honours Examinations, fourth year.—6. No Student who has presented himself for any of the above Examinations may present himself on another occasion for the same Examination.—7. Students who pass any of the above Examinations in their third or fourth year shall be entitled to the B.A. Degree, provided they have kept the requisite number of Terms. Students who pass the first part of the Classical or Natural Sciences Tripos Examination in their second year shall be excused the General Examination for the B.A. Degree.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EXAMINATIONS.

The annual report of the Board of Examinations has been issued. During the year, the Board had under its supervision the Previous Examination, the General Examination, and the Special Examinations for the Ordinary B.A. Degree. It appears that at the Previous Examination, held in the Easter Term, there were 369 candidates in Part I., of whom 128 passed in the first class, 178 in the second class, while 63 failed. In Part II. there were 422 candidates, of whom 111 passed in the first class, 193 in the second class, and 118 failed. Of the 184 candidates in additional subjects, 37 failed. At the Examination in the Michaelmas Term, 327 candidates in their first term of residence were examined in Part I., and only 15 failed. In Part II. there were 353 candidates and 50 failures. In additional subjects 59 failed out of 364 candidates. Of the other candidates in the Michaelmas Term, 51 out of 122 failed in Part I., while 75 out of 130 failed in Part II., while in the additional subjects 59 presented themselves and 15 were rejected. At the General Examination, held in the Easter Term, there were 272 candidates, and no less than 117 were rejected. Of the successful candidates, 20 obtained a first class, 37 a second class, 49 a third class, and 49 a fourth class. In the Michaelmas Term there were 189 candidates, and 57 were rejected. Nine obtained a first class, 21 a second class, 42 a third class, and 60 a fourth class. The results of the various Special Examinations for the Ordinary B.A. Degree were as follows:—In Theology, 156 candidates were examined in the Easter and Michaelmas Terms, of whom 41 failed; 9 were awarded a first class, 26 a second class, and 80 a third class. In Moral Philosophy there were no candidates either at the Easter or Michaelmas Terms examination. In Political Economy, out of 39 candidates, 11 were rejected, 5 obtained a first class, and 23 a second class. In Law, there were 54 candidates, 18 were rejected, 5 obtained a first class, and 31 a second class. In History, of 47 candidates, 26 were rejected, 3 obtained a first class, and 18 a second class. In Chemistry, 19 candidates offered themselves; 7 obtained a first class, 8 a second class, 1 was awarded an ægrotat degree, and 3 were rejected. In Geology, there were two candidates; both obtained a first class. In Botany, of 9 candidates, 4 were rejected, 1 obtained a first class, and 4 a second class. In Zoology, there were 2 candidates in the Easter Term, both of whom passed in the second class; in the Michaelmas Term 2 candidates presented themselves, and both were rejected. In Mechanism and Applied Science, there were 9 candidates; 3 obtained a first class, 4 a second class, and 2 were rejected. The total results of the Special Examinations are as under:—There were 339 candidates, 35 obtained a first class, 116 a second class, 80 a third class, one ægrotat, and 107 failed. The Examiner in Modern History reports that it cannot be said that the results are in any way satisfactory. There was but slight evidence of honest hard work, and still less of any attempt to understand the facts or appreciate the results of history. There were, of course, exceptions. The two candidates who obtained a first class in June were considerably in advance of the best in the second class, and showed a real grasp of the subject; while the single first class man in the later examination gave evidence of powers that would have deserved a very high place in the Historical Tripos. But the majority of the candidates relied almost entirely on their memory, a fact which appears to show that history is a bad subject for a pass examination, since, while the pass-man is especially tempted to rely on mere “cram,” it is difficult to set questions which shall be tolerably easy and at the same time test, to some extent at least, the reasoning powers. Questions which cannot be answered without thought require a greater amount of reading in this subject than in others. An examination in history which shall be at once easy and satisfactory seems therefore to be impossible.

THE EBRINGTON AND BOSWORTH PROFESSORSHIP OF ANGLIO-SAXON.

The Vice-Chancellor gave notice early in 1878 that there was established in the University an Anglo-Saxon Professorship under the name of "The Ebrington and Bosworth Professorship of Anglo-Saxon," and the election of a Professor was held at Clare College-lodge on the 15th May, 1878. The stipend not to be less than 500*l.* a year. Walter W. Skeat, M.A., of Christ's College, was the successful candidate.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

CRAVEN SCHOLARSHIPS consist of 6 of 80*l.* per ann. each, tenable for 7 years if the Scholar shall continue a member of the University, but not otherwise. The Scholars are elected upon examination after public announcement of a vacancy in the number.

BARNES SCHOLARSHIP, tenable 4 years. Preference to Candidates educated on the foundation of Christ's Hospital, S. Paul's School, or the Merchant Taylors' School, London, and coming to the University direct from one of those Schools.

BATTIE SCHOLARSHIP is worth 30*l.* to 35*l.* per ann., and is governed by similar regulations to the Craven.

BROWNE SCHOLARSHIP of 21*l.* per ann. is tenable for 7 years. Candidates must be of not more than 3 years' standing in the University.

DAVIES SCHOLARSHIP of 30*l.* per ann. is regulated like the Craven.

PITT SCHOLARSHIP, worth about 45*l.* per ann., is tenable for 7 years upon the same terms as the Craven.

PORSON SCHOLARSHIP, of not less than 60*l.* per ann. for 4 years, is conferred upon Undergraduates who have not resided in the University more than 5 Terms. The examination is exclusively classical.

BELL SCHOLARSHIPS, of about 55*l.* per ann. each, are 8 in number, 2 of which are vacated annually. They are tenable for 4 years. Candidates must not be of more than one year's standing in the University.

TYRWHITT'S HEBREW SCHOLARSHIPS are 6 in number, 2 chosen annually, the senior receiving 30*l.* and the junior 20*l.* for 3 years. Candidates must be B.A., or of similar standing, and not of sufficient standing to take M.A. Degree.

CROSSE SCHOLARSHIPS consist of 3 of 20*l.* per ann. each, tenable for 3 years. The examination turns upon a knowledge of the Holy Scriptures in Hebrew and Greek, and of Ecclesiastical History.

SHEEPSHANKS ASTRONOMICAL EXHIBITION, about 50*l.* per ann., tenable for 3 years, is awarded to that Undergraduate who upon examination is found best versed in Astronomy, theoretical and practical.

LUMLEY EXHIBITIONS consist of 5 of 15*l.* per ann. each, awarded to poor scholars of Oxford or Cambridge educated in School at Thornton, Yorkshire.

TRAVELLING BACHELORS have not been elected since 1855.

ABBOTT SCHOLARSHIP.—In 1871 the late John Abbott, Esq., of Halifax, bequeathed the sum of 4,000*l.* to found 2 Scholarships for Undergraduates in their first year, tenable for 3 years.

LIGHTFOOT SCHOLARSHIP for History. The Rev. Joseph Barber Lightfoot, D.D., transferred to the University in 1870 the sum of 4,500*l.* for the purpose of founding 3 Scholarships for the study of Ecclesiastical History. Each Scholarship is tenable for 3 years, one-third of the annual interest to be paid to each Scholar.

WADDINGTON SCHOLARSHIP.—In 1870 the Misses Waddington transferred a sum of 3,000*l.* in 3 per cent. consolidated bank annuities, for the purpose of founding a Classical Scholarship in memory of their brothers, the late Very Rev. George Waddington, D.D., and the Right Hon. Horatio Waddington, M.A. The Scholarships are tenable for 5 years, to an Undergraduate of not more than 3 years' standing. The examination is exclusively classical. The stipend will consist of the whole of the annual dividends.

WHEWELL SCHOLARSHIPS for International Law. The late Rev. W. Whewell, D.D., late Master of Trinity College, made provision for the endowment of 8 Scholarships of International Law; all Candidates to be under the age of 25 years. 2 Scholarships are chosen every year, and are tenable for 4 years. One receives an annual payment of 100*l.*, and the other an annual payment of 50*l.*

PRIZES.

CHANCELLOR'S MEDALISTS.—Two gold medals of the value of fifteen guineas each are given annually to 2 commencing B.A.'s, who, having obtained Senior Optimes at least, are most proficient in classical learning.

MEMBER'S PRIZEMEN.—The Members of Parliament for the University give annually 4 prizes of fifteen guineas each, to 2 B.A.'s and 2 Undergraduates who compose the best dissertations in Latin prose.

SIR WILLIAM BROWNE'S MEDALISTS consist of 3 Undergraduates annually selected as follows :—The 1st, who writes the best Greek Ode in imitation of Sappho; the 2nd, who writes the best Latin Ode in imitation of Horace; and the 3rd, the best Latin and Greek Epigrams.

CAVENDISH COLLEGE.

This College was founded by the County College Association with the following objects :—

(1) To enable Students somewhat younger than ordinary Undergraduates to pass through a University course and obtain a University degree.

(2) To train in the art of teaching those students who intend to become Schoolmasters.

(3) To secure the greatest practicable economy in cost as well as time.

The foundation stone of the present buildings was laid on October 26th, 1876, by His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, Chancellor of the University, and first President of the College, who had previously conferred upon it the privilege of bearing his name.

By a Grace passed on the 9th of November, 1882, Cavendish College was recognised by the Senate of the University of Cambridge as a Public Hostel, and thereby attained a footing independent of the Non-Collegiate Board, under whose direction the College had until that time been placed.

The usual age of admission being between 16 and 17, a degree may be taken at 19.

The College charges for lodging, board (with an extra term in the long vacation), Tuition and University fees are 84*l.* per annum.

A Scholarship of 50*l.* per annum is given yearly by Sir A. C. Stepney, Bart., and an Examination is held in August for the award of several 30*l.* Scholarships, given by the Duke of Devonshire, the Clothworkers' Company, S. Morley, Esq., M.P., E. B. Foster, Esq., and G. E. Foster, Esq.

There are upwards of 90 undergraduates in residence.

NON-COLLEGIATE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Previously to the year 1858 no Student could be admitted a Member of the University who was not entered on the Boards of a College. In that year Statutes were confirmed providing for the establishment and regulation of Hostels for the reception of Students who should be matriculated and admitted to all the privileges of the University without being of necessity entered as Members of any College. No such Hostel, however, is now in existence.

In the year 1869 a Statute was confirmed in accordance with which Students may be admitted Members of the University without being Members of any College or Hostel. Such Students keep Terms by residing in Cambridge with their parents or in lodgings duly licensed, and are entitled to be matriculated, examined, and admitted to Degrees in the same manner and with the same status and privileges as Students who are Members of Colleges. They are under the jurisdiction of the Vice-Chancellor and Proctors, and are required to pay due obedience to all academical regulations.

All applications for admission and other communications are to be addressed to the Censor, the Rev. R. B. Somerset, Trumpington Road, Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE.

The Special Board for Mediæval and Modern Languages recommend that a tripos should be established in modern languages and literature, that a knowledge of French and German should be required of all candidates, and further, that a complete examination in these languages should include questions on grammar, historical grammar, and philology, and on the history of literature as well as a vivâ voce examination in the spoken languages. The Board also recommend that candidates should be required to write an English essay on some subject connected with the French and German language and literature. The Board also recommend that the examination for this tripos should be available for students who have made English a special study. They would require such students to satisfy the examiners in the first four papers in French and German, and in the vivâ voce examination, and afterwards to take five papers in English in place of the last five papers in French and German. The report contains a schedule of the plan of examination and the subjects of the various papers to be set, and also regulations for the proposed new tripos. The proposed regulations provide that a student may be a candidate if at the time of the examination he be in his eighth term at least, having previously kept seven terms, provided that nine complete terms shall not have passed after the first of the said seven terms unless the candidate shall have previously obtained honours in one of the honour examinations of the University, in which case he may be a candidate provided that twelve complete terms shall not have passed after the first of the said seven terms. The names of the students who acquit themselves so as to deserve honours are to be published alphabetically in three classes: those who distinguish themselves in French or German shall have the letter F or G prefixed to their names, and those who pass the English part of the examination shall have the letter E similarly prefixed.

NEW PROFESSORSHIPS AT CAMBRIDGE.

By Statute B, ch. vi., sec. 2, it is provided that "Professorships shall be established in the University for the following subjects—namely, Physiology, Pathology, Mental Philosophy, and Logic, the professors to be appointed in such order as the University may think fit." The Council of the Senate are of opinion that there are funds arising from the Common University Fund from which the endowment of the Professorship of Physiology may be met, and recommend that immediate steps be taken for the appointment of a Professor of Physiology accordingly. The Board of Medical Studies lately reported their opinion that a Professorship of Surgery should forthwith be established; and that the professorship may for the present be without stipend. Professor Humphry has offered to accept such a professorship without a stipend; retiring at the same time from the Professorship of Anatomy. The General Board of Studies approved the recommendation of the Board of Medicine, and the Council of the Senate, recognising the importance of doing whatever is possible to develop the vigorous and increasing School of Medicine in the University, recommend the acceptance of Professor Humphry's liberal offer, and the establishment of a Professorship of Surgery, to which no stipend should be assigned for the present.

The entry of freshmen this term at the various colleges, and also of those who commence residence as non-collegiate students, is in excess of any previous year—being 873. The numbers entered in the Michaelmas term during the last 10 years were as follows:—1873, 617; 1874, 640; 1875, 680; 1876, 692; 1877, 723; 1878, 708; 1879, 808; 1880, 738; 1881, 828; 1882, 824; 1883, 873. Among the freshmen at Trinity College, under the tutorial care of Mr. Joseph Prior, M.A., is His Royal Highness Prince Albert Victor Christian Edward of Wales. The young Prince is entered as a Pensioner, and not as a Fellow Commoner.

TEACHERS' TRAINING SYNDICATE.

EXAMINATIONS OF TEACHERS IN 1884.

An Examination in the Theory, History, and Practice of Teaching will be held at Cambridge, and in London, in June 1884, for persons (male and female) who have completed the age of 20 before June 1st, 1884 and certificates will be awarded. No candidate can be admitted to the Examination unless he or she have either graduated in some University of the United Kingdom, or obtained a certificate in one of the Senior Local Examinations of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, or Durham; or passed the Examination for Matriculation at the University of London. The subjects of Examination are: (1) The Theory of Education; the scientific basis of the Art of Education; Elements of the Art of Education. (2) The history of Education in Europe since the revival of learning. (3) The Practice of Education; this subject will consist of two parts—(a) Method, and (b) School management. A fee of 2*l.* 10*s.* has to be paid to the Syndicate by each candidate. The Syndicate will also inspect in the summer of 1884 any College established for the training of teachers. Secretary of the Syndicate, Mr. Oscar Browning, King's College, Cambridge.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

This technical school has been established by Professor Stuart, and there has been erected a complete carpenter's shop, fitting and turning shops, and foundry. There are at present about 50 pupils, the greater number of whom are intending to enter the Engineering or allied professions, and a complete preparatory training, theoretical and practical, is given to them. The courses of lectures are 3 in each term—Michaelmas term, Lent term, and Easter term; thus forming a 3 years' curriculum as follows:—1st year: Mechanism and Applied Mechanics; Elementary Mathematics (Algebra and Trigonometry); Statics and Hydrostatics. 2nd year: Dynamics; Machine Construction and Heat; Conics and Differential Calculus; Surveying and Levelling (practical class). 3rd year: Integral Calculus and Solid Geometry; Theory of Structures and Strength of Materials; Rigid Dynamics. Each term lasts for at least 8 weeks. Any person may attend the shops daily from 8 to 1, and from 2 to 6, including attendance at all lectures given, for the fee (covering 8 weeks in each of 4 terms) of 48 guineas. A pupil pays for the materials he uses, but there are no other extra charges. He takes away his own work when finished, and in some cases this reimburses him for the greater part of the fee he has paid. Principal, James Stuart.

BALFOUR MEMORIAL FUND.

The income accruing from this fund is applied: (1) To endow a Studentship, to be called the Balfour Studentship, the holder of which shall devote himself to original research in Biology, especially Animal Morphology. (2) To further, by occasional grants of money, original research in the same subject. The Balfour Studentship is of the nett annual value of 200*l.*, or such larger sum as the University may from time to time determine, provided that if at any time the annual income accruing from the Fund be less than 200*l.*, the whole of such annual income be paid to the student. The Studentship shall not be awarded by the result of a competitive examination, and the student need not necessarily be a member of the University. The first Managers are, Professor Newton, Michael Foster, M.A., Adam Sedgwick, M.A., Arthur James Balfour, M.A., and John Willis Clark, M.A., Superintendent.

UNIVERSITY OF DUBLIN.

TRINITY COLLEGE

Was founded by Queen Elizabeth in 1591, in which year the College of the Holy and Undivided Trinity was incorporated as the "mater Universitatis," and authorised to elect a Chancellor, and confer Degrees in the various Faculties. Its members consist of a Provost, 7 senior Fellows, 26 junior Fellows, and 70 Scholars on the foundation, besides 10 non-foundation Scholars, 30 Sizars, and about 1,200 Students. Its endowments are about 30,000*l.* per ann., derived from landed estates, besides rents and fees and class-fees from Students, the last of which are about 30,000*l.* per ann. It possesses 14 Studentships of 100*l.* per ann., tenable for 7 years, and open to candidates of all religious opinions. Scholars have their commons free, their rooms at half the charge made to other Students, are exempted from other College charges, and receive an annual salary. Sizars have also their commons free, and are exempted from annual fees. Candidates for Sizarships must send in their claims for admission to the Senior Lecturer before June 1st in each year, and prove their poverty before they are permitted to compete for Sizarships, which are tenable for 4 years.

There are four Professional Schools in this University, namely, Divinity, Law, Medicine and Surgery, and Engineering. Students in the Divinity and Law Schools must keep six Terms before obtaining the testimonials or licenses preliminary to a final examination. Degrees in Medicine are conferred only upon Graduates in Arts and the medical education of a Master in Surgery, or a Bachelor of Medicine, is of four years' duration, costing in all, for Lectures, Hospitals, and Degrees, 109*l.* 14*s.* The course for a Licentiate in Engineering lasts for three years, and the Degrees of Master in Civil Engineering are only conferred upon such as have been admitted to the B.A. Degree, and have publicly practised as a Civil Engineer for three years as a University Licentiate. Students in Engineering pay 10*l.* a year, in addition to the charge for keeping names on the College Books.

Residence as a part of academic discipline is not enforced in the University of Dublin, nor is it necessary in itself for keeping Terms, as at Oxford and Cambridge, yet it is indirectly necessary to enable Students to attend the Lectures of the University Professors. The rent of rooms in Trinity College varies from 2*l.* to 16*l.* per ann.; all resident Students dine in the Common Hall, and must attend night-roll at nine o'clock. Divine Service is celebrated in the College Chapel at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. On Sundays and Church Festivals the hour of Morning Prayer is 9. 30 a.m. The principal entrance examinations are—Midsummer, October, and November.

§ 4. OF DEGREES IN MEDICINE, SURGERY, &c.

M.B. DEGREE.

The course for this degree shall be one of at least four years' duration.

All candidates for the degree shall, in addition to attending the lectures and complying with the other conditions to be from time to time prescribed, be required to pass the following examinations:—The Matriculation Examination; the First University Examination; the First Examination in Medicine; the Second Examination in Medicine; the Degree Examination.

A Medical Student from one of the Queen's Colleges, the Queen's University, or any other Institution approved by the Senate, matriculated therein before the 1st October, 1881, who has completed at least one year of the Medical Curriculum in any of the said Colleges, or in said University or Institution, shall be entitled to credit for a year's course in this University without passing the First Examination in Arts.

The course of medical studies shall extend over at least four years, and shall be divided into periods of at least two years each, during which periods the students shall attend such courses of lectures and hospital instruction, and comply with such other conditions as the Senate shall from time to time order.

The First Examination in Medicine.

Students shall be admitted to this examination after the lapse of one academical year from the time of their matriculation. Candidates may pass this examination at the same time as the First University Examination.

Candidates must give notice in writing, to the Secretaries, of their intention to present themselves, and must pay the prescribed fee of £1, at least one month previous to the examination, and must at the same time produce satisfactory evidence of having completed the prescribed courses of study in the subjects of examination.

The subjects of this examination shall be Zoology, Botany, a Modern Language.

Candidates who have passed in a Modern Language at the ordinary First University Examination are exempt from presenting this subject.

The Second Examination in Medicine.

Students shall be admitted to this examination after the lapse of one academical year from the time of passing the First Examination in Medicine, provided they have completed the first period of the course of Medical Studies.

Candidates must give notice in writing, to the Secretaries, of their intention to present themselves, and must pay the prescribed fee of £1, at least one month previous to the examination, and must at the same time furnish evidence of having completed the course of study prescribed by the Senate for the first period of the course of Medical Studies.

The subjects for this examination shall be Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica, Chemistry.

The Examination for the Degree of M.B.

Students shall be admitted to this examination after the lapse of one academical year from the time of passing the Second Examination in Medicine, provided they have completed the second period of the course of Medical Studies.

Candidates must give notice in writing, to the Secretaries, of their intention to present themselves, and must pay the prescribed fee of £3, at least one month previous to the examination, and must at the same time furnish evidence of having completed the course of studies prescribed by the Senate for the second period of the course of Medical Studies.

The subjects for this examination shall be Anatomy and Physiology, Surgery, Midwifery and Diseases of Women and Children, Theory and Practice of Medicine, Medical Jurisprudence.

M.D. DEGREE.

Candidates may be admitted to this degree after the lapse of two academical years from the time of obtaining the degree of M.B. Provided, however, that all persons who shall be Students in Medicine in the Queen's University at the date of its dissolution shall be entitled, if they so desire, to obtain the degree of M.D., instead of the degree of M.B., upon passing the examination herein prescribed for the M.B. degree.

Candidates must give notice in writing, to the Secretaries, of their intention to present themselves, and must pay the prescribed fee of £5, at least one month previous to the examination, and must at the same time produce a certificate of having been, for at least two years, engaged in Hospital or Private Medical or Surgical Practice, or in the Military or Naval Medical Service.

Every candidate shall be examined at the bedside, and require to diagnose at least six cases, medical and surgical, and prescribe treatment; to write detailed reports on at least two cases to be selected by the examiners, and to discuss all the questions arising thereon.

Every candidate shall submit to the medical examiners a Thesis certified by him (or her) to have been composed by himself (or herself), and which shall be approved by them. No Thesis shall be approved which does not contain some original or personal observations in practical Medicine, Surgery, Midwifery, or in some of the Sciences embraced in the curriculum, or else a full digest and critical exposition of the opinions and researches of others on the subject selected by the candidate, accompanied by precise references to the publications quoted.

Candidates who have been settled for a period of two years in the colonies or foreign countries may, on satisfying the Senate to that effect, and in lieu of the examination above required to be passed by persons residing in this country, upon furnishing papers on medical subjects written by them, or official reports dealing with subjects of medical science, with evidence of the papers or reports being their own original composition, have the degree conferred on them in absence.

It shall, for three years, be in the power of the Senate, in the case of medical students who, previously to their matriculation in the University, have received a Medical and Arts Education in Institutions approved by the Senate, to give such students credit for the education in Arts which they have received therein, if they shall be satisfied from the report of the medical examiners of their proficiency in the subjects of the medical course of the University.

It shall also, for the same period, be in the power of the Senate, in cases where a complete course in Arts and Medicine has been passed by a student in such institutions as aforesaid, according to the system of such institutions, to allow him to present himself for the examination for the degree of M.B., and to obtain such degree, if found qualified, upon the same terms as ordinary medical students of this University.

THE M.CH. DEGREE.

This degree shall be conferred only on Graduates in Medicine of the University.

Candidates must give notice in writing, to the Secretaries, of their intention to present themselves, and must pay the prescribed fee of £5, at least one month previous to the examination.

At the Second University Examination in Arts, six first class at £40, and twelve second class at £20.

At the B.A. Degree Examination, seven first class at £50, and fourteen second class at £25.

Provided that at the First and Second University Examinations respectively no Exhibition shall be awarded to any candidate who shall not answer satisfactorily in Honour subjects, in at least two divisions, one of which must be either Latin, Greek, or Mathematics.

And provided that no Exhibition shall be awarded at any of the said examinations to any candidate whose age shall, upon the first day of such examination, exceed the limit following ; that is to say—

At the Matriculation Examination, 20 years.

At the First University Examination, 22 years.

At the Second University Examination, 23 years.

At the B.A. Degree Examination, 24 years.

And provided that an Exhibition shall not be awarded to any candidate at the First University Examination, if a longer interval than two academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation ; or at the Second University Examination, if a longer interval than three academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation ; or at the B.A. Degree Examination, if a longer interval than four academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation.

Provided also, that at the Matriculation and First University Examinations no greater number of Exhibitions shall be awarded than to one in every ten of the students who pass each of those examinations respectively, and at the Second University Examination in Arts, and the B.A. Degree Examination, no greater number than to one in every eight of the students who pass each of those examinations respectively.

In Engineering.

At the First Professional Examination, one first class at £30, and one second class at £15.

At the Second Professional Examination, one first class at £40, and one second class at £20.

At the B.E. Degree Examination, one first class at £50, and one second class at £25.

Provided, that an Exhibition shall not be awarded to any candidate at the First Professional Examination, if a longer interval than two academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation ; or at the Second Professional Examination, if a longer interval than three academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation ; or at the B.E. Degree Examination, if a longer interval than four academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation.

Provided also, that if any candidate who shall become entitled to any Exhibition at the First Professional Examination had previously obtained an Exhibition at the First University Examination, the value of such Exhibition shall be deducted ; and that if any candidate who shall become entitled to any Exhibition at the Second Professional Examination had previously obtained an Exhibition at the Second University Examination in Arts, the value of such Exhibition shall be deducted ; and that if any person who shall become entitled to any Exhibition at the B.E. Degree Examination had previously obtained an Exhibition at the B.A. Degree Examination, the value of such Exhibition shall be deducted.

In Medicine.

At the First Examination in Medicine, two first class at £30, and two second class at £15.

At the Second Examination in Medicine, two first class at £40, and three second class at £20.

At the M.B. Degree Examination, two first class at £50, and three second class at £25.

Provided that an Exhibition shall not be awarded to any candidate at the First Examination in Medicine, if a longer period than three academical years shall have elapsed from the time of matriculation ; or at the Second Examination in Medicine, if a longer interval than two academical years shall have elapsed from the time of passing the First Examination in Medicine ; or at the M.B. Degree Examination, if a longer interval than three academical years shall have elapsed from the time of passing the First Examination in Medicine.

PRIZES.

In Arts.

A sum of £100 may be placed annually at the disposal of the Examiners in Arts, to be awarded in prizes for superior answering in special subjects, at their discretion.

In Engineering.

A sum of £50 may be placed annually at the disposal of the Examiners in Engineering, to be awarded by them in special prizes, at their discretion.

In Music.

The Senate may, at the Examinations for the Degrees of B.Mus. and

D.Mus., award gold or silver medals to such candidates as they may consider to have merited the same.

In Medicine.

A sum of £95 may be placed annually at the disposal of the Examiners in Medicine, to be awarded in prizes for superior answering in special subjects, at their discretion.

In Law.

The Senate may, at the Examination for the Degree of LL.B., award the following prizes :—One prize of £50, and one prize of £25.

OF SCHOLARSHIPS AND STUDENTSHIPS.

Scholarships.

The Senate may offer each year for competition six Scholarships of £50 per annum each; viz., two in Classics, two in Mathematics, and two in Modern Literature. They shall be tenable for three years, and shall be open to all students who, on the first day of the Scholarship Examination, shall be under twenty-one years of age, and who at the Matriculation Examination next preceding the Scholarship Examination shall have gained honours in those subjects respectively. These Scholarships may be held together with the Exhibitions gained for honours.

The payment for the second year of each of these Scholarships shall be withheld, unless the scholar shall at the Second University Examination answer satisfactorily in at least one Honour subject; and the payment for the third year, unless the scholar shall answer satisfactorily in at least one Honour subject at the Degree Examination.

Provided, that at the First Examination for Scholarships to be held in this University, candidates shall be eligible for scholarships, provided their age does not exceed twenty-one years.

Studentships.

The Senate shall have power to award Studentships (not exceeding ten in number) for merit, to be tested by competitive examination. After the lapse of four years, Graduates of the University, of not more than four years' standing, shall alone be eligible. Until that period, not only such graduates, but also students, although not graduates, shall be eligible, provided that no student who, previous to matriculation, has been a graduate of any other University, shall be allowed to compete. The examination shall be conducted under the direction of the Senate, regard being had not only to the marks obtained in examination, but to general academical distinction and promise. The salary of a student shall be £100 per annum. No Fellow or Professor of any other University or of any College endowed with public money shall be eligible. If any student shall be appointed Fellow or Professor in any other University or College endowed with public money, or if he shall be appointed a Fellow of this University, he shall ipso facto vacate his Studentship. The students shall not be bound to conduct examinations or to perform any other academic duty.

A Studentship shall be tenable for five years.

At least two Studentships shall be annually awarded.

The provisions for the appointment to Studentships shall not come into operation until after the lapse of one year from the date of the first Matriculation Examination to be held by this University. And no person whose age, on the day of examination, shall exceed twenty-six years, shall be allowed to hold a Studentship.

OF FELLOWSHIPS.

The Senate may elect thirty-two Fellows of the University. In case it shall at any time appear advisable to reduce the number, it shall be in their power, with the consent of the Lord Lieutenant, to do so.

The salary of a Fellow, if he be not also a Fellow or Professor of some other University or College attached to an University or College endowed with public money, shall be £400 per annum. If he be a Fellow or Professor of such other University or College, and in receipt of a salary in respect of such other Fellowship or Professorship, he shall receive in respect of his Fellowship in this University such annual sum as, with the salary of his other Fellowship or Professorship, shall amount to £400 a year.

A Fellow shall hold office for seven year.

The Senate shall appoint to the office by open voting. The first set of Fellows shall be appointed by selection, without competitive examination; but afterwards vacancies in the office shall be filled in manner following. If occurring by reason of the expiration of the term for which the Fellowship was held, it shall be competent for the Senate to elect the same person again to the office. But when this shall not be done, and also in the case of vacancies arising from any other cause, the vacancy, if to be filled, shall be filled by competitive examination of graduates of the University, unless in any instance occurring within seven years after the appointment of the first set of Fellows it shall appear to the Senate more expedient to elect without examination.

Every Fellow shall hold his Fellowship upon condition that if required by the Senate he shall give his services in teaching Students of the University in some Educational Institution approved by the Senate, wherein matriculated students of the University are being taught. The Fellows shall constitute a Board of Examiners; they shall be bound to conduct by themselves, or with such other persons as the Senate may add, the University Examinations, without further payment, except for expenses. They shall report, for the consideration of the Senate, the standard to be required from students for Pass and Honours, and the relative proportion of marks to be allowed for the different subjects. If they think it expedient so to do, they shall have power to suggest for the approval of the Senate editions or text-books to be used by students in connection with the prescribed subjects. They shall, from time to time, report to the Senate the result of the examinations they have held, and submit for its consideration whatever rules they propose should be made in respect of the examinations.

The names of all persons to be proposed for the office of Fellow shall be forwarded to the Standing Committee, who shall communicate them, and information respecting the offices to be filled, to each member of the Senate; and no meeting shall be held for the election until a fortnight after the Committee shall have communicated such information.

THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY,

STEPHEN'S GREEN, DUBLIN,

Was founded in 1854 ; its first Rector, the Very Rev. J. H. Newman, D.D., was installed in 1855. It has no endowment, but depends upon voluntary contributions. Its organisation has not yet been fully completed, for although it includes the five Faculties of Theology, Law, Medicine, Philosophy, and Letters, and Science, the last three only are at present in operation. The Faculty of Medicine is established in Cecilia Street, where there are two Medical Theatres, dissecting-rooms, a laboratory, &c. Anatomical dissections commence Oct. 1st; the Medical year of Lectures is from November 2nd to April 9th, and from April 10th to July 13th. The Medical School has several Exhibitions and Prizes. The Medical College is provided for the residence of Students whose studies and morals are simultaneously regulated. Each Medical Student is required to enter the Faculty of Arts as well as of Medicine. The ordinary fees are 1*l.* at Matriculation in Arts. 2*l.* on taking A.B. Degree, and 3*l.* 3*s.* for each course of Medical Lectures; there being in all 19 courses, extending over four years. Hospital fees, 3 years' course, are 8 or 9 guineas per annum, and diploma fees, at the end of the course, about 30*l.* The course of studies in the Faculties of Arts and Science also extends through four years. The following Exhibitions are open to Students on entrance—equally divided between Classical and Mathematical studies,—two of 20*l.*, four of 15*l.*, and eight of 10*l.*, and the same sums are awarded as Second and Third Year's Exhibitions. Besides these are the Cloyne Exhibitions in Logic, of 20*l.*; Mental Science, 20*l.*; Greek, 30*l.*; Latin, 30*l.*; and Irish History, 20*l.*; the Limerick Exhibitions—one Classical, 40*l.*; three Mathematical, of 40*l.*, 30*l.*, and 20*l.* each; and two for Modern Literature, of 20*l.* each; and the Conolly Exhibitions, of 20*l.* each; in Mathematics, Mathematical Physics, Cosmical Physics, Natural Sciences, and Medicine. This University is now undergoing reorganization to meet the change of circumstances brought about by the recent establishment of the Royal University of Ireland.

OFFICERS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Chancellor.—Cardinal E. McCabe.

Vice-Chancellor.—The Most Rev. John MacHale, D.D., Archbishop of Tuam.

Rector.—Very Rev. Monsignor H. F. Neville, D.D.

Vice-Rector.—Very Rev. Gerald Molloy, D.D.

Secretary and Librarian.—Thomas Scratton, B.A.

THE UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

This University was opened in October, 1832, under authority granted by Act of Parliament, and received a Royal Charter on June 1st, 1837, by virtue of which its first Degrees were conferred on June 8th in the same year. In 1841 an Order in Council provided that the Wardenship should be permanently annexed to the Deanery of Durham, that a Canonry in Durham Cathedral should be annexed to each of its Divinity and Greek Professorships, and that other Professorships should be founded in Hebrew and other Oriental languages. The Castle of Durham and its precincts had been previously (Aug. 8th, 1837) granted by the Queen in Council to be held in trust by the Bishop for the benefit of the University, and the College founded within the University was thus provided with a chapel, hall, and convenient rooms for Students. The annual value of the Scholarships and Exhibitions is upwards of £1500.

The chief modifications and changes recently made in this University are the following :—The period of residence required for the Degree of B.A. is abridged from three years to two. The period of residence in each year is extended from six months to eight. The period required for the Licence in Theology is two years, in each of which the residence extends over six months. No person is admitted as a Student in Theology until he has attained the age of twenty years. Final examinations are held twice in the year, in June and December. Thus Students in Arts and Theology, who enter in October or January, can pass their final Examination and take their Degree or Licence immediately on the expiry of their two years of residence.

In Michaelmas Term, 1870, a regulation was provided that persons should be admissible as Members of the University, without becoming Members of any College, Hall, or House, on condition that they resided in some house or lodging approved by the Warden and Proctors.

The average annual expenses of a Student at University College, including those of the University as well as the College, are calculated at 80*l.* to 85*l.* ; at Bishop Hatfield's Hall, at 70*l.* 10*s.* to 76*l.* 16*s.* for Students in Arts, and at 60*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* to 75*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* for Students in Theology.

The chief expenses of the University may be thus stated :—

University admission fee, 2*l.* ; Tuition and other fees, each Term, 6*l.* ;

Rent, 4*l.* to 7*l.* 7*s.*; Commons or Board, &c., 1*l.* 1*s.* a week; Caution money (returnable), 15*l.* or 20*l.* The fees payable on taking Degrees are, B.A., 3*l.*; Licence in Medicine, 3*l.*; Civil Engineers, 3*l.*; M.B., 6*l.*; M.A., 6*l.*; Licence in Theology, 3*l.*; B.C.L., 6*l.*; B.D., 6*l.*; D.C.L., 10*l.*; D.D., 10*l.*; M.D., 6*l.*; Ad Eundem, 5*s.*

SCHOLARSHIPS AND EXHIBITIONS.

FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS AND EXHIBITIONS.—Six Scholarships of 70*l.* a-year each, tenable for two years. Two Scholarships of 40*l.* a-year each, tenable for two years. Two Scholarships of 30*l.* a-year each, tenable for two years. Two Exhibitions of 20*l.* a-year each (for candidates for admission of limited means), tenable for two years. Two Second-year Scholarships of 30*l.* a-year each, tenable for one year. The University Classical Scholarship of 30*l.*, tenable for one year. The University Mathematical Scholarship of 30*l.*, tenable for one year. A Scholarship attached to the Durham Grammar School, of 30*l.* a year, tenable for three years. A Scholarship of 30*l.*, tenable for one year, offered at the First Year Examination in Arts each October, open to all candidates who do not hold any Scholarship or Exhibition. Students entering from Theological Colleges may be candidates for this Scholarship.

Of the above, two Scholarships of 70*l.*, one of 40*l.*, one Exhibition of 20*l.*, and one Second-year Scholarship of 30*l.*, are open to competition at the beginning of every Michaelmas Term; and one Scholarship of 70*l.*, one of 30*l.*, and one Second-year Scholarship of 30*l.*, at the beginning of every Epiphany Term.

Theological Scholarships and Exhibitions.

Six Scholarships of 60*l.* a-year each, tenable for two years. Two Scholarships of 30*l.* a-year each, tenable for two years. Two Exhibitions of 30*l.* each, tenable for one year. Six Exhibitions of 20*l.* each (for candidates for admission of limited means), tenable for two years. Two Second-year Exhibitions of 30*l.* each, tenable for one year. Two Exhibitions of 40*l.* each, for Students in Theology who have passed the Examination for the Degree of B.A. in the University of Durham, or in some other University, where the Examinations are of similar character; and payable after the Examination for the Licence has been passed.

Of the above, two Scholarships of 60*l.* and one of 30*l.*, one Exhibition of 30*l.* and two of 20*l.*, one Second-year Exhibition of 30*l.*, and one Graduates' Exhibition of 40*l.*, are open to competition at the beginning of every Michaelmas Term; and one Scholarship of 60*l.*, one Exhibition of 30*l.* (tenable for one year) and one of 20*l.*, one Second-year Exhibition of 30*l.*, and one Graduates' Exhibition of 40*l.*, at the beginning of every Epiphany Term.

Private Foundations.

The Van Mildert, 50*l.* a-year, tenable for one year by a Bachelor of Arts, who is a Student in Theology. The Gisborne, 20*l.* a-year, tenable for three years. The Lindsay, 43*l.* 10*s.* a-year, tenable for three years, by natives of the Diocese of Durham who have been three years at least pupils at the Durham Grammar School, with a preference for the kin of the late Ralph Lindsay. Three Pemberton Scholarships, one of 40*l.* and two of 15*l.* a-year, tenable for three years. The Ellerton, 21*l.* a-year, tenable by natives of Yorkshire, with a preference for those of the North Riding, educated at Richmond Grammar School. The Barry, 30*l.* a-year, tenable for one year by Students in Theology. The Newby, 21*l.* a-year, tenable by Students in Arts until they are of sufficient standing to present themselves for the final examination for the Degree of B.A. The Thorp, 15*l.* a-year, tenable for one year on condition of residence, study, conformity to discipline, and limited means.

Medical Scholarships.

Four Scholarships of 25*l.* a-year, tenable for four years, by Students in Medicine ; one of which is offered to competition at the beginning of every Michaelmas Term.

There is also an Exhibition Fund of 50*l.* a-year for the assistance of deserving Students of limited means ; also an Exhibition Fund connected with Durham Grammar School.

Fellowships.

There are Eight University Fellowships open to all Students who have graduated in Arts, of 120*l.* and 150*l.* a-year, tenable for eight or ten years. They are awarded by Examination.

Prizes.

Three Prize Exhibitions, one of 30*l.* and two of 25*l.* each, for Students in Theology on passing their final Examination at the end of Easter Term, and one of 30*l.* and one of 25*l.* at the end of Michaelmas Term every year.

Prizes of smaller amount are given annually for Classics, Mathematics, Theology, Hebrew, Hellenistic Greek, and Modern Languages.

Four Prizes of 5*l.* each are given annually for Hebrew.

A Prize of 6*l.*, founded by Mrs. Long, is given annually for Reading.

TERMS, DEGREES, &c.

The Academical year consists of three Terms, called respectively Michaelmas, Epiphany, and Easter Terms. The Michaelmas Term begins not earlier than the seventh day of October. The Easter Term ends not later than the first day of July. Final Examinations take place twice in each year, in the months of June and December, at the end of the Easter and of the Michaelmas Term.

The Degree of B.A., a Licence in Theology, can be obtained severally after a residence of two years, on passing the requisite Examinations.

The period of residence in each year is twenty-six weeks.

Candidates for admission as Students in Arts or Civil Law are required to pass an Examination in the Rudiments of the Christian Religion, in the Greek and Latin Languages, and in Arithmetic and the elements of Mathematics. Candidates may select any Greek and any Latin author melioris ævi et notæ.

Persons who have passed the final Examination for the Degree of B.A. or any higher Degree at Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, or any other University in which the Examination is of a similar character to that required at Durham, are admissible as Students in Theology, without further Examination, and may obtain the Licence in Theology after residing one Academical year of six months, and passing the requisite Examination ; persons who have passed the Final Examination for the Degree of B.A. or any higher Degree at Durham, after residing one ordinary Term, or two short Terms of five weeks each, and passing the requisite Examination.

All other Candidates for admission as Students in Theology must have attained the age of nineteen years, and are required to pass an Examination, the subjects of which are contained in the List of Subjects published annually.

Licentiates in Theology can obtain the Degree of B.A. after residing one ordinary Term, or two short Terms of five weeks each, and passing the requisite Examination.

Theological Students who have completed their residence, and passed all their Examinations, at any of the following Theological Colleges—S. Aidan's, S. Augustine's, S. Bees, Cumbrae, Gloucester, Lichfield, the Theological Department of King's College, London, and the Theological Department of Queen's College, Birmingham—may obtain the Degree of B.A. at Durham by residing three Terms there, of eight and a half weeks each, and passing the Final Examination in Arts. It is not necessary that the three Terms should be kept consecutively.

Candidates for admission in Arts and Theology, who fail to pass the requisite Examination, are admissible on the recommendation of the Examiners as Probationary Students.

Probationary Students may become regular Students on passing the required Examination, and be then allowed to count any Term kept by them as Probationary Students as a Term kept by a regular Student.

There are at present two Houses for the reception of Students, viz., University College and Bishop Hatfield's Hall. The annual expenses of a Student at University College, including fees to the University, may be calculated at about 85*l.*; those of a Student at Hatfield at about 70*l.* Further particulars may be obtained from the Master of University College and the Principal of Hatfield Hall.

Persons are also admissible as Members of the University without being Members of any College, Hall, or House, provided they reside in some House or Lodging approved by the Warden and Proctors, under regulations made for the purpose of securing good order and discipline. Such persons, unless married or living with their parents, must be twenty-three years of age. Their fees to the University for tuition, examinations, &c., amount to about 20*l.* per annum.

The Degrees of M.A., B.C.L., D.C.L., B.D., and D.D., may be obtained by Students who have passed the Examination for the Degree of B.A., and are of the requisite standing, and have passed the further Examinations, or performed the Exercises required by the University, and have paid the requisite fees.

No person can become a Licentiate in Theology, or take any Degree in Theology, unless he has previously declared in writing that he is a bond fide Member of the Church of England as by Law established. Except in these cases, no subscription is required from any Member of the University.

The Church Service of the University is that of the Cathedral of Durham. No Student who is not a Member of the Church of England is obliged to attend the Services of that Church.

Persons not Members of the University, on satisfying the Warden that they are of good moral character, may attend the Lectures of any Professor or Lecturer, with his consent, on paying fees, to be fixed by the Senate, to such Professor or Lecturer. The Senate shall make such regulations as shall secure the good conduct and discipline of these non-matriculated Students.

A License in Medicine or in Surgery may be obtained by Students of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who have since their Registration spent four years in Medical and Surgical Study at one or more of the Schools recognised by the Licensing Bodies named in Schedule A of the Medical Act of 1858, one of the said four years having been spent at the University's College of Medicine, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and have passed the requisite Examinations in the University.

The Degree of Bachelor in Medicine or Master in Surgery may be obtained by Students who are of the same standing as that required for admission to the Licence in Medicine, and have passed in addition to their professional Examinations the requisite Examination in Arts.

The Degree of Doctor in Medicine may be obtained by Bachelors in Medicine of the age of twenty-four years and of the standing of six Terms at least from their admission to the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine, who have performed the requisite Exercises.

A special Examination has been appointed for the Degree of Doctor of Medicine, to which practitioners of fifteen years' standing and forty years of age are admissible without residence.

The Academical rank of Associate in Physical Science may be obtained by Students of the University of Durham College of Physical Science, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, who have pursued their studies during two academical years as Students of the aforesaid College, and passed the requisite Examinations.

The Title of "Mechanical, Mining, or Civil Engineer of the University of Durham" may be obtained by Associates in Physical Science, who after their admission to this rank have been engaged for three years, at least, in some practical work of Mechanical, Mining, or Civil Engineering, approved by the Council of the College of Physical Science, and have subsequently passed a further Examination, having principal reference to the work in which they have been engaged.

The Degree of Bachelor of Science may be obtained by Associates in Physical Science, after the lapse of two years, at least, from the time of their having been made Associates, and after passing the requisite Examinations.

UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM COLLEGE OF MEDICINE, NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE.

This College is in connexion with the University of Durham. Established 1851. About 60 Students educated in Medicine and the Natural Sciences. Candidates for the Licenses and Degrees in Medicine and Surgery of the University of Durham are not required to reside in Durham. The cost of all Lectures at this School requisite for the Examining Boards is forty-four guineas, and of the Hospital Practice of this School (at the Newcastle Infirmary) is seventeen guineas. There are 4 Scholarships of 25*l.* per ann., tenable 4 years. Also the Dickinson Memorial Scholarship of 15*l.* per ann., tenable 1 year. The Laboratories, Libraries, Museums, etc., are open daily to Students.

Candidates for Registration as Students in Medicine must have passed the Medical Registration Examination appointed by the University, or such other Examination as the Warden and Senate may deem equivalent thereto.

Any Arts Examination recognised by the General Medical Council is accepted by the University.

Two Licenses and three Medical Degrees are conferred by the University of Durham, viz., Licenses in Medicine and Surgery, and the Degrees of Bachelor of Medicine, Master in Surgery, and Doctor of Medicine.

Regulations for the License in Medicine.—1. The Candidate must produce certificates of Registration as a Student in Medicine, of good moral conduct, of having attained the age of twenty-one years, and such certificates of attendance on Lectures and Hospital Practice as the Warden and Senate shall require.

2. The Candidate must have been engaged in Medical and Surgical Study for four years after Registration as a Student in Medicine. One of the four years must be spent at the University of Durham College of Medicine, Newcastle-on-Tyne, the other three may be spent either at Newcastle-on-Tyne, or at one or more of the Schools recognised by the Licensing Bodies named in Schedule A of the Medical Act, 1858.

There are two Professional Examinations. The first is held at the end of the Second Winter Session ; the final at the end of the fourth year of Medical Study.

The Regulations for the License in Surgery are the same as those for the License in Medicine, except that the Final Examination is directed more particularly to Surgery, and may or may not be passed at the same time as the Final Examination for the License in Medicine.

For the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine.—1. The Candidate must produce Certificates of Registration as a Student in Medicine, of good moral conduct, of having attained the age of twenty-one years, and such Certificates of attendance on Lectures and Hospital Practice as the Warden and Senate shall require.

2. The Candidate must have obtained a Degree in Arts of the University of Durham, or must have passed the Arts Examination for Graduation in Medicine of the University, or must produce one or other of the following Certificates :—

(a) A Certificate of Graduation in Arts at any of the following Universities, viz. :—Oxford, Cambridge, Durham, Dublin, London, Queen's University (in Ireland), Edinburgh, Glasgow, S. Andrew's, Aberdeen, Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, McGill College (Montreal), and Queen's College (Kingston).

(b) A Certificate of having passed the Preliminary or Extra-Professional Examination for Graduation in Medicine of any of the following Universities, viz. :—London, Edinburgh, Glasgow, S. Andrew's, Aberdeen, Queen's University (Ireland) ; the Arts Examination, qualifying for the Membership of the Royal College of Physicians of London ; the Arts Examination, qualifying for the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

3. The Candidate must have been engaged in Medical and Surgical Study for four years after Registration as a Student in Medicine. One of the four years must be spent at the University of Durham College of Medicine, Newcastle-on-Tyne ; the other three may be spent either at Newcastle-on-Tyne or at one or more of the Schools recognised by the Licensing Bodies named in Schedule A of the Medical Act, 1858.

There are two Professional Examinations. The first is held at the end of the second Winter Session, the final at the end of the fourth year of Medical Study.

The subjects are the same as for the License in Medicine, but the Examinations are more stringent.

For the Degree of Master in Surgery.—The Regulations are the same as for the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine, except that the Final Examination is directed more particularly to Surgery.

For the Degree of Doctor of Medicine.—1. The Candidate must have obtained the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine, must be of the age of twenty-four years, and must have been engaged, subsequently to his having received the Degree of Bachelor of Medicine, for at least two years in attendance on an Hospital, or in the Military or Naval Services, or in Medical and Surgical Practice.

2. The Candidate must write an Essay, based on original research or observation, on some Medical Subject, selected by himself, and approved of by the Professor of Medicine, and must pass an Examination thereon, including the Collateral Medical Sciences involved in the subject of the Essay.

The Examinations for Licenses and Degrees in Medicine and Surgery are conducted at Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

THE UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM

COLLEGE OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE, NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE.

COLLEGE REGULATIONS.

1. Students must have attained the age of 15 years, and must sign a declaration of conformity to the standing regulations of the College.

2. Class tickets will be issued by the Secretary, who will attend at the College daily, at 11 a.m., from Monday, the 1st October. All class tickets must be presented to the Professor for registration, before the Student's name can be inserted in the class list.

3. In addition to the class-fees, Students will be required to pay an entrance fee of one guinea. Students who do not enter to more than two classes may commute this, on payment of seven shillings entrance fee for each course.

4. Students desirous of studying the whole of the four subjects originally professed in the College, namely, Mathematics, Experimental Physics, Chemistry, and Geology, may compound for the class fees, by payment of 17*l.* 17*s.*

5. The attendance of Students will be noted, and a terminal report of the same will be sent to such parents or guardians as may signify their wish to receive it.

6. Periodical Examinations, written and viva voce, will be held in the various classes. Students failing to pass these Examinations, with no satisfactory reason assigned, will not be entitled to certificates of class attendance.

7. Students attending the courses of Physics and Chemistry will not be entitled to certificates of class attendance, unless they have attended the respective laboratories. Students in Geology will similarly be expected to attend the Practical Demonstrations in Geology in their first year, and the Geological Surveying Class in their second year.

8. The scientific works belonging to the Literary and Philosophical Society, and the Institute of Mining and Mechanical Engineers, within the Wood Memorial Hall, will be at the service of Students, for the purpose of reference or study. Tickets of admission must be obtained from the Secretary, and half-a-guinea must be deposited as caution money by each Student on obtaining his ticket.

9. Regular attendance at lectures will be expected from all Students. Systematic neglect of work will be considered an offence, calling for notice from the Council.

10. Disorderly conduct on the part of any Student, within the precincts of the College, will be visited with such punishment as the Council may consider necessary.

The Council reserve to themselves the right of expelling a Student, in any case in which such a punishment shall seem to them deserved.

Courses of Study.

Students will be distinguished into Regular and Occasional. Regular Students will be required to follow such a course of study in the subjects professed in the College, as will enable them to pass the Examinations for the title of Associate of Physical Science. Occasional Students will attend such classes as they may select. Every candidate for admission as a regular Student must pass an Examination on entrance, in Reading, Writing from Dictation, English or Latin Grammar, Arithmetic (including Decimals), and Geography. Registered Students in Medicine are exempted from this Examination, or Students who produce a certificate of having passed either of the two following Examinations : 1. Durham Senior Examination of Persons not Members of the University, held in June ; 2. Durham Examination for Students in Arts in their first year.

Any further information that may be required for intending Students can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Mr. Theo. Wood Bunning, at the College.

Regulations affecting the Scientific Titles and Degrees of the University of Durham.

1. Students of the College of Physical Science are admitted members of the University in accordance with the Regulations.

2. No one shall be admitted to be a regular Student of the College of Physical Science who has not passed an Examination in the following subjects—viz., Reading, Writing from Dictation, English or Latin Grammar, Arithmetic (including Decimals), and Geography.

3. The course of study shall extend over two years at least, each of which shall contain three Terms.

4. Students in Physical Science who shall have completed their course shall be admissible by grace of the University to the academical rank of Associate in Physical Science.

5. No grace for admission to this rank shall be granted unless the petitioner shall have passed two Public Examinations, to be conducted at Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

6. The first of these Examinations shall be conducted by three or more Examiners, appointed by the Council of the College of Physical Science, and shall be in the subjects appointed for Students of the first year in the College of Physical Science. No Student shall be admitted to this Examination till he is in his third term of residence, at least, from the date of his Matriculation.

7. The second Examination shall be conducted by three Examiners at least, of whom one shall be nominated by the Warden, and the others by the Council of the College of Physical Science, and who shall be approved by Convocation ; and it shall have reference to :—

- |                                         |          |                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|-----------------------------------------|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

No Student shall be admitted to this Examination till he has passed the first Examination, and in his sixth Term of residence, at least, from the date of his Matriculation.

8. All those who satisfy the Examiners at either of these Examinations shall be classed.

9. Any Student in Arts, after passing the first Public Examination appointed for Students in Arts, may, by permission of the Council, proceed as a Student of Physical Science of the second year, provided he has also passed the Examination appointed for Students of Physical Science at the end of their first year.

10. Associates in Physical Science, who, after their admission to this rank, have been engaged for three years, at least, in some practical work of Mechanical, Mining, or Civil Engineering approved by the Council of the College of Physical Science, and have subsequently passed a further Examination having principally reference to the work in which they have been engaged, shall be admissible, by grace of the University, to the title of Mechanical, Mining, or Civil Engineer of the University of Durham.

11. This Examination shall be conducted by three Examiners at least, one of whom shall be nominated by the Warden, a second by the Council of the College of Physical Science, and the third by the North of England Institute of Mining and Mechanical Engineers, and who shall be approved by Convocation.

12. Students who have obtained the academical rank of Associate in Physical Science shall be admissible to the Degree of Bachelor of Science, provided not less than two years shall have intervened from the time of their becoming Associates, after passing an Examination in not less than six of the following subjects—viz., (1) Mathematics (Pure and Applied), (2) Physics, (3) Chemistry, (4) Geology, (5) Engineering, (6) Biology, (7) either Latin or Greek, (8) either French or German, the last of these subjects is compulsory.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

T. Y. HALL SCHOLARSHIP.—This Scholarship, of the yearly value of 20*l.*, tenable for three years by Students attending two or more of the classes, will be awarded on the result of the first Examination for the Associateship in Science.

CHARLES MATHER SCHOLARSHIP.—This Scholarship, of the yearly value of about 40*l.*, will be awarded on the result of the Final Examination for the Associateship in Science, coupled with satisfactory general conduct and attainments during the previous two years; and is tenable for one year from the time of obtaining the Associateship in Science, provided the Scholar continue his studies in the College to the satisfaction of the Professors.

NATHANIEL CLARK SCHOLARSHIP.—This Scholarship, of the value of 15*l.* for one year, will be awarded in October to that Student who shall pass the First Examination for the Associateship in Science, and who shall be most distinguished in Chemistry and Geology. The Scholar will be required to attend the classes of Chemistry and Geology, so as to be qualified to take those subjects for the Final Examination for the Associateship in June next. The successful Candidate, if already an Exhibitioner, may retain his Exhibition.

PRIZES.

Prizes are awarded at the end of the Session to the most distinguished Students in each class, according to the decisions of the respective professors.

THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON,

Founded in 1837, a Royal Charter was granted in 1863, and a Supplemental Charter May 14, 1878, admitting women to all degrees without exception, and now occupying the new buildings in Burlington Gardens, was established for the purpose of conferring Degrees in Arts, Law, and Medicine, after the usual examinations, upon candidates for such honours. Those Examinations take place half-yearly at stated periods. The peculiar feature of the University of London is that it is open to all, "without distinction of rank, sect, party, creed, or place of education," and that the institutions from which its candidates are chiefly derived, belong respectively to the Church of England and to Protestant Dissenters of every shade of opinion, as well as to Roman Catholics. The cost of obtaining Degrees is stated in the subjoined list of fees.

Many years ago a vote was carried in the House of Commons in favour of the Charter of an University being conferred on "UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON," with the usual power of granting Degrees, and the motion was carried by a large majority; but soon after a change of Government occurred, and, in consequence of a recently presented "Report of a Royal Commission on Scottish Universities," there was a strongly-expressed opinion that teachers ought not to possess the power of estimating the nature of their own teaching; and the Government of the day, acting under this influence, founded, with the sanction of Her Majesty, the "UNIVERSITY OF LONDON," which was originally intended, not to teach, but exclusively to confer Degrees, and to confer its Degrees upon the pupils of Colleges, not only in London, from time to time, but of those Institutions throughout the kingdom that would be recognised by the governing body of the University. The University College, London, sends the greatest number of candidates for examination.

Examinations for Women.

All the Examinations of the University, with the prizes, exhibitions, scholarships, and medals depending upon them, are now open to women, upon exactly the same conditions as to men, under a supplementary charter granted in 1878.

REGULATIONS.

MATRICULATION.

Candidates for any Degree granted by this University are required to have passed the Matriculation Examination. This Examination is accepted by the Council of Military Education in lieu of the Entrance Examinations, otherwise imposed on Candidates for admission to the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, and in lieu of the Preliminary Examination for a Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons. There are two Examinations in each year for Matriculation, one commencing in January, the other in June; and these Examinations, and also for the Degrees of B.A. and B.Sc., can be held not only at the University of London, but also in other parts of the United Kingdom, or in the Colonies, and they are carried on simultaneously with the Examinations in London, under the supervision of sub-Examiners appointed by the Senate. For all information as to the regulations, the transmission of certificates, the fees payable to the University, and the time and mode of conducting the Examinations, should be addressed, "To the Registrar of the University of London, London, W." The fee for matriculating is 2*l*. Candidates must prove a competent knowledge of Latin, and any two of Greek, French, and German, the English language, History and Geography, Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, and Chemistry. The particulars of the subjects are given in the University Calendar. There are three Exhibitions, value 3*l*., 20*l*., 15*l*., and a prize of 10*l*. for the first four Candidates in the Honour Division, and any Candidate who may obtain a place in the Honour Division at the Examination in January shall be admissible to the first B.A. or to the first B.Sc. Examination in the following July.

ARTS.

BACHELOR OF ARTS.

First or Intermediate Examination.

Candidates for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts shall be required to have passed the Matriculation Examination. The first B.A. Examination takes place in July in each year. The fee is 5*l*. The Candidate who most distinguishes himself is entitled to receive 30*l.* per annum for the next two years, with the style of University Scholar in Forensic Medicine.

BACHELOR OF SURGERY.

This Examination takes place in December in each year. The fee is 5*l.* Candidates are examined in the following branches:—Surgical Anatomy and Surgical Operations, Performance of Surgical Operations on dead subjects, Application of Surgical Apparatus, vivâ voce Interrogation. There is a Scholarship of 50*l.* per annum, tenable for the next two years.

MASTER OF SURGERY.

This Examination is held in December in each year. The fee is 5*l.* Candidates are examined on the following subjects:—Logic and Psychology, and Surgery. A gold medal of the value of 20*l.* is given.

DOCTORS OF MEDICINE.

This Examination is held in December. The fee is 5*l.* Candidates are examined in the following subjects:—Logic, Psychology, and Medicine. A gold medal of 20*l.* is given to the Candidate who most distinguishes himself in Medicine.

EXAMINATION ON SUBJECTS RELATING TO HEALTH.

A Special Examination is held in December every year on subjects relating to Public Health. The fee is 5*l.* Candidates are examined on the following subjects:—Chemistry and Microscopy, Meteorology and Geology, Physics and Sanitary Apparatus, Vital Statistics, Hygiene, and Sanitary Law. A gold medal of the value of 5*l.* is given to the Candidate who distinguishes himself the most.

MUSIC.

BACHELOR OF MUSIC (B.MUS.).

First B. Mus. Examination.

The first Examination takes place in December in each year. The fee is 5*l.* Candidates are examined in the following subjects:—The relations between Musical Sounds and the Vibrations of Sonorous Bodies, as affecting the pitch of the sounds ; the simpler properties of stretched strings, and the sounds produced by them ; Compound Vibrations ; Modes ; the nature of Harmonics ; the general theory and simpler phenomena of Compound Sounds ; the theoretical nature of Consonance and Dissonance as determined by Helmholtz ; the theoretical nature and values of Musical Intervals ; the theoretical construction of the Modern Scales ; Temperament ; Melody ; Time ; Rhythm ; the principles of the Construction of Chords ; the History of Music, in so far as it relates to the growth of Musical Forms and Rules.

Second B. Mus. Examination.

The second Examination follows the first also early in December. The fee is 5*l*. Every Candidate is required to transmit to the Registrar, at least one calendar month before the commencement of the Examination, a Musical Exercise, clearly and legibly written in the proper clefs, of such length as to occupy from twenty to forty minutes in performance, and fulfilling the following conditions :—

- (a) It must be a Vocal Composition to any words the writer may select.
- (b) It must contain real five-part Vocal Counterpoint, with specimens of imitation, canon, and fugue.
- (c) It must have accompaniments for a quintett String Band.

The Candidate will be required to make a solemn declaration that the exercise is entirely his or her own unaided composition ; and if the exercise be approved by the Examiners, the qualifications of the Candidate will be further tested by an examination in the following subjects :—Practical Harmony and Thorough Bass ; Counterpoint, in not more than five parts, with Canon and Fugue ; Form in Musical Composition ; Instrumentation, so far as is necessary for understanding and reading a full score ; arranging for the Pianoforte, from an instrumental score ; a critical knowledge of the full scores of such standard Classical Compositions as shall be announced beforehand.

DOCTOR OF MUSIC (D.MUS.).

First D. Mus. Examination.

Every Candidate for the Degree of Doctor of Music shall be required to have obtained the Degree of Bachelor of Music. The first D. Mus. Examination takes place in the second week in December in each year. The fee is 5*l*. Candidates shall be examined in the following subjects :—The Phenomena of Sound in general, and the general nature of Aërial Sound-waves ; the special characteristics of Musical Sounds—the Physical Causes determining their pitch, loudness, and quality ; Standards of Pitch ; the more elaborate Phenomena of Compound Sounds ; the theoretical nature of the sounds of Musical Instruments of various kinds, including the human voice ; the principles of stretched strings ; the theoretical nature of Musical Intervals, and the Philosophical Modes of defining and representing them ; the theoretical values of the various intervals used in Music ; Musical Scales ; the Scales of various nations, and of the Greeks in particular ; the theoretical construction of the modern Scales ; the theory of Temperament, and its various practical applications ; the Greek and the Church Modes, and their relation to Modern Tonality ; the history of Measured Music ; the principles of Melodial Progression ; the phenomena attending the combinations of two Sounds ; the various Theories proposed for the explanation of Consonance and Dissonance ; Beats ; Resultant or Combination Tones ; the History of Harmony and Counterpoint ; the theoretical nature of Chords generally, and in particular of the various Concords and Discords in ordinary use, also of Discords arising accidentally ; the theoretical principles governing Progressions in Harmony, especially those connected with Discords ; the theoretical principles determining the rules of Counterpoint ; the general distinction between Physical and Æsthetical or Artistic principles, as bearing on musical forms and rules.

Second D.Mus. Examination.

The second Examination takes place in the third week in December in each year. The fee is 5*l*. Every Candidate for this Examination shall be required to transmit to the Registrar, at least two calendar months before the commencement of the Examination, a Musical Exercise, clearly and legibly written in the proper clefs, of such length as to occupy from forty to sixty minutes in performance, and fulfilling the following conditions :—

- (a) It must be a Vocal Composition to any words the writer may select.
- (b) It must contain real eight-part Vocal Harmony with good eight-part Fugal Counterpoint.
- (c) It must also contain portions for one or more Solo voices.
- (d) It must have accompaniments for a full Orchestra, and must contain an instrumental Overture or Interlude, in the form of the first movement of a Classical Symphony or Sonata.

The Candidate will be required to make a solemn declaration that the Exercise is entirely his or her own unaided composition. If the Exercise be approved by the Examiners, the qualifications of the Candidate will be further tested by an examination in the following subjects :—Practical Harmony of the more advanced character ; Counterpoint in eight real parts, with canon, fugue, etc. ; form in Composition ; the treatment of Voices in Composition ; Instrumentation for full Orchestra ; a general acquaintance with the names and epochs of the greatest Musical Composers, and with the character of their works ; a critical knowledge, in some detail, of the great standard Classical Compositions. A certificate under the seal of the University, and signed by the Chancellor, shall be delivered at the public presentation for Degrees to each Candidate who has passed.

ART, THEORY, AND HISTORY OF TEACHING.

An Examination shall be held once in each year in the Art, Theory, and History of Teaching, and shall commence on the first Tuesday in March. No Candidate shall be admitted to this Examination unless he shall have previously graduated in the University. The fee is 5*l*. Candidates shall be examined in the following subjects :—

I. Mental and Moral Science in their relation to the Work of Teaching.—Observation, and the training of the senses ; association ; memory ; reasoning ; imagination ; the will, and how to train it ; habit and character ; authority and discipline ; rewards and punishments ; the conduct of the understanding.

II. Methods of Teaching and School Management.—The structure, fitting, and furniture of school buildings ; sanitary conditions of effective teaching ; physical exercises, drill, and recreation ; books and apparatus ; registration of attendance and progress ; organization of schools ; classification of scholars ; distribution of duty among assistants ; apportionment of time ; the co-ordination and division of studies ; examination, viva voce and in writing ; the use of oral lessons and of book work ; methods of teaching and of illustrating each of the subjects included in an ordinary school course ; preparation of teaching notes ; tests and records of results.

III. The History of Education ; the Lives and Work of Eminent Teachers ; and the Systems of Instruction adopted in Foreign Countries.—Under this head special books and subjects will be prescribed from year to year, and will be announced two years previously.

IV. Practical Skill in Teaching and in the Management of a Class.—A certificate, to be called the “Teacher’s Diploma,” under the seal of the University, and signed by the Chancellor, shall be delivered at the public presentation for Degrees to each Candidate who has passed.

REGULATIONS FOR THE EXAMINATION AND INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS.

1. The University of London is prepared to receive applications for the inspection and examination of schools, other than primary, to be conducted under the direction of the Senate.

2. Applications should be made by the governing body of the school, if such school is under the management of Trustees or Governors ; or otherwise, by the Principal of the school. All such applications should be addressed to the Registrar of the University, Burlington Gardens, W.

3. Every application should be forwarded at least two months before the proposed time of Examination, and should specify :—

- (a) The number of classes in the school, and the number and average age of the scholars in each class.
- (b) The subjects of instruction, the text-books in use, and the degree of proficiency attained in each class.
- (c) The prizes or other distinctions, if any, which the Examiner is expected to award.
- (d) The extent to which the teachers of the school will be willing, if desired, to assist in the conduct of the Examination.
- (e) Any other particulars which, in the judgment of the authorities of the school, are of material importance for the information or guidance of the Examiner.

4. The Examination will, as nearly as possible, follow the course of the ordinary school-work, and will extend to the subjects usually taught in grammar and other secondary and high schools.

5. The Examiner will report—unless, for any reason approved by the Senate, the range of the Examination should be specially restricted—on the work of each class ; on the proficiency attained in respect to each subject of instruction ; and on the methods, discipline, and general condition of the school. His report will be in the first instance submitted to the Senate, by whom a copy will be communicated to the governing body or to the Head Master or Mistress.

6. It is required that if the authorities of the school print or publish the Report, it should be reproduced in full, and that a copy of such publication shall in every case be sent to the Registrar.

7. The fee charged will be 10*l.*, if the Examination occupies one Examiner only, and for not more than two days. But if the Examination should extend over more than two days, or should require the services of more than one Examiner, an additional fee for each Examiner at the rate of three pounds per diem will be required. The travelling and other expenses of the Examiners, and the cost of printing any examination-papers which may be needed, will also be defrayed by the authorities of the School.

8. In the case of very small schools, or of two or more neighbouring schools, the authorities of which may desire them to be examined together, the Senate will be prepared, on application, to consider any modification of these arrangements which may be deemed necessary or desirable.

9. The Senate will determine in each case, after communication with the authorities of the school, and having regard to the number of pupils and of subjects, what period should be allowed for the Examination, and what number of Examiners should be employed. The extent to which the Examination shall be conducted by printed papers or vivâ voce will also be determined by the Senate.

10. The day or days of Examination will be fixed by the Senate, as far as possible, in accordance with the wishes of the authorities of the school; but regard will also be had to the convenience of the Examiners in grouping neighbouring schools, and in adjusting their visits with a view to economy of time.

11. The Senate reserves the power to decline an application for Inspection or Examination in any case in which it may be deemed expedient to do so.

12. An annual statement will be inserted in the London University Calendar, showing the number and the names of the schools inspected or examined under the direction of the University during the preceding academical year.

The following alterations in the regulations have occurred :—

Matriculation.—Sanskrit and Arabic are now added to the languages among which an option is given: the fee for the first entry to this Examination will be, as heretofore, 2*l.*, but at every entry subsequent to the first an additional fee of 1*l.* will henceforth be charged.

Second B.A.—It has been found requisite in order to prevent the exclusion of Jewish Candidates to retain the former date (the fourth Monday in October) for the commencement of this Examination.

The Preliminary Scientific (M.B.).—The new regulations with regard to practical work at the Pass Examination announced in the University Calendar for 1877 came into force in 1878.

The First M.B.—Comparative Anatomy is now omitted from the subjects of this Examination, and Histology is specified as a subject of the written (pass) as well as of the practical Examination.

Subjects relating to Public Health.—The programme of this Examination has been revised, with a more detailed indication of its subjects.

Degrees in Music.—The regulations relating to these Degrees now first to be conferred by the University, are given in extenso in the University Calendar for 1878. The Examinations take place in December, and the Degrees conferred are First B. Mus., the fee being 5*l.*; the Second B. Mus., the fee is also 5*l.*; Doctor of Music (D. Mus.), fee 5*l.*; Second D. Mus., also 5*l.* A Certificate under the seal of the University, and signed by the Chancellor, shall be delivered at the public presentation for Degrees to each Candidate who has passed.

FINAL SETTLEMENT OF THE QUESTION AS TO THE OPENING OF THE DOORS OF THE UNIVERSITY TO WOMEN.—At the annual meeting of the Convocation of the University of London, held at the University Building, Burlington Gardens, under the presidency of Dr. Storror, Dr. Carpenter laid on the table the new Supplemental Charter, dated 14th of May, 1878. It appears that Convocation decided to co-operate with the Senate in applying for a supplemental charter enabling the University to grant Degrees in all faculties to women, and to confer such Degrees upon those who might pass the examination, and that charter had now been received. The University of London is the first in Great Britain to open its doors to all comers, irrespective of sex. Another important step taken by the University during the past year is the granting of Degrees in Music. There is a steady increase in the number of candidates who came up at the recent examinations. In the first five years the average was 140 per year, in the second 200, in the third 350, in the fourth 400, in the fifth 700, in the sixth 1,100, in the seventh 1,500, while last year they amounted to no fewer than 2,123. During the year 24 candidates had passed the examination for women—seven in Honours, and in June, 1883, there were upwards of twenty ladies' names in the list of successful candidates, sixteen received the certificate of Bachelor of Arts, and twenty-four took Honours in various subjects.

In reference to the New Charter granted to the University, an address to the Senate and Convocation, signed by 1,960 ladies, was presented to Earl Granville on Feb. 13th, 1878.

SCOTLAND.

INTRODUCTORY.

The four Universities in Scotland are S. Andrew's, Edinburgh, Aberdeen, and Glasgow, and in the year 1858 they were reorganised and assimilated, and by the University Act of that year provision was made for the better government and discipline of the Universities of Scotland by improving and regulating the course of study therein; and now the four Universities are governed under a nearly uniform constitution, each being now under three internal bodies, called respectively, the General Council of the University, the University Court, and the Senatus Academicus.

The official heads of each University are the Chancellor, chosen for life by the General Council; the Rector, chosen every three years by the Matriculated Students; and the Principal or resident Head of the University, who is President of the Senatus.

The General Council consists of the Chancellor, who is President of the Council; the Rector, who is President of the University Court; the Principal and Professors and the Graduates of the University. In the absence of the Chancellor, the Rector presides, and failing him, the Senior Professor.

The University Court is a court of appeal from the Senatus, and consists of the Rector, Principal, and Assessors. In Edinburgh the Lord Provost of the City and an Assessor nominated by the Town Council are additional members, and a Dean of Faculties is an extra representative of the Senatus in Glasgow.

The Senatus Academicus consists of the Principal and Professors, who are entrusted with the control of the teaching and discipline, and, subject to the supervision of the University Court, with the administration of the revenues and property of the University. The four Universities return two members to Parliament, Edinburgh and St. Andrew's being represented by one and Glasgow and Aberdeen by the other.

The annual grant has now been increased to 40,000*l*.

The endowments of each University, which are considerable, are applied in the form of prizes, bursaries, scholarships, and fellowships. Edinburgh and Glasgow possess a great number, and there are many bursaries in Aberdeen University.

The Scholarships and Fellowships are chiefly for those who have passed the examination necessary for the degree of Master of Arts and the following are open to all the Scotch Universities:—1. The Ferguson Scholarships, founded in 1860 by John Ferguson, of Cairnbrock; they are six in number, of the value of 80*l*. each per annum, tenable for two years; three are offered every year. 2. Shaw Fellowship in Mental Philosophy, founded in 1867 in memory of Sir James Shaw, Bart.; it is of the annual value of 170*l*., and is tenable for five years. The present fellow was elected in 1878. 3. Gunning Theological Scholarship and Fellowship, founded by Dr. Gunning, of Rio de Janeiro, and intended to encourage the study of theology for the ministry of the Church of Scotland, or Free Church, and the study of the natural sciences among Students of Theology. There are three Scholarships of the annual value of 50*l*., 30*l*., and 20*l*. each, tenable for three years. These Scholarships were awarded for the first time in 1880. The Fellowship, of the annual value of 100*l*., open to Theological Students, will be awarded in 1883.

THE UNIVERSITY OF S. ANDREW'S.

This, the oldest University in Scotland, was founded in 1411. The course of study necessary for the Degree of Master of Arts extends over 4 Winter Sessions, and includes attendance for not less than 2 Sessions on the Classes of Humanity, Greek, and Mathematics respectively; and attendance for not less than one Session on the Classes of Logic, Moral Philosophy, and Natural Philosophy, respectively; and also attendance on a course of English Literature (Rhetoric). But any Student who, at the time of his entrance to the University, can satisfy the Professors of the Faculty of Arts, on examination, that he is qualified to attend the other Classes of Latin, Greek, or Mathematics, or any one of them, may be admitted to such higher Class or Classes, without having previously attended the first or Junior Class or Classes in the same department. And when any Student has been thus admitted to the higher Classes both of Latin and Greek, without having previously attended the first or Junior Latin and Greek Classes, his course of study for the Degree of Master of Arts may be completed within 3 Winter Sessions instead of 4.

The Degree of B.A. is not conferred.

The fees of M.A. Examination are Three Guineas.

The Degree of Doctor of Medicine may be conferred by the University of S. Andrew's on any registered Medical Practitioner above the age of 40 years, whose professional position and experience are such as, in the estimation of the University, to entitle him to that Degree, and who shall, on examination, satisfy the Medical Examiners of the sufficiency of his professional knowledge: Provided always, that Degrees shall not be conferred under this section to a greater number than 10 in any one year. On or before the 25th day of March in each year, candidates lodge with the Registrar of the University the following certificates:—A certificate of age. Certificates from three medical men, of such acknowledged reputation in the profession, or of such standing in the medical schools, as shall satisfy the Senatus of the professional position and experience of the candidate. A certain portion (viz., 10*l.* 10*s.*) of the Graduation Fees, 52*l.* 10*s.*, is forfeited should the candidate fail to appear at the time appointed for examination, or should he fail to pass the prescribed Examination, which is conducted both in writing and vivâ voce, in Materia Medica and General Therapeutics, Medical Jurisprudence, Practice of Medicine and Pathology, Surgery, and Midwifery. A minute knowledge, however, is not required from those who do not practise these branches of the profession.

The Session lasts in the United College from first Friday of November to last Friday of April; in S. Mary's College, from end of November to end of March. About 180 Students.

UNIVERSITY ENDOWMENTS.

The number of Bursaries attached to the United College is 74, varying in value from 5*l.* to 30*l.* per annum. The endowments for Special Prizes yield annually about 114*l.*

The number of Bursaries belonging to S. Mary's College is 20, in value from 6*l.* to 30*l.* per annum. There are also 18 Bursaries of the same value, transferable from the United College, when the Bursars proceed to the study of Divinity. In this College there are two Prizes of 10*l.* each, and a Testimonial of 21*l.*, open to competition in each Session.

There are 5 Scholarships in the University : 2 of the annual value of 50*l.* each, tenable for 4 years ; 2 of the annual value of 50*l.* each, tenable for 2 years ; and one tenable for 4 years—value for the first year 100*l.*, and 50*l.* for each of the 3 following years.

The proceeds available for Bursaries, Prizes, and Scholarships in the University amount annually to above 2,000*l.*

UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS.

RAMSAY SCHOLARSHIPS.—There are 2 Scholarships on this foundation, of the annual value of not less than 50*l.* each, tenable for 4 years. Each Scholarship is awarded after competitive examination in the several branches of study on which attendance is required of Students proceeding to the Degree of M.A. ; and all persons who have obtained the said Degree in the University in the year in which the competition takes place, or in the year preceding, are admissible to the competition. One Scholarship falls vacant in every alternate year. No person can hold either of these Scholarships along with any other Scholarship, Fellowship, or Bursary of any Scottish University. The examination for each of the said Scholarships is to be conducted by the Principal of the United College, and by the Professors on whose Classes attendance is required of Students proceeding to the Degree of M.A.

GUTHRIE SCHOLARSHIP.—Founded in 1864. This Scholarship is open for competition to all Students who have completed 2 regular Sessions at the United College, and whose age did not exceed 19 years on the 30th of November preceding the election. It is tenable for 4 years—value, 100*l.* for the first year, and 50*l.* for each of the 3 following years. The Guthrie Scholar is to continue his education at Oxford or Cambridge, or (with the consent of the Trustees) at some foreign University. If, after 2 years of general study, he desires to commence the professional study of Divinity, Law, or Medicine, in a Scottish University, he may do so with the sanction of the Trustees.

BRUCE AND FALKLAND SCHOLARSHIPS.—Two Scholarships of the annual value of 50*l.* each, founded in 1865, are to be held only by Students who have passed their examinations for the Degree of M.A. in the Session previous to the bestowal of the Scholarships, and are conferred on any Masters of Arts who may have passed with Honours, or in such creditable manner as the Senatus may deem to render them deserving of the Scholarships ; and who are not above the age of 23 years when they have passed all the examinations for their Degree. The Scholarships are tenable for 2 years, during which the Scholars, if Students of Divinity, must attend S. Mary's College ; but if they be Students "in the Departments of Literature and Science, Law or Medicine," the Scholars may prosecute the same in the University of Edinburgh. It is not competent for any person to hold one of the said Scholarships along with any other Scholarship or Fellowship of any Scottish University, or with any situation or appointment yielding to him an annual income of 50*l.* or upwards.

The Senatus now grants higher women's certificates and titles of LL.A. The standard of this examination is the same for Pass and Honours as that of S. Andrew's M.A. degree in the same subjects, and is held at several centres—some in England. Women are granted a full and systematic course of university instruction. 175 candidates presented themselves in 1881, and 33 passed.

THE UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH,

Founded 1582, under a Royal Charter granted by James VI., is a Corporation governed by its Senate (whose decisions may, however, be reviewed by the University Court), and possessing a Chancellor elected for life ; a Vice-Chancellor, nominated by the Chancellor ; a Rector, elected triennially ; a Principal, who is the resident Head of the College ; and numerous Professors. This University has the largest number of Students of any University in the United Kingdom, and it is admitted to be the most important and the largest of all the Schools of Medicine in the Kingdom, whether University or Hospital Schools. The number of Matriculated Students in 1881 was 3,160, and the attendance this year is higher than it has ever been in the whole past history of the University. The University is divided into four Faculties—Arts, Theology, Law, and Medicine ; the affairs of each of which are presided over by a Dean, elected from among the Professors. The ordinary academical curriculum in Arts, with a view to a Degree, extends over 4 Winter Sessions ; but 3 Winter Sessions are sufficient for Students who satisfy the Examiners, at their Entrance Examination, that they are qualified for admission to the higher classes of Latin and Greek. The academical year is divided into 2 Sessions, whereof the Summer Session opens in the beginning of May, and ends in July, and the Winter opens in the beginning of November, and ends with April. For each of these Sessions, Class Fees of three, four, and five guineas each, are payable by every Student ; the Matriculation Fee of 1*l.* should previously have been paid. Students must pass an Examination in seven subjects ; namely, Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Logic and Metaphysics, Moral Philosophy, Natural Philosophy and Rhetoric, and English Literature, but they need not be examined upon all at any one Examination for Degrees. There are above 100 Bursaries, varying in value from 5*l.* to 100*l.*, tenable by undergraduates 1 to 4 years ; 22

Scholarships of 60*l.* to 120*l.*, tenable 1 to 4 years; and 4 Fellowships of 100*l.* to 170*l.*, tenable 3 or 4 years after graduation by Students in the Faculty of Arts. In the Faculty of Theology every Student must be enrolled 4 Sessions, and attend not less than 3. The fee for each Class in Theology is 2 guineas the Session. There are 9 Presentation Bursaries in this Faculty, worth from 8*l.* to 23*l.* each, tenable 1 to 4 years; 9 Competition Scholarships, worth from 7*l.* 10*s.* to 90*l.* per ann., tenable 3 years; and 2 Presentation Scholarships, of 16*l.* 13*s.* and 25*l.*, tenable 3 years. The Degrees of Bachelor and Doctor of Science are conferred, after Examination, upon Candidates who have attended Science Classes for at least 3 years. In the Faculty of Law there are 6 Chairs, upon all of which the Student wishing to take the Degree of Bachelor of Laws must attend; fees, three to five guineas. The Faculty of Medicine comprehends 12 chairs or classes, the fees for which are four guineas each. Three Medical Degrees are conferred by this University; viz., Bachelor of Medicine, M.B.; Master in Surgery, C.M.; and Doctor of Medicine, M.D.; but the second of these is not conferred upon any person who does not at the same time obtain the M.B. Degree, and none are qualified to be admitted to either Degree who have not passed one of four years of Medical and Surgical study in this University. The total minimum expenses for curriculum up to M.B. and C.M. Degree, and inclusive of all fees, is 104*l.* 18*s.*

REGULATIONS FOR UNIVERSITY CERTIFICATES IN ARTS FOR WOMEN.

I. Candidates, before they can receive certificates, must have studied in at least three of the classes of the "Edinburgh Association for the University Education of Women," that are recognised by the Senatus Academicus; and they must also have passed the Local Examinations either of the University of Edinburgh, of one of the other Scottish Universities, or of the Universities of Oxford or Cambridge.

II. Candidates who have passed any of the aforesaid Local Examinations may present themselves at the Edinburgh University Examinations for the Certificate in Arts, either in April or in October—in the subjects of any one or more, or of all of the classes attended by them. After they have passed in not less than three subjects, they are entitled to receive a University Certificate in Arts.

III. The classes at present sanctioned and approved by the University are the following:—Department of Languages and Literature—English Literature, Latin, Greek, Biblical Criticism; Department of Philosophy—Psychology and Logic, Moral Philosophy, Political Economy, Theory of Education, Fine Art; Department of Mathematics and Physical Science—Mathematics, Experimental Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Botany, Zoology and Physiology.

IV. The University Certificates in Arts for Women are of two grades—Pass Certificates and Honour Certificates.

V. Honour Certificates in Arts will be awarded to those Candidates who, having passed a satisfactory examination in at least three subjects, have, in a further and Special Examination for Honours, exhibited high proficiency in any one of these subjects.

VI. Candidates for the Local Examinations of the University, which are held in June, must send their names and addresses to the "Secretary of the Local Examination Board, University, Edinburgh," before the 1st June in each year.

VII. Candidates for Ordinary and for Honour University Certificates in Arts must send their names and addresses, and the subjects in which they wish to be examined, to the Clerk of the University, together with proof that they have passed the Local Examinations—before the 15th March or the 1st October in each year.

VIII. The fee for the Local Examinations is one guinea, and that for the University Certificate in Arts two guineas—to be paid to the Clerk of the University. No additional fee is required for an Honour certificate.

Candidates who propose to present themselves at the Ordinary Examinations in October must intimate their names and addresses to the "Secretary of the Senatus, University of Edinburgh," before the 1st of October; and at either the Ordinary or the Honours Examinations in April, before the 15th of March—specifying the subject or subjects in which they offer themselves, and also the classes which they have attended, with the session in which they have done so. The fee should be sent to the Clerk when the Candidate announces her name.

Evidence of having passed the Local Examinations, and also certificates of the necessary attendance in the classes of the "Association for the University Education of Women" must be produced in the examination room when the Candidate appears to be examined.

Secretary of the Senatus Academicus.—Professor Wilson.

University Librarian.—John Small, M.A.

Clerk of the University.—Thomas Gilbert.

KEEPERS OF MUSEUMS.

Museum of Natural History.—Professor Ewart.

Anatomical Museum.—Professor Turner.      Assistant.—James Simpson.

Factor of the University.—John Cook, W.S.

Clerk of the University and Secretary and Registrar of General Council.—
Thomas Gilbert.

Assistant Registrars.—David Lister Shand, W.S. ; John Small, M.A.

Janitor.—John Chapman.

Local Examinations of Schools corresponding to those of Oxford and Cambridge are held in June annually by the University, and the University, by an arrangement with the War Office, holds special examinations qualifying for admission to the army.

The Degrees of Doctor of Divinity and of Doctor of Laws are conferred honoris causâ tantum.

Full details regarding matriculation, the curriculum of study in each of the Faculties and Degrees, and other regulations, are not within the compass of this work, and have only been given in brief, but all particulars appear in the University Calendar usually published in May.

THE NEW UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS.

The Town Council of Edinburgh have voted the sum of 1,000 guineas as a contribution to the final subscription list towards the completion of the new University buildings on the occasion of the tercentenary of the University. The statistics showed that while in the year 1868-9 there were 669 students in arts attending Edinburgh University, in 1881-2 these had increased to 1,047. During the same period the number of medical students of Scottish extraction had increased from 229 to 638. From England they had in the earlier year 159 medical students, as against 585 in the latter year. The increase in Irish medical students had been from 12 in 1867-9 to 30 in 1881-2. Of foreign medical students there were in the former year 16 and in the latter 63, and from India there were in the former year 31, and in the latter 120; but the most remarkable fact brought out by these statistics is, that while in 1868-9 there were 29 colonial medical students, in the year 1881-2 there were 202, a seven-fold increase during 13 years.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION OF WOMEN.

The Earl of Zetland has given 500*l.* to the Edinburgh Association for the University Education of Women to found a bursary for the benefit of its students. This bursary will be known as the Earl of Zetland's Bursary.

MATRICULATED STUDENTS.

Matriculated Students may be members of any of the four Faculties. They have the privilege of electing the Rector of the University. In case of an equality of votes, the Chancellor, or failing him, the Principal, has the casting vote. Students also enjoy the right of admission to the University Library, and on certain days to the Museum of Natural History. Their names are preserved in the General Album, which is the legal register of attendance at the University. Students are subject to the ordinary discipline of the Professors, and of the Senatus Academicus. University Matriculation consists in a Student entering his name in the General Roll of Students of the University, and in paying a fee of 1*l.* for one year, commencing in November, or a fee of 10*s.* for a summer session, commencing in May. Matriculation is necessary before a Student can enter any of the classes in the University, or any extra-academical classes which are intended to qualify for graduation, and a declaration is signed by Students on matriculating.

The University Library consists of about 138,000 printed volumes, and 800 volumes of MSS., many of which are of great value and interest.

The Museum of Natural History was established in 1812, and the Royal Botanic Gardens in connection with the University extend to 27 acres, with greenhouses, hothouses, palm-house, etc.

For the curriculum in Arts. The annual expense for class fees, matriculation, etc., for the regular course in Arts may be estimated at about 10*l.* 10*s.* The ordinary curriculum in the Faculty of Arts, with a view to a Degree, extends over four winter sessions. The regulations and classes to be attended are given in extenso in the University Calendar.

The curriculum in the Faculty of Divinity is intended for the Ministry in the Church of Scotland, for which an entrance examination is necessary, and the course of study in Divinity extends over three sessions.

I. Divinity.—The subjects of the Lectures being—1. The Nature of Religion and of Theology. 2. Theology in relation to Physical, Mental, and Metaphysical Science. 3. General view of the Theological Sciences. 4. History of Theistic Speculation. 5. Ecclesiology. 6. Eschatology.

II. Divinity and Ecclesiastical History.

III. Biblical Criticism and Biblical Antiquities.

IV. Hebrew, Hindustani.

FACULTY OF LAW.

ORDER OF STUDY.

The Faculty having taken into consideration that the course of study in Law extends over three academical years, and that the natural order in which the various branches of the course ought to be taken up is often departed from, and sometimes altogether inverted, recommend Students, whether intending to graduate in Law or not, to attend the Lectures in the following order, viz.:—First year, Civil Law; second year, Scotch Law; third year, Conveyancing; and to attend the Lectures on Public Law, Constitutional Law and Legal History, and Medical Jurisprudence, during the second and third years of study, in such order as may be most convenient to each individual Student.

FACULTY OF MEDICINE.

The fee for first course is 4*l.* 4*s.*; second course, 3*l.* 3*s.*; third course, free; perpetual ticket, 6*l.* 6*s.*

The Candidate will be examined practically on the Microscopical Structure of Plants, and she will be required to describe the various parts of fresh plants put into her hands.

For the Ordinary Certificate, Candidates must pass in not less than three subjects; "Honour Certificates will be awarded to those who, having passed a satisfactory Examination in at least three subjects, have exhibited high proficiency, to be tested by a special Examination for Honours, in one of these subjects, selected by the Candidate."

At the Universities of Edinburgh and Glasgow, annual local examinations are held similar to those at Oxford and Cambridge.

The late Mr. A. Vans Dunlop, Surgeon (retired), H.E.I.C.S., has recently bequeathed £60,000, mainly for the foundation and endowment of 18 scholarships, to be called the "Vans Dunlop Scholarships," of £100 each.

The late Mr. Thomas Carlyle has bequeathed land yielding £300 annually for founding Bursaries in the Faculty of Arts.

A new title has been introduced into the Faculty of Arts at Edinburgh University, which gives the style of "Literate of Arts" to Undergraduates, after attending certain classes for two years, and passing certain examinations.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN.

The University of Aberdeen, as now constituted, derives its origin from two different foundations: one, the University and King's College of Aberdeen, founded in 1494, by William Elphinstone, Bishop of Aberdeen, under the authority of a Papal Bull, obtained at the instance of King James IV.; the other, Marischal College and University of Aberdeen, founded in 1593, by George Keith, Earl Marischal, by a Charter ratified by Act of Parliament.

On the 2nd of August, 1858, the Royal assent was given to an Act of Parliament (21 and 22 Victoria, cap. 83), intituled "An Act to make provision for the better government and discipline of the Universities of Scotland, and improving and regulating the course of study therein; and for the Union of the Two Universities and Colleges of Aberdeen."

By Ordinance No. 7 of the Commissioners appointed by and for the purposes of the aforesaid Act, approved by Her Majesty by Order in Council, dated 30th June, 1860, the two foundations of King's College and Marischal College were, from and after the 15th September, 1860, united and incorporated into One University and College, under the style and title of the "UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN."

The University is a corporate body, consisting of a Chancellor, Rector, Principal, Professors, Registered Graduates and Alumni, and Matriculated Students. Its government is administered by the University Court, the Senatus Academicus, and the General Council. It possesses all the powers, privileges, and property of the two Universities and Colleges above mentioned, and, by virtue of the Universities' Act, it takes rank among the Universities of Scotland as from the date of the foundation of the University and King's College—1494.

It has about 140 Bursaries or Exhibitions, tenable for 4 years, during the course in Arts, and each fourth of which are annually awarded by Examination; besides about 130 in the gift of certain public bodies and private individuals. Has 23 Professorships in Arts, Divinity, Law, and Medicine, the Sessions of which are thus held: in Arts, from last Monday in October to first Friday in April; Divinity, first Monday in December to last Friday in March; and first Monday in June to the end of July; Law, first Monday in November to end of March; Medicine, first Monday of November, lasting 6 months, is the Winter Session, and the Summer Session of 3 months from first Monday in May. About 600 Students. The total number of students in each Faculty in 1878: Medicine 279, Arts 330, Divinity 24, Law 12.

The class fees to Professors are about 3 guineas.

The fee for Students taking a Senior Class in any subject, without previous attendance on the Junior Class in the same subject, is 3*l.* 3*s.* Matriculation fee, 1*l.* For the Degree of M.A., 1*l.* 1*s.* for each of 3 Examinations.

The course of study for the Degree of M.A. embraces 2 years' attendance on Greek, Latin, and Mathematics, and one on English Literature, Natural Philosophy, Logic, Moral Philosophy, and Natural History. Any Student who, at the time of his entrance to the University, shall, on Examination, be found qualified to attend the higher classes of Latin, Greek, and Mathematics, or any of them, shall be admitted to such higher class or classes, without having attended the first or Junior Class or Classes.

BURSARIES.

The Annual Bursary Competition began on Monday, 28th October, when there were offered 39 Bursaries, of which 33 were in the patronage of the University, and 6 in that of the Magistrates and Town Council of Aberdeen. All but 7 were open without restriction. They are tenable during the 4 years of the Curriculum, and are of the following annual value :—11 of 35*l.* ; 4 of 20*l.* ; 2 of 18*l.* ; 1 of 16*l.* ; 8 of 15*l.* ; 31 of 14*l.* ; 2 of 13*l.* ; 4 of 12*l.* ; 1 of 11*l.* 10*s.* ; 11 of 11*l.* ; 1 of 10*l.* 10*s.* ; 8 of 10*l.* ; 1 of 9*l.* ; and 2 of 5*l.*

Candidates are requested to bring with them certificates of their age, signed by the Ministers and Session-Clerks of their respective parishes, to be produced, if required, when the result of the Examinations is intimated.

In addition to the usual Macpherson Bursary of 20*l.*, there was offered for competition, on the same conditions, one of 9*l.* or thereby.

Candidates for these Bursaries were requested to lodge with the Secretary certificates from a Gaelic Minister as to their knowledge of the Gaelic Language.

Of the Bursaries under private patronage, 19 were vacant at the close of last Session, viz. :—1 of 25*l.* ; 3 of 22*l.* 10*s.* ; 2 of 20*l.* ; 2 of 16*l.* 16*s.* ; 2 of 16*l.* ; 1 of 14*l.* ; 5 of 11*l.* ; 1 of 10*l.* 5*s.* ; and 4 of inferior value.

CLASS AND SPECIAL PRIZES.

Books of the value of 136*l.* are awarded to the most distinguished Students in each class. At the close of the Curriculum the best Greek and Mathematical Scholars are entitled each to a Simpson Prize of 70*l.* or thereby, the second in point of merit in Mathematics to a Boxil of 27*l.*, the best Scholar in Classical Literature and Mental Philosophy to the Hutton of 30*l.*, the best General Scholar to the Gold Medal of the Magistrates and Town Council of Aberdeen, and the most distinguished Candidate for Honours in the Department of Natural History to a prize of 10*l.*

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Masters of Arts of not more than 2 years' standing may compete for the Fullerton, &c., Scholarships, of the value of 65*l.*, and tenable for 4 years, of which 2 are vacant annually, one for Classics and Mental Philosophy, the other for Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, and if of under 3 years' standing, they are eligible for the Murray Scholarship of 70*l.*, tenable for 3 years.

MARISCHAL COLLEGE, ABERDEEN,

Founded by George Keith, Earl Marischal, 1593, ceased to exist as a separate body in 1860, and is now merged in the University of Aberdeen.

Sir Erasmus Wilson has endowed a Chair of Pathology with 10,000*l.*, and he has nominated the Crown as Patron of the Chair.

Chancellor.—His Grace the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, K.G.

Vice-Chancellor.—The Very Rev. W. R. Pirie, D.D.

Lord Rector.—The Right Hon. Earl of Rosebery.

Representative in Parliament.—J. A. Campbell, LL.D.

THE UNIVERSITY OF GLASGOW,

Founded 1451, by a bull of Pope Nicholas V., obtained by King James II., at the instigation of Bishop Turnbull, is a corporate body consisting of a Chancellor, a Rector, a Dean of Faculties, a Principal, Professors, and 2,320 Students, of whom 1,385 matriculated in Arts, 100 in Divinity, 624 in Medicine, and 211 in Law. The Session opens annually on the First Tuesday in November, and closes April 30th. The Matriculation Fee is 1*l*. for the Academical Year, and 10*s*. for the Summer Session. The average cost of a four years' curriculum in Art for the Degree of M.A. is about 45*l*., which would include the cost of Books and Diploma. For each class in Literature and Philosophy the Class Fees are Three Guineas (with the exception of Natural Philosophy, Four Guineas); in Theology, Three Guineas; in Law, Four Guineas; in Medicine, Three Guineas, with One Guinea for Waltonian Lectures. The University has more than 240 Bursaries (equivalent to English Scholarships), varying in value from 5*l*. to 200*l*., some of which are open to the competition of Students, others are in the gift of various patrons, the annual value of these Bursaries and prizes amounts to about 8,000*l*. At the opening of the Session of 1881-82, there were competed for 45 Bursaries in Arts, in value from 10*l*. to 80*l*., tenable two to four years; 10 in Divinity of 15*l*. to 40*l*. There are besides numerous prizes in books, gold medals, and money. There are also twelve Snell Exhibitions of 110*l*. per ann., tenable for five years, two or three of which are competed for annually by natives of Scotland under 21 years of age, who have previously resided two years at least in Glasgow College, or for one year in that College and two at least in some other College in Scotland; and also the following Exhibitions, Fellowships, and Scholarships:—

Under the will of the late Mr. Chas. Randolph, engineer and shipbuilder, 60,000*l.* has been bequeathed to this University for building purposes, and quite recently a vote of 90,000*l.* was passed towards the expenses incurred in respect of the new College buildings.

At this University annual local examinations are held similar to those at Oxford and Cambridge.

VICTORIA UNIVERSITY.

MANCHESTER.

This University was founded and incorporated by Royal Charter in 1880. The characteristic features of this University are, (1) It will not confer its degrees on Candidates who shall have passed certain examinations only, but will also require attendance on prescribed courses of academical study in a College of the University, and (2) according to the constitution of the University, it contemplates becoming ultimately a federation of Colleges; but these Colleges will not be situated like those of Oxford and Cambridge, in one town, but wherever a College of adequate efficiency, stability, and numbers shall have arisen.

In the matter of women's education, according to the charter of this University, power is given to confer and grant all degrees and other distinctions to male and female students alike. Inasmuch, however, as all persons presenting themselves for examination for a degree in the University must have pursued a regular course of study in one of its Colleges, only such women as have pursued the prescribed course of study in the Owens College (at present the only incorporated College of the University) can be examined for a degree.

The Court of Governors of the Owens College has already approved in principle a scheme which will enable women to pursue regular courses of study in arts in the Owens College, or in a special women's department organically connected with it. According to the University charter, there is, however, a proviso that the University shall not grant degrees in medicine or surgery, unless and until authority in that behalf is given by a further charter or Act of Parliament. But by a supplementary Royal charter granted in 1883, the University is now empowered to confer degrees in medicine and surgery. Regulations as to the examinations and degrees in medicine and surgery are in course of preparation.

MATRICULATION.

University Matriculation consists in the placing of the name of a Student upon the Register of Scholars of the University.

Every Candidate for matriculation is required to furnish the Registrar with a certificate of his admission as a Student of one of the Colleges of the University, and on payment of the matriculation fee of £2, he signs an undertaking to obey the Regulations of the University.

Students can matriculate in June, and in the Michaelmas term of each Academical year, and Students presenting themselves for any of the examinations for degrees of the University, must present certificates of having matriculated.

GENERAL BOARD OF STUDIES.

Chairman.—Professor A. W. Ward, M.A., LL.D.

Secretary.—Professor R. Adamson, M.A.

The Examiners of the University.

GRADUATION.

FACULTIES OF ARTS AND OF SCIENCE.

1. The Degrees in these Faculties are Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, Master of Arts and Master of Science, together with a Degree of Doctor, viz., Doctor of Literature, Doctor of Philosophy, or Doctor of Science.

DEGREES OF BACHELOR OF ARTS AND BACHELOR OF SCIENCE.

2. The Degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science are conferred upon scholars of the University who have attended in a College of the University the courses of study approved by the University, and have passed the examinations appointed by it, for the Ordinary Degree of B.A. or B.Sc., or with Honours. Honours are granted to students who have passed through a regular course in a College of the University in one of the Honours Schools of the University.

3. Students offering themselves for any of the examinations for the Degree of B.A. or B.Sc. (Preliminary, Intermediate, and Final) are required to present certificates of being at the time on the Register of Scholars of the University.

4. Before presenting themselves for any of the examinations for the Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc., students are required to furnish to the University Registrar certificates of attendance in a College of the University upon courses of instruction, approved by the University, in each of the subjects in which they are to be examined (except in cases of special exemption).

5. All candidates for the Degrees of B.A. or B.Sc. are required to pass an examination, to be called the Preliminary Examination, and to present themselves for this examination not later than two years from the date of their matriculation, unless prevented from attending it by some cause deemed satisfactory by the General Board of Studies.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.

6. The times for holding the Preliminary Examination are about the middle or end of June and about the beginning of October.

7. At the Preliminary Examination held in October those students only may present themselves who have matriculated since the Preliminary Examination held in the previous June, or who failed in the Preliminary Examination held in the previous June, or who were prevented from attending it by reasons satisfactory to the General Board of Studies.

8. Students attending one of the courses approved by the University for one of the Honours Schools in the University, on presenting themselves for the Preliminary Examination, may furnish certificates of attendance on the classes required by the University for such Honours School in lieu of certificates of attendance upon classes in any of the subjects of the Preliminary Examination.

9. Candidates presenting themselves for the Preliminary Examination are required to satisfy the Examiners in one of the following groups (A and B) of subjects :—

A. 1, Latin ; 2, Greek ; 3, English Language and English History (including Geography) ; 4, pure Mathematics ; 5, one of the following : (a) French, (b) German, (c) Experimental Mechanics, (d) Elementary Chemistry.

B. 1, English Language and English History (including Geography) ; 2, pure Mathematics ; and either—3, Experimental Mechanics ; 4, Elementary Chemistry ; 5, one of the following : (a) Latin, (b) Greek, (c) French, (d) German ; or, 3 and 4, two of the following : (a) Latin, (b) Greek, (c) French, (d) German ; 5, one of the following : (a) Experimental Mechanics, (b) Elementary Chemistry.

10. The names of students who have passed the Preliminary Examination are published in two divisions, the names in each division being arranged in alphabetical order.

ORDINARY DEGREES OF BACHELOR OF ARTS AND OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE.

General Regulations for Examination and Attendance.

11. Candidates for the Ordinary Degrees of B.A. and B.Sc. are, except as hereinafter provided, require to furnish certificates of having passed through, in a College of the University, a course of study approved by the University, extending over at least three academic years, corresponding to the Preliminary, the Intermediate, and the Final Examinations respectively, of which years at least two shall be subsequent to the date at which they have passed the Preliminary Examination.

Provided that any student who shall have passed the Preliminary Examination next after his Matriculation, and have been placed in the First Division, may take his Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc. after two years of academical study from the date of such Preliminary Examination.

12. The Examination for the Ordinary Degree of Bachelor (B.A. or B.Sc.) is divided into two parts, called the Intermediate and the Final Examination.

13. The times for holding the Intermediate Examination are about the middle or end of June and about the beginning of October.

14. At the Intermediate Examination held in October, those students only may present themselves who failed in the Intermediate Examination held in the previous June, or who were prevented from attending it by reasons satisfactory to the General Board of Studies, or who present themselves in accordance with the provision of clause 23.

15. Students who have failed in an Intermediate Examination are required, before presenting themselves for any Intermediate Examination held in a subsequent calendar year, to obtain the sanction of the General Board of Studies.

16. Students, before entering for the Intermediate Examination, are required to furnish certificates of having passed the Preliminary Examination, and of having attended in a College of the University a course of study approved by the University, and extending over at least one academic year from the date at which they have passed the Preliminary Examination, in each of the subjects in the group in which they present themselves for examination.

17. The names of students who have passed the Intermediate Examination are published in a single list in two divisions, the names in each being arranged in alphabetical order.

18. Candidates for the Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc. with Honours, who have not been awarded Honours in the Examination for the Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc. with Honours, at which they have presented themselves, and have not, in the opinion of the Examiners, acquitted themselves sufficiently well in such Examination to be allowed to proceed to the next Final Examination for the Ordinary Degree, shall be allowed to proceed to the next Intermediate Examination in any of the groups for the Ordinary Degree hereinafter enumerated.

19. The times for holding the Final Examination are about the middle or end of June and about the beginning of October.

20. At the Final Examination in October only those Students may represent themselves who failed in the Final Examination held in the previous June, or who were prevented from attending it by some cause deemed satisfactory by the General Board of Studies, or who are qualified under the provision of clause 23.

21. Students presenting themselves for the Final Examination in any of the groups for the Ordinary Degree hereinafter enumerated are required to have passed the Intermediate Examination in such group, and to furnish certificates of having attended in a College of the University a course of study approved by the University, and extending over at least one academic year from the date at which they have passed the Intermediate Examination in each of the subjects of the group in which they present themselves.

22. The names of students who have passed the Final Examination are published in a single list of two classes, the names in each being arranged in alphabetical order.

23. Candidates for the Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc. with Honours, who have not been awarded Honours in the Examination for the Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc. with Honours, at which they have presented themselves, may, if they have, in the opinion of the Examiners, acquitted themselves sufficiently well in such Examination, proceed to the next Final Examination in any of the groups for the Ordinary Degree of B.A. or of B.Sc., without being required to pass the earlier or intermediate part of the Examination for the Ordinary Degree.

Special Regulations for Ordinary Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

24. Candidates for the Ordinary Degree of B.A. are required to present themselves for the Intermediate and for the Final Examination in each of the subjects in one of the following groups :—

A. (Mainly Classical).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Mathematics; 2, English Language (History of); 3, English Literature; 4, Logic. Final Examination: 1, Greek; 2, Latin; 3, Ancient History; 4, Philosophy. Intermediate Course: Greek, Latin, Ancient History, English Language, English Literature, Mathematics, Logic. Final Course: Greek, Latin, Ancient History, Philosophy.

B. (Mainly Historical).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Latin or Greek; 2, Mathematics; English Language (History of). Final Examination: 1, Latin or Greek; 2, History (Ancient and Modern); 3, French or German; 4, English Literature; 5, Political Economy. Intermediate Course: History (Ancient and Modern), Greek, Latin, English Language, English Literature, Mathematics, French or German. Final Course: History (Ancient and Modern), Greek or Latin, English Literature, Political Economy, French or German.

Provided that the Classical Language presented at the Final Examination has not been presented at the Intermediate Examination.

C. (Mainly English and Modern Languages).—Intermediate Examination: 1, English Language (History of); 2, Mathematics; 3, Early English; 4, Ancient History. Final Examination: 1, Advanced English Language; 2, English Literature; 3, Modern History; 4, French; 5, German; 6, Latin. Intermediate Course: English Language, Early English Language, English Literature, Ancient History, French, German, Latin, Mathematics. Final Course: Advanced English Language, English Literature, Modern History, French, German, Latin.

D. (Mainly Philosophical).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Logic; 2, Latin; 3, Mathematics; 4, English Literature. Final Examination: 1, Philosophy; 2, History of Philosophy; 3, Greek; 4, Ancient History; 5, French or German. Intermediate Course: Logic, Greek, Latin, Mathematics, Ancient History, English Literature, French or German. Final Course: Philosophy, History of Philosophy, Greek, Ancient History, French or German.

25. Candidates for the Degree of B.A. must have satisfied the Examiners in Latin and Greek at the Preliminary Examination.

*Special Regulations for Ordinary Degree of Bachelor of Science.**

26. Candidates for the Ordinary Degree of B.Sc. are required to present themselves for the Intermediate and for the Final Examination in each of the subjects of one of the following groups:—

A. (Mainly Mathematical).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Pure Mathematics; 2, Applied Mathematics; 3, Physics; 4, Logic; 5, Chemistry or Elementary Biology; 6, One of the following: Latin, Greek, French, German, English Language and Literature. Final Examination: 1, Pure Mathematics; 2, Applied Mathematics; 3, Physics and Practical Work; 4, One of the following: (a†) Elementary Biology, (b†) Chemistry, (c) Philosophy, (d) One of the following: Latin, Greek, French, German, English Language and Literature.

B. (Engineering).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Engineering with Drawing; 2, Pure Mathematics; 3, Applied Mathematics or Physics; 4, Chemistry; 5, French or German. Final Examination: 1, Engineering with Drawing; 2, Pure Mathematics; 3,‡ Any two of the following: Physics, Geology, Applied Mathematics.

C. (Experimental Science).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Pure Mathematics; 2, Physics; 3, Chemistry; 4, Any one of the following: (a) Elementary Biology, (b) Logic, (c) Physiography; 5, One of the following: Greek, Latin, French, German, English Language and Literature. Final Examination: 1, Applied Mathematics or Geology with Mineralogy; 2, Physics, with Practical Work; 3, Chemistry; 4, Analytical Chemistry.

D. (Biological).—Intermediate Examination: 1, Physics; 2, Chemistry;

* The courses correspond in subjects to the Examinations in both the intermediate and the final years.

† Provided the candidate has not presented this subject at his Intermediate Examination.

‡ Provided that Applied Mathematics be taken at either the Intermediate or the Final Examination.

3, Elementary Biology; 4, Any one of the following: (a) Pure Mathematics, (b) Logic, (c) Physiography; 5, One of the following: Greek, Latin, French, German, English Language and Literature. Final Examination: Any three of the following: * Division I.—1, Botany; 2, Zoology; 3, Physiology; 4, Geology. Division II.—5, Chemistry, with Practical Work; 6, Physics, with Practical Work; 7, Philosophy.

DEGREES OF BACHELOR OF ARTS AND BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, WITH HONOURS.

27. Candidates for the Degree of B.A. or B.Sc. with Honours are, except as hereinafter stated, required to furnish certificates of having attended in a College of the University courses of instruction approved of by the University, and extending over not less than three academical years from the date of their matriculation, in one of the Honours Schools of the University hereinafter enumerated.

28. Every candidate for the Degree of B.A. or B.Sc. with Honours shall be required to present himself at the examination next in date after the expiration of the third academical year from the time when he has entered upon one of the courses of instruction approved by the University for such degree, unless he shall present a medical certificate of illness satisfactory to the University Council.

29. Candidates for the Degree of B.A. or B.Sc. with Honours may present themselves for examination in any of the following Honours Schools, in the respective Faculties, on furnishing certificates of having attended, in accordance with the University Regulations, the College courses required for such Honours Schools in the University, and on proving to the satisfaction of the Board of Studies that they have performed the exercises of such classes as they shall have attended for such courses, viz. :—

FACULTY OF ARTS.

I. Classics.—Candidates will be examined in Greek and Latin Translation and Composition; in the History, Literature and Antiquities, Grammar and Philology of the Greek and Latin Languages; and in the History of Ancient Philosophy.

II. English Language.—Candidates will be examined in the English Language; in Gothic; in Icelandic or Old Saxon; in the Philology and History of the Teutonic Languages; and in Old French.

III. History.—Candidates will be examined in General History and Geography; in English (including Constitutional) History; and in selected Historical subjects.

IV. Philosophy.—Candidates will be examined in Logic, Psychology, Ethics, and the History of Philosophy, and in selected Philosophical subjects.

FACULTY OF SCIENCE.

V. Mathematics.—Candidates will be examined in Pure and Mixed Mathematics.

VI. Engineering.—Candidates will be examined in Engineering and Pure and Mixed Mathematics.

VII. Chemistry.—Candidates will be examined in Inorganic and Organic Chemistry, Chemical Physics, Analytical Chemistry, in Practical

---

* Provided that two of the three subjects be selected from Division I.

Laboratory Work, and in one of the following optional subjects:—Chemical Geology and Mineralogy, Technological Chemistry, Physiological Chemistry.

VIII. Zoology.—Candidates will be examined in Zoology, Comparative Anatomy, Embryology, Geology, and Palæontology; in Practical Laboratory Work, and in either Physiology or Botany.

IX. Physiology.—Candidates will be examined in Animal Physiology, in Practical Laboratory Work, and in one of the following optional subjects: Physics, Organic Chemistry, Comparative Anatomy, Psychology.

X. Geology, Mineralogy, and Palæontology.—Candidates will be examined either (a) in Geology, Mineralogy and Petrology, Chemical Geology, with Practical Physics or Palæontology; or (b) in Geology, Palæontology, Zoology, and Botany; and in Practical Work.

30. Students who have passed the Final Examination for an Ordinary B.A. Degree may, with the sanction of the General Board of Studies, and on furnishing certificates of having attended during the academical year following such Final Examination for the Ordinary Degree, the third, or during the two academical years following such Final Examination, the second and third year's course approved by the University of any one of its Honours Schools, present themselves for examination for a B.A. Degree with Honours in such School.

31. No candidate for a Degree of B.A. with Honours shall be admitted more than once to examination in the same Honours School; but students who have passed the Final Examination in any of the Honours Schools instituted by the University shall be permitted to enter upon the third, or second and third, year's course approved by the University in any other Honours School; and, on furnishing certificates of having attended the classes in such course as have not already been attended by them in the course required for the Honours School in which they have passed, to present themselves for Final Examination in the other Honours School selected.

Provided that candidates shall not present themselves for the Final Examination in the said other Honours Schools selected more than two academic years after the Final Examination in Honours already passed by them, and also that no student be admitted to examination in any Honours School after a longer period than six years has elapsed since the date of his matriculation.

32. Names of students who have passed the examination for the Degree of Bachelor with Honours shall be published in such form as to distinguish the Honours School in which severally they may have passed; the names of those who have passed in Honours being drawn up in three classes, and each class being arranged in alphabetical order.

DEGREES OF MASTER OF ARTS AND MASTER OF SCIENCE.

33. The Degree of M.A. is conferred, on payment of the proper fees, upon registered Bachelors of Arts, and on the like payment the Degree of Master of Science upon registered Bachelors of Science, when of three years' standing from the date of their graduation as Bachelors, and after not less than six academic years have elapsed since the date of their matriculation.

34. Bachelors of Arts or Science who have graduated with Honours are not required to present themselves for any further examination for the Degree of Master of Arts or Science.

35. Bachelors of Arts or Science who have obtained the Ordinary Degree are required further to satisfy the Examiners in such portions of the examination in some Honours School of the University as the General Board may from time to time approve.

36. The names of students who have passed the Further Examination for Degree of Master of Arts or Science shall be arranged in alphabetical order without distinction of classes.

DEGREES OF DOCTOR OF LITERATURE, DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY, AND DOCTOR OF SCIENCE.

37. The Degrees of Doctor of Literature, Doctor of Philosophy, and Doctor of Science are conferred by the University upon registered Masters of Arts or Masters of Science of the University who shall be deemed by the Council, on a report furnished by the General Board of Studies, after considering a report from one or more of its Departmental Boards, to have distinguished themselves by special research or learning.

Provided that the General Board of Studies may, in such cases as it shall think fit, after considering a report from one or more of its Departmental Boards, also require candidates to pass such an examination as it may from time to time determine.

STATUTE REGARDING FEES TO BE PAID ON MATRICULATION, AND FOR EXAMINATIONS AND DEGREES.

1. No fee shall entitle to admittance to more than one examination.
2. The fee for Matriculation shall be £2, and shall include the fee for Preliminary Examination.
3. A fee of £1 shall be payable for any subsequent Preliminary Examination.
4. The fee for the Intermediate Examination shall be £1.
5. The fee for the Final Examination for the Ordinary B.A. or B.Sc. Degree shall be £1.
6. The fee for the Final Examination for the Honours B.A. or B.Sc. Degree shall be £2.
7. A fee of £5 shall be payable on the conferring of the Degrees of B.A. or B.Sc., whether Ordinary or with Honours.
8. A fee of £1 shall be payable on Examination for the M.A. or M.Sc. Degree.
9. A fee of £5 shall be payable on the conferring of the Degree of M.A. or M.Sc.
10. The fee of £10 shall be payable on the conferring of the Degree of Doctor.

SUBJECTS FOR THE SEVERAL EXAMINATIONS FOR THE ORDINARY DEGREES OF B.A. AND B.Sc.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.

I.

A.

1. Greek.—(1) One Prose and one Verse Book selected from the following: Xenophon, Homer, Euripides; (2) Grammar; (3) Translation at sight of easy Greek passage into English.

2. Latin.—(1) One Prose and one Verse Book from the following: Virgil, Ovid, Horace (Odes), Cæsar, Sallust, Livy, Cicero (easier works); (2) Grammar; (3) Translation at sight of an easy Latin passage into English; (4) Translation of easy sentences from English into Latin.

3. English Language and Composition: English History with Geography.—(1) Elements of English Grammar; (2) Composition; (3) Elements of general history of the English Language; (4) Outlines of English history from the earliest times; (5) Elements of Political Geography, especially of Great Britain and Ireland.

4. Pure Mathematics.—(1) Plane Geometry; Euclid, Books I. to III., and Book VI.; Props. i. to xix. and xxxiii., or the subjects thereof; (2) Elementary Algebra.

5. One of the following:—(a) French—(1) Grammar; (2) Translation from a French work; (3) Translation at sight of piece of French prose into English; (4) Translation of easy English passage into French. (β) German—(1) Grammar; (2) Translation from a German work; (3) Translation at sight of easy German prose into English; (4) Translation of easy English sentences into German. (γ) Experimental Mechanics—Properties of Bodies: Statics, Kinetics, and Hydrostatics, treated so as to require only elementary knowledge of Algebra and Geometry. (δ) Elementary Chemistry—Laws of chemical combination; chemistry of the non-metallic elements and their compounds.

II.

B.

1. English with History.—As above.

2. Mathematics.—(1) Plane Geometry; Euclid, Books I. to III. and Book VI., Props. i. to xix. and xxxiii., or the subjects thereof; (2) Elementary Algebra; (3) Plane Trigonometry to solution of Triangles, or Practical Plane Geometry (straight line and circle).

3, 4, 5. Three of the following (either two Sciences and one Language, or one Science and two Languages): (1) Greek, as in A, above. (2) Latin, as in A, above. (3) French: a. Grammar; b. Translation from a prose and from a verse work; c. Translation at sight of a passage of French prose into English; d. Translation of an English passage into French. (4) German: a. Grammar; b. Translation from a prose and from a verse work; c. Translation at sight of easy German prose into English; d. Translation of an easy English passage into German. (5) Experimental Mechanics, as in A, above. (6) Elementary Chemistry, as in A, above.

FOR ORDINARY DEGREE OF B.A.

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATIONS.

(Groups A, B, C, D.)

1. Greek.—(1) One Prose and one Verse Book selected from the following: Herodotus, Thucydides, Demosthenes (Public Orations), Xenophon, Homer, and the Tragedians. (2) Translation at sight from Greek into English.

2. Latin.—(1) One Prose and one Verse Book selected from the following: Virgil, Horace, Cicero, Livy, Tacitus. (2) Translation at sight from Latin into English. (3) Translation of easy pieces of English into Latin prose.

3. Mathematics.—(1) Elementary Solid Geometry (including Straight Lines, Planes, and Solid Angles; the simpler properties of the Parallelopiped, Prism, Cone, Cylinder, and Sphere, with the Mensuration of these Solids). (2) Plane Trigonometry—to solution of triangles (inclusive).

4. English Language.—History of the English Language to or from the Norman Conquest (in alternate years).

5. English Literature.—History of a period of English Literature.

6. Ancient History.—Outlines of Greek and Roman History, with a selected period.

7. Modern History.—A selected period of English History, or a selected period of general Modern History, or of recent English with Continental History.

8. French.—(1) Accidence and Syntax. (2) Translation from a selected French Book in verse. (3) Translation at sight of French prose and verse pieces into English. (4) Translation of English passages into French.

9. German.—(1) Accidence and Syntax. (2) Translation from a selected German book. (3) Translation at sight of German passages into English. (4) Translation of easy English passage into German.

10. Logic.—Deductive and Inductive Logic.

11. Early English.—Early English prose. Sweet's Anglo-Saxon Reader, with other books selected from the prose works before the Norman Conquest, and from English writers between the Norman Conquest and the close of the 14th century.

FINAL EXAMINATION.

A (mainly Classical).

1. Greek.—(1) One Prose and one Verse Book, selected from the following: Homer, the Tragedians, Aristophanes, Herodotus, Thucydides, the Attic Orators, Plato. (2) Translation at sight from Greek into English. (3) Translation of simple English sentences into Greek.

2. Latin.—(1) One Prose and one Verse Book selected from the following: Virgil, Horace, Cicero, Livy, Tacitus, Plautus, Terence, Juvenal. (2) Translation at sight from Latin into English. (3) Translation from English into Latin prose. 1, 2 (4) A paper will also be set in Greek and Latin Grammar, with the History of the Greek and Latin Languages.

3. Philosophy: Mental Philosophy.—(1) Psychology and Ethics. (2) One or more prescribed books, or portions of books.

4. History—Ancient.—Outlines of Greek and Roman History with a selected period.

FINAL EXAMINATION.

B (mainly Historical).

1. One of the following—Greek or Latin, as in Final A above, omitting (3) in either.

2. One of the following—French or German. (a) French.—(1) Translation from a prescribed French book in verse or prose. (2) Translation at sight of French prose and verse pieces into English. (3) Translation of passages of English into French. (b) German.—(1) Translation from a prescribed German book. (2) Translation at sight of German prose and verse passages into English. (3) Translation of passages of English into German.

3. Ancient History.—As in Final A, above.

4. Modern History.—As in Intermediate Examinations, above.

5. English Literature.—A selected period of English Literature.

6. Political Economy.—Production and Distribution of Wealth; Principles of Taxation (Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations).

FINAL EXAMINATION.

C (mainly English and Modern Languages.)

1. English Language.—(1) Early English (more especially the Poetical Literature). (2) Gothic; some portion of Ulfilas' Translation of the Bible.

2. English Literature.—As in Final B, above.

3. Modern History.—As in Final B, above.

4. French.—As in Final B, above.

5. German.—As in Final B, above.

6. Latin.—As in Final A, above, omitting (3).

FINAL EXAMINATION.

D (mainly Philosophical).

1. Philosophy.—As in Final A, above.

2. History of Philosophy.—(1) General Outlines of the History of Philosophy, Ancient and Modern. (2) Special study of certain works, or portions of works, to be prescribed from year to year.

3. Greek.—As in Final A, above, omitting (3) and (4).

4. One of the following—French or German.—As in Final B, above.

5. Ancient History.—As in Final B, above.

FOR ORDINARY DEGREE OF B.Sc.

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION.

A (Mathematical).

1. Pure Mathematics.—(1) Elementary Solid Geometry. (2) Algebra, with Elements of Theory of Equations. (3) Plane Trigonometry—to solution of triangles.

2. Applied Mathematics.—(1) Statics and Kinetics of a Particle as far as they can be taken without Differential and Integral Calculus. (2) Geometrical Optics.

3. Physics.—The Laws of Energy; the chief phenomena of Sound, Heat, Light, Electricity, and Magnetism treated in an elementary manner.

4. Logic.—As in Intermediate Examination for B.A. above.

5. One of the following: Chemistry or Elementary Biology.—(1) Chemistry: Chemistry of Metals, and Introduction to Organic Chemistry. (2) Elementary Biology: Elementary Physiology, Morphology, and Histology, both Animal and Vegetable.

6. One of the following: (1) An Ancient Language—Greek or Latin, as in Intermediate Examination for B.A. (2) A Modern Continental Language—French or German, as in Intermediate Examination for B.A. (3) English Language and Literature, as in Intermediate Examination for B.A.

FINAL EXAMINATION.

A (Mathematics).

1. Pure Mathematics.—(1) Analytical Plane Geometry, up to General Equation of Second Degree. (2) Differential Calculus and easy portions of Integral Calculus.

2. Applied Mathematics.—(1) Kinematics ; Statics of a Particle and a Rigid Body (exclusive of Attractions and Elasticity). (2) Hydrostatics. (3) Kinetics of a Particle and a Rigid Body (elementary).

3. Physics, with Practical Work.—(1) Principles of the more important Physical Instruments. (2) Practical Examination in the Laboratory.

4. Any one of the following :—(1)* Elementary Biology, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above. (2)* Chemistry, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above. (3) Philosophy, as in Final B.A. Group A, above. (4) Any one of the following :—An Ancient or a Modern Continental Language, or English Language and English Literature, as in Final B.A. Groups A or B, above.

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION.

B (Engineering).

1. Engineering, with Drawing.—Either of the two following combinations :—(i.) (1) Plane Geodesy or Surveying, Levelling, Hydrography, Estimating ; (2) Descriptive Engineering, Earthwork and Masonry ; (3)† Elementary Practical Geometry ; (4) Linear Drawing. (ii.) (1) Theory of concrete forces, of simple structures, of the strength of materials ; (2) Kinematics of Machinery ; (3) Descriptive Engineering—Bridges, Roofs, and Machines ; (4)† Linear Drawing.

2. Pure Mathematics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.

3. Either of the following : (1) Applied Mathematics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above. (2) Physics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.

4. Chemistry, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.

5. French or German, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.

FINAL EXAMINATION.

B (Engineering).

1. Engineering with Drawing.—Either as in Intermediate C, above ; provided that combination i. is passed for the Final Examination when combination ii. has been passed for the Intermediate ; and vice versa, or the following combination : (c) Dynamics of Machinery, Hydraulics, the Steam Engine, Complex Structures. Methods of Designing Structures and Machines.‡ Provided that combination ii. has been passed for the Intermediate Examination.

2. Pure Mathematics.—(1) Analytical Plane Geometry up to General Equation of Second Degree. (2) Differentiation and Integration.

3. Any two of the following :§ (i.) Physics, as in Intermediate B.Sc.

* Provided that the candidate has not presented this subject at his Intermediate Examination.

† A separate paper will be set in Drawing.

‡ A separate paper will be set in Drawing.

§ Provided that Applied Mathematics be taken at either the Intermediate or the Final Examination.

Group A, above. (ii.) Geology: (1) Physical Structure and Classification of Rocks. (2) Economic Geology. (iii.) Applied Mathematics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION.

C (Experimental Science).

1. Pure Mathematics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.
2. Physics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.
3. Chemistry, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.
4. One of the following: (i.) Elementary Biology, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above. (ii.) Logic, as in Intermediate B.A., above. (iii.) Physiography: (1) The Agents at work on and beneath the Surface of the Earth; (2) The Phenomena dependent on Heat; (3) The Distribution of Land and Water; (4) The Distribution of Life; (5) The Earth in relation to the Heavenly Bodies; (6) The Ancient History of the Earth.
5. Any one of the following: An Ancient or a Modern Language, or English Language and Literature, as in Intermediate B.A., above.

FINAL EXAMINATION.

C (Experimental Science).

1. One of the following: (i.) Applied Mathematics, as in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above. (ii.) Geology and Mineralogy. Geology: as in Final B.Sc. Group B, above. Elementary Mineralogy: The Chemical properties and classification of Minerals; Practical Mineralogy.
2. Physics with Practical Work, as in Final B.Sc. Group A, above.
3. Chemistry: (i.) General Organic Chemistry. (ii.) Chemical Philosophy (relation of Chemistry to Physics: Chemical Laws and Theories; Development of Modern Chemistry, with outlines of History of Chemistry.)
4. Practical Chemistry.—Qualitative Analysis.

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION.

D (Biology).

1. Physics.—As in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.
2. Chemistry.—As in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.
3. Elementary Biology.—As in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above.
4. Any one of the following: (i.) Pure Mathematics.—As in Intermediate B.Sc. Group A, above. (ii.) Logic.—As in Intermediate B.A., above. (iii.) Physiography.—As in Intermediate B.Sc. Group C, above.
5. Any one of the following: An Ancient or a Modern Continental Language, or English Language and Literature.—As in Intermediate B.A., above.

FINAL EXAMINATION.

D (Biology).

1, 2, 3. Any three of the following :—*

1. Botany.—(1) Elementary Tissues of Plants; Compound organs of

* Provided that at least two of the three required subjects are chosen from among 1, 2, 3, 4, and provided that any candidate selecting Philosophy as one subject shall also present himself in Physiology.

Nutrition and Reproduction. (2) Vegetable Physiology. (3) Systematic Botany and Elements of Botanical Classification. (4) Laboratory Work.

2. Zoology.—(1) Animal Morphology. (2) Elements of Embryology and of Systematic Zoology. (3) Laboratory Work.

3. Physiology.—(1) Histology of the Animal Body. (2) Systematic Physiology of the Animal Body. (3) Laboratory work in Histology and Physiological Chemistry, with a Practical Examination on the more important instruments employed in Physiological research.

4. Geology, with Palæontology.

5. Chemistry.—(1) General Organic Chemistry. (2) Practical Chemistry, Qualitative Analysis.

6. Physics, with Practical Work.—As in Final B.Sc. Group A, above.

7. Philosophy: Mental Philosophy.—As in Final B.A. Group A, above.

REGULATIONS FOR FINAL EXAMINATION FOR DEGREES OF B.A. AND B.Sc. WITH HONOURS.

FACULTY OF ARTS.

1.—HONOURS SCHOOL. CLASSICS.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

(Eleven Papers.)

1, 2. Translation from Greek books, previously specified, with questions arising out of them.* 3, 4. Translation from Latin books, previously specified, with questions arising out of them.† 5. Translation, at sight, from Greek authors. 6. Translation, at sight, from Latin authors. 7. Translation from English into Greek prose.‡ 8. Translation from English into Latin prose.‡ 9. Greek and Roman History, Literature, and Antiquities. 10, 11. Greek and Latin Grammar and Philology (2 papers). 12. History of Ancient Philosophy.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

All candidates shall present certificates of having attended, (1) during three academic years, College lectures in the Greek and Latin authors in Translation and Composition, averaging not less than twelve hours weekly during the first two years, and not less than eight hours weekly during the third year; (2) during two academic years, courses of College instruction in Greek and Roman History, averaging not less than two hours

* The following are books prescribed for 1883: Homer, Iliad, Bks. I.—XII.; Homer, Odyssey, Bks. VII.—XII.; Æschylus, Agamemnon, Eumenides, Septem contra Thebas; Sophocles, Antigone, Œdipus Coloneus, Electra; Euripides, Bacchæ, Medea, Hercules Furens; Aristophanes, Acharnians, Clouds, Frogs; Herodotus, Bks. VII.—IX.; Thucydides, Bks. I., II., IV., VI.; Demosthenes, De Corona, De Falsa Legatione, In Midiam; Plato, Republic, I., VI., VII., VIII.; Aristotle, Ethics, I., II., X.; Politics, I., II., III.

† The following are the books prescribed for 1883: Plautus, Captivi, Miles Gloriosus, Rudens, Trinummus; Terence, Andria, Adelphi, Phormio; Lucretius, Bks. I., II., III.; Virgil, Horace; Juvenal, Satires, I., III., IV., V., VII., X., XIV.; Persius, Satires, I., II., III., V.; Cicero, De Oratore, De Officiis, Epistles to Atticus I., II., Pro Cluentio, Pro Murena, Pro Plancio; Livy, Bks. VIII.—X. and XXI., XXII.; Tacitus, Annals, Bks. I.—VI.

‡ A piece or pieces of verse composition will be set as an alternative for part of the prose composition.

weekly ; (3) during one academic year, upon a course of lectures on Comparative Philology in its bearings upon the structure and history of the Greek and Latin languages, averaging not less than two hours weekly ; (4) during one academic year, upon courses of instruction in Greek and Roman Literature and Antiquities, averaging not less than two hours weekly ; and in Ancient Philosophy, averaging one hour weekly.

II.—HONOURS SCHOOL. ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

(Ten Papers.)

1—4. Specimens of English, with questions suggested by them. 5. History of the Language. 6. Gothic. 7. Icelandic or Old Saxon. 8. The philology and outlines of the history of the Teutonic Languages. 9. Old French. 10. Essays on subjects connected with the matter treated of in the foregoing papers.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

The candidate shall present certificates of having attended, (1) during three academic years, systematic courses on English Language, including the History of the Language, the special study of Early English Prose and Verse, and Gothic with either Icelandic or Old Saxon, averaging not less than three hours weekly ; (2) during three academic years, courses of instruction in English Literature, averaging not fewer than two hours weekly, and in History, averaging not fewer than two hours weekly ; provided that during two academic years English History is taken ; (3) during two academic years, courses of instruction in French and German, averaging not less than two hours weekly in each subject, and during a third academic year courses of instruction in Old French or History of the French Language, in History of the German Language, and in German Literature, averaging not less than one hour weekly in each subject ; (4) during the first year of his Honours course, a course of instruction in Latin or Greek, averaging six hours weekly, and during the second or third year of his Honours Course a course of instruction in Comparative Philology, averaging two hours weekly.

III.—HONOURS SCHOOL. HISTORY.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

(Ten Papers.)

1, 2. General History and Geography. 3, 4. English (including Constitutional) History. 5. Essays on general Historical subjects. 6—9. Each candidate shall be examined in two selected subjects, two papers being given to each subject. Of the subjects selected, and announced at a proper interval of time, for each year's examination, one at least shall be taken from English, one from Ancient, one from General Mediæval, one from General Modern History.* 10. Essays on themes connected with the subjects selected (under 6—9) by candidates. The following are the periods selected for 1883 : (1) The History of Egypt, from the accession of Amasis to the battle of Actium. (2) The Origin of Feudalism, and its growth in France, Germany, and England, to the end of first Crusade. (3) The Thirty Years' War. (4) The American War of Independence, and its causes.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates shall present certificates of having attended, (1) during three academic years, College courses of instruction in History, averaging not less than four hours weekly ; (2) during three academic years, College courses in either Latin and Greek or Latin with French and German, averaging not less than six hours weekly ; (3) during the first and second years of his Honours course, College courses in English Language and Literature, averaging not less than three hours weekly ; (4) during the second or third years of his Honours course, College courses in Political Economy and in the History of the English Law.

IV.—HONOURS SCHOOLS. PHILOSOPHY.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

(Ten Papers.)

I. Obligatory. 1. Logic, Deductive and Inductive, with General Theory of Knowledge and History of Logical Theories. 2. Psychology, with reference to the History of the chief Doctrines. 3. Theory of Ethics and History of Ethical Systems. 4. Outlines of History of Philosophy, with more particular study of Modern Philosophy, from Descartes to Kant inclusive.

II. Any two of the following : 1. Physiological Psychology, including the Physiology of the Nervous System generally, and of the Organs of Sense in particular, together with the principles and methods of Psychophysics. 2. Ethics in relation to Theory of Legislation and Sociology, with the History of Ethical and Legal Institutions. 3. Some selected period of (A) Ancient, or (B) Modern Philosophy. Study of the original authors will in all cases be required.

NOTE.—The periods recommended are, A. 1. Greek Philosophy before Plato ; 2. Plato ; 3. Aristotle ; 4. Post-Aristotelian Philosophy. B. 1. Descartes, Malebranche, Spinoza ; 2. Spinoza and Leibnitz ; 3. English Philosophy from Locke to Hume, with reference, on the one hand, to Bacon and Hobbes, on the other, to Reid and the Scottish Philosophy ; 4. Kant.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates shall present certificates of having attended, (1) during two academic years, College courses in Psychology and Logic, Ethics, and General History of Philosophy, averaging not less than four hours weekly, and during a third academic year advanced courses on each of these subjects, averaging not less than five hours weekly ; (2) during the first and second years of the Honours course, Latin and Mathematics for one academic year, and either Greek or German for two academic years ; (3) one of the following courses :—(A) History, including full courses of Ancient and Modern History for two academic years, averaging not less than four hours weekly, with Political Economy and History of English Law for one year. [A course of General History may be substituted for one of the courses of Ancient or Modern History.] (B) Physiology, with Physics or Chemistry, including full courses of Physiology for two academic years, and a course of either Physics or Chemistry for one year. [A course of Elementary Biology may be substituted for one of the courses of Physiology. If the student has not satisfied the Examiners in Elementary Chemistry at his Preliminary Examination, he shall be required to attend both Physics and Chemistry for one year.]

FACULTY OF SCIENCE.

V.—HONOURS SCHOOL. MATHEMATICS.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

The Examination in the above subjects shall comprise ten papers, viz.:—1. Geometry, Algebra, Trigonometry. 2. Dynamics, Optics, Astronomy. 3. Problems. (Portions not requiring the Differential Calculus.) 4. Analytical Plane and Solid Geometry. 5. Differential and Integral Calculus. 6. Dynamics of a Particle, Statics. 7. Problems. 8. Dynamics of Fluids and Rigid Dynamics. 9. Pure Mathematics—General Paper, but mainly on the higher parts. 10. Mixed Mathematics—General Paper, but mainly on the higher parts.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates shall present certificates of having attended, (1) during three academic years, College courses in pure Mathematics, averaging not less than three hours weekly; (2) during three academic years, College courses in Applied Mathematics or Mathematical Physics, averaging not less than three hours weekly; (3) during the first year of the Honours course, courses of lectures in at least two subjects in addition to Pure and Applied Mathematics, averaging not less than six hours weekly, and during the second year of the Honours course, laboratory work or courses of lectures on at least two subjects in addition to Pure and Applied Mathematics, averaging not less than six hours weekly.

VI.—HONOURS SCHOOL. ENGINEERING.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

(Ten Papers.)

I. ENGINEERING, including the following subjects, in which seven papers shall be set:—Linear and Angular Measurement, Plane Geodesy or surveying, Levelling, Hydrography, Estimating, Descriptive Engineering—earthwork and masonry, Elementary Practical Geometry, Linear Drawing, the theory of concrete forces, the theory of simple structures, the theory of the strength of materials, Kinematics of machinery, descriptive Engineering—bridges, roofs, and machines, Dynamics of machines, Hydraulics, the theory of heat and steam-engines, the theory of complex structures, methods of designing structures and machines.

II. MATHEMATICS, in which three papers shall be set on the following subjects:—1. Analytical Plane and Solid Geometry. 2. Differential and Integral Calculus. 3. Either Dynamics of a Particle and Statics, or Dynamics of Solid and Fluid Bodies.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates shall present certificates of having attended, (1) during three academic years, courses in Engineering, averaging three hours (lectures) per week in the first year, four hours (lectures) per week in the second year, and four hours (lectures) per week in the third year, with practical work for about seven hours weekly in each year; (2) during two academic years, courses of three hours weekly in Pure Mathematics, and a course of three hours weekly in Natural Philosophy, and in the third year a course of three hours weekly either in Pure or in Applied Mathematics; (3) during one academic year, a course of two hours weekly in Chemistry, and a course of three hours weekly either in Physics or in Geology.

VII.—HONOURS SCHOOL. CHEMISTRY.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

I. Six papers:—1. General Inorganic Chemistry. 2. General Organic Chemistry. 3. Chemical Physics. 4. Advanced paper, to be either in Inorganic or in Organic Chemistry, at the option of the candidate. 5. Analytical Chemistry; Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis. 6. One of the following subjects:—Chemical Geology and Mineralogy; Technological Chemistry; Physiological Chemistry. The questions will assume some knowledge of Mathematics, Physics, and the principles of Biological and Geological Science.

II. Practical examination in Qualitative and Quantitative Chemical Analysis, extending over three days.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates shall present certificates of having attended, (A) during the first and second years of their Honours course, courses in Systematic Chemistry, averaging two hours weekly; during the second and third years of their Honours course, courses in Organic Chemistry, averaging two hours weekly; during the first year of their Honours course, a course of Analytical Chemistry, averaging one hour weekly; and during a third year a course of Chemical Philosophy, averaging one hour weekly; (B) during the first year of their Honours course, courses averaging from four to six hours weekly, in two of the following subjects:—(1) Mathematics, (2) Mechanics, (3) Mineralogy, (4) General Biology, (5) Geology; during the second year of their Honours course, a course in Experimental Physics (three hours weekly); and during the third year a course (averaging from two to three hours weekly) in one of the following subjects:—(1) Chemical Geology and Mineralogy, (2) Technological Chemistry, (3) Physiological Chemistry; (C*) during the first year of their Honours course, the Chemical Laboratory for three days (= 18 hours) per week; during the second year, the Chemical Laboratory for three days (= 18 hours) per week, and the Physical Laboratory for one day (= 6 hours) per week; during the third year, the Chemical Laboratory for six days (= say 30 hours) per week.

* Candidates, as above stated, are required to take regular courses of laboratory work; but any candidate who can produce satisfactory evidence that his knowledge is sufficient to make it unnecessary for him to pursue such regular courses, shall be allowed, on recommendation of the Departmental Board accepted by the General Board of Studies, to proceed to more advanced work or to undertake original investigations, and such advanced work or original investigation may be accepted as substitute for the required Honours course of laboratory work, provided always that all candidates shall be required to undergo the whole of the Honours Examination in laboratory work.

VIII.—HONOURS SCHOOL. ZOOLOGY.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

- I. Five papers. 1—3. Zoology, Comparative Anatomy, Embryology.
4. Geology and Palæontology. 5. Either Physiology or Botany.

II. Practical Examination in Laboratory, extending over two days and a half.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates presenting themselves for Honours Examination in Zoology are required to have passed the Intermediate Examination for Ordinary Degree of B.Sc. in the department of Biology (Group D), and shall present certificates of having attended (1) during at least one academic year the classes required for the Intermediate Examination for Ordinary Degree (Group D); (2) during two academic years after the date of passing the Intermediate Examination courses of instruction in Zoology, averaging during the first year not less than three hours weekly, and during the second year at least two hours weekly, and during these two years in the Zoological Laboratory;* (3) during one academic year a course in Embryology, averaging one hour weekly; and during one academic year courses in (a) Geology, (b) Palæontology, (c) Physiology, or Botany.

IX.—HONOURS SCHOOL. PHYSIOLOGY.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

- I. Four papers. 1—3. Animal Physiology. 4. One of the following subjects: Physics, with practical work; Organic Chemistry, with practical work; Comparative Anatomy, with practical work; Psychology.

II. Practical Examination, extending over three days.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates presenting themselves for Honours Examination in Physiology are required to have passed the Intermediate Examination for Ordinary Degree of B.Sc. in the department of Biology (Group D), and to present certificates of having attended, (1) during at least one academic year, the classes required for the Intermediate Examination for Ordinary Degree (Group D); (2) during two academic years from the date of passing his Intermediate Examination, full courses of instruction in Physiology, including laboratory work;* (3) during one academic year, one of the following courses: (a) Mathematics, averaging not less than three hours weekly, the classes not being junior or elementary; (b) Physics, with laboratory work, the lectures averaging not less than two to three hours weekly; (c) Chemistry, with laboratory work, the lectures averaging not less than three weekly, and the classes not being junior or elementary; (d) Human Anatomy, with practical work; (e) Zoology, with laboratory work, the lectures averaging not less than three hours weekly; (f) Psychology, the lectures averaging not less than three hours weekly; (4) during one academic year, courses in one of the following: (a) Practical Physics, with laboratory work; (b) Organic Chemistry, with laboratory work; (c) Comparative Anatomy, with laboratory work, the lectures averaging not less than two hours weekly; (d) Advanced Psychology, the lectures averaging not less than two hours weekly.

* See note, p. 172.

X.—HONOURS SCHOOL. GEOLOGY, MINERALOGY, AND PALÆONTOLOGY.

A.—SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

Branch I.—PHYSICAL.

(a) Six papers. 1. Geology. 2, 3. Mineralogy and Petrology. 4. Special paper in some department of one of the above subjects, selected by the candidate, with the approval of the General Board of Studies. 5. Chemical Geology. 6. Practical Physics or Palæontology. (b) Practical Examination extending over two days.

Branch II.—BIOLOGICAL.

(a) Five papers. 1, 2. Palæontology. 3. Special paper on some subjects in Palæontology, selected by the candidate, with the approval of the General Board of Studies. 4. Geology. 5. Zoology and Botany. (b) Practical Examination extending over two days and a half.

B.—REGULATIONS FOR ATTENDANCE.

Candidates for Degree of B.Sc. with Honours in the School of Geology, Mineralogy, and Palæontology are required to present certificates (a) of having passed the Intermediate Examinations for Ordinary Degree of B.Sc. in Biology (Group D), and of having attended for at least one year the classes required for such examination, Physiography being included; (b) of having attended during the second year of their Honours course either of the following courses:—(1) If in Branch I., Courses of Lectures in Geology, averaging three hours weekly, with one hour weekly practical work; in Chemistry, averaging two hours weekly, with one day and a half (= 9 hours) weekly laboratory work; in Elementary Mineralogy, averaging two hours weekly; and either in Pure Mathematics, averaging three hours weekly, or in Zoology, averaging three hours weekly, with one hour weekly practical work. (2) If in Branch II., Courses as in (1) in Geology, Chemistry, and Elementary Mineralogy, together with a course in Zoology, averaging three hours weekly, with one hour weekly practical work. (c) Of having attended during the third year of their Honours course either of the following:—(1) If in Branch I., Courses of Lectures in Chemical Geology and Petrology, averaging two hours weekly, with three hours weekly practical work; in Advanced Mineralogy, two hours weekly and one hour weekly practical work; either in Applied Mathematics, averaging three hours weekly, or in Palæontology, averaging two hours weekly, with one hour practical work; and in Practical Physics, averaging one day (= 6 hours) weekly. (2) If in Branch II., Courses in Palæontology, averaging two hours weekly, with four hours weekly practical work; in Advanced Zoology, averaging two hours weekly, with four hours weekly practical work; Embryology, averaging one hour weekly with two hours weekly practical work; and Botany, averaging one to two hours weekly, with one to two hours weekly practical work. (d) And of having, during the third year of their Honours course, devoted at least one hour weekly to work under the direction of the Professor or Lecturer in the special subject selected by them to be presented at the examination for Honours.

STATUTE REGARDING DEGREES EXAMINATIONS, AND COURSES OF STUDY IN THE FACULTY OF LAW.

1. All Candidates for the Degree of Bachelor of Laws are required to have passed the Preliminary Examination or to have graduated in this or some other University of the United Kingdom.

2. The examination for the Degree of Bachelor of Laws is divided into two parts, called respectively the Intermediate and the Final Examination. The Intermediate and the Final Examinations shall be held in June or July.

3. The names of Candidates who have passed the Intermediate Examination shall be published in two classes, and of those who have passed the Final Examination in three classes, in alphabetical order.

4. At the Intermediate Examination, Candidates shall be examined in—a. Roman Law; b. English Public Law and Constitutional History; c. Jurisprudence; d. Logic or Ethics, or some other subject approved by the Council.

5. At the Final Examination, Candidates shall be examined in—a. English Law; b. Roman Law. In English Law, Candidates will be expected to show a general knowledge of the principles of the Law of Contracts, Torts, Real and Personal Property, Crimes, and Procedure; and a more detailed knowledge of two of the following, to be selected by the Candidate:—Conveyancing, Bailments, Sale, Trusts, Easements, Torts, Crimes, Evidence. In Roman Law, Candidates will be examined in some special subject to be selected from time to time by the Board of Studies, as well as in the general principles of Roman Law.

6. At the Final Examination, papers will also be set in the following special subjects:—(a.) International Law, (b.) Constitutional Law, (c.) Conflict of Laws, (d.) Some portion of a foreign code to be compared with the English Law on the same subject; and Candidates who desire a place in the first class are expected to offer themselves for examination in one or in two of these subjects.

7. Candidates for the Intermediate Examination will be required to present certificates of attendance on a course of study approved by the University in the Law Department of a College of the University for one year.

8. Candidates for the Final Examination will be required to present certificates of attendance on a course of study approved by the University in the Law Department of a College of the University for two years, after passing the Intermediate Examination.

9. Graduates in any other faculty of this or any other University of the United Kingdom may proceed to the Final Examination after two instead of after three years' study in the Law Department.

III.

AS TO THE ACCEPTANCE BY THE UNIVERSITY OF CERTAIN EXAMINATIONS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON, PASSED BY STUDENTS OF THE OWENS COLLEGE.

1. Students of the Owens College, who have passed the First B.A. or First B.Sc. Examinations of the University of London in or before July, 1881, and who shall have presented certificates of such attendance on classes in the Owens College prior to having passed the First B.A. or First B.Sc. Examinations as shall be accepted by the General Board of Studies, shall be permitted to proceed to any of the Final Examinations for the Ordinary Degree of B.A. or B.Sc. respectively in this University, provided that they shall have attended the final year's course required by the University for these Examinations.

2. In the case of students of the Owens College who have passed the Matriculation Examination of the University of London, such attendance on classes of the Owens College subsequent to their having passed that examination as shall be accepted by the General Board of Studies shall be regarded as satisfying the requirements of the University regarding attendance in any one of the Honours Schools of the University.

UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES.

DERBY SCHOLARSHIPS.

The scholarships for the encouragement of the study of Mathematics were founded in 1880 by the Right Honourable the Earl of Derby, who endowed the University with the sum of two thousand pounds. From the annual returns on the investment of this sum, two scholarships of equal value have been founded, and are offered under the following regulations:—1. The Scholarships shall be two in number, tenable for two years; one to be offered in each year for proficiency in Pure and Applied Mathematics. 2. The Examination for the Scholarships shall be the Final Examination for B.Sc. Degree with Honours in the School of Mathematics, and the competition shall be open to all candidates for honours in the said School. 3. The Examiners shall be the University Examiners in Pure and Applied Mathematics for the time being. 4. The holder of a Derby Scholarship shall be allowed to expend any portion of the annual income of his Scholarship on books, to be bound and stamped with the University Arms. 5. Any accumulations of the Derby Scholarship Fund shall be expended by the Council, as it may from time to time determine, after considering a report from the General Board of Studies, in money prizes, or book prizes, or exhibitions, for the encouragement of the study of Mathematics in the University.

MERCER SCHOLARSHIP.

A sum of 1,000*l.* has been bequeathed by the late Robert Clayton Mercer, Esq., of Accrington, for the foundation of a Scholarship or Scholarships in Chemistry. The conditions of tenure are under the consideration of the University Court.

COBDEN PRIZE.

A prize of the value of £60, to be awarded once in three years, was offered to the University by the Committee of the Cobden Club, and was accepted by Resolution of the University Council on the 13th December 1880. The following are the conditions:—1. The prize shall be awarded for an Essay on some subject connected with Political Economy, and shall be payable in money to the successful candidate. 2. The candidates for the prize shall be members of the University, who, having commenced residence, are not of more than three years' standing from their first Degree on the first day of the Easter Term of the academical year in which the subject is announced. 3. The adjudicators shall be the Professors or Lecturers of the University in Political Economy for the time being, and two persons to be nominated by the Vice-Chancellor and the donors respectively, and appointed by resolution of the University Council; and the prize shall be awarded to the writer of the Essay which, in the judgment of a majority of the adjudicators, certified under their hands to the Vice-Chancellor, is the most deserving. 4. The subject of the prize shall be fixed by the adjudicators, or a majority of them; but the subject of the first prize shall be fixed by the donors, subject to the approval of the Vice-Chancellor and the Professors or Lecturers in Political Economy. 5. The times when the adjudicators shall be appointed, the subject announced, and the Essays sent in, shall be fixed from time to time by resolution of the University Council. 6. The donors of the prize reserve to themselves the right to determine the said prize on giving one year's notice to the Vice-Chancellor. 7. The prize shall be called the "Cobden Prize."

THE OWENS COLLEGE.

*Founded under the will of the late John Owens, of Manchester, Merchant, 1851.
Reconstituted and Incorporated by Act of Parliament, 1st September, 1871.*

The Governors of the University College, Liverpool, have decided that it should be affiliated to Victoria University, but Owens College is the first College incorporated with Victoria University, Manchester.

The Court of Governors consists of the President of the College, His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, K.G., LL.D., F.R.S., and 43 Governors.

This College was founded under the will of John Owens, of Manchester, merchant, 1851. Incorporated by Act of Parliament 1st September, 1871.

The College has no accommodation for the residence of Students, but Halls of Residence for Students are licensed by the College under bye-laws adopted by the Court of Governors. One of such halls is now open, and others are expected to be established in a short time.

Some of the Professors and other Officers of the College receive Students to board with them at their own houses. A list of these, with their addresses, will be furnished by the Registrar on application, but the College does not undertake to make arrangements between such Professors or Officers and the parents or guardians of Students.

There is also open at the College a Register of Lodging Houses kept by persons who are willing to conform to certain rules of discipline which have been laid down by the College; whilst doing all in its power to enforce these regulations, it is to be distinctly understood that the College is unable to hold itself responsible for their due fulfilment.

GRADUATION.

The College courses are primarily arranged to suit the requirements of the Victoria University for the Ordinary and Honours Degrees in Arts and Science, but many of the classes are likewise suited to Students who are preparing for the examinations of the University of London.

Students desirous of obtaining the Degrees of the University of London in Arts and Science may pass all their Examinations within the College, except the Practical Examinations for the B.Sc. Degrees, which are only held in London.

Treasurer—Alfred Neild, Esq.
Principal—J. G. Greenwood, Esq., LL.D.
Solicitor and Hon. Secretary—John P. Ashton.
Registrar and Acting Secretary—J. Holme Nicholson.

PROFESSORS, LECTURERS, AND OTHER OFFICERS OF THE COLLEGE.

I.—ARTS, SCIENCE, AND LAW DEPARTMENT.

Greek—Professor J. G. Greenwood, B.A., LL.D.
Latin and Comparative Philology—Professor A. S. Wilkins, M.A.
Assistant Lecturer in Greek and Latin—Edwin B. England, M.A.
English Literature and History—Professor A. W. Ward, LL.D., M.A.
English Language—Smith Professor, T. Northcote Toller, M.A.
Pure Mathematics—Professor Thomas Barker, M.A.
Assistant Lecturers—Fielden Lecturer, J. E. A. Steggall, M.A.; R. F. Gwyther, M.A.
Applied Mathematics—Professor Arthur Schuster, Ph.D., F.R.S.
Physics and Physical Laboratory—Langworthy Professor, Balfour Stewart, LL.D., M.A., F.R.S.; Professor Thomas H. Core, M.A.
Demonstrator in the Physical Laboratory—W. W. Haldane Gee.
Civil and Mechanical Engineering and Geometrical and Mechanical Drawing—Professor Osborne Reynolds, M.A., F.R.S.
Assistant Lecturer—John B. Millar, B.A.
Logic, Mental and Moral Philosophy, and Political Economy—Professor Robert Adamson, M.A.

SESSION 1883-4.

ARTS, SCIENCE, AND LAW DEPARTMENT.

The Session is divided into the following terms, viz. :—

|                     | Commencement.    | Termination.   |
|---------------------|------------------|----------------|
| Michaelmas Term ... | 4th October ...  | 23rd December. |
| Lent Term ...       | 10th January ... | 5th April.     |
| Easter Term ...     | 18th April ...   | 23rd June.     |

The College is closed on the Monday in Whitsuntide, 14th May.

REGULATIONS FOR ADMISSION OF STUDENTS.*

1. Persons seeking admission as students must have attained the age of 14 years, and those who are under 16 will be required to pass a preliminary examination. Every candidate for admission will be required to produce a testimonial of good character from his last instructor, or such other testimonial as shall be satisfactory to the Principal.

Each student is, on admission, required to sign a declaration that he will observe the Bye-Laws and Regulations of the College for the time being.

A card of admission to the several classes is issued at the office of the College, on the presentation of a certificate, signed by the Principal, and on payment of the fees. No student is entitled to attend the classes until he has complied with this regulation.

Any person who is on the Register of day students of the College in any given Session, will be deemed to continue as a student, unless he shall forfeit his rights in this respect by not entering his name for a succeeding Session on or before the 31st October.

A person who seeks to re-enter after that date will be allowed to do so only on repayment of the admission fee.

Extract from the Bye-laws of the College concerning Discipline.

The Principal may suspend any student from attendance on any class or classes, and may exclude any student from any part of the College or its precincts. He shall report every such suspension or exclusion to the Senate, at its next ordinary or special meeting for further adjudication, and the Senate may continue the suspension or exclusion, or extend the same, as and for such period (not extending beyond the end of the then current session) as they may think fit.

In grave cases of misconduct, the Senate may recommend the Council to exercise their power of expelling a student.

Regulations concerning Attendance and Conduct.

1. Students are required to attend lectures with perfect regularity. A daily record is kept of the attendance of students in the lecture rooms. Students desiring leave of absence must make a written application to the Principal, on a form which may be obtained from the porter.

2. Students are required to provide themselves with the text-books used in the several classes which they attend. These may be obtained from the College Bookseller, Mr. J. E. Cornish, 33, Piccadilly, and at the College, or they may be ordered through any other bookseller.

* For regulations especially affecting Medical Students, see Medical Department.

3. Periodical examinations are held in each class, and a general examination of the students is held in the month of June, on the results of which prizes are awarded at a public meeting held in the College on the last day of the Session.

Each student is expected to provide himself with a College Calendar, in order that he may make himself familiar with the rules of the College, with the class arrangements, and with the regulations affecting the several Scholarships and Exhibitions founded in connection with the College.

Library Regulations.

1. The use of the Library for the reading and borrowing of books is open to all day students of the College heretofore admitted; and as to all hereafter to be admitted on payment of the Library fee of 5s., to be paid on admission during the following hours:—Daily, from 9.30 a.m. to 5 p.m., except on Saturdays, when the Library will be open from 9.30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

2. The use of the Library for the reading of books is open to all evening students of the College who shall have paid the Library fee of 2s. 6d., on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 6.30 to 9 p.m., until the termination of the Regular Evening Courses; and on Monday and Wednesday, from 6.30 to 9 p.m., during the continuance of Supplementary Evening Courses (if any).

4. The Library is closed to readers during the College vacations, and on incidental College holidays. A fortnight will be allowed for the retention of books thus taken out.

5. The Reading-room being a place for study only, conversation of any kind is strictly forbidden. The strictest silence and discipline must be observed. Students are to sit at the tables, and not to stand about in any part of the room. The Librarian has orders to report any violation of this rule to the Principal, who will, if necessary, apply Rule 3 in consequence.

A classified catalogue of the books bequeathed to the College by the late Bishop Lee has been printed, and may be obtained at the College, at the price of 2s. 6d. A catalogue, in M.S., of the whole collection of books is placed in the Library.

RESIDENCE OF STUDENTS.

The College has no accommodation for boarders. Hall licensed for residence of students (in pursuance of bye-laws adopted by the Court of Governors, April 10, 1877):—The Friends' Hall, Lloyd Street, Greenhays. Principal, Theodore Neild, Esq., B.A. Some of the Professors and other Officers of the College receive students to board with them.

GYMNASIUM.

Instructor, Staff-Sergeant George Causland, late Instructor in the Army Gymnasium, Portland.

The Gymnasium has been very completely fitted with apparatus on the system of Mr. Maclaren, Director of the University Gymnasium, Oxford.

The course of instruction is that set forth in Mr. Maclaren's "Physical

---

* Associates and students who are Graduates or Undergraduates of any University are invited to wear their proper academical dress at all Public College Meetings.

Education," and the exercises are carefully graduated according to the ages and the physical powers of the students.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The Courses of Study are primarily arranged to suit the requirements of the Victoria University for the Ordinary and Honours Degrees in Arts and Science,* but many of the classes are likewise suited to students who are preparing for the examinations of the University of London.

The classes are also open to students who do not propose to graduate in any University.

The courses correspond respectively to the Preliminary, Intermediate, and Final Examinations of the University for Ordinary Degrees in Arts and Science, and certificates of attendance on them must be furnished by candidates on presenting themselves for these Examinations, except that candidates who offer themselves for the Preliminary Examination at the date of their matriculation are not required to present certificates of attendance on the first year's course.

FEES.

Every student is required to pay on admission an entrance fee of £1 1s. and a Library fee of 5s. (except as provided below), and the fees for the classes for which he enters. As so many alternative courses are open to the student offering himself for the Victoria University Examinations, it is not practicable to give tabular statements of the fees for every combination of classes. The class fees are severally stated in the following syllabus of the classes. Each fee, when not otherwise stated, is for the full session, or for the full course. Students who in a previous session paid a composition fee for the regular course in Arts or Engineering will be allowed to complete their courses in the corresponding classes of this session on the old scale of composition, subject to such changes in the courses as have been found necessary.

Students desiring to attend not more than two courses of lectures may, if they prefer it, pay, in lieu of the admission fee, a sessional fee of 7s. for each class attended.

COLLEGE COURSES IN ENGINEERING AND TECHNOLOGICAL CHEMISTRY.

(Special prospectuses are issued for each course, and may be obtained on application at the office of the College.)

ENGINEERING COURSE.

Successful attendance on this course will furnish a thorough scientific groundwork for the attainment of the knowledge requisite for the prosecution of the higher branches of the Engineering Profession, but it is not intended to supersede the practical training which can only be obtained in the office of a civil, or the workshop of a mechanical, engineer.

In addition to the subjects specified in the course, students are recommended to attend, as time will allow, the following classes :—Chemistry, Mineralogy, and a Modern Language.

* The Statutes and Regulations relating to Examinations and Degrees in Victoria University will be found in the foregoing account of that University.

First Year.—Pure Mathematics, Applied Mathematics or Experimental Mechanics, Engineering (Surveying and Estimating), Geometrical and Mechanical Drawing, Geology or Physics.*

Second Year.—Pure Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, Engineering (Applied Mechanics), Geometrical and Mechanical Drawing.

Third Year.—Pure Mathematics, Applied Mathematics or Senior Physics, Engineering (third year's course), Geometrical and Mechanical Drawing.

N.B.—A Class for Practical Surveying is held, which students are recommended to attend in their first and second years. The fee is £2 12s. 6d.

Certificates in Engineering will be granted by the College on the successful completion of the Engineering Course. The Examinations for Certificates will include the following subjects :—Mathematics (pure and applied), Geology or Physics, Chemistry, Engineering, Drawing, and Surveying. Attendance on the full course of three years is expected of candidates for the certificate, but students may obtain exemption (on cause shown) from either the first or the second year's course; students so excused will nevertheless be required to undergo examination in all the subjects specified.

In the subjects of Geology, Physics, and Chemistry, a candidate who shall have been placed in a class not lower than the second in the Annual Examinations of the year in which he shall have studied such subjects will be held to have satisfied the Examiners; but in the other subjects candidates will be required to satisfy the Examiners at the completion of their course.

The certificate will state in which subjects the candidate has gained Honours, and in which he has merely satisfied the Examiners.

TECHNOLOGICAL CHEMISTRY COURSE.

The complete course of instruction extends over four years, and embraces the following subjects :—

First Year.—Chemistry Lectures, Junior and Tutorial classes; Chemical Laboratory, two days per week, and Analytical Chemistry Lectures class; Pure Mathematics, Section I.; Experimental Mechanics or Geology; French or German; † Mechanical Drawing, Practical (evening class).

Second Year.—Chemistry Lectures, Junior, † Senior, and Tutorial classes; Chemical Laboratory, three days per week; Technological Chemistry; Experimental Physics or Mineralogy Lectures; German or French; Mechanical Drawing, Practical (evening class).

Third Year.—Chemistry Lectures, Senior and Tutorial classes; Organic Chemistry Lectures; Chemical Philosophy; Chemical Laboratory, three days per week; Technological Chemistry; Physical Laboratory, one day per week, or Practical Mineralogy and Technological Mineralogy; Mechanical Drawing, Practical (evening class).

Fourth Year.—Organic Chemistry Lectures; ‡ Technological Chemis-

* Students preparing for the profession of Civil Engineering are advised to select Geology, and those preparing for Mechanical Engineering, Physics.

† It is desirable that the student should have gained a knowledge of the elements of both these languages by the end of the second year.

‡ Students who gain a place in the first or second class in the annual examinations will be excused a second attendance on these classes.

try ; Chemical Laboratory, four days per week ; Chemistry of Colouring Matters, Dyeing, and Calico Printing (4th evening course) ; Mechanical Drawing, Practical (evening class).

Certificates will be granted to students on the successful completion of this course. Attendance on the full course of four years is expected of candidates for the certificate, but students may obtain exemption (on cause shown) from the first or the first and second year's course. Students so excused will nevertheless be required to undergo examination in all the subjects specified.

The certificate will state in which subjects the candidate has gained Honours, and in which he has merely satisfied the Examiners.

FACULTY OF ARTS.

(Ordinary Degree Course.)

First Year.—Preliminary Examination Courses.* A.—Latin, Higher Junior; Greek, Higher Junior; English Language, Elementary; English History, Elementary; Pure Mathematics, Section I. One of the following:—French, Junior (a); German, Higher Junior; Experimental Mechanics; Chemistry Lectures, Junior. B.—English Language, Elementary; English History, Elementary; Pure Mathematics, Section I. Either of the following two combinations:—Experimental Mechanics; Chemistry Lectures, Junior. One of the following:—Latin, Higher Junior; Greek, Higher Junior; French, Junior (a); German, Higher Junior. Two of the following:—Latin, Higher Junior; Greek, Higher Junior; French, Junior (b); German, Higher Junior. And one of the following:—Experimental Mechanics; Chemistry Lectures, Junior.

Second and Third Years.—Group A (mainly Classical). Second Year. Intermediate Examination Course.—Greek, Lower Senior; Latin, Lower Senior; Ancient History (I.); English Language, History of; English Literature; Mathematics, part of Sect. II.; Logic (General Course). Third Year. Final Examination Course.—Greek, Higher Senior; Latin, Higher Senior; Ancient History (I. or II.); Philosophy, Mental and Moral (General Course). Group B. (mainly Historical). Second Year. Ancient History; Modern History (I.); Greek, Lower Senior; Latin, Lower Senior; English Language, History of; English Literature; Mathematics, part of Sect. II. One of the following:—French, Lower Senior; German, Lower Senior. Third Year. Ancient History; Modern History (I. or II.); either Greek, Higher Senior, or Latin, Higher Senior; English Literature; Political Economy; either French, Higher Senior, or German, Higher Senior. Group C (mainly English and Modern Languages). Second Year. English Language, History of; Early English (first course); English Literature; Ancient History (I.); French, Lower Senior; German, Lower Senior; Latin, Lower Senior; Mathematics, part of Sect. II. Third Year. English Language, History of; Early English (second course); Gothic; English Literature; Modern History (I. or II.); French, Higher Senior; German, Higher Senior; Latin, Higher Senior. Group D (mainly Philosophical). Second Year. Logic (general course); Greek, Lower Senior; Latin, Lower Senior; Mathematics, part of Sect. II.; Ancient History (I.); English Literature; one of the following: French, Lower Senior; German, Lower Senior. Third Year. Philosophy, Mental and Moral (general course); History of Philosophy (general course); Greek, Higher Senior; Ancient History, (I. or II.); one of the following: French, Higher Senior; German, Higher Senior.

* Candidates for the Ordinary Degree of B.A. must have satisfied the Examiners in Latin and Greek at the Preliminary Examination.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

Registrar—J. Holme Nicholson.

* Provided that two of the three subjects be selected from Branch I.

secutive Summer Courses of Midwifery and Gynæcology are also recognized by Edinburgh as equivalent to a Winter Course of that University.

The attendance of all students on lectures is registered. Certificates of attendance will be granted to those students only whose attendance and conduct throughout the whole session have been satisfactory. Examinations are held at the conclusion of the Winter and Summer Sessions in each class, on the results of which Prizes are awarded. Examination lists, showing the position obtained by each student, are subsequently posted in the Medical School. Students absenting themselves from this Examination are not entitled to a certificate of attendance on the class.

A composition fee of £63, payable in two sums of £31 10s. each at the commencement of the first and second years of studentship, admits to the four years' course of study laid down (with the exception of the Hospital Practice, the fees for which are paid at the Royal Infirmary, of the special course on Operative Surgery, of Embryology, and of the third session of Practical Anatomy). This course will qualify for the Examinations for Medical Degrees in the University of London, the Diplomas of the Royal College of Physicians, the Membership and (with the addition of a third course of Practical Anatomy) the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons, and for the Licence of the Apothecaries' Society. Students desirous of repeating attendance on any class after the expiration of the four years' course will be allowed to do so on paying for each class attended one-third of the fees payable by students who do not compound. A student, however, who desires to continue his study of Practical Anatomy beyond two sessions will be required to pay at the rate of 2*l.* 2*s.* for a three months' or 3*l.* 3*s.* for a six months' course.

Students who have paid £2 2*s.* for a three months' course of Practical Anatomy may continue for the succeeding three months on a further payment of £1 1*s.*, provided that the extra three months are included in the same session, otherwise the fee for the second period will be £2 2*s.*

Extra fees not included in the composition fee :—

This Scholarship, named in commemoration of the first visit of Her Majesty to Manchester, on the 10th of October, 1851, is founded for the promotion of the study of the Languages and Literatures of Greece and Rome.

IV. WELLINGTON SCHOLARSHIP. Annual value, £20.

Founded in the year 1852, by the late George Faulkner, Esq., who gave the sum of £500 for the purpose. The object of the Scholarship is to encourage the prosecution of the critical study of the Greek Text of the New Testament.

V. SHUTTLEWORTH SCHOLARSHIP. Annual value, £50.

In the year 1865, Mrs. Elizabeth Shuttleworth, of Manchester, founded this Scholarship, in memory of her late husband, John Shuttleworth, Esq., and endowed it with the sum of £1,250. The Scholarship is founded for the promotion of the study of Political Economy.

VI. SHAKSPERE SCHOLARSHIP. Annual value, £40.

In the autumn of 1863 a Committee was formed in Manchester to promote the celebration of the 300th anniversary of Shakspeare's birth, which fell in the spring of 1864. The Committee resolved to employ the fund that had been raised in the endowment in the Owens College and in the Free Grammar School of Scholarships for "the promotion of the study of the English Language and Literature." The Shakspeare Scholarship in the College was endowed with the sum of £1,071.

VII. BRADFORD HISTORY SCHOLARSHIP.

Founded and endowed in the year 1877 with a sum of £1,200, by Miss Mary Bradford, of Higher Broughton, in the county of Lancaster, in remembrance of her late brother, William Bradford, deceased.

* Open to the competition only of students of the day classes in Arts, Science, and Law, except where otherwise stated.

VIII. BISHOP FRASER SCHOLARSHIPS.

In November, 1880, the College received a donation of £2,000 from the Right Rev. James Fraser, D.D., Lord Bishop of Manchester, and Mrs. Fraser, £1,000 of which was a portion of a fund raised by public subscription on the occasion of their marriage, and presented to the Bishop, with liberty to decide for what purpose it should be employed. The sum has been devoted by his Lordship to the foundation of two Scholarships, to encourage proficiency in classical studies.

IX. ASHBURY SCHOLARSHIPS.

Two Scholarships, each of the annual value of £25. one of which is offered annually, and is tenable for two years. These Scholarships, founded in 1868, by James Ashbury, Esq., of Brighton, in memory of his late father, James Ashbury, Esq., of Manchester, are provided for out of a fund of about £5,000 which Mr. Ashbury gave towards the endowment of the Engineering Department.

X. PLATT PHYSIOLOGICAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

Two, each of the annual value of £50, one of which is offered annually, and is tenable for two years. Founded in 1872, by Robert Platt, Esq., of Dunham Hall.

PLATT EXHIBITIONS.

Exhibitions are offered from time to time in Physiology, out of the funds accruing from unawarded Platt Scholarships.

Two Exhibitions of £15 each are offered for competition at the end of the Session, to be competed for by students attending for the first and second times respectively the classes of Physiology and Practical Physiology.

XI. DALTON CHEMICAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

Two Scholarships, each of the annual value of £50, and tenable for two years.

XII. DALTON MATHEMATICAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

One Senior and one Junior Scholarship, of the value of £25 each, tenable for one year.

XIII. HEGINBOTTOM PHYSICAL SCHOLARSHIP.

Annual value, £20, which the Council will, until further notice, augment to £30 per annum. Founded in 1875, by George Heginbottom, Esq., of Ashton-under-Lyne, and Birkdale.

XIV. DAUNTESEY SCHOLARSHIPS.

Mrs. Catherine Dauntsey Foxton, of Agecroft Hall, Pendlebury, who died on the 31st March, 1878, bequeathed to the College the sum of £5,000, to be paid free from legacy duty, for the purpose of establishing and endowing two scholarships of equal value, one Legal and the other Medical, to be called respectively the "Dauntsey Legal Scholarship" and the "Dauntsey Medical Scholarship"

PRIZES.

XV. LEE GREEK TESTAMENT PRIZES.

Mrs. Susan Lee, widow of Dr. James Prince Lee, late Bishop of Manchester, by will dated the 4th October, 1872, bequeathed to the College the sum of £1,000 free from legacy duty, the income arising therefrom to be annually divided between two of the most proficient students at the College of the Greek Testament.

Two Prizes, the first of the value of £25, and the second of the value of £12 10s., will be accordingly offered annually for competition by the members of the Greek Testament class.

XVI. SHUTTLEWORTH HISTORY PRIZE. Value, £5.

Endowed with the sum of £180, arising from lapsed income of the Shuttleworth Scholarship.

XVII. DALTON NATURAL HISTORY PRIZE. Value, £15.

Founded with the Dalton Scholarships, as previously described.

XVII. FAIRBAIRN ENGINEERING PRIZE.

From a funded income of £1,150.

XIX. TURNER MEDICAL SCHOLARSHIP.

This Scholarship, of the value of £25, founded in memory of the late Thomas Turner, Esq., F.R.C.S., of Manchester, one of the founders of the Manchester Royal School of Medicine, now united with the Owens College, is open to the competition annually of all students in the Medical Department who have completed a four years' full course of study in the College.

XX. DUMVILLE SURGICAL PRIZE. Value, £20.

And various special Exhibitions and Prizes not founded on any permanent endowments, and they are therefore only offered from year to year.

ENTRANCE SCHOLARSHIPS AND EXHIBITIONS.

I. GRAMMAR SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS. Annual value, £17.

Three Scholarships, each tenable for three years, have been founded for better enabling scholars of the Manchester Grammar School, entering as students at Owens College, to defray expenses of such studentship.

II. RUMNEY SCHOLARSHIP.

One of £45 per annum, tenable for three years, to the artisan member of any institute in the Union of Lancashire and Cheshire Institutes, who shall, at the last occasion before the Scholarship shall be vacant, obtain the highest aggregate number of marks at the May Government Science Examinations.

III. RAMSBOTTOM SCHOLARSHIP.

One of £40 per annum, tenable for two years, offered to the competition of candidates nominated by John Ramsbottom, Esq., or by the London and North-Western Railway Co., from among the young men not under 16 nor above 23 years of age employed by the Company in the Locomotive Department at their principal stations.

IV. ROGERS EXHIBITION.

Founded in 1880, by Mrs. Rogers, in memory of her husband, H. Rogers, Esq., formerly a governor of the College. Value, £20.

The following Scholarships are open to all persons who satisfy the conditions, whether they have or have not been previously students of the College:—

SHAKSPERE SCHOLARSHIP.

DAUNTESEY MEDICAL SCHOLARSHIP.

XII. GILCHRIST ENTRANCE SCHOLARSHIPS.

Instituted by the Trustees of the Gilchrist Educational Trust, to be held in connection with the Owens College.

A Scholarship of the value of £50 per annum, or two Scholarships, each of the value of £25 per annum, tenable for three years, will be annually awarded for competitive examination.

There are several Exhibitions and Prizes open to evening students only.

CONFERRING DEGREES UPON WOMEN.

At a meeting of the University Court of Victoria University, which was held in the Library of Owens College, the ceremony of conferring degrees took place, and Vice-Chancellor Greenwood, who occupied the chair, in speaking of the progress of the University, said that during the year a provision in the charter, which had hitherto been a dormant one, and which declared that women as well as men might become candidates for degrees, had been brought into use. Although the charter had from the first admitted the right of women to become candidates for degrees conferred by the University, yet as no persons could come up for degrees except such as were members of one of the Colleges connected with the University, and as no such College received women, women could not become candidates for degrees; but recently Owens College had, so to say, annexed the Women's College, Brunswick-street, which would in future be really a department of Owens College. Consequently, ladies who were receiving instruction in the institution in Brunswick-street could, if they thought fit, enter for the examinations of the University. Two of them had already done so, and they had passed the preliminary examination.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON.

GOWER STREET, W.C.

The particulars of University College Hospital will be found in the Medical Section of this work.

This college, which was the pioneer in the cause of University teaching in London, was originally founded in 1826 as the University of London, and opened 1st October, 1828, it was incorporated in 1836, as University College, London, for the general advancement of Literature and Science, by affording to young men adequate opportunities for obtaining literary and scientific education at a moderate expense, and on a purely secular basis to supply the needs of those who were excluded by religious disabilities from the old Universities. University College, London, celebrated its first jubilee in 1878, when a large company assembled in the grounds of the College, Gower Street, for the purpose of witnessing the ceremony of laying the first stone of the new extension of the College buildings by Earl Granville, the Chancellor of the University of London; and on the 16th February, 1881, the north wing, which has cost 35,000*l.*, was formally opened under the presidency of the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for the Colonies. The cost of the entire work is estimated from 85,000*l.* to 100,000*l.* It is governed by a Council of 24, elected at the Annual General Meetings of the members, and the academical business is arranged, subject to the control of the Council, by the Senate, which consists of all the Professors, with a member of the Council for President. The College comprises a Faculty of Medicine, a Hospital, Faculties of Arts and Laws and of Science, and also a department of Fine Arts, and an Indian School. In both College and School, students and pupils of all denominations are educated, without interference with their religious opinions. In 1870 the scientific classes were constituted a separate Faculty of Science, and in 1878 the degrees of the London University have been thrown open to women, and the Council have now decided to admit female students to classes in all the subjects of the Faculties of Arts and Laws, and of Science. Gradual preparation has been made for this in the College for many years past, through the working of the Ladies' Educational Association. There are special Law classes, for the study of Roman Law, Jurisprudence, Equity, and Real Property Law, and Common Law, and the Law of Evidence. Terms in Session.—Faculty of Medicine: Winter Term, October 3rd to March 31st; Summer Term, May 1st to July 20th. Faculties of Arts and Laws, and of Science: Michaelmas Term, October 4th to December 16th; Lent Term, January 4th to March 17th; Summer Term, from March 21st to June 15th. Professors' fees vary from 1*l.* 1*s.* to 1*l.* 11*s.* the course. In the Faculty of Medicine, the fees for the entire course (including hospital) of 4 years, necessary for a diploma, is 13*l.* 5*s.*, which may be paid at once or distributed over 3 years; thus, 63*l.* the first year, 52*l.* 10*s.* the second, and 21*l.* the third. Exhibitions, Scholarships, and Prizes.—In the Faculty of Arts and Laws, and of Science: 3 Andrews Entrance Exhibitions of 20*l.* each, awarded to commencing students after Examination in Classics, Mathematics, Modern Languages, and Science. 2 Andrews prizes of 30*l.* and 20*l.* each, awarded to students of 1 year's standing, on the result of the College Class Examinations. Andrews Prizes of 50*l.* and 40*l.*, awarded to students of 2 years' standing, for similar proficiency. A Jews' Commemoration Scholarship of 15*l.*, tenable for 2 years, awarded annually to a student of not more than 1 year's standing, for general proficiency and good conduct. 2 Joseph Hume Scholarships, 1 in Political Economy, the other in Jurisprudence, each of 20*l.* a year, and tenable for 3 years; 1 of each awarded every third year. A Ricardo Scholarship in Political Economy, of 20*l.* a year, tenable for 3 years, awarded every third year. Ellen Watson Memorial Scholarship in Applied Mathematics. Fielden Scholarships in German and French, senior 25*l.*; junior 15*l.* and 10*l.* Clothworkers' Exhibition for Chemistry and Physics, 50*l.* per annum for 2 years. Gilchrist Engineering Scholarships, senior 80*l.*; junior 35*l.* for 2 years. Hollier Scholarships in Greek and Hebrew, 60*l.* each. In the Faculty of Medicine: 3 Entrance Exhibitions, of the respective value of 100*l.*, 60*l.*, and 40*l.*, awarded to commencing students after examination in Science, the subjects being those of the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the University of London. An Atchison Scholarship of 55*l.*, tenable for 2 years, for general proficiency. An Atkinson-Morley Scholarship of 45*l.* per annum, tenable for 3 years, awarded every year after Examination in the Theory and Practice of Surgery. Atchison Scholarship, 55*l.* per annum for two years. Erichsen Prize (Surgeon's case of Operating Instruments) for the encouragement of Skill in Surgical Manipulation. A Filliter Exhibition of 30*l.* is awarded annually to the student most proficient in Pathological Anatomy; Bruce Medal; Sharpey Physiological Scholarship, about 70*l.*; Cluff Prize, value about 16*l.* Fellowes and Liston Medals are awarded every session. Prizes of books, medals, etc., are awarded to those who display the greatest proficiency in the Class Examinations of all Faculties. The West Scholarship, of the value of 30*l.*, has been awarded by the Council of University College to H. P. Dean and H. R. Norris, of University College School. This Scholarship, tenable at University College, was founded in 1877, on the retirement of Ebenezer West from the Headmastership of Amersham Hall, by his former pupils, in recognition of his services in the cause of education. The award of the West Scholarship depends on the marks gained by candidates in the English subjects at the Matriculation Examination of the University of London.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE SCHOOL.

This school is under the government of the Council of University College. Founded 1832. Upwards of 600 boys attend this school, some of whom board with the Masters. This school forms a distinct branch of University College, and its pupils are wholly secluded from the students. Boys are admitted at any age between 9 and 15. The session consists of 40 weeks, and is divided into 3 nearly equal terms, the Michaelmas, Lent, and Summer terms. The hours of attendance are from 9.30 to 3.45, with a break from 12.30 to 1.30 for play and refreshment. The Michaelmas term begins on September 27th, and ends on December 21st. The Lent term begins, January 10th, and ends on April 21st. The Summer term begins April 29th and ends on August 1st. The first day of each term is set apart for the reception of new boys. The ordinary work of the school commences on the following morning. The fee for each term is 8 guineas; half-term fee for boys entering at the half-term, 4 guineas. These payments include ordinary stationery; but books, chemical materials, and drawing materials are not included. The subjects taught, exclusive of the extras above specified, are Reading, Writing, the English, Latin, Greek, French, and German Languages; History, English and Ancient; Geography, Physical and Political; Arithmetic, Mensuration, and Book-keeping; Mathematics, pure and applied; Chemistry, theoretical and practical; Chemical Physics; Botany, Natural Philosophy, Social Science, Drawing from the flat, Class Singing. Parents are allowed (subject to the Head Master's right of veto) to select the subjects in which their sons are to be instructed, as well subsequently as at entry. It is essential, however, in the former case, that their wishes should be made known before or, at latest, at the beginning of a session or term. During the interval between morning and afternoon lessons, boys remain on the school premises. Passes are, however, granted where the parents' house is near the school. Attached to the school is a large playground, which is open until dusk in winter, and until 5.30 in the summer. There are also a gymnasium, five courts, and playrooms. At the end of the Michaelmas and Summer terms there is an Examination of all the classes. An honour list is printed at the end of the session, and sent to parents, and prizes are awarded. Five entrance Scholarships, open to boys under 14, whether already in the School or not, are competed for in July of each year. The Case Exhibition of 20% is awarded annually to the pupil who distinguishes himself most in the school Examinations of the session preceding his entry into the classes of the College. The Trevelyan Goodall Art Scholarship of 20% is tenable for 3 years in the Slade School of Fine Art in the College by former pupils in the drawing classes of the school. See particulars of the West Scholarship under the head of "University College." The college is close to the Gower Street Station of the Metropolitan Railway, and only a few minutes' walk from the termini of the North-Western, Midland, and Great Northern Railways. To pupils attending the school, season tickets are granted at half-price. Boarders are received in their houses by E. R. Horton, Esq., the Vice-Master, 11, Gordon Street, Gordon Square, W.C.; Robert Tapson, Esq., Montem Elsworthy Road, N.W.; H. C. Levander, Esq., 30, North Villas, Camden Square, N.W.; W. W. Magee, Esq., 28, Gaisford Street, N.W.; R. P. Wright, Esq., 4, Lorne Road, Finsbury Park; T. A. Orme, Esq., 8, Leamington Villas, Acton, W.; S. Walker, Esq., 5, Oxford Terrace, Acton, W.; J. R. Walters, Esq., Tudor Lodge, Torriano Avenue, N.W.; the Rev. H. F. W. Cowley, 64, Blenheim Crescent, Notting Hill, W.

LAU CLASSES.

The Course of Instruction in these Classes is specially adapted for Students preparing for the LL.B. Degree in the University of London, and for the Indian Civil Service Examinations.

ROMAN LAW.

Professor Edm und Robertson, M.A., Fellow of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, Barrister-at-Law.

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HISTORY, AND ENGLISH LAW.

Professor J. W. Willis Bund, M.A., LL.B., Barrister-at-Law.

DEPARTMENT OF APPLIED SCIENCE, ENGINEERING, AND TECHNOLOGY.

The Department of Applied Science and Technology is intended to provide for Students wishing to devote themselves to Engineering, Architecture, Applied Chemistry in any of its branches, or any other manufacturing or commercial pursuit, a systematic training in the application of scientific principles to industrial purposes. As in all other Departments of the College, there is in it an unrestricted admission of Students, without previous examination, to any class or classes they may select. It is, however, in all cases advisable that a student should consult the Dean or Vice-Dean of the Faculty of Science, or the Professor of the subject with which he proposes most closely to connect himself, before arranging his work. Curricula are given below, under the different headings of Engineering, Chemical Technology, etc, which indicate the arrangement of classes which in general will enable a student to derive the greatest benefit from the instruction given in the Department of Applied Science. When circumstances permit, and the student has sufficient time at his disposal, it is in most cases advisable that one or other of these curricula should be attended. But when from any cause this is impossible, it becomes especially advisable that the student should consult one of the Professors before deciding what classes to attend.

It should be clearly understood that the education given in this Department of the College is not intended to supersede such necessary practical training as can only properly be acquired in the workshop or factory.

It will be noticed also that the curricula specified below include not only instruction in Applied Science, but also such preliminary instruction in Pure Science (especially in Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry) as a Student ought to have before proceeding to study its applications.

The study of Modern Languages is not specially mentioned in any of the courses detailed, but their importance to the student in this Department is exceedingly great, and it may therefore be often advisable that some time should be given to them.

DEPARTMENT OF THE FINE ARTS.

SLADE SCHOOL OF DRAWING, PAINTING, AND SCULPTURE.

Applications for admission should be made either before, or as soon as possible after, the beginning of each term. The fee must be paid within two days from the commencement of each term.

Slade Professor.—A. Legros.

Assistant.—F. J. Slinger.

Assistant in the Antique School.—C. J. Durham.

Assistant.—J. B. Clark.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

1. The Studios are open for the Students from 9.30 to 5, except on Saturdays, when all the Schools are closed at 2.
2. Two models sit in the Life Schools for five hours every day from 10.
3. The male and the female Students work together in the Antique School, and from the Draped Model.
4. The College provides seats and easels; but the Students must furnish themselves with all the materials and with the other appliances that they may require.

5. A refreshment room and other accommodation, as well as a female attendant, are provided for the exclusive use of women.

6. No fee less than that for a whole term will be received.

COURSES OF STUDY.

All Students (except those specially exempted by the Professor) will, on entering the Schools, be required to draw from the antique until judged sufficiently advanced to draw from the life. They will also be allowed to paint from the antique or the life, according to their proficiency.

Subjects for Composition will be given by the Professor from time to time.

The Students will also pursue such other studies as the Professor may direct, and will be required to work under his direction, from the antique, from the nude, or from the draped model, as he may think best for them, according to their degrees of proficiency.

GENERAL COURSE.

Fees for the session, 19*l.* 19*s.* ; for each term, 7*l.* 7*s.*

Students entered to this course will be entitled to work every day from the nude or the draped model for five hours from 10, and from the antique or at other studies up to 5, except on Saturdays. Instruction in etching will be given by the Professor. A printer will attend every Friday to prepare the plates and take proofs of the Students' works.

SCULPTURE.

A qualified instructor will attend for the purpose of giving lessons to Students who may wish to attend a class for modelling and sculpture.

ARCHÆOLOGY.

Professor Charles Thomas Newton, C.B., D.C.L., LL.D., Ph.D., M.A.

1. Lectures on Anatomy.

2. Lectures on Perspective.

3. Lectures on the Chemistry of Materials used in Painting.

LIBRARY.

The Fine-Art Library, which includes the "Field Memorial Library," will generally be open to all Students in the Fine-Art School from two to five o'clock.

LIST OF OFFICERS.—UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON.

KING'S COLLEGE,

STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

This well-known College was founded in 1828, by Royal Charter, upon the principle that “the Christian religion is an indispensable part of the instruction which should be given to youth.” The Theological Department provides a system of sound Theological Instruction for young men proposing to offer themselves for Holy Orders, and is superintended by the Principal of the College. Students in this department are admitted on proof of their having either graduated at Oxford, Cambridge, Durham, or Dublin, or of their having obtained an Associateship of King's College, or who, having been examined and reported eligible by the Principal, shall obtain the recommendation of a Bishop. The course of study must be continued during at least 6 academical terms (2 years). Examinations take place in each of the several branches of instruction every term, and a probationary viva voce must be passed by every Student in his fourth or fifth term. At the close of the course of 2 years a strict Examination takes place; and to all students who have merited such a distinction by their attainments, and by their good character during the period of their studies in King's College, the Principal is empowered by the Council to grant a certificate of attainments, which may be exhibited for the satisfaction of that Bishop to whom any student may apply to be admitted as a candidate for Holy Orders. The 2 Archbishops and 25 of the Bishops have consented to admit as candidates for Holy Orders those students who shall produce the College certificate. The fees for attending the full prescribed Theological course are 10 guineas per term for all Associates of King's College, London; and 12 guineas per term for all other students, in addition to 5*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* for Matriculation fees. The Academical year consists of 3 terms: Michaelmas term, from about the 1st of October to the week before Christmas; Lent term, from about the 20th of January to the week before Easter; Easter term, from about 10 days after Easter to the end of June. Gentlemen (not being Graduates) not wishing to attend the whole course may select any one or more subjects, at fees varying from 1 to 4 guineas per class for each term, or 5 to 8 guineas a year. Any person 20 years of age, not wishing to qualify to pass the Examination for admission into the Theological Department, can enter classes for instruction in Latin, Greek, Hebrew, and Divinity, on payment of 8 guineas per term; attendance from 10 to 2 o'clock daily. In the matter of women's education, it will be remembered that King's College celebrated its jubilee three years ago by creating special classes at Kensington for female students, and the advantages were soon availed of by nearly 500 girls and women. This scheme has now become a distinct department of the College, and although locally remote, the two sets of undergraduates, male and female, are placed under the same system and government. Full particulars of this department are given in Vol. ii. of this work. In the department of General Literature, preparatory for the Universities or for the Competitive Examinations of the Civil Service, etc., the course consists of Religious Instruction, according to the principles of the Church of England, the Greek and Latin Classics, Mathematics, Modern History, French and German Literature; the fees for matriculated students are 14*l.* per term, as well as 5*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* for matriculation fees, cap, gown, etc. Students (who must not be under 16 years of age) matriculate in January, April, or October, and keep 3 terms a year. After 3 years' study the Diploma of "Associate" is conferred. In the department of instruction in the Applied Sciences, for qualified young men to be engaged in Civil and Military Engineering, Surveying, Architecture, etc., the course comprises Religious Instruction, Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Geology, Arts of Construction, Geometry, Mineralogy, Drawing, and Photography. There are workshops fitted up with engines, lathes, forges, benches, and all necessary implements, and experienced workmen are in attendance. The fees are 14 guineas a term for matriculated students, some of whom reside in the College, and some with the Professors. After keeping 9 terms in these studies, and fulfilling other conditions, the students of this department are entitled to the Diploma of "Associate of King's College." In the Medical Department, matriculated students receive their entire Medical education. The year is divided into 2 sessions, whereof the Winter Session begins October 1st, and continues to the end of March, and the Summer Session begins on May 1st, and ends with July. The College and Hospital fees, in the case of matriculated students, for the lectures required by the College of Physicians, the College of Surgeons, and the Society of Apothecaries, amount to 125*l*. This sum will cover all that of necessity must be paid for during 3 years' course of study. Students are however recommended to add to this sum the fee for attendance on the Medical Tutor's class for 1 year, viz., 3 guineas. All resident students are required to attend the Tutor during their first year. The fees may be paid either in one sum of 125*l*. on Matriculation, or in two or three annual instalments, as may be agreed. Besides the Warneford Scholarships, which consist of 2 Scholarships of 25*l*. per annum, tenable 3 years, and the Daniell Scholarship of 20*l*. per annum, the following are given every year to matriculated students of this department :—1 of 40*l*. per annum, for 2 years, open to students of the third and fourth year; 1 of 30*l*. for 1 year, open to students of the second year; 3 of 20*l*., for 1 year, open to students of the first year; besides several valuable prizes. Classes for Evening instruction are held at King's College during the months from October to March inclusive, and during the months of April, May, and June; the former being called the winter, and the latter the summer course. The subjects and fees are as follows:—Divinity: Greek Testament; Hebrew; Latin (4 classes); Greek (4 classes); French (8 classes); German (4 classes); Italian (2 classes); English Language and Composition (5 classes); History and Geography of England; Arithmetic and Book-keeping (2 classes); Writing (official and ordinary); Mathematics, including Algebra, Euclid, Trigonometry, Differential and Integral Calculus (6 classes); the principles of Commerce and Commercial Law; Drawing (Landscape, Figure, Model and Architectural); the Elements of Chemistry; Mechanics; Physiology; Botany; Experimental Physics; Spanish; Geology and Mineralogy; Zoology; Practical Chemistry; Logic; Public Speaking and Reading; Law; Civil Service Examinations. For any single course of which (except Divinity and Practical Chemistry), 1*l*. 1*s*. 6*d*. The Divinity class is free to all students attending any other class, and 10*s*. 6*d*. when no other class is attended. Practical Chemistry 2*l*. 2*s*. for each part of the course. A special class is formed, with the view of preparing candidates for all branches of the Home Civil Service in as short a time as possible. For King's College School see following pages.

KING'S COLLEGE SCHOOL.

STRAND, CLOSE TO THE THAMES EMBANKMENT, AND NEAR THE TEMPLE STATION.

This school, numbering about 600, is a branch of King's College, London, opened in 1830. The pupils of the former are quite distinct from the pupils of the latter institution. King's College School is divided into—1. The Upper School; 2. The Middle School; 3. The Lower School. The Upper School consists of—A. The Division of Classics, Mathematics, and General Literature; B. The Division of Modern Instruction. I. The Upper School: A. Division of Classics, Mathematics, and General Literature. B. Division of Modern Instruction. This Division is intended to prepare pupils for general and mercantile pursuits. II. The Middle School. This Division is intended to prepare boys for both Departments of the Upper School. III. The Lower School. This Division is intended to prepare boys for the Middle and Upper School, and to ground them thoroughly in their Elementary work. Before entering a pupil, the Head Master must be furnished with a testimonial of good conduct from the applicant's last instructor, as well as such particulars with respect to his previous studies as may lead to a correct classification. The general age of admission is from 8 to 16 years, but boys requiring special preparation for the Military, Medical, and Legal Examinations, for Civil Service appointments, or mercantile life, can be entered above this age, subject to the special approval of the Head Master. Parents desirous of obtaining any particulars before entering a pupil will save themselves much trouble if they will communicate by letter with the Head Master at King's College, London, W.C. Pupils who have been in the school 2 years, and, before leaving it, have reached the Upper Sixth Class, are entitled to be recommended for election as Associates of King's College, London, after 2 years' study in the General Literature or Applied Sciences Departments of the College, instead of after 3 years as in all other cases. The vacations consist of 7 weeks in summer, 3 weeks at Christmas, and 3 weeks at Easter. The fees for the whole regular course of instruction are: for boys entering under 16 years of age, 24*l.* per annum; for boys entering over 16 years of age, 30*l.* per annum, including stationery and the use of books. There are 3 terms in the year. An additional sum of 2*s.* 6*d.* is charged in the Michaelmas term. The following reduction of fees is made in favour of boys who pass from the school into the college as matriculated students, after having spent at least 5 terms in the school: viz., General Literature and Science Department reduced by one-sixth each Division; Engineering and Applied Science Department, reduced from 14*l.* to 10*l.* 10*s.*; Medical Department, all fees for college and hospital are reduced one fifth from the amount stated in the Calendar and Prospectus. Scholarships and Exhibitions: The "Forest" Scholarship of 30*l.*, tenable for 3 years; a Mathematical Scholarship of 30*l.*, tenable for 3 years; the "Inglis" Scholarship of 20*l.*, tenable for 1 year; and several exhibitions and prizes. 16 boys are, from time to time, elected by the Council to be Choral Exhibitioners of this College. Courses of lectures are delivered each term on some branch of Natural Science and Theoretical Chemistry. In connection with King's College

School, Workshops have been established, supplied with the necessary apparatus for wood-work, metal-work, turning, and planing. Pupils have special facilities for becoming practically acquainted with the details of carpenters', joiners', and cabinet work, so as to enable them to construct for themselves models either in wood or metal. Boarders.—The following Masters have also the sanction of the Council for taking boarders into their houses from any of the 3 Divisions of the school: Reginald Geare; G. W. Springfield, East Molesey; Rev. Blomfield Jackson, M.A., of Exeter College, Oxford, Rothbury House, Putney, S.W.; Edward Brooksmith, M.A., of S. John's College, Cambridge, Stone Lodge, S. John's, Kent. Terms: the terms in the seboarding houses are 20 guineas per term, payable in advance, exclusive of the College fees; 1 guinea per term is charged for washing, and 1 guinea at entrance, for the use of plate, linen, etc.

QUEEN'S COLLEGES, IRELAND.

The Queen's Colleges were established by Charter in 1849. They are three in number, and are called—Queen's College, Belfast; Queen's College, Cork; Queen's College, Galway. Now that the place of the Queen's University has been taken by the Royal University, no connexion exists between the Colleges and the new University as existed under the old system, and the particulars of these Colleges are given in Part VIII. in topographical order.

The corporate body of each College consists of the President and Professors, the general government and administration being vested in a Council, consisting of the President and six members of Council, elected by the Professors from amongst themselves. The members of the Council hold office for three years, the two senior in each year retiring. The duties of the Council are to make regulations for the government of the College in cases not provided for by the statutes, to prescribe the courses of instruction to be given, to provide for the maintenance of discipline and good conduct amongst the students, and to exercise a general supervision and control over the income and expenditure of the College. Before the dissolution of the Queen's University, these Colleges were its feeders; and in order to graduate in the University not only was it necessary to undergo the two University examinations, but also three sessions at one of the Colleges should be kept. In the account given on page 88 of the Royal University of Ireland it reads, in the second line, as if the "Queen's Colleges" had been dissolved, whereas it is only the "Queen's University" which is now non-existent. This University was founded in 1850 under the name and style of the "Queen's University in Ireland," and its charter provided that the senate should have power to confer upon the students of the "Queen's Colleges" of Belfast, Cork, and Galway, such degrees and distinctions in the Faculties of Arts, Law, and Physic, as were granted and conferred in other Colleges and Universities of Great Britain and Ireland, but it received no other students but those from the three "Queen's Colleges" above referred to. From the growing influence and importance of the educational institutions in connection with the Roman Catholic Church the Roman Catholic hierarchy naturally objected to the "Queen's Colleges," and to the rule of the "Queen's University" which excluded from degrees all but "Queen's College" students. To meet this difficulty and reasonable objection, it was ultimately decided to dissolve the "Queen's University," and in its place the "Royal University" was established. The "Queen's Colleges" although still existing have now no definite connection with any University, and the particulars are therefore given in Part VIII., arranged in topographical order among the other endowed institutions in the kingdom. The "Royal University of Ireland" (see p. 88) grants degrees to all comers, for it is an Examining as distinguished from a Collegiate Institution, being framed on the model of the London University. The "Royal University of Ireland" is however the sole legatee of the "Queen's University," and all "Queen's University" graduates have their status preserved in connexion with the "Royal University of Ireland," and, besides this, those students who had only gone through a part of the course of studies towards obtaining their degrees are permitted to take up their standing in the Royal University of Ireland, and thus complete their course. Within the past five years the whole educational machinery of Ireland has been reconstituted, changes are still in progress, and some of the matter given in the chapter on Intermediate Education in Ireland may be found a little antiquated; likewise full justice may not have been accorded to the great work now being done in this department of education by the Roman Catholic Institutions of that country. The author will therefore be glad to receive any recent data for insertion in the next edition of the work.

CAMBRIDGE.

The Board of Indian Civil Service Studies have appointed the following new teachers of Oriental languages—viz., in Hindi and Hindustani, Lieutenant-Colonel W. W. Sherlock. In Bengali, Mr. J. F. Blumhardt. In Persian, Mr. C. E. Wilson. The Rev. A. H. Arden has been re-appointed teacher of Tamil and Telugu, and Mr. Blumhardt will teach Marathi if required, so that the system of instruction in the vernacular Indian languages presented by the Civil Service Commissioners is now complete with the exception of Burmese and Gujarati. Selected candidates for the Indian Civil Service intending to reside at Cambridge should communicate with the secretary of the Board of Indian Civil Service Studies, Sir Roland K. Wilson, 4, Devana-terrace, Cambridge.

The scope of Preston House has been specially framed to meet a long-recognized want, viz., an efficient Establishment where the numbers are limited, and Parents can be also assured that High Tone, Moral Welfare, and Comfort are rigid factors of the Regime. Amid the high pressure of modern competition, statistics show that individual attention, attainable only from Technical Private Tuition, offers the average Candidate the best chance of success. In the eager pursuit of this advantage, ulterior questions of the most momentous nature have been overlooked. The miscellaneous gathering together of youths in localities full of temptation, and under circumstances wrong in principle, has been the cause of ruin to their temporal and moral prospects. No Pupil can be received into Preston House whose character and antecedents will not bear scrutiny.

Messrs. LEIFCHILD, HICKSON, and OWEN, in addition to their usual Sandhurst and Woolwich course, have organized a Military Department, now in full work, under the direction of Captain GREENE, late 3rd Buffs, who has within the last four years passed the high proportion of 24 out of 29 Militia Candidates.

Captain GREENE will have adequate assistance from members of the Royal Staff College.

This course will include Instruction to Militia Officers, to Candidates for the Royal Staff College, and to Officers of the Army and Auxiliary forces preparing for Promotion Examinations.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

It is intended in this part of the work to give, in a concise yet comprehensive and reliable form, the necessary information required by intending Candidates for the Army or the Civil Service, and this will, doubtless, be found useful by Principals of Schools who prepare pupils for these special Examinations. These branches of study have therefore been referred to in as copious a manner as possible, with the subjects required, the means for entrance and passing, the limit of age, and the nature and value of the appointment to be competed for. Intending Candidates for such appointments as are open to competition, may here readily learn the conditions of the competitive test, and the proper authorities to whom they should apply. In this introductory article the past system of entering the Army, Naval, and Civil Services is briefly referred to. Prior to the nomination of a Committee of Inquiry in 1853, appointments in public offices were obtained solely through political patronage, and without any regard to the qualifications or fitness of the Candidates. Members of Parliament felt they had a vested right in this patronage. But a Committee of Inquiry being appointed, their Report, bearing the signatures of Sir Stafford Northcote and Sir C. E. Trevelyan, provided for—(1) A proper system of Examination for the supply of the public services with a thoroughly efficient class of men; (2) To encourage industry and foster merit by teaching all public servants to look forward to promotion according to their deserts, and to expect the highest prizes in the service if they can qualify themselves; (3) To mitigate the evils which result from the fragmentary character of the service, and to introduce into it some elements of unity, by placing the first appointments upon one uniform footing, opening the way to the promotion of public officers to staff appointments in other departments than their own, and introducing into the lower ranks a body of men (the supplementary clerks) whose services may be made available at any time and in any office whatever.

By an Order in Council of 1855, the following regulations came in force :—

1. That the limit of age be first clearly ascertained.
2. That the Candidate be free from any physical defect or disease.

3. That the character of the Candidate be good.
4. That the Candidate possess the requisite knowledge and ability for the office he seeks.
5. That the Candidate be free from pecuniary difficulties in any form.

By this new system no one could become a Candidate unless he had received a nomination from a Minister or Head of Department, and he could not then obtain the appointment unless he possessed the required qualifications. Up to this time the appointments under the Crown were only open to a comparatively small section of the community, and a vast number of qualified young men were completely shut out from this kind of employment. An important Order in Council was, however, issued in 1870, by which many appointments in the Civil Service were thrown open to public competition. Examinations are now periodically held by the Civil Service Commissioners, of which due notice is given in the London newspapers. In these competitions any British subject qualified by age, health, character, &c., may take part. The Office of the Civil Service Commissioners is in Cannon Row, Westminster, where any information as to forthcoming competitions can be had. These Examinations are held in London, Edinburgh and Dublin. A Candidate on passing a successful Examination does not on receiving his appointment become permanently employed; he has first to enter on probation for six months, and upon completion of this term he will, if the report of the Head of his Department is satisfactory, have his appointment confirmed. Persons wishing to become Candidates must apply to the Civil Service Commissioners by letter, and in their own handwriting, for permission to attend the Preliminary Examination, at least ten days before the day named for holding such Examination; and on receipt of this the Commissioners will supply the necessary forms and papers. Admission to the Civil Service, which gives employment to 180 clerks with a minimum salary of 800*l.* per annum, 25,356 clerks whose minimum salary is less than 800*l.* per annum, and 12,856 schoolmasters, teachers, and monitors, is now obtained (1) by private interest, through which means the Candidate obtains a nomination, but requires subsequent success in an Examination; (2) by competition, open to all Candidates, without private influence, and limited only by certain regulations as to age, health, character, &c.

By an Order in Council issued in 1876, a Lower Division of the Civil Service was constituted. This Lower Division consists of men clerks and boy clerks. The Examination for these appointments is somewhat similar, as concerning men, to those of Class II., referred to further on; but for boy clerks a more limited number of subjects is required. The salaries of men clerks in this division commence at 80*l.*, and for boy clerks at 40*l.* yearly. From a return recently issued, it appears that the number of civilians employed as clerks in the service of the Crown is 25,536; the salaries (exclusive of the charge for temporary clerks) amounted to the large yearly sum of 4,501,313*l*. The cost to the nation of keeping up our Naval and Military Establishments, according to the estimated expenditure for 1878-79, was 15,595,800*l*. for the army; and for the Navy, 11,053,901*l*. With regard to the entry into these particular branches of Her Majesty's Service, if we compare the present system with that existing forty years ago, there will be found an equally marked and altered state of things to those which have affected the Civil Service. To enter the Army or Navy in the good old days, as they are by many still called, was a very different matter to entering at the present day. Then, any officer having any claims at all could, by a little pressure in the right direction, be almost certain to succeed in bringing the name of a son, or of some connexion of his family, under the prominent and favourable notice of the proper authorities at the Horse Guards or the Admiralty, with the invariable result that such nominee would, very soon after this step, and without further qualification, be gazetted to a commission, with orders to join his regiment or his ship. These easy-going times were somewhat changed by a qualifying Examination, which gave place to the more severe and surer test of the competitive system. The papers that are laid before Candidates become every year more difficult, and it is only those who have received a really good education, and who have the good sense and energy to take advantage of it, that now have any chance of entering either the Army or the Navy. Old and retired officers of experience have frequently expressed the difficulties they meet with in giving their sons the necessary education to enable them to follow a similar profession, the cost being in most cases far beyond the range of their limited official incomes. A real boon would be conferred, and with advantage to the Service, upon such officers if, by the combined action of the Admiralty and the War Office educational establishments were formed at our chief naval ports, the education to be exclusively for the benefit of the sons of Naval and Military Officers. The admission and tuition fees to be paid by the Students could be of a very moderate cost, and yet sufficient to recoup the outlay. This step would not only be one in the right direction, but it would also be some recognition of the past services of old, and in many cases distinguished, servants of the Crown, who would thus have an opportunity of educating their sons up to the required standard at a minimum cost. The Prospectuses of some excellent Naval and Military Schools, and likewise of many successful Coaches for the Military and Civil Service Examinations, will be found in the Appendix of this work; the cost of this education is in most cases high, although not more so than is in accordance with the class of instruction required, necessitating as it does that each Tutor should have the assistance of Professors and Masters of the greatest eminence; and the stipends of a large staff of such men, who have generally taken high Honours at their respective Universities, and who are otherwise fitted for the work, necessarily represents a very large outlay.

The British Army, according to the latest return, numbers 189,069 men and officers, and is made up by the following:—A total of all ranks on the home establishment of the regular forces of 101,468, on the Colonial, of 26,010, and on the Indian establishment, of 61,591, making a grand total of 165,386 rank and file, and 189,069 of all ranks. The artillery militia number 19,854 of all ranks, the engineer militia 1,449, infantry militia 117,575, and Channel Islands militia 3,996. The yeomanry cavalry is 14,404. The total of the volunteer force amounts to 247,922, and the entire total is 594,269.

The main division of the British Army is cavalry, infantry, artillery, and engineers. These again are sub-divided into sections or regiments; as for instance, there are in the cavalry thirty-one regiments. These are the Household Cavalry (1st and 2nd Life Guards, and Royal Horse Guards), seven regiments of Dragoon Guards, three of Dragoons, thirteen of Hussars, and five of Lancers. The Artillery is divided into Royal Horse Artillery, Field Artillery, and Garrison Artillery. The corps of Royal Engineers is divided into forty companies, two troops, A and C, and a dépôt train. At the head of the infantry stands the Foot Guards, composed of the Grenadier Guards (three battalions), the Coldstream Guards (two battalions), and the Scots Guards (two battalions). There are besides these 109 regiments of the line exclusive of the Rifle Brigade (four battalions), the 1st and 2nd West Indian Regiments, and the Royal Malta Fencible Artillery.

The order of precedence may be stated as follows: viz., the two Scientific Corps, i.e., the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers, the Brigade of Household Cavalry, and the Cavalry of the Line, the Militia, the Yeomanry, and the Volunteers; the two latter being termed the Auxiliary Forces.

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE, SANDHURST, FARNBOROUGH STATION, HANTS.

The particulars as to the Examinations which are held by the Civil Service Commissioners for admission to the Royal Military College, and for first appointments therefrom to the Army, will be briefly given in these pages. Details of the rules of this College may be obtained from the printed regulations issued by the War Office. This College was founded in 1799, and formerly it was intended for the instruction of candidates for admission into the Army, either after competitive examinations or by purchase. These were admitted into what was then termed "the Cadet College," and about 300 Cadets were received. Thirty free Commissions were given every half-year to those highest on the list at the competitive examinations then held. This organisation has been recently changed, and the College is at present maintained for the purpose of affording a special military education to Candidates for Commissions in the Cavalry and Infantry. Admission as Cadets will be granted to successful Candidates after certain competitive examinations, held at different Universities, and in various parts of the country. Candidates for first appointments to the Army will, with the exception of Lieutenants of Militia, and Non-commissioned Officers recommended for promotion, be required in future to pass through a course of instruction as Cadets at the Royal Military College. The number of Cadets admitted to the College vary, according to the requirements of the Service. The dates of admission are the 10th February and 1st September in each year. The Examinations are conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners twice a-year, in the months of December and July. Notice is given from time to time of the day and place, and of the number of vacancies open to competition at each periodical Examination. The number of trials allowed will not exceed two in the case of University Candidates, and three in that of other Candidates. All Candidates are inspected by a Medical Board; and none will be considered eligible for a Commission unless certified by the Board to be free from any bodily defects or ailments, and in all respects, as to height and physical qualities, fit for Her Majesty's Service. Cases of exceptional shortness of stature are referred to the War Office for special consideration. The limits of age for admission by competition, for Queen's Cadets, Queen's Honorary Cadets, Indian Cadets, and Pages of Honour, are from 17 to 20; for Students of the Universities, from 17 to 21; and for Graduates of the Universities who shall have passed the Examination for the Degree of B.A. or M.A., from 17 to 22. Competitors who desire to obtain Commissions in West India Regiments may be admitted up to the age of 24. This extension of the limit of age will not apply to University Candidates. A Candidate for admission by open competition at the December or July Examination, must send to the Military Secretary, not later than the 15th October or 15th May respectively, an application to be examined, accompanied by the following papers:—(a) An extract from the register of his birth; (b) A Certificate of good moral character. And he will be required to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners in the following subjects:—(1) Mathematics,—viz., (a) arithmetic, including vulgar and decimal fractions, proportion, and simple interest; (b) geometry, not beyond the standard of the first book of Euclid. (2) French, German, or some other modern language; the Examination being limited to a translation from the language, and grammatical questions. (3) Writing English correctly, and in a good legible hand, from dictation. (4) The elements of geometrical drawing, including the construction of scales and the use of simple mathematical instruments. (5) Geography. No marks will be allotted for the above Preliminary Examination, excepting for geometrical drawing, the maximum number for which will be 300. The Preliminary Examination will be dispensed with in the case of Candidates who have passed it at previous Examinations, but they may again take up geometrical drawing if they wish to obtain marks in that subject. The "further Examination" will be held half-yearly, about the months of December and July. The subjects of the further Examination, and the maximum number of marks obtainable for each subject, are as follows:— (1) Mathematics,—viz., algebra, up to and including quadratic equations; the theory and use of logarithms; geometry; plane trigonometry; and mensuration, 3,000 marks. (2) English composition, tested by the power of writing an essay, letter, or précis; English Literature, limited to specified authors; and English history, limited to certain fixed periods: the authors and periods being notified beforehand, 3,000 marks. (3) Latin, 3,000 marks. (4) Greek, 2,000 marks. (5) French, the Examination to be partly colloquial, 2,000 marks. (6) German, the Examination to be partly colloquial, 2,000 marks. (7) Experimental sciences,—viz., (a) chemistry and heat; or (b) electricity and magnetism, 2,000 marks. (8) General and physical geography and geology, 2,000 marks. (9) Drawing, free-hand, 1,000 marks. (10) Geometrical drawing, 300 marks. Of these ten subjects Candidates will not be allowed to take up more than four nor less than two, exclusive of drawing.

EXAMINATION OF UNIVERSITY CANDIDATES.

A Graduate or Student of one of the Universities who, having obtained his University qualification while within the maximum limit of age, is desirous of becoming a Candidate for a Cadetship at the Royal Military College, must send an application to the Military Secretary in the month of May or October, with a view to his appointment; but no such application can be admitted before the Candidate has actually attained the age of 17, nor later than the 31st of May or the 31st October next following the date of his attaining the maximum limit of age prescribed for Graduates and Students respectively. The application must be accompanied by papers (a) and (b), and by a certificate from the proper authority that he has taken his Degree in Arts, or has passed the required University Examination.

Notice will be given from time to time of the number of Cadetships which will be allotted half-yearly to University Candidates. In case there should be more Candidates than vacancies, the required number will be selected by competition among the said Candidates at the ensuing July or December Examination, but without a Preliminary Examination, except in Geometrical Drawing, which is obligatory. University Candidates who may have been unsuccessful at their first Examination, are allowed a second opportunity of competing, provided that "Students" shall not have exceeded their twenty-second year, and that "Graduates" shall not have exceeded their twenty-third year, at the time of such second Examination. These limits of age will be ruled by the 1st July for the summer, and by the 1st January for the winter Examinations.

Queen's Cadets are son of officers of the Army, Royal Navy, and Royal Marines, who have fallen in action, or died of wounds received in action, or of disease contracted on service abroad, and who have left their families in reduced circumstances. These are appointed by the Secretary of State on the recommendation of the Commander-in-Chief or First Lord of the Admiralty. Honorary Queen's Cadets are subject to similar conditions to the above. Applications for Queen's Cadetships and Honorary Queen's Cadetships should be addressed to the Military Secretary, if the Candidate is the son of an Officer of the Army, or to the Secretary of the Admiralty, if the Candidate is the son of an officer of the Royal Navy or Royal Marines. Indian Cadets are the sons of persons who have served in India in the Military or Civil Service of Her Majesty, or of the East India Company, and are nominated by the Secretary of State for India in Council, under the provisions of 21 and 22 Vic., c. 106, and 23 and 24 Vic., c. 100. Applications for Indian Cadetships should be addressed to the Military Secretary, India Office. Queen's Cadets, Honorary Queen's Cadets, Indian Cadets, and Pages of Honour, before admission to the Royal Military College, are required to pass a qualifying Entrance Examination only—i.e., after having passed the Preliminary Examination they must obtain such an aggregate of marks as may indicate in the judgment of the Civil Service Commissioners a competent amount of general proficiency. A Queen's Cadet, Honorary Queen's Cadet, Indian Cadet, or Page of Honour who can produce a University Certificate, will be exempted from the qualifying Entrance Examination. The terms of payment per annum for Cadets are as follows:—

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                              |     |     |     |     |     |     |      |

| For the son of a private gentleman                                                                                                                                                                                             | ...                                          | ... | ... | ... | ... | ... | ... | 125  |

The pay of a Cadet is 3s. a-day. It is issued to cover the expenses of regimental clothing, messing, washing, and other contingencies. All other necessary expenses which cannot be covered by his pay, are chargeable to his parents or guardian, in addition to the regulated contribution. Each Cadet other than a Queen's or Indian Cadet, on first joining is required to pay, in addition to the regulated contribution, a sum of 25*l.* to cover the expense of uniform, books, &c., and to bring with him the articles of clothing of which he will receive notice, and which must afterwards be kept up at his own expense.

The Commander-in-Chief is the President; and an independent inspection by a Board of Visitors, appointed by the Secretary of State for War, and reporting to him, is made once a-year.

The College is under the control of a Governor, and he is assisted in the arrangement of the studies by a Board, composed of the Commandant and the Professors or senior Instructors of the different branches. The Governor is assisted by a Staff Officer, who is responsible in his temporary absence for the charge of the establishment. The Cadets are subject to such rules and regulations as are, or may be from time to time, established for the maintenance of good order and discipline. The Governor will have the power of rustication and removal from the College, reporting the circumstances to the Commander-in-Chief. In cases requiring more serious notice, Cadets will be liable, on the report of the Governor to the Commander-in-Chief, to be removed from the list of Candidates for Commissions.

The Cadets are distributed in divisions of not less than 25, each division being under the immediate charge of one of the Professors or Instructors, selected by the Governor.

The Cadets salute all Officers, Professors, and Instructors belonging to the College, whether in or out of uniform, and all other officers when in uniform.

The Cadets will be required to appear at all times in uniform, except when on leave of absence, or when otherwise exempted by the Governor.

Candidates for first appointments in the Army, who are successful in the Examinations specified, will join the Royal Military College as Cadets for one year, to be divided into two terms, during which the course of instruction will last. The College terms are from 10th February to 15th July, with suspension of study during a fortnight at Easter; and from 1st September to 20th December. The intermediate periods constitute the vacations. The following subjects form the ordinary course of obligatory studies:—(a) Queen's Regulations and Orders for the Army; regimental interior economy, accounts, and correspondence. (b) Military Law. (c) The Elements of Tactics. (d) Field Fortification, and the Elements of Permanent Fortification. (e) Military Topography, and Reconnaissance. (f) Infantry and Field Artillery Drill, Riding and Gymnastics. At the end of the course, the Cadets will be required to pass an Examination in the field and on paper, and those who pass a satisfactory Examination become entitled to Commissions in the Army as Second Lieutenants, and will be gazetted to Regiments in the order in which they pass. Marks will be allotted to the obligatory subjects in the following proportions:—Queen's Regulations, &c., &c.,  $1\frac{1}{2}$ ; Military Law, 2; Elements of Tactics, 3; Fortification, 3; Military Topography and Reconnaissance, 3; Drill, Gymnastics, and Riding (one each), 3. In order to ensure due diligence during the whole period of residence, there is, at the end of the first term, a Probationary Examination in the work of that term. A Cadet failing to pass satisfactorily through the Probationary Examination at the end of his first term, will lose a term and not get class promotion. No Cadet will be permitted to reside for more than one year at the College, except in cases of failure at the Probationary Examination, protracted illness, or long absence from any unavoidable cause, or of his being prevented by unavoidable cause from undergoing the Final Examination. In these cases an extra term will, if specially recommended by the Governor, be allowed. The Dining-halls, Halls of Study, Reading and Recreation Rooms, and Quarters of the Cadets are furnished in all essentials by the Government. A Cadet will be removed for moral or physical unfitness; and if he fail to pass the Examination at the end of his second term of residence, he will not be permitted to return, but will be allowed to be re-examined once at the next ensuing Examination. A failure at this re-examination disqualifies a Cadet for a Commission in the Army, and his name will be at once removed from the list.

MILITIA.

REGULATIONS FOR ADMISSION INTO THE ARMY.

The object of subjecting Militia candidates for Army commissions to qualifying literary examinations is, presumably, simply to ascertain that they possess the average education of English gentlemen. Hence the examination is only qualifying, and competition is reserved for the examination in military subjects.

1. From the 1st January, 1879, the previous system of permitting Officers commanding Militia Regiments to nominate Lieutenants of their Regiments for Commissions in the Army was discontinued, and any Subaltern Officer of a Militia Regiment who may wish to become a candidate for an Army Commission will, subject to the conditions prescribed below, be allowed to compete for a Commission in an Examination in Military subjects. These competitive Examinations will be held twice a year, in the months of March and September, before boards of officers appointed for the purpose at the several stations named in the Appendix A, and subject to the rule as to age in paragraph 4. Examination papers will be furnished by the Director-General of Military Education, and due notice will be given of the days on which the Examination will be held.

2. An Officer who is recommended as a Candidate will be required—(a) To be within the ages of nineteen and twenty-two on the 1st January immediately preceding the competitive military Examination which he is permitted to attend. (b) To have served two annual trainings. (c) To have passed the Examination before the Civil Service Commissioners, described in Appendix C, or to produce an University Certificate, as prescribed in Appendix D.

3. The application of a Militia Subaltern to be admitted to the Competitive Military Examination will be submitted through the Officer commanding his Regiment, who will state whether he can recommend the officer as a fit and proper person for a Commission in the Army; and in forwarding the same, the Officer commanding the sub-district, and the General Officer commanding the District, will state their opinion of the Candidate. In the event of the Officer commanding the Regiment being unable to recommend the Candidate, the special reasons will be stated.

4. The application must be forwarded to the Military Secretary, Horse Guards, War Office, prior to the 1st January and 1st July, respectively, and should be accompanied by—

(a.) Certificate of birth, or, in default, a declaration made by one of the Candidate's parents or guardians before a magistrate, giving his exact age. A certificate of baptism cannot be accepted in lieu of a certificate of birth. (b) Certificate of having served two annual trainings (each training in a distinct year). (c) The certificate, W. O. Form 748, showing also the date on which the finding of the Board which granted the certificate was approved. (d) A certificate from the Civil Service Commissioners that the Candidate has passed the examination described in Appendix C, or an University Certificate as prescribed in Appendix D. (e) The Candidate's address, and an intimation as to which of the stations named in the Appendix A he would wish to attend for examination.

5. On the receipt of the application and documents referred to in paragraph 4, instructions will be issued to the Candidate as to the place and time at which he will be required to present himself for the competitive military examination.

6. The examination before the Civil Service Commissioners, referred to in appendix C, will be held twice a year, in the months of April and October.

7. A Militia Subaltern Officer who is desirous of attending the examination before the Civil Service Commissioners must apply accordingly to his Commanding Officer, at such a date as will allow of the Commanding Officer forwarding the application to the Military Secretary not later than the 15th February or 15th August, for the April and October examinations respectively. The Commanding Officer in forwarding the application will certify that the Subaltern Officer in question is, having regard to the maximum limit laid down in paragraph 4 (a), eligible in point of age, and that he is prepared, when necessary, to recommend him in the manner prescribed in paragraph 6. Not more than three trials at these examinations will be allowed.

8. Until further notice, sixty Army Commissions will be allotted to the successful competitors at each of the half-yearly competitive examinations.

9. A standard of qualification in the subjects for examination given in Appendix B, will be required at all future examinations.

10. The text books for the competitive military examination (after this year) of the Subaltern Officers of Militia Regiments who are candidates for Army Commissions, will be those in use at the time at the Royal Military College which, for the present, are as follows :—

1. The Elements of Field Fortification (Philip's Course of Artillery and Fortification). 2. Military Topography (Paterson's Notes on Military Surveying and Reconnaissance). 3. The Elements of Tactics (Field Exercises—Clery's Minor Tactics). 4. Military Law (Army Discipline and Regulation Act 1879—Queen's Regulations—Elements of Military Administration and Law) (Boughey).

APPENDIX A.

Stations at which Militia Subaltern Officers who are recommended as Candidates for Army Commissions may appear for the Competitive Military Examination. England: Colchester, Aldershot, Dover, Portsmouth, Plymouth, York. Scotland: Edinburgh. Ireland: Dublin, Belfast, Cork.

APPENDIX B.

Subjects of the Military Competitive Examination to be passed by Subaltern Officers of Militia (Artillery or Infantry).

1. The Rifle Drill and Practice, and the Theoretical Principles of Musketry (Text-books, Rifle and Carbine Exercises and Musketry Instruction, July 1879). 2. The Queen's Regulations and Orders for the Army, 1873 (Sections 6, 7, 8, 12, 13, 16, 17, 23), with the mode of marching reliefs and posting sentries (Text-books, Field Exercise of Infantry, Queen's Regulations). 3. The Army Discipline and Regulation Act, 1879 (Part I. to Section 56, inclusive; and sections 80, 133, 134, 175, and 181), and the "Rules of Procedure" made under the Acts (Text-book, Army Discipline and Regulation Acts, 1879). 4. The Regulations of the Army in regard to the pay and messing of troops (Text-books, Royal Warrant for Pay, Promotion, etc., 1878, Revised Army Regulations, vol. i.) Queen's Regulations (Revised Army Regulations, vol. ii.) (Commencing with the 1st Examination of 1881.) 1. The Elements of Field Fortification. 2. Military Topography. 3. The Elements of Tactics. 4. Military Law.

APPENDIX C.

Examination to be passed before the Civil Service Commissioners.

1. Mathematics,—viz., (a) arithmetic, including vulgar and decimal fractions, proportion, and simple interest; (b) geometry, not beyond the standard of the first book of Euclid. 2. French, German, or some other modern language; the examination being limited to a translation from the language, and grammatical questions. 3. Writing English correctly, and in a good legible hand, from dictation. 4. The elements of geometrical drawing; including the construction of scales, and the use of simple mathematical instruments. 5. Geography.

No marks will be allotted for the above preliminary examination, excepting for geometrical drawing, the maximum number for which will be 300.

The Preliminary Examination will be dispensed with in all other subjects in the case of Candidates who have passed it at previous Examinations. Candidates will also be exempted from the "preliminary" examination, in all subjects except Geometrical Drawing, if they can produce the certificate of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, provided it embraces Mathematics. If it does not include that subject, they will be required also to undergo an examination therein.

The "further Examination" will be proceeded with immediately on the conclusion of the "Preliminary Examination." Candidates who fail in the Preliminary Examination will be informed of their failure as soon as possible, and they will then be released from further attendance.

The subjects of the further Examination, and the maximum number of marks obtainable for each subject, will be as follows :—

1. Mathematics—viz., algebra up to and including quadratic equations; the theory and use of logarithms; geometry; plane trigonometry; and mensuration (3,000). 2. English composition, tested by the power of writing an essay, letter, or précis; English literature, limited to specified authors; and English history, limited to certain fixed periods; the authors and periods being notified beforehand (3,000). 3. Latin (3,000). 4. Greek (2,000). 5. French; the examination to be partly colloquial (2,000). 6. German; the examination to be partly colloquial (2,000). *7. Experimental sciences,—viz., (a) chemistry and heat; or (b) electricity and magnetism (2,000). 8. General and physical geography and geology (2,000). 9. Drawing (free hand) (1,000).

Of these nine subjects Candidates will not be allowed to take up more than four nor less than two, exclusive of drawing.

In order to secure proper proficiency in all the subjects taken up by a Candidate, a certain number will be deducted from the marks gained by the Candidate in each subject.

To pass this Examination, a Candidate must obtain, in the subjects which he takes up, such an aggregate total of marks as may, after the deduction above mentioned, indicate in the judgment of the Civil Service Commissioners a competent amount of general proficiency.

APPENDIX D.

Certificate to be produced by a Graduate or Student of the Universities.

A Certificate from the proper authority that he has taken his Degree in Arts, or has passed the Examination specified below, at one of the following Universities, viz. :—

Oxford, "Moderations;" Cambridge, "the Previous Examination;" Dublin, "the Final Examination of the Senior Freshman year; Durham, "the first year's Examination;" Queen's University, Ireland, "the first University Examination in Arts or in Engineering;" Scotch Universities: "The Examination for Candidates for the Army;" London University: The "First Examination" for the Degrees of B.A., LL.B., B.Sc., or M.B.

ROYAL MILITARY STAFF COLLEGE, SANDHURST.

FARNBOROUGH STATION, HANTS.

This College is open to officers of all arms of the Service, and consists of forty Students; admission to the College is determined by a competitive Examination. Only one officer at a time can belong to the College from a battalion of Infantry or a regiment of Cavalry, and only ten officers at a time from the two corps of Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers. Every application to study at the Staff College must be made whilst the officer making it is present and serving with his regiment, through the Commanding Officer. No application from an officer on leave is entertained.

Twenty vacancies are offered for competition annually, five of which may be filled by officers of the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers, highest on the list.

No payment is required from Students to the funds of the College beyond an entrance fee of 3*l.* from an unmarried and 1*l.* 10*s.* from a married officer, as a contribution to the College mess funds, in addition to the regulated quarterly subscription; and an entrance subscription of three guineas to the College library.

The qualifications requisite for admission are:—

- a. A service of not less than five years, previous to Examination, exclusive of leave of absence.
- b. A certificate from his Commanding Officer, that the Candidate is in every respect a thoroughly good regimental officer.
- c. A confidential report (in answer to specific questions) regarding the character, habits, and disposition of the Candidate.
- d. A certificate that the Candidate, if not a captain, has passed the Examination for a troop or company, and the "Special Army Examination."
- e. A medical certificate of good health and fitness for the active duties of the staff.

The competitive Examination for entrance to the Staff College comprises the following subjects, the relative value of each at the Examination being shown by the number of marks attached to it:—

Mathematics, limited to arithmetic, algebra, geometry, plane trigonometry, and elementary mechanics (900). Military history and geography (900). French (400). German (300). Hindustani (300). Fortification (600). Military topography (300). Geology, exclusive of mineralogy (300). Chemistry, heat, electricity, and magnetism (300).

The College course of study commences annually on or about the 1st February.

The obligatory subjects are:—1. Mathematics (1st year only). 2. Fortification and field engineering. 3. Artillery. 4. Topographical drawing, military surveying, and sketching and road making. 5. Reconnaissance. 6. Military art, history, and geography. 7. Military administration and law. 8. French, or German, or Hindustani. 9. Riding.

A synopsis of the course of study will be forwarded to any officer on application to the Director-General of Military Education, War Office.

The course of study occupies two years, which period is not to be exceeded.

The yearly course is divided into two terms, viz., from the 1st February to the 15th July, and from the 1st September to the 15th December, the intervening periods constituting the vacations.

At the end of the second year a final Examination will be held for the purpose of testing the general proficiency of the Students in the obligatory subjects of the College course.

In the Examination in modern languages, great stress will be laid on original composition, and on colloquial knowledge, and Candidates who shall have proved their fitness for employment in the topographical department of the War Office, by a superior knowledge of French and German, as well as of Topography, will be named in the report of the Director-General of Military Education as qualified for employment in that Department.

ROYAL MILITARY ACADEMY, WOOLWICH.

Founded 1741. This Military Academy is maintained for the purpose of affording a preparatory education to Candidates for the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers; the education is chiefly technical, and in no obligatory subject is carried beyond the point useful to both corps alike.

The number of Cadets varies according to the requirements of the Service, and the admission is determined by competition, unaccompanied by nomination. Notice is given from time to time of the Examinations for admission, which are conducted under the superintendence of the Civil Service Commissioners, and take place half-yearly, at Christmas and Midsummer.

The limits of age for admission are from 16 to 18 years.

Any gentleman who wishes to present himself at one of the competitive Examinations must send in his name to the Military Secretary at the Horse Guards two months before the time of his Examination, forwarding the following papers:—

1st. An extract from the register of his birth.

2nd. Certificates of good moral character from his twelfth year to the date of application.

Candidates are inspected by Military Surgeons on the first day of the Examination, in order that it may be ascertained that they are free from any bodily defects.

The number of trials allowed will not exceed three.

Every Candidate will be required to pass a qualifying Examination, and immediately after passing the "preliminary," a further Examination. Candidates must qualify in the following subjects:—

1. Mathematics—viz., (a) arithmetic, and the use of common logarithms; (b) algebra, including equations, progressions, permutations and combinations, and the binomial theorem; (c) geometry, up to the standard of the sixth book of Euclid; (d) plane trigonometry, including the solution of triangles.
2. French, German, or some other modern language, the examination being limited to translation from the language, and grammatical questions.
3. Writing English correctly, and in a good legible hand, from dictation, and English composition.
4. Geometrical drawing.

No marks will be allotted for the Preliminary Examination, excepting for mathematics (2,000), for English composition (500), and for geometrical drawing (300). Candidates are required to satisfy in mathematics, one modern language only, geography, English composition, dictation, and geometrical drawing.

In the further Examination the maximum number of marks obtainable for each subject are as follows:—

Mathematics (viz., further questions and problems) (4,000). English composition and literature, including 500 allotted in the preliminary Examination (2,000). English composition and history (2,000). Latin (2,000). Greek (2,000). French (2,000). German (2,000). Italian, Russian, Spanish, or Hindustani, at option of Candidates (2,000). Experimental sciences, chemistry, heat, &c., (2,000). Free-hand drawing (1,000).

Of these nine subjects a Candidate will not be allowed to take up more than four for competition, or five if free-hand drawing be one of them. A Candidate may in reality pass with one subject only (mathematics), provided he has qualified previously.

The terms of payment to be contributed annually on behalf of a Cadet are paid half-yearly, in advance, and are the same as at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst (see p. 143).

The pay of a Cadet is 3s. a day: it is issued to cover the expense of regimental clothing, messing, washing, and other contingencies.

Each Cadet on first joining will be required to pay, in addition to the regulated contribution, a sum of 25*l.* to cover the expense of uniform, books, &c., and to bring with him the articles of clothing of which he will receive notice, and which must afterwards be kept up at his own expense.

The Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief is the President of the Royal Military Academy.

The Academy is under the control of a Governor, a military man, selected with special reference to his qualifications for superintending both instruction and discipline, and appointed by and responsible to the Secretary of State for War, through the Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief.

The Governor, with the approval of the Secretary of State for War, will have the power of appointing and removing the Professors and Instructors.

The organization is on a military basis. The Cadets form one company under a Captain, assisted by four Lieutenants, charged with the discipline out of studies and the drill, one of whom will be Adjutant and Quarter-Master. The Professors and Instructors may be either military men or civilians.

The Professors and Instructors will have certain limited powers of punishment, within and without the halls of study, at the discretion of the Governor, to whom they will report all punishments which they may inflict.

A sword is given at each final Examination as a special reward for excellence in conduct.

The length of the course of instruction is two years and a half, and if any Cadet fail to come up to the required standard at two Examinations, he will be removed.

The following subjects form the course of obligatory subjects:—

1. Mathematics, including a thorough knowledge of plane trigonometry (the above to form the first year's course); practical mechanics, with the application of mathematics to machinery.
2. Fortification, field and permanent; such a course as is suitable to Cadets qualifying for the Artillery, and the requisite amount of geometrical drawing.
3. Artillery; such a course as is suitable to Cadets qualifying for the Engineers.
4. Military drawing, with field sketching and reconnaissance.
5. Military history and geography.
6. French or German, at the Student's choice.
7. Elementary chemistry and physics.
8. Drills and exercises.

Marks are assigned to the obligatory subjects of instruction in the following proportions:—

|                                       |     |                                    |     |     |                |
|---------------------------------------|-----|------------------------------------|-----|-----|----------------|
| Mathematics and mechanics             | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 7              |
| Fortification                         | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 7              |
| Artillery                             | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 5              |
| Military drawing and reconnaissance   | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 6              |
| Military history, &c.                 | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 3              |
| One modern language, French or German | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 2              |
| Elementary chemistry and physics      | ... | ...                                | ... | ... | 2              |
| Drills andexercises.              | {   | Manual, platoon, and Company drill | ... | ... | $\frac{1}{2}$  |
|                                       |     | Gymnastics                         | ... | ... | $\frac{1}{2}$  |
|                                       |     | Riding and sword exercises         | ... | ... | $\frac{1}{2}$  |
|                                       |     | Artillery                          | ... | ... | 2              |
|                                       |     |                                    |     |     | $3\frac{1}{2}$ |

No obligatory subject will gain a Cadet any marks unless he obtain a minimum of one half marks in it, and no Cadet will be ensured a Commission unless he qualify by obtaining at least one half marks in the obligatory course in mathematics and mechanics, fortification and artillery, and one half of the total aggregate of the marks allotted to all the obligatory subjects.

In addition to the obligatory course every Cadet will be allowed at his option to take up certain voluntary subjects.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC, KNELLER HALL, NEAR HOUNSLOW.

This Military School of Music is conducted at Kneller Hall, near Hounslow, London, and it was established in 1857, with the object of giving a thorough musical training to bandmasters, and for the instruction of soldiers, who are selected by their commanding officers, to become more efficient members of regimental bands. In Germany the taste for music is so great and general, that the keeping up of regimental bands is comparatively an easy task, so that it frequently is practicable to form a supplementary band in addition to the Regulation one. This is quite the reverse in England. The late Lord Gough well knew the value of stirring music in connexion with troops on the march, or in the hour of danger and attack; and the abolition of the bands in the French Cavalry by Marshal Neil has ever since been regretted. It is satisfactory to know that according to the Queen's Regulations a band should form an integral part of every regiment. A certain number of soldiers, with one sergeant and one corporal, and who are subject to the ordinary military discipline, constitute the band of an English regiment, the cost of instruments and the salary of the bandmaster (if a civilian) being defrayed by the officers. Thus the excellence of the bands must depend very much on the private means of the officers ; for the regulation stoppage pay of an officer is not sufficient to keep up a good band. Until the establishment of the Kneller Hall Institution the efficiency of a military band depended chiefly upon the ability and zeal of a competent bandmaster. This Institution is kept up by the payment of 10*l.* a year from the Band Fund of each regiment, and other sources of income. The mode of admission is on the recommendation of the commanding officer, who selects a boy or soldier who has a musical taste. He can then study at the school for two years, afterwards he is appointed to a regiment when a vacancy occurs. Those men who go through the course of training for bandmasters are also selected by the commanding officer, and in each case on the recommendation of the bandmaster. They have to be instructed in every instrument which is played by the band. A bandmaster ranks and receives the pay and allowance of a first class staff sergeant, and in addition to this he receives 100*l.* per annum out of the Band Fund. The most satisfactory results have attended the systematic and efficient training at this Institution, which owes its existence to Mr. Henry Schallehn, Civilian Bandmaster, 2nd battalion Rifle Brigade and 17th Lancers, from 1840 to 1854, who, as Founder, became the first Residential Musical Director at Kneller Hall in 1857, and he was also appointed first Musical Director at the Crystal Palace in 1854. The first Commandant was Lieut.-Col. Sykes Stephens in 1857.

ARMY MEDICAL SCHOOL.

ROYAL VICTORIA HOSPITAL, NETLEY, NEAR SOUTHAMPTON.

All Candidates for each of the three Military Medical Services of the Queen (British, Indian, and Naval) are obliged to go through a four months' course of special training at this School. They are selected by an open competitive examination, held in London twice a year (in February and in August). The Candidates are then examined by an Examining Board in the following compulsory subjects ; and the highest number of marks attainable are distributed as follows :—

a. Anatomy and Physiology, 1,000 marks ; b. Surgery, 1,000 ; c. Medicine, including Therapeutics, the Diseases of Women and Children, 1,000 ; d. Chemistry and Pharmacy, and a practical knowledge of drugs, 100 marks. The Examination in Medicine and Surgery is in part practical, and includes operations on the dead body, the application of surgical apparatus, and the examination of medical and surgical patients at the bedside. The eligibility of each Candidate for each Service is determined by the result of the Examinations in these subjects only. Examinations are also held in the following voluntary subjects, for which the maximum number of marks are—French and German (150 each), 300 marks ; Natural Sciences, 300 marks. The knowledge of modern languages being considered of great importance, all intending competitors are urged to qualify in French and German. The Natural Sciences include Comparative Anatomy, Zoology, Natural Philosophy, Physical Geography, and Botany, with special reference to Materia Medica. The number of marks gained in both the voluntary subjects will be added to the total number of marks obtained by those who shall have been found qualified for admission, and whose position on the list of successful competitors will thus be improved in proportion to their knowledge of modern languages and these branches of Natural Science.

After passing this Examination, every Candidate will be required to attend one entire course of practical instruction at the Army Medical School on—(1) Hygiene ; (2) Clinical and Military Medicine ; (3) Clinical and Medical Surgery ; (4) Pathology of Diseases and Injuries incident to Military Service. The Naval Candidates attend, in addition, special courses of instruction in Naval Hygiene, given by the Professor of Naval Hygiene—a naval medical officer specially appointed for that duty.

The Lectures on Military Surgery include gunshot wounds and other injuries ; arrangements for the transport of wounded ; duties of Army Surgeons in the field, during sieges, on transport, and other special subjects. Those on Military Medicine refer to tropical diseases, and especially diseases of soldiers in the British possessions and colonies, and to the losses by disease in peace and war at home and abroad. The Lectures on Hygiene comprise all duties relating to the examination of water, air, food, clothing, of the soldier, his duties and exercise, and the circumstances affecting his health ; also the subjects of meteorology, statistics, and prevention of the principal diseases met with in the Army, on home or foreign service. The Lectures on Pathology have reference chiefly to the scientific examination of organs and parts affected by disease, which the Army Surgeon is specially called upon to investigate.

The Candidates also attend in the wards of the Hospital to study the diseases of invalids under the Professors of Medicine and Surgery, the system of recruiting, and the modes of keeping the Army medical returns, records, and diet sheets. They are also called on to make post mortem examinations, to operate on the dead body, and to pass through courses of practical instruction in the laboratory on the modes of recognising the qualities and adulterations of food, and in the microscope room on the modes of microscopic examination of morbid tissues, the adulterations of food, and examinations of deposits in water.

At the conclusion of each session at Netley the Candidate will be required to pass an Examination conducted by the Professors of the school on the subjects taught in the school. If he give satisfactory evidence of being qualified for the practical duties of a military medical officer, he will be eligible for a commission as surgeon in the service he has chosen. The position of the Candidates on the list of Surgeons will be determined by the combined results of the preliminary London Examination and of the final Examination at Netley ; and, as far as the requirements of the services permit, they will have the choice of Presidency in India, or of eligible appointments in the Army and Navy, according to their position in that list. During the period of his residence at Netley, each Candidate receives an allowance of 5s. per diem with quarters, or 7s. per diem without quarters, to cover all cost of maintenance ; and he is required to provide himself with uniform (viz., the Regulation undress uniform of a Surgeon, but without the sword. All Candidates are required while at Netley to conform to such rules of discipline as the Senate of the School may from time to time exact.

Two Prizes are awarded at the end of each session. (1) The Candidate who gains the highest number of marks at the combined Examinations of London and Netley, to him will be awarded the Herbert Prize (sum of 20*l.*, paid him through the W.O.) (2) To the Candidate who similarly stands highest in Military Medicine, is awarded the Martin Memorial Medal.

The School is governed by a Senate, and its administration is directly under the Secretary of State for War.

The conditions for admission of Candidates to the competitive examinations in London vary in each of the three services as follows :—

NAVAL MEDICAL SERVICE.

1. Every Candidate desirous of presenting himself for admission to the Naval Medical Service must be not under twenty-one nor over twenty-eight years of age. He must produce a certificate from the District Registrar, in which the date of birth is stated ; or, if this cannot be obtained, an affidavit from one of the parents or other near relative, who can attest the date of birth, will be accepted. He must produce also a certificate of moral character, signed by a clergyman or a magistrate to whom he has been for some years previously known, or by the President or Senior Professor of the College at which he was educated.—2. He must be free from organic disease, and will be required to make a declaration that he labours under no mental or constitutional disease or weakness, nor any other imperfection or disability that can interfere with the most efficient discharge of the duties of a medical officer in any climate. His physical fitness will be determined by a Board of Medical Officers, who are to certify that his vision comes up to the required standard, which will be ascertained by the use of Snellen's test-types. He must also attest his readiness to engage for general service, and to proceed on foreign service when required to do so.—3. He must be registered under the Medical Act in force at the time of his appointment as licensed to practise Medicine and Surgery in Great Britain or Ireland.—4. Certificates of registration, character, and age must accompany the Schedule when filled up and returned.

After completing three years' full-pay service, Surgeons will be allowed to be examined for the rank of Staff-Surgeon, but no Surgeon can be promoted to the rank of Staff-Surgeon until he shall have served five years, two of which must have been in a ship actually employed at sea.

ARMY MEDICAL SERVICE.

1. Every Candidate desirous of presenting himself to compete for a commission in the Army Medical Department must be twenty-one years of age, and not over thirty-two years at the date of the commencement of the competitive Examination. He must produce an extract from the register of his birth, or, in default, a declaration made before a magistrate by one of his parents or guardians, giving his exact age. He must also produce a recommendation from some person of standing in society—not a member of his own family—to the effect that he is of regular and steady habits, and likely in every respect to prove creditable to the department if a commission be granted ; and also a certificate of moral character, from the parochial clergyman if possible.—2. The Candidate must sign a declaration upon honour that both his parents are of unmixed European blood, and that he labours under no mental or constitutional disease, nor has any hereditary tendency thereto, nor any imperfection or disability that can interfere with the efficient discharge of the duties of a medical officer in any climate ; also that he does not hold, and has never held, any commission or appointment in the public services. His physical fitness will be determined by a Board of Medical Officers, who are required to certify that the Candidate's vision is sufficiently good to enable him to perform any surgical operation without the aid of glasses. A moderate degree of myopia will not be considered a disqualification, provided it does not necessitate the use of glasses during the performance of operations, and that no organic disease of the eyes exists. The Board must also certify that he is free from organic or other disease, and from constitutional weakness, or tendency thereto, or other disability of any kind likely to unfit him for military service in any climate.—3. Certificates of age, registration of diplomas, &c., and of character, must accompany the declaration when signed and returned.—4. Candidates must have two qualifications—one to practise medicine, and the other surgery, and must be so licensed under the Medical Act of 1858.—5. Those gentlemen who may be selected for appointments will receive 250*l.* per annum and allowances in addition, after passing the Examination at the Army Medical School at Netley.—6. The tenure of appointment will be limited to ten years, and on the completion of that period of commissioned service, surgeons, unless they be specially selected for further employment in the Department, will be entitled to receive, in lieu of all pension on retirement (pension for wounds excepted) the sum of 1,000*l.*—7. Application for admission to the London Examination should be made in writing to the Director-General of the Army Medical Department, London, by whom a printed schedule, containing further particulars, will be furnished.

INDIAN MEDICAL SERVICE.

1. All natural-born subjects of Her Majesty, between twenty-two and twenty-eight years of age at the date of Examination, and of sound bodily health, may be Candidates. They may be married or unmarried. They must possess a diploma in Surgery or a license to practise it, as well as a Degree in Medicine or a license to practise it, in Great Britain or Ireland.—2. They must subscribe and send in to the Military Secretary, India Office, Westminster, so as to reach that address at least a fortnight before the date fixed for the Examination, a declaration according to a specified form (to be obtained at the India Office); and this declaration must be accompanied by the following documents:—(a) Proof of age, either by the Candidate's own declaration (form of which is to be obtained at the India Office) or by extract from the register of the parish in which he was born (a certificate of baptism which does not afford proof of age will be useless). (b) A certificate of moral character from a magistrate, or a minister of the religious denomination to which the Candidate belongs, who has personally known him for at least two years preceding the date of his application. (c) A certificate of registration, in accordance with the Medical Act of 1858, of the degrees, diplomas, and licenses possessed by the Candidate.—3. The physical fitness of Candidates will be determined previous to Examination by a Board of Medical Officers, who are required to certify that the Candidate's vision is sufficiently good to enable him to perform any surgical operation without the aid of glasses. A moderate degree of myopia would not be considered a disqualification, provided it did not necessitate the use of glasses during the performance of operations, and that no organic disease of the eyes existed. Every Candidate must also be free from organic disease of other organs, and from constitutional weakness, or other disability likely to unfit him for Military Service in India.

DIFFICULTY IN OBTAINING MEDICAL OFFICERS.

It is a recognised fact that applications from candidates for the Army Medical Service have greatly decreased of late years, making it extremely difficult to fill up the vacancies so frequently occurring. The service having become generally unpopular, chiefly caused by their status in the regiment not being adequately recognised, and until the proper social privileges and the full rank is accorded to them, and equal position with combatant officers is admitted, the present difficulties will remain, and the Army Medical Service still be as distasteful to the feelings of educated gentlemen as it is at the present day. A Committee, appointed by Lord Cranbrook, to inquire into the whole of the circumstances which tend to deter eligible candidates from coming forward for this important and honourable service, have issued their report, and most of the difficulties will be removed; it is intended they shall henceforth be designated "Royal Army Surgeons," and their social equality and Regimental Status will be more clearly defined.

SCHOOL OF MUSKETRY AT HYTHE.

The School of Musketry at Hythe was established in 1853, with the object of supplying a central school of instruction in the new system of musketry practice, in consequence of the introduction of rifled arms into the Service. At present the establishment serves a double purpose:—it is at once a Normal School to which a certain proportion of officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates are annually sent from various branches of the Service to be trained in the established system of musketry, and which supplies the regular army with a staff of regimental instructors; and, in addition, it constitutes a department exercising functions of general supervision and inspection over the musketry practice of the army, and ensuring uniformity in the mode in which the authorized regulations are carried out.

The staff of the School consists of a Commandant, a Deputy Assistant, Adjutant-General, one Chief Instructor (a Field Officer), two Captain Instructors, two Subaltern Instructors, a Quartermaster and Adjutant, a Surgeon, and a number of non-commissioned officers and privates employed partly as instructors and partly on duties incidental to the establishment.

In order to carry out the system of musketry uniformly throughout the Service, there is attached to each battalion of infantry, and to the corps of Royal Engineers, a paid musketry instructor, who has obtained a certificate of qualification at the Central School at Hythe.

Every battalion of Infantry, and, as a rule, every regiment of Cavalry, as well as the corps of Royal Engineers, passes annually through a regular course of musketry instruction. This course comprising preliminary drill, with the view of habituating the soldier to the proper use of his rifle, theoretical instruction, and terminating with ball practice. Recruits on first joining go through a more extended course than that to which the trained soldier at a later period of his service is subjected.

The officers who regimentally conduct the musketry instruction throughout the Service are, as we have stated, trained in the duties they perform at the Central School at Hythe. At this establishment four separate courses of instruction are carried on annually, each course lasting two months. During every course nearly 300 individuals are generally under instruction. Of these the proportions from the various ranks are, about 60 officers, 160 non-commissioned officers, and 80 privates. Among the officers, besides those of the various branches of the regular land forces, are included a certain proportion of officers of the Royal Navy and Marines, and of the Militia and Volunteers : the great majority of the non-commissioned officers and privates belong to the regular Army.

The course of training at the School consists of practical and theoretical instruction in the mode of conducting the established system of musketry practice, and of imparting to others the knowledge thus acquired. With this is combined, in the case of officers, a voluntary course of lectures, intended to afford a more scientific acquaintance with the theory of projectiles, and the history and progressive improvement of small arms. Throughout the course the officers and non-commissioned officers are subjected to a constant series of Examinations, designed to test both their theoretical acquaintance with the subjects taught at the School, and their power of communicating instruction to others. According to the proficiency thus shown, combined with the results of a final Examination at the end of the course, they receive certificates of qualification as instructors, the certificates granted to officers being of three classes, representing various degrees of merit.

R.A. "SHORT COURSE" OFFICERS.

Classes of R.A. Officers occasionally join the Department for a two months' course in the Departments of the Royal Arsenal only.

R.A. OFFICERS TEMPORARILY COMMISSIONED.

By the Regulations for the government of the Royal Military Academy, the education of the Cadets is not carried, in any obligatory subject, beyond the point useful to both the Corps of Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers ; consequently detailed information concerning Ammunition and Artillery Stores required by Artillery Officers is not given at the Royal Military Academy, though a general idea of them is considered part of the course of instruction.

The following subjects form, together with the practical instruction at the School of Gunnery, the course for the Officers on being commissioned.

Field Battery and the necessary Infantry Drills are supposed to be learnt on the Officers being finally posted to Brigades.

The Course of Instruction at Woolwich normally lasts for three months, preceding that at the School of Gunnery ; two or three batches of Officers being commissioned annually.

The following are the subjects treated of whilst the Class is attached to the Department of Artillery Studies:—

ARMY EXAMINATIONS IN 1884.

At the competitions for the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, to be held in July 1884, and at the examinations to be held in April 1884, of lieutenants of Militia who are candidates for commissions in the Regular Army, the examination in English literature will be limited to the following authors:—Spenser, "Faëry Queen," Book I.; Shakespeare, "King John" and "Merchant of Venice"; Byron, "Childe Harold"; Bacon, Essays I. to XXX., inclusive; Macaulay's Essays, "Burleigh and his Times," "Life and Writings of Addison," and "Frederic the Great." The examination in English history will be limited, at the candidate's choice, either to the period A.D. 1760 to 1790 (inclusive), or to the period A.D. 1790 to 1820 (inclusive). The candidate's reading on the period selected should include that part of "Bright's History" which treats of it, also in the October and December Examination

At the examinations to be held in October 1884, the examination in English literature will be limited to the following authors:—Chaucer, Prologue to "Canterbury Tales"; Shakespeare, "Merchant of Venice" and "Henry VIII."; Pope, "Essay on Man," "Satires (with Prologue)," and "Epistles"; Bacon, Essays XXIII. to LVIII., inclusive; Macaulay's Essays, "Burleigh and his Times," "Life and Writings of Addison," and "Frederic the Great."

ROYAL HIBERNIAN MILITARY SCHOOL,

PHENIX PARK, DUBLIN.

The design and character of this School is in the main the same as that of the Model School at Chelsea; viz., to afford a gratuitous education to the sons of soldiers, orphans having a prior claim. The majority of the children admitted (over 400 in number) to it are the sons of Irish parents. The Hibernian School was originally founded in 1769, and was, like the sister establishment at Chelsea, entirely re-organised in 1846, when a Charter was granted to it.

The general management of the School is vested in a Board of Governors, of whom the Lord Lieutenant and the General Officer commanding the Forces in Ireland are respectively President and Vice-President. The other Governors likewise hold their appointments ex officio, the great majority of them being either Officers of the Staff or Field Officers of the regiments belonging to the garrison of Dublin.

The general staff of the establishment consists of a Commandant, an Adjutant, Secretary, a Quarter-master, a Surgeon, a Protestant Chaplain, and an officiating Roman Catholic clergyman. The instructional staff consists of a Head Master, three Assistant Masters, and a non-resident Singing Master. The Masters are assisted in their duties by Monitors.

The conditions of admission are in principle the same as at the Duke of York's School. The consideration of the claims of the various applicants rests with the Committee of Governors. The limits of age for admission are from 7 to 12.

The organisation and system of discipline are military, and as far as possible resemble those of a regiment. The pupils, 410 in number, are for purposes of military training and discipline distributed in six companies, each of which is under the charge of a serjeant assistant.

For purposes of instruction the pupils are arranged in four divisions, each under the charge of its own master, the Head Master exercising a general supervision over the education of the whole School, and periodically examining the junior divisions. The subjects of instruction consist of reading, writing, and dictation, arithmetic, algebra, mensuration, elementary mechanics, geography, English grammar, English history, singing, and sacred history. In practical military exercises, in addition to drill, instruction is given in gunnery, gymnastics, and swimming. A number of the boys are also trained as musicians in the band, while others learn the trades of tailoring and shoemaking, and a small number, not exceeding eight or ten, are taught carpentry. The whole clothing of the establishment is made up by the pupils, of whom 112 are employed as tailors.

The pupils are not permitted to remain at the School after the age of 14, the only exception being in favour of those who are candidates for the office of monitor. The method adopted in regard to the disposal of the boys on quitting the School is the same as at the Duke of York's School. As at the latter establishment, the great majority (amounting to nearly 80 per cent.) of those declared fit for military service volunteer for the army.

According to the records of this School, it would appear that there are now 1,065 soldiers who have been old pupils, viz., 122 who are serving in the Cavalry, 268 in the Royal Artillery, 142 in the Royal Engineers, and 533 in the Infantry. Of this number 1,007 bear the title in the military returns as "very good," or at least "good character," and not a single case of desertion occurred in 1877. About 400 pupils are now at this School.

ROYAL MILITARY ASYLUM.

"DUKE OF YORK'S SCHOOL,"

(NORMAL, MODEL, AND LOWER SCHOOLS,)

CHELSEA.

This institution is still familiarly known by the designation of the "Duke of York's School," and it was founded in 1803, the year following the Treaty of Amiens. It was intended to be an educational home for the orphan children of soldiers; and as regards the boy orphans, the results have been eminently satisfactory. Provision was originally made for 700 boys, exclusive of the girls, but the number is now only 480. The general discipline of the school is excellent, and the army is largely recruited from its ranks. This institution possesses the best boys' band in the United Kingdom. And with regard to the character of the pupils who have entered the service, it may be well to mention that out of 442 "fighting men," nearly two-thirds of the number have become non-commissioned officers.

In these Schools, candidates for the situation of Army Schoolmasters are trained for their duties. Non-commissioned officers and privates of the Army recommended by their officers, civilian pupil-teachers who have completed their apprenticeship, and certificated school-teachers are eligible if they be of sound health, free from deformity, from 20 to 25 years of age, and not under 5 feet 5 inches in height. The period of residence may extend to 1½ years, during which time civilian candidates are messes and provided with uniform at the public expense. On completing their course of training as Students, and on being reported qualified by the Director-General of Military Education, they will be enlisted and appointed Army Schoolmasters; if civilians, they will be enlisted (without bounty) for general service for the period of 12 years; if soldiers, they will be discharged from their regiments and re-enlisted (without bounty) for general service for the period of 12 years, reckoning towards their pension as schoolmasters their service prior to admission to the Royal Military Asylum, but no portion of the time spent by them at the Royal Military Asylum. Army schoolmasters rank as non-commissioned officers next below sergeant-majors. Their pay is as follows, with quarters, fuel and rations, or allowance in lieu :—On first appointment, 3s. 11*d.* per diem; after 2 years' service, 4s. 1*d.*, increasing 6*d.* per diem every 3 years' service. Schoolmasters, after 21 years' service, calculated according to the regulations, are entitled to a pension, the maximum rate of which is 3s. 6*d.* per diem. Superintending Schoolmasters are selected from the Army Schoolmasters for merit and service. They receive commissions as officers, with the relative rank of subaltern. Their pay is 10s. a day, according to services, with quarters or lodging money, and with an allowance of 1s. a day in lieu of a soldier servant. Superintending Schoolmasters may, with the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief and the Secretary of State for War, be permitted to retire after an aggregate service of 30 years, calculated in conformity with the regulations, on an allowance of 8s. or 10s. per diem. The widows of Superintending Schoolmasters will be eligible for pensions, and their children for an allowance from the Compassionate Fund, under the regulations applicable to officers of corresponding rank. All Army Schoolmasters are subject to the Mutiny Act. The total cost of this institution is about 12,000*l.* yearly. All the boys are taught useful trades during half the time.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS FOR THE ARMY.

The joint committee of the War Office and Civil Service Commissioners have issued their report upon the question whether the present literary examinations for the army should be supplemented by physical competition, and they recommend that competitions should be held under the following six heads:—(1) riding, (2) walking, (3) running, (4) leaping, (5) swimming, (6) gymnastics. The examination in these exercises to be entirely voluntary, and considering that some of them, e.g., riding, swimming, and gymnastics, cannot be practised with success except under conditions which may not be within the reach of all competitors, it is proposed that no candidate should be allowed to enter as a competitor under more than three heads, and that the total number of marks allotted to the physical competition should be obtainable by adequate proficiency in any three. By this arrangement, in addition to the 4,000 marks allowed at the examination for merit in intellectual subjects, 1,200 marks will be allowed for merit in athletic exercises, that is, 400 for each subject.

THE ARMY MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The report of the Committee appointed by Lord Cranbrook to inquire into the causes which prevented candidates coming forward in sufficient numbers for the Army Medical Department has just been issued. It is suggested that the new united department should receive a distinctive designation, such as "Royal Army Surgeons," or "Royal Medical Staff": that it should be recruited by the admission of probationers, of whom one half are to be nominated by the "medical teaching bodies" of the United Kingdom, Canada, and Australia, and the other half to be admitted by open competitive examination—both classes to consist of gentlemen registered under the Medical Act, and the nominations to be subject to the approval of the Director-General. During the probationary period, and until they have completed their course at Netley, they are to rank as lieutenants, and to receive 8s. a day pay. It is proposed that the maximum age on admission should be reduced to twenty-eight.

THE OXFORD MILITARY COLLEGE, COWLEY, NEAR OXFORD.

This College was opened at Cowley, near Oxford, on the 20th of September, 1876, and the origin of it is due mainly to the individual exertions of Major John Graham, Royal Pembroke Artillery Militia. Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught visited this School on the 16th June, 1883, and Her Royal Highness distributed the prizes on that occasion. It is situated about two miles from the city of Oxford. The old Manor House of Temple Cowley has been utilised for the purpose, and new buildings have been added.

The College was formed to prepare candidates for the Army, to give them, at a reasonable cost, a thoroughly good education, to develop in individuals those branches of learning for which they happen to have an aptitude, and which would have some reference to their future career, to supply a certain amount of technical instruction, and accustom candidates early in life to habits of order, military discipline, and obedience.

The situation of the College, in the vicinity of Oxford, has been found in many ways most advantageous. For not only can the staff be strengthened by the assistance of able teachers who are resident in the University, but the students who take up the subject of geology, for instance, have advantages which are conferred by the proximity of good museums, and of a neighbourhood which is exceptionally instructive in its features. Moreover, to mention a less important matter, they have opportunities also of enjoying cricket, football, and boating, and of playing matches against the different Colleges of the University.

Nearly 150 students are in attendance, and it is intended, (1) To provide the best possible education for the sons of Officers; (2) To train and prepare candidates (whether sons of Officers or not) for commissions in the military service.

Students are trained from the first in a course of study which is intended to prevent the necessity of any special strain being put upon them at the last moment for passing the military examinations; hence the advantage of their entering the College as soon as they are admissible, namely, at the age of thirteen.

There are three Terms in the year, commencing about the middle of January, April, and September, and the fees for each Term will be payable in advance. The vacations amount to about thirteen weeks in the year.

Officers serving in India will be specially considered in reference to vacation arrangements, &c.

The fees for students under seventeen years of age, if they do not take the full military course, and if nominated by a holder of twenty shares, are seventy guineas per annum; if not so nominated, ninety guineas per annum. For all students above seventeen years of age, and for all who take the full military course, including equitation, if nominated by a holder of twenty shares, the fees are eighty guineas per annum; if not so nominated, one hundred guineas.

Six Scholarships, of 25*l.* to 75*l.* per annum respectively for two years, have been offered for competition lately.

Numerous College prizes and others are given annually.

The nominees of shareholders, whether holders of twenty or a smaller number of shares, will have the preference for admission.

This College has a very influential Council ; and among the Committee are several Officers of very high rank in the service.

Governor.—Major-General Desborough, C.B., R.A., and a Council of 50 members and a Board of Management of 7 members.

Secretary.—Henry Naidley, Esq.

Director of Drills.—Lieut.-Col. A. S. Macartney, h.p., Royal Artillery, formerly Cadet Officer, Royal Military Academy, Woolwich.

Head Master.—The Rev. A. A. Bourne, M.A., St. John's College, Cambridge, 17th Wrangler, and 2nd class Classical Tripos, late Head Mathematical Master at Rossall.

Second Master and Senior Classical Master.—A. H. Thomas, Esq., M.A., late Scholar of Jesus College, Oxford, and assistant Masters.

OUR NAVAL SCHOOLS.

ROYAL NAVAL COLLEGE, GREENWICH.

The Royal Naval College consists of three principal divisions—viz., the Military, Navigating, and Civil ; the Military Division comprises the following ranks :—Naval Cadet, Midshipman, Lieutenant, Commander, Captain, and Admiral. The Navigating Division includes the following :—Navigating Cadet, Navigating Midshipman, Navigating Sub-Lieutenant, Navigating Lieutenant, Staff Commander, and Staff Captain. The Civil Division is sub-divided as follows :—(a) Second-class Assistant Engineers, First-class Assistant Engineers, Chief Engineers, and Inspectors of Machinery afloat ; (b) Naval Instructors and Chaplains ; (c) Surgeons, Staff Surgeons, and Fleet Surgeons ; (d) Assistant Clerks, Clerks, Assistant Paymasters, and Paymasters. The regulations for the examination of cadets of the “Military Branch” are identical with those in force for the “Navigating Division.”

Her Majesty having by an Order in Council issued in January, 1873, sanctioned the founding of this College, it was opened on the 1st February, 1873, having been organized for the purpose of providing for the education of Naval Officers of all ranks above that of midshipmen in all branches of theoretical and scientific study bearing upon their profession, the Admiralty being anxious to give to the executive officers of the Navy every possible advantage in respect of scientific education, and for the highest possible education also of others connected with the Navy. The working of the College has so far been most satisfactory, and the results of the year show that the standard of examination is so adjusted as to enable officers of good abilities, who on entering the Navy diligently employ themselves to studying their profession, to obtain their Lieutenant's commission ; while, on the other hand, it affords to those who are backward and ignorant on joining the College an opportunity of retrieving lost time and of maintaining their place in the Navy if they earnestly avail themselves throughout the whole period of study of the means afforded them at the College.

Ten private students passed through a course of instruction, nine of the number being foreign officers.

Besides the actual studies thus conducted within the College, a large amount of work connected with the other educational business of the Navy, both in its executive and civil branches, devolves upon the officials of the establishment. Twice in each year entry examinations for Naval cadetships and assistant clerkships are held at the College. The preliminary examinations of candidates for Naval Instructorships and also for Interpreterships are likewise conducted there ; and, finally, the papers for the half yearly examination of junior executive officers of all classes of the Fleet conducted on board their respective ships, for the half-yearly examination of the cadets of Her Majestys' ship "Britannia," and for the half-yearly examination of the Dockyard schools, are all prepared and sent from the Naval College, the result subjected to a careful analysis, and the whole collated and reported on exhaustively.

The College, subject to the subjoined Regulations, is open to Officers of the following ranks:—1. Captains and Commanders; 2. Lieutenants; 3. Navigating Officers; 4. Naval Instructors; 5. Acting Sub-Lieutenants and Acting Navigating Sub-Lieutenants; 6. Officers Royal Marine Artillery, Officers Royal Marine Light Infantry; 7. Officers of the Engineer Branch, viz., Chief Engineers, Engineers, Assistant Engineers, Acting Assistant Engineers; 8. A limited number of Dockyard Apprentices will be annually selected by competitive examination; for admission to the College.

A course of instruction at the College will also be open to a limited number of—9. Private Students of Naval Architecture or Marine Engineering; 10. Officers of the Mercantile Marine.

It is not intended to provide at Greenwich for the education of the Naval Cadets.

The number of Students at the College will render it possible not only to carry out instruction by individual tuition as hitherto, but to secure a staff of eminent professors, to arrange lectures and classes, and to provide chemical and physical laboratories, on a scale which has hitherto not been possible in any Naval establishment.

The following are the courses of study:—1. Pure Mathematics, including Co-ordinate and Higher Pure Geometry, Differential and Integral Calculus, Finite Differences, and the Calculus of Variations; 2. Applied Mathematics, viz., Kinematics, Mechanics, Optics, and the Theories of Sound, Light, Heat, Electricity, and Magnetism; 3. Applied Mechanics, including the Theory of Structures, the principles of Mechanism, and the Theory of Machines; 4. Nautical Astronomy, Surveying, Hydrography, with Maritime Geography, Meteorology, and Chart Drawing; 5. Experimental Sciences:—(a) Physics, viz., Sound, Heat, Light, Electricity, and Magnetism; (b) Chemistry; (c) Metallurgy; 6. Marine Engineering in all its branches; 7. Naval Architecture in all its branches; 8. Fortification, Military Drawing, and Naval Artillery; 9. International and Maritime Law; Law of Evidence and Naval Courts Martial; 10. Naval History and Tactics, including Naval Signals and Steam Evolutions; 11. Modern Languages; 12. Drawing; 13. Hygiene—Naval and Climatic.

The general organization of the College is as follows:—

A Flag Officer is President; he is assisted by a Captain in the Royal Navy in matters affecting discipline, and in the internal arrangements of the College unconnected with study.

A Director of Studies will, under the President, organize and superintend the whole system of instruction and the various courses of study.

The following changes are introduced in the Regulations as regards the time of study in the case of Officers who are required to attend the College.

- (a) The time allowed to Acting Sub-Lieutenants to qualify for their Examination in Navigation for Lieutenants will be extended from six weeks to six months.
- (b) Gunnery Lieutenants will be required to pass a term of nine months, from 1st October to 30th June, in the College at Greenwich, before commencing their practical course in the "Excellent," instead of, as at present, a term of seven months after they have completed it.

Officers, on applying to qualify as Gunnery Lieutenants, if they have not already served one year at sea as Lieutenants, will be at once appointed to a sea-going ship, in order to complete the year's service required before they commence their studies.

(c) Successful Candidates for Commissions in the Royal Marine Light Infantry should, before receiving their Commissions, have the advantage of a term of study in the College. They also propose to assign a longer term of study to Officers of the Royal Marine Artillery.

(d) All Acting Assistant Engineers will in future be sent to Greenwich, after leaving the dockyards, for a period of study before their appointment to sea-going ships.

Arrangements have been made for the admission of Naval Engineer Officers to the College, which will prevent time spent at the College from entailing any pecuniary loss upon them.

The School of Naval Architecture at South Kensington will be absorbed in the Royal Naval College, Greenwich. The regulations for the admission of Engineer Students and of Dockyard Apprentices have been so framed as to provide as nearly as possible the same aggregate time for their instructions as that which is now afforded at South Kensington. Further regulations will be issued by their Lordships in regard to the admission of private Students to the course of study at the College on similar conditions to those now existing at South Kensington.

A limited number of Officers of the Mercantile Marine are admitted as Students of the College, enjoying the full advantages of the whole course of instruction and tuition by the Educational Staff, while Officers of the Mercantile Marine generally will, on application, be allowed to attend courses of lectures.

It is expected the College will become, not only an educational establishment affording the means of the highest training in theoretical subjects to Naval Officers of all classes, but also a nucleus of mathematical and mechanical science specially devoted to those branches of scientific investigation which have most interest for the Navy.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

1. Officers and others who are required by regulations to pass through the College will follow such courses of study as may be from time to time prescribed.

2. Officers and others admitted as Students on their own application will, within certain limits, be allowed to select any course of study, and to attend all Lectures that may be given in the Theatre of the College, but a course in Mathematics will be considered indispensable.

3. Officers and others connected with the Public Service, and Officers of the Mercantile Marine, may, on application to the Admiralty, be allowed to attend Courses of Lectures, although not admitted as Students in the College, subject to such regulations as their Lordships may determine.

4. The privilege of attending Lectures may be extended to other classes, if the arrangements of the College will admit of it.

5. The term of study for all Officers, excepting Acting Lieutenants and Acting Sub-Lieutenants, will commence on October 1st in each year, and conclude on June 30th following. Officers will be admitted at the beginning of each Term, excepting those above specified, who, for the present, will enter monthly.

6. The vacation will commence on the 1st July, and terminate on the 30th September in each year.

In addition, leave of absence will be granted for ten days at Christmas and for a week at Easter.

The vacations for Acting Sub-Lieutenants will be six weeks at Midsummer and one month at Christmas.

7. All Officers on full pay will wear their uniform within the precincts of the College.

8. No Officers, unless under exceptional circumstances, will be permitted to rejoin for an additional period of study beyond that laid down in the foregoing Regulations, until after an absence of four years (two of which must have been passed in active service).

9. Captains, Commanders, and Chief Engineers taking advantage of the instruction at the College may reside outside the precincts, if they desire it. All other Officers admitted as Students must occupy rooms in the College, and join the appointed mess, unless special permission is obtained to reside outside.

10. Officers not making satisfactory progress will not be allowed to remain as Students at the College.

11. A Special Examination in the higher branches of study taught at the College will be held at the end of every Term, the most successful competitors in which will receive special rewards as stated below.

This examination will be open to all Officers above the rank of Sub-Lieutenant, but will be entirely voluntary.

The Officer attaining the highest number of marks will be granted 100*l.* a year for 3 years.

The Officer taking the second place will be granted 80*l.* a year for 3 years, and the Officer taking the third place, 50*l.* a year for 3 years.

12. Arrangements for regulating the courses of study and the relative value to be assigned to each subject in the various examinations, will shortly be promulgated.

13. Honorary Certificates will be given to Officers who are admitted as Students for a course of voluntary study, and who reach a certain standard at the examination on the completion of their course.

14. Officers who have received Honorary Certificates at the College, and Gunnery Lieutenants who have qualified at Greenwich, will be distinguished by the letter G appended to their names in the Navy List.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING NAVAL CADETS ON JOINING H.M.S. "BRITANNIA"

TRAINING SHIP AT DARTMOUTH.

ENTRY AND EXAMINATION OF OFFICERS.

For the Information of Candidates.

Nominations for Naval Cadetships take place half-yearly immediately after the report of the last Examination has been received. 130 cadets are received on board the "Britannia."

An Examination of the young gentlemen who have obtained Nominations is held at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, under the direction of the Admiralty Examiners, on the third Wednesday in June, and the last Wednesday in November in each year, but the appointments date from the 15th of July and January following respectively.

No Candidate is eligible for Examination in June whose age will not be within the following limits on the 15th July following :—viz., not less than twelve nor more than thirteen and a half years of age ; nor in November whose age will not be within those limits on the 15th January following.

Every Candidate is required to pass the Medical Examination according to the prescribed regulations, and must have been found physically fit for the Royal Navy.

He must be in good health, and free from any physical defect of body, impediment of speech, defect of sight or hearing, and also from any predisposition to constitutional or hereditary disease or weakness of any kind, and in all respects well developed and active in proportion to his age.

Any Candidate rejected at the Medical Examination will, subject to the approval of the Board, be finally excluded from the Royal Navy.

The Candidate will be required to produce (1) a certificate of birth or declaration thereof made before a magistrate, (2) a certificate of good conduct from the masters of the school or schools at which he may have been educated during the two previous years, or, if educated at home, from his tutors or the clergyman of the parish in which he resides, and (3) a certificate of good health.

The Candidates are required to pass an examination in the following subjects, and, if successful, are forthwith appointed to H.M.S. "Britannia," the Training Ship for Royal Naval Cadets at Dartmouth ; and at the expiration of two years, Cadets go up for final examination for appointments on the active list of the Royal Navy. The pay of a Naval Cadet on board the Britannia is 18*l.* 5*s.* per annum.

Four-tenths of the marks assigned must be obtained in each subject—480 marks in the aggregate.

A Candidate whose age does not exceed thirteen on the 15th July or 15th January (as the case may be), who may not be successful, will be allowed to present himself again at the next Examination without undergoing a fresh Medical Examination ; but no Candidate will be allowed more than two trials. Candidates whose age exceeds thirteen on the 15th July or 15th January following the Examination will not be allowed a second trial.

Any Candidate who fails to appear at the Examination after he has obtained a Nomination will not be allowed to present himself at any future Examination without a fresh Nomination, except in the case of illness certified by a physician or surgeon, and approved by their Lordships, in which case the Candidate will be allowed to present himself at the following Examination, provided he is still within the limits of age ; but under no circumstances will such a Candidate be allowed to appear at more than one Examination.

For all Cadets entered under these regulations the annual rate of payment will be at the rate of 70*l.* per annum for the period in the "Britannia," to be paid half-yearly in advance to the Accountant-General of the Navy. But the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty reserve the power of selecting from among the Candidates nominated at each half-yearly Examination, a number, not to exceed 10, being sons of Officers of the Royal Navy, Army, or Marines, or of Civil Officers under the Board of Admiralty, with respect to whom the annual payment for the two years in the "Britannia" will be 40*l.* only. In selecting these their Lordships will have regard solely to the pecuniary circumstances of the parents or guardians of the Cadets.

No application for admission on such reduced scale will be entertained unless made before the Candidate is nominated.

The period of training on board the "Britannia" is four Terms ; two Terms in each year. The first Term of each year is from February to July, the second from August to December.

The vacations are five weeks at Christmas, two weeks at Easter, and six weeks at Midsummer.

There are Examinations in Seamanship and Study at the end of each Term.

Cadets who pass unsatisfactory Examinations at the end of any Term will be "warned," and they will be liable to be discharged at the end of the following or any subsequent Term, should they again be reported as failing to attain the proper number of marks at the Examinations.

The same rule will apply to Cadets who may be reported for unsatisfactory conduct during their service in the "Britannia."

Any Cadet who shall have been specially reported to their Lordships as for any reason unfit for the Service will be removed from the Navy.

Cadets will, on passing out of the Training Ship, take the order in which they pass their final Examination.

The parent or guardian of every Cadet will be required to provide outfit as under the regulations in force hitherto, and to sign a declaration (on the admission of the Cadet to the "Britannia") to the effect that he shall be immediately withdrawn on the receipt of an official intimation of his being considered unfit for the Royal Navy. (The cost of an outfit is 100*l.*)

Candidates entered under these regulations must understand that they are liable, at any period of their service subsequent to the date of leaving the Training Ship, to be selected to qualify for the Gunnery or Navigating Branches of the Service at the discretion of their Lordships ; who will, however, only exercise such power of selection in the event of there not being a sufficient number of volunteers for such duties.

The Princes Albert Victor and George Frederick of Wales, the eldest sons of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, were among the cadets on board H.M.S. "Britannia," and went through a regular course of training, and on the 24th July, 1879, they bade farewell to the ship, having both obtained first class in seamanship and conduct.

This establishment has been further increased by the addition of a yacht for the use of Cadets. The "Syren" having been purchased by the Admiralty for this service, but the charge is to be placed against the Cadet's fund. Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, accompanied by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and attended by the Right Hon. W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Admiralty, and others, visited the "Britannia" in 1878. After Her Royal Highness had presented the prizes to the Cadets, the Prince of Wales, standing on the deck in the uniform of the Royal Naval Reserve, said,—My lords, ladies, and gentlemen, permit me to express to you the great pleasure it has given the Princess to present to the Cadets who are about to leave the "Britannia" the prizes which they have so successfully won, and to express to you on my own part, as well as on that of the Princess, the very great pleasure it has given us to be here to witness and take part in these interesting proceedings. From Dr. Hirst we heard a most interesting and exhaustive speech regarding the studies of the Cadets and their merits. I can only wish those who are about to leave the "Britannia," and who have now fairly entered that noble service for which they have been trained, all possible success. Let me hope that the tuition they have received here will not be thrown away upon them, and that they may all emulate those bright examples to be found in English history, and of which every naval officer must be proud. To those Cadets who still remain on board this ship, I can only recommend strict assiduity to their studies, and strict obedience to discipline, and all of them to try and pass out of the "Britannia" as highly as they can, remembering, above all, that saying which one of our greatest admirals has handed down to posterity,—"England expects every man will do his duty." A personal interest which the Princess and myself take in this ship, and the confidence we have of its being an excellent practical school for boys, have been testified by the fact that we have sent our two sons among you to be educated. For myself, my only hope and trust is that they may do credit to the ship and to their country.

When the Prince and Princess arrived at Dartmouth, they were rowed to the "Britannia," one of their sons steering, and the other pulling the second bow oar. They left the ship in a boat rowed by full-grown sailors, and with their two sons, who were going home for their holidays, sitting in the stern-sheets.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING CADETS

WHILE UNDER TRAINING ON BOARD H.M.S. "BRITANNIA."

Naval Cadets who join the "Britannia" are allowed four Terms—two in each year—to complete their course of study, at the expiration of which they go up for final examination. The Terms are from the 1st February to the 15th July, and from about the 31st August to the 20th December; and the vacations are six weeks at Midsummer, five weeks at Christmas, and two weeks at Easter; the dates of commencement of vacation depending upon the completion of the examinations by the President of the Royal Naval College, Greenwich. The friends of the Cadets must be prepared to receive them during all the vacations. The following payment will be required from the Parents or Guardian of each Cadet while in the "Britannia": before the commencement of each Term, 35*l.*, except in the case of those received at the reduced rate of 40*l.* a-year, whose half-yearly payments will be 20*l.* only. The Cadets have a weekly allowance, and all expenses attending their amusements are paid for by the Ship. All letters relative to the Cadets should be addressed as follows:—"The Commanding Officer, H.M.S. 'Britannia,' Dartmouth." Should Cadets bring valuable gold watches or chains with them to the Training Ship, they will be taken from them and placed in security, until they return to their homes. Silver watches will be allowed to be used. Parents or guardians of Cadets must, in all cases of permanent change of residence, communicate the same to the Captain of the Training Ship, without delay. The list of articles required for a Naval Cadet on joining Her Majesty's ship "Britannia" are as follows:—A midshipman's sea chest complete, with name in full on top, engraved on plain brass plate:—length, 3 feet 6 in.; breadth, 2 feet; height, 2 feet 3 in. It is requested that the chest may be at Dartmouth seven days previous to the Cadet's joining. 3 pillow cases; 1 hair mattress, 5 ft. 6 in. by 1 ft. 9 in.; 1 hair pillow; 2 blankets, 1 counterpane, 3 pair sheets, 6 ft. 6 in. by 4 ft. 6 in.; 1 uniform jacket, 1 ditto trousers, 1 ditto waistcoat, 1 ditto cap, peak  $\frac{1}{2}$  turn down, each superfine; 2 working uniform suits (one of thick flannel, one of pilot cloth); 1 uniform working cap, peak  $\frac{1}{2}$  turn down; 12 white shirts; 12 collars; 6 night shirts; 12 pair merino socks; 3 white flannel trousers, well shrunk; 6 pair drawers, merino; 3 white flannel shirts (with collars to turn down); 3 lambswool under-vests; 2 white waistcoats; 12 towels; 7 merino vests; 2 black silk neckties (made up); 2 pair braces; 3 pair strong laced boots, with thick soles; 1 clothes brush; 1 sponge; 1 carpet bag; 1 clothes bag; 12 pocket-handkerchiefs; 1 pair elastic-side Oxford shoes, with strong soles; 1 brush and comb; 1 tooth brush; 1 nail brush.

ENTRY OF NAVAL CADETS.

The following new Regulations respecting Naval Cadets first took effect in 1881:—

1. Appointments to Naval Cadetships will be made by limited competition, with the under-mentioned exceptions,—Four Cadetships given annually to sons of gentlemen in the Colonies, on the recommendation of the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Service Cadetships, the total number of which is not to exceed five in any one year. Service Cadets will be selected by the Board of Admiralty from (a) the sons of officers of the Army, Navy, or Marines who have been killed in action, or have been lost at sea on active service, or killed on duty, or who have died of wounds received in action, or injuries received on duty, within six months from the date of such action or injury; (b) sons of officers of the Navy who have performed long or distinguished services, and who hold, or have held, rank or relative rank on the active list not lower than that of Commander; not more than two such Service Cadets to be nominated annually. Applications for Service Cadetships should be addressed to the Military Secretary

Horse Guards, if the Candidate is the son of an officer of the Army ; to the Secretary of the Admiralty, if the Candidate is a son of an officer of the Navy or Marines ; and to the Military Secretary, India Office, if the Candidate is the son of an officer of the Indian Army. Colonial and Service Cadets will be entered on passing the preliminary or test examination specified in par. 8, and will in all other respects be subject to these regulations. (1) The examination of Candidates nominated to compete, and also of Service Cadets, will be conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners ; a fee of 10s. will be required from each Candidate. (2) In arithmetic the Candidate will be required to obtain five-tenths, and in each of the other subjects of the test examination four-tenths of the marks allotted thereto. In English the Candidate must obtain four-tenths of the marks allotted for each of the two subdivisions of the subjects.

2. Except in special circumstances, not more than one-third of the number of Candidates actually presenting themselves before the Civil Service Commissioners will be entered.

3. Nominations for Naval Cadetships will take place half-yearly, as soon as convenient after the report of the last examination has been received.

4. Examination of the young gentlemen who have obtained nominations will be held in London, and will commence on the second Wednesday in June and the last Wednesday in November in each year, and the appointments will date from the 15th of July and the 15th of January following, respectively.

5. No candidate will be eligible for examination in June, whose age will not be within the following limits on the 15th of July following, viz., not less than 12 nor more than  $13\frac{1}{2}$  years of age ; nor in November, whose age will not be within those limits on the 15th of January following.

6. Every Candidate must be in good health, and free from any physical defect of body, impediment of speech, defect of sight or hearing, and also from any predisposition to constitutional or hereditary disease or weakness of any kind, and in all respects well developed and active in proportion to his age. Before being examined by the Civil Service Commissioners, he will be required to pass the medical examination according to the prescribed regulations, and must have been found physically fit for the Navy ; rejection at such examination will finally exclude him from the Navy.

7. The Candidate will be required to produce (1) a certificate of the date of his birth (a certificate of baptism will not be accepted), or a declaration thereof made before a magistrate ; (2) a certificate of good conduct from the masters of the school or schools at which he may have been educated during the two previous years, or if educated at home, from his tutor or the clergyman of the parish in which he resides ; and (3) a certificate of good health.

8. Candidates will be tested in examination in the following subjects :— (1) Arithmetic, including proportion, vulgar and decimal fractions, 200 marks. (2) Algebra, including fractions and simple equations with one unknown quantity, 175 marks. (3) Geometry, definitions, postulates, axioms, and subjects of the first 26 propositions of Euclid's "Elements," 175 marks. (4) English, writing and spelling from dictation, 100 marks. (5) French, translating, by aid of a dictionary, French into English, and English into French ; reading, parsing, and speaking, 200 marks. Scripture history, 100 marks. Candidates will be further examined in any two of the following subjects they may select :—Elementary mathematics, miscellaneous questions in arithmetic, algebra, including quadratic equations, and geometry to the end of the first book of Euclid's "Elements," 300 marks, Geography and English history outlines, 300 marks.

9. The final order of merit will be determined by the sum of the marks obtained in the test, as well as in the further examination. Colonial and Service Cadets will be appointed on passing the test examination; they must, however, obtain 660 marks in the aggregate, as well as the proportion of marks in arithmetic and other subjects required from the Candidates who compete.

10. A Candidate who passes the test examination, but does not succeed in the competition, will be entitled to compete at the next examination, provided he is within the Regulations as to limits of age at that time. No Candidate will be allowed to compete more than twice. A Candidate who fails to pass the test will not be entitled to another trial; but he will be allowed to compete at the next examination, if he receives a fresh nomination, and is still within the limits of age.

11. A Candidate who, owing to illness, fails to appear at the examination for which he has obtained his nomination, may receive a second nomination, provided he is still within the limits of age.

12. For all Cadets entered under these Regulations, the payment will be at the rate of £70 p<sup>a</sup> annum, for the period in the Britannia, to be paid half-yearly in advance to the Accountant-General of the Navy. But the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty reserve the power of selecting, from among the Cadets entered at each half-yearly examination, a number not to exceed ten, being sons of officers of the Navy, Army, or Marines, or of civil officers under the Board of Admiralty, with respect to whom the annual payment will be £40 only. In this selection their Lordships will have regard solely to the pecuniary circumstances of the Cadets.

13. The period of training on board the Britannia will be four terms; there will be two terms in each year. The first term of each year will be from February to July, the second from September to December. The vacations will be five weeks at Christmas, two weeks at Easter, and six weeks at Midsummer.

14. There will be examinations in seamanship and study at the end of each term. Cadets who pass unsatisfactory examinations, or who are reported for unsatisfactory conduct, will be "warned," and they will be liable to be discharged at the end of the following or any subsequent term, should they again be reported as failing to attain the proper number of marks at the examinations, or for unsatisfactory conduct. If a Cadet is reported for unsatisfactory conduct during his final term, he will be discharged without being allowed to present himself at the examination for passing out of the Britannia. Any Cadet who shall appear to their Lordships for any reason to be unfit for the Service will be removed from the Britannia.

15. It is to be distinctly understood that the period of training on board the Britannia is a time of probation, and the parent or guardian of every Cadet will be required to sign a declaration (on the admission of the Cadet to the Britannia) to the effect that he shall be immediately withdrawn on the receipt of an official intimation of his being considered unfit for the Navy.

16. Cadets will, on passing out of the Britannia, rank according to the amount of sea-time they obtain at their final examination, and those who obtain equal amounts of sea-time will rank in the order of merit in which they pass out of the Britannia.

17. The parent or guardian of every Cadet will be required to provide outfit under the Regulations in force.

18. Pay and pocket-money will not be allowed by Government to the Cadets entered in and after June 1881.

THE ROYAL MARINE ARTILLERY.

Admission to this arm of the service as Probationary Lieutenants is offered to successful candidates in order of merit at the half-yearly open competitions for admission to the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich. The Examinations are held in July and December, and are conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners. Candidates should first send in their names to the Secretary of the Admiralty. The limits of age are from sixteen to eighteen. The standard of height is at present 5ft. 5in. Certificates of birth and moral character are required, and all candidates are examined by a Medical Board. The subjects of examination are the same as those prescribed for admission to the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich (See page 150). Successful candidates are appointed Lieutenants on probation, and proceed to the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, where two Examinations are held in each year. Those who "pass" at the end of the first session remain at the College for another session, and if they "pass" again, they will receive their commissions in the Royal Marine Artillery in order of merit.

Each successful candidate at the Examination for entry must deposit the sum of 80*l.* with the Accountant-General of the Navy before he can be appointed a Lieutenant on probation. This is to provide for his equipment at the Royal Naval College, and on joining his division. The pay of a Lieutenant on probation is 5*s.* 3*d.* per diem.

ROYAL NAVAL COLLEGE, GREENWICH. SCHOOL OF NAVAL ARCHITECTURE AND MARINE ENGINEERING.

This Institution is open to private students of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering, at a fee of 30*l.* per session, or 75*l.* for the course of 3 years. The session is from the 1st of October to 30th of June; and during the summer months, by the courtesy of the Lords of the Admiralty, British students are admitted to the public dockyards for the study of Practical Shipbuilding and Marine Engineering. Professional certificates are granted. Courses of Lectures on professional subjects are given during the session.

The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have accepted an offer from the Committee of Lloyd's to establish an annual Scholarship of 50*l.* a-year, tenable for three years, to be competed for by Private Students of Naval Architecture or Marine Engineering at the Royal Naval College. The regulations as to the competition for such Scholarship will be supplied by the Secretary. Candidates desiring to compete, being British subjects, must apply to the Secretary of the Admiralty, Whitehall, to enter the Royal Naval College as Private Students. They will be required to pass satisfactorily the entrance Examination for Private Students. The Candidate selected will enter the Royal Naval College, and remain there for three sessions, undergoing the full course in Naval Architecture or Marine Engineering, as may be determined by the Committee. He will reside outside the College.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING EXAMINATIONS FOR FIRST APPOINTMENTS TO THE ROYAL MARINES.

ROYAL MARINE LIGHT INFANTRY.

Admission to the Royal Marine Light Infantry will be offered to the successful Candidates, in order of merit (according to the number of vacancies), at the Open Competitive Examinations for admission to the Royal Military College at Sandhurst. The Examinations will be conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners, and will take place twice a-year, in the months of July and December. Candidates who have received permission from the Horse Guards to attend the Examination, and who are desirous of obtaining an appointment in the Royal Marine Light Infantry, should send in their names to the Secretary to the Admiralty, to whom all enquiries on the subject should be addressed.—2. The limits of age for Candidates for admission by competition will be from 17 to 20; for Students of the Universities, who shall have passed the Interim Examination, from 17 to 21; for Graduates of the Universities who shall have passed the Examination for the Degree of B.A. or M.A., from 17 to 22; and for Lieutenants from the Militia, who are eligible for Commissions in the Army as Lieutenants, and are recommended by the Horse Guards, from 19 to 22. They must be 5 ft. 5 in. in height.—3. Candidates must be within the prescribed limits of age on the following dates:—Candidates for admission by Competition: On the 1st of January next following the Winter Examination, and on the 1st of July for the Midsummer Examination. Lieutenants from the Militia: On the 1st of May of the year in which they are recommended for a Commission.—4. The successful Candidates will be appointed Lieutenants in the Royal Marine Light Infantry, and will be posted on the list of their Corps in the order in which they passed their Examination. They will join their respective divisions at once, and be instructed in their Drill and Military duties for service ashore and afloat. They will also undergo a course of Garrison or Military Instruction.—5. Each successful Candidate at the Examination for entry must deposit the sum of 80*l.* with the Accountant-General of the Navy, before he can be appointed Lieutenant in the Royal Marine Light Infantry, to provide for his equipment on joining his Division.

Candidates will also be tested as to their ability to read aloud with clearness, distinctness, and accuracy, and without hesitation. Stammering or any imperfection of utterance will be regarded as a disqualification.

8. Candidates who fail to pass in the first three subjects (those marked with an asterisk), or in reading aloud, will be disqualified, and their other papers will not be examined. The Candidates who display a competent knowledge of all those subjects, and who obtain not less than 750 marks in the aggregate, will be classed in one general list in order of merit, according to the number of marks gained, and will be eligible for appointment as Engineer Students in one of the Dockyards, according to the number of appointments which it may be decided to make that year.

THE ROYAL NAVAL SCHOOL,

NEW CROSS, KENT.

Patron.—The Queen.

President.—Admiral the Hon. Arthur Duncombe, with 28 Vice-Presidents and a Council of 30 members.

This excellent Institution was founded in 1831, and was projected by Capt. Dickson, by voluntary contributions, the late Dr. Bell heading the list with 10,000*l.*, and incorporated by Act of Parliament in 1840. Nearly 200 boys, 160 being boarders, are prepared for the Universities, for the Naval, Military, East Indian, and Civil Services, for the Preliminary Examinations for the Legal and Medical Professions, and for Mercantile and other pursuits. The course of instruction includes Divinity, English, French, German, Latin, Greek, Ancient and Modern History and Geography, Arithmetic, Navigation, Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, &c. Lectures are given on scientific and general subjects each Term. There is Divine Service in the School Chapel on Sundays. There are good Playgrounds, a Cricket-field of about 4 acres, a large Swimming-bath, a Fives Court, a Gymnasium, and a Library on the premises. Terms: for sons of Officers in the Royal Navy or Marines, 42*l.* 10*s.* per ann. with a nomination, 45*l.* without a nomination; for grandsons, nephews, and stepsons of Officers in the Royal Navy or Marines, of Wardroom rank; sons of Officers in the Army; sons of Civil servants of the Crown, 48*l.* per annum (no nomination required);—for sons of gentlemen not in the service of the Crown, 58*l.* per annum (no nomination required). The number of these pupils is limited by the Bye-laws. These charges include board, education, stationery, washing, and medical attendance. Prizes offered for competition yearly: Gold Medal, Classical Silver Medal, Mathematical Silver Medal, Three Silver “Cookney” Medals for Industry and Good Conduct, Vellum Medallion Certificates are awarded as premiums for distinguished merit, Prizes of Books, &c. University Exhibitions: One of 10*l.* per annum, tenable for four years, open to the whole School; the Malcolm Scholarship of about 30*l.* per annum, tenable for three years, for sons of Officers in the Royal Navy or Marines; the Clothworkers’ Scholarship of 30*l.* per annum, tenable for three years, open to the whole School: Ten Guineas-worth of Books are presented to a pupil proceeding direct from the School to the University, provided his general conduct shall have merited the gift; four Nominations for Naval Cadetships, a Nomination for an Assistant Clerkship, R.N., the Yarborough Scholarship (value about 35*l.*) is given as a Naval prize, and is open to competition amongst the sons of Officers of the Royal Navy or Marines. Other nominations are occasionally given for competition amongst the pupils. The Examinations take place at end of Summer Term, and are conducted by the Cambridge Syndicate. The Right Hon. Lord Northbrook, First Lord of the Admiralty, distributed the prizes to the successful students in 1880, and Sir Thomas Brassey in 1881. The vacations are, in the summer for six weeks, and at Christmas for four weeks. At Easter, leave is granted for about a fortnight. Head Master and Chaplain, the Rev. James White, M.A., late Head Master of the Oxford Military College, and formerly Mathematical Instructor at the Military Academy, Woolwich, and a large staff of assistant Masters, who are graduates in honours of Oxford or Cambridge. Secretary, Alfred Eames.

GREENWICH HOSPITAL SCHOOL.

REGULATIONS FOR THE ADMISSION OF BOYS TO GREENWICH HOSPITAL SCHOOL.

President.—Vice-Admiral W. Garnham Luard, C.B.

This School was established in 1801, and now consists of nearly 1,000 boys, the sons of petty officers and seamen, and of non-commissioned officers and privates of marines, who have served, or are now serving, in the Royal Navy or Coastguard, and of other seafaring persons. All claims for admission to the School will be judged of by a Committee of Selection, appointed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, in the following order of precedence, special consideration being given to length of service at sea:—1. Orphans, both parents dead.—2. Sons of fathers killed, drowned, deceased, wounded, or seriously maimed in Her Majesty's Service, or while employed by Her Majesty on board a merchant ship, or in action with an enemy, pirate, or rebel.—3. Those whose fathers, having served in the Royal Navy or Marines, are dead.—4. Those whose fathers are serving, and whose mothers are dead.—5. Sons of naval and marine pensioners. Sons of seamen and marines now serving, both parents living.—6. Sons of seamen or marines entitled to the benefits of Greenwich Hospital, not included in the foregoing classes.—7. Sons of other seafaring persons. — The sons of commissioned and other officers are not absolutely excluded, provided that the peculiar circumstances of their case render them eligible for this charity. Applications for admission are to be made to the Secretary of the Admiralty (Greenwich Hospital Branch), London, when the necessary forms will be sent, which, when properly filled up, must be returned as directed, with the three following documents:—(a) A certificate of the marriage of the parents; or, if not attainable, other satisfactory proof thereof; (b) Register of the boy's birth; (c) A certificate from the clergyman of the parish to which the boy belongs, or from the minister of his denomination, or from the master of the school at which the boy has been educated as to his character and moral conduct. The services of the father upon which the claim is founded will be ascertained at the Admiralty, and due notice will be given without further application, should the child be selected for admission into the School. Boys are eligible for admission between 10½ and 13 years of age; they must be physically fit for sea service, able to read an easy sentence, and possess a knowledge of the first four rules in arithmetic. Applications will not be received until the Candidates are 10½ years of age. Boys will be discharged from the General Division on the first day of the month succeeding that in which they shall attain 13 years of age, unless they volunteer, with the consent of their parents or guardians, to enter the Royal Navy as boys, in which case, if they are reported physically fit, they will be retained in the School until 15 years of age, and then entered for continuous service in the Royal Navy. Vacancies, occasioned by boys unwilling or unfit to serve in the Royal Navy, will be filled up by selection from the sons of seamen and marines who are 13 years of age, fit and willing for service in the Royal Navy, and able to pass a sufficient Examination in reading, writing, and arithmetic. Applications for admission of boys at the age of 13 must be made six months previously, in the same manner as above directed, and the parents or guardians must sign an agreement before the boy is admitted, that he shall serve in the Royal Navy for a period of ten years' continuous and general service from the age of 18, in addition to whatever period may be necessary until he attains that age, otherwise that he shall be bound apprentice in the Merchant Service for four years, and enrolled in the Royal Naval Reserve. The Nautical or Selected Division will consist of 120 boys, who will be entered from the General Division by competitive Examination. At the age of 13, the boys in this Division of the School will be required to enter into an agreement, jointly with their parents or guardians, to enter the Royal Navy at the conclusion of their tuition, in such capacities as they may be found best qualified to fill. If they then be reported physically fit, they will be retained in the School until 15½ years of age, otherwise they will be discharged. Should there not be a sufficient number of boys qualified to fill the positions of pupil teachers, writers, and ship stewards' boys in the Royal Navy, from the Selected Division, boys from the General Division, who may volunteer, and who are able to pass the necessary Examination, will be appointed as may be required. The education of the boys in the General Division will comprise the usual elements of a sound English education, alternating with practical seamanship, and other industrial occupations designed to prepare them for a seafaring life. In the Nautical Division, elementary mathematics and mechanics, navigation, nautical astronomy, and French will be taught. A thorough knowledge of the art of swimming being one of the requirements for entry into the Royal Navy, all boys in the School will be taught to swim, and be periodically examined as to their proficiency. Children of Roman Catholics, or of Protestants not being members of the Church of England, will not be required to learn the Church Catechism, and will be allowed to attend convenient places of public worship in accordance with the religious persuasions of their fathers, provided application be made to that effect at the time of admission, by the father, if living; and if the father be dead at the time of the child's admission, then the marriage certificate of the parents, or baptismal register of such child, according to the rites and ceremonies of any established religious community of a date previous to the said father's death, will be received as evidence of the religious tenets of the father; that is, provided no authentic document written by the deceased father be produced, expressing a contrary wish or direction as regards the religious instruction of such child.

THE MARINE SOCIETY,

H.M.S. "WARSPITE."

The Marine Society was instituted in the year 1756, and incorporated in the year 1772. It owes its origin to the sentiments of humanity and benevolence exerted in behalf of a number of wretched and distressed boys, who at the suggestion of an individual nobleman were in the spring of the year 1756, collected together by that active Magistrate, Sir John Fielding, clothed at the expense of the Duke of Bolton, and sent to serve on board His Majesty's Ship "Barfleur," then under his Grace's command.

One hundred and twenty years have passed since the Marine Society began its work of taking these poor boys from the streets, and training them for the service of their country at sea. During all these years the work of the Society has steadily progressed, until now the number sent to sea has reached 58,466, and in place of the little "Beatty" with her crew of 40 boys,—the first training-ship that ever floated in English or any other water,—the noble line of battle-ship, "Warspite," lies moored at Woolwich with 300 boys on her decks. The ship lies off Charlton Pier, a few miles only down the river; she is always open to friends, and there are few more interesting sights near the metropolis than that which a visit to the "Warspite" affords. The age for boys on admission is from thirteen to sixteen, height from 4 ft. 8 in.; and the general system of training is, as far as means will allow, the same as that practised in the Royal Navy. In addition to the ordinary seamanship instruction and swimming, the boys are taught the great gun exercise, rifle and cutlass drills—a point of much importance, as laying the foundation of their fitness eventually for joining the Royal Naval Reserve. Ninety-three boys learned to swim last summer.

The utility of this humane design, in rescuing from misery and reclaiming as many as possible of this class of neglected youths from the paths of idleness, and too probably of infamy and perdition, was so obvious, that the plan was immediately followed up by the most active philanthropy by Mr. Walker, of Lincoln's Inn, who had accidentally met with those lads on their way to join the "Barfleur." By subscription which he promoted, from three to four hundred boys were in a short time clothed and provided for, in a profession most likely to make them useful and creditable members of the community.

From the establishment of this Institution in June of the year 1756 to the close of the War 1763, the Governors of this Society clothed and fitted out for the sea service the following number :—

|                                                                |        |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|--------|

| Sent into the Royal Navy ... ..                                | 26,950 |
| " " Indian Navy ... ..                                         | 3,760  |
| " " Merchant Service ... ..                                    | 22,582 |

The total number of boys fitted out since the commencement of the establishment in June, 1756, to 31st Dec., 1876, is ... 58,466

Number of Landsmen to whom a bounty of sea-clothing was given by this Society (on condition of their serving on board ships in the Royal Navy) from the first establishment of the Institution in June, 1756, to the year 1814 ... 39,360

Total Number ... .. 97,826

The great advantages accruing to the public from this benevolent Institution, in every view of its policy, humanity, and charity, and its importance to the country at large, as well as to the forlorn destitute beings who are its primary object, are so obvious, that the Author of this book hopes the space he has devoted in giving a full official account of the Society may induce many new patrons to give it the benefit of their support. The total number sent to sea since the Marine Society placed the first training ship on the river is 59,400. These poor or destitute boys have been trained and sent to sea. An amount of good work has thus been accomplished in the face of many difficulties which needs no comment, so obviously useful is it to the country at large. Society's Offices, Bishopsgate Street Within.

Superintendent on Board the "Warspite."—Captain Arthur W. Gillett, R.N.

THAMES NAUTICAL TRAINING COLLEGE,

H.M.S. "WORCESTER."

Offices: 72, Mark Lane, London, E.C.

The difficulty experienced in providing properly qualified Officers for Merchant vessels induced several gentlemen interested in shipping to form an Association for the purpose of remedying in some degree this acknowledged deficiency; and we have every reason to believe that valuable results, in a national point of view, are accruing from this undertaking.

The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, on being applied to, placed first the "Worcester," a fine 50-gun frigate, which was fitted and opened for the reception of pupils on the 4th August, 1862; the "Frederick William," 72 guns and 4,725 tons was afterwards, in 1877, substituted; this vessel, however, retaining the name of the "Worcester." She is moored off Greenhithe, Kent. and accommodates about 200 boys, who are trained for a seafaring life under an able Commander and Schoolmasters. The boys are taught practical seamanship, such as knotting, splicing, reefing, furling, heaving the lead, management of boats, swimming, &c., also navigation, and nautical astronomy, and besides the usual branches of a sound English Education, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Mechanics, Steam Engine, Marine Surveying, Freehand Drawing, Chart Drawing, and the French Language, are taught to all on board. Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen grants two prizes annually for competition, and the Lords of the Admiralty present annually to the "Worcester Cadets" six commissions as midshipmen in the Royal Naval Reserve. Boys usually leave after two years' training.

The annual fees for admission in the Upper School for cadets from thirteen to sixteen years of age are fifty guineas, and in the Lower School for cadets from eleven to thirteen years of age, forty-five guineas, and ten guineas per annum for Uniform, Medical Attendance, Washing, and use of School Books and Stationery. The year is divided into three terms. The Uniform consists of best blue jacket, waistcoat, trowsers, cap, and badge, also one pair second quality blue cloth trowsers and cap, and three uniform serge shirts. Thomas Brassey, Esq., M.P., distributed the prizes in 1878. Visitors are admitted to the ship on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 2 to 4.

OFFICERS.

Commander.—Capt. J. Henderson Smith, Lieut. R.N.R.

Head Master and Chaplain.—Rev. W. T. Read, M.A.

Hon. Secretary.—W. M. Bullivant, Esq

Treasurer.—The Right Hon. Stephen Cave, M.P., 35, Wilton Place, S.W.

MERCANTILE MARINE SERVICE ASSOCIATION, LIVERPOOL.

SCHOOL SHIP.—H.M.S. "CONWAY," ROCK FERRY, RIVER MERSEY.

Incorporated by special Act of Parliament. This institution (now conducted on board H.M.S. Conway, moored in the river Mersey, off Rock Ferry) is designed mainly to train and educate boys intended for officers in the Mercantile Marine or Merchant Navy. There is a complete and efficient nautical and educational staff maintained, by whom the boys are carefully and regularly instructed, and exercised in all the duties of a first-class ship, and receive a general education. Her Majesty the Queen has been pleased to declare her intention to present annually a Gold Medal to the boys of the Conway. "Her Majesty's wish in the establishment of this prize is to encourage the boys to acquire and maintain the qualities which will make the finest sailor." Her Majesty has also been pleased, with a view to encourage boys of the Conway to qualify themselves for Cadetships in the Navy when granted by the Admiralty, to declare her intention of offering a prize annually to the boys who compete for Cadetships in Her Majesty's service. This prize will consist of a Binocular Glass, with a suitable inscription, and a sum of 35*l.* towards the expense of the outfit of the boy who obtains the prize. Ten appointments annually as midshipmen in the Royal Naval Reserve are given by the Lords of the Admiralty. The terms of admission are 40 guineas per annum, payable half-yearly in advance. 10 guineas are also charged at the commencement of each year for the uniform and outer clothing, medical attendance, washing, use of books, and stationery. The parents or friends of boys are required to find their under-clothing and shoes. The sons of officers in the Royal Navy are admitted at 30 guineas instead of 40 guineas per annum. No boys are received under the age of 12, or who have passed their 16th birthday. In school all the pupils are under the 2 senior Masters and their Assistants. Their studies comprise English Grammar, Reading, Composition, History, Geography, Writing; Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Navigation, Nautical Astronomy, Swimming, and Chart Drawing. The holidays are from the 1st to the 31st of July, and from the 20th of December to the 31st of January. The system of education is framed with a view to the boys remaining on board not less than 2 years.

Commander.—Capt. E. B. H. Franklin, R.N.

TRAINING SHIPS CHICHESTER AND ARETHUSA.

Offices: 25, Great Queen Street, Holborn.

On board these ships about 300 boys are wholly supported and trained as Sailors for the Merchant Service and Royal Navy.

This is one of the most practical and useful Charities for helping destitute boys to a useful life and to be of service to the country.

Secretary.—William Williams.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATIONS FOR THE ARMY.

Preliminary Examinations for admission to the Royal Military College will be held in London, Edinburgh, and Dublin on the 6th and 7th of February, and on the 12th and 13th of March, 1884, under the regulations issued with G. O. 113 of 1880. No Preliminary Examination for admission to Sandhurst will take place immediately preceding the "Further Examination" of July 1884.

ARMY CLASSES

Lt.-Colonel SEAGRIM,

LATE ROYAL SCOTS, PERTHSHIRE LIGHT INFANTRY, AND STAFF CORPS, SUPERINTENDENT.

---

The year is divided into Three Terms :—Spring Term, January 7th to April 15th ; Midsummer Term, April 21st to July 10th ; Autumn Term, September 1st to December 20th.

FEES.—Resident Pupils, 55 guineas per Term of fourteen weeks ; including Tuition, Board, Residence and Laundress.

Non-resident Pupils 25 guineas per Term of fourteen weeks.

Fees of Pupils entered at the beginning of Term are payable in advance ; those of Pupils entered at any other time, in advance for the remaining part of the current Term.

A Pupil once entered a Term's notice of removal is required, or in the absence of this, a Term's payment.

Medical attendance and firing, when required, are the only extras for residents, if mathematical instruments and books are brought.

Payments are requested to be made by cheque on an English bank in favour of Messrs. Marcel & Co., Lausanne.

The houses stand in extensive grounds in the country, and are especially adapted for Pupils.

RECREATION.—Football, Cricket, Lawn-Tennis, and Boating on the Lake of Geneva.

Colonel SEAGRIM devotes his entire time to the Pupils, and specially limits himself as to number to ensure the greatest possible thoroughness in the work.

Lausanne is remarkable for beauty of situation and as a health resort. Water is obtained from the Alps, and its drainage system is perfect.

Colonel SEAGRIM (assisted by Captain WALKER, late R.A.) teaches the military subjects required from officers in and before entering the Army. His experience as Brigade Major, Assistant Adjutant-General, Garrison Instructor (honorary) and Judge Advocate, will be a guarantee that instruction will be imparted, as therefore, with absolute success. The military subjects are taught as at Sandhurst.

To Students desirous of proficiency in Modern Languages special advantages present themselves, French and German being spoken, the masters those of the Academy, Lausanne, and of proved ability.

Students are accompanied to London for the examinations.

ROYAL INDIAN ENGINEERING COLLEGE, COOPER'S HILL, MIDDLESEX.

Post Town, Staines. The nearest Railway Station, Egham, Surrey.

This College has been recently placed on a new basis, and the advantages afforded by it as a Training Institution for those who purpose adopting the Civil Engineering Profession in India or elsewhere are now offered to all persons desirous to follow the course of study pursued there.

A number of students, not exceeding 50, will be admitted to the College in September, 1884. Candidates for admission must, on the 1st July, 1884, be over 17 and under 21 years of age and must give satisfactory proof of their having received a fair general education.

The Secretary of State for India will offer Ten Appointments in the Indian Public Works Department for competition among the students entering the College in September, 1884, at the termination of their prescribed three years' College course, that is, in the summer of 1887.

For all further particulars apply, by letter only, to the Secretary, Public Works Department, India Office, S.W.; or to the President, Royal Indian Engineering College, Cooper's Hill, Staines.

This College was founded for the service of the Government of India, to supply Civil Engineers for the Indian public works, and an extensive range of buildings has been recently erected by additions to the mansion on Cooper's Hill. The site is peculiarly commanding and well chosen, the views of the surrounding country being most picturesque. The architect, Sir Digby Wyatt, has, by judicious alterations, and by the erection of new buildings, produced a handsome College, with accommodation for 150 Students. The studies involve a three years' course, so that every year there will be 50 fresh Students.

The College was originally established under the order of the Secretary of State for India in Council, and, as above stated, with a view to the education of Civil Engineers for the service of Government in the Indian Public Works Department.

Admission is obtained by a Pass Examination, to which all British-born subjects between the ages of 19 and 21 years on the 1st day of July of each year, are eligible, but intending competitors will be required to furnish satisfactory evidence of fitness to the Civil Service Commissioners.

The course of special education for the Candidates selected by this competition extends over three years, and all the Students who pass through it successfully may obtain appointments in the Indian Public Works Department, as Assistant Engineers, and will be provided with a free passage to India.

The College course will extend over three years, each divided into three terms, with vacations of four weeks at Christmas, two weeks at Easter, and eight weeks in the summer.

An annual charge of 150*l.* will be made for each Student, in three payments of 50*l.* per term, which must be paid in advance to the Accountant-General, India Office.

The system of instruction will be partly what is usually termed professorial, by delivery of lectures, and partly tutorial, that is, in supervision of and assistance given to the Students in their work. There will be specified courses of lectures and times of instruction, at which attendance will be obligatory, but the Professors and Instructors in each branch will also give additional instruction to those who desire it. A free passage to India is provided, and a commencing salary of 420*l.* is given to each successful candidate, the appointment being "Assistant Engineer, Second Grade."

The Pass Examination is held in the latter end of June or beginning of July, under the orders of the Civil Service Commissioners, and embraces the following subjects (see abbreviations, page 199) :—

1. E. C. 1, E. Hy., and Literature, marks assigned, 750 ; 2. Mths, 2,500 ; 3. Ln., 1,000 ; 4. Gk., 1,000 ; 5. F., 750 ; 6. G., 750 ; 7. Inorganic Chemistry, 700 ; 8. Heat and Light, 700 ; 9. Electricity and Magnetism, 700 ; 10. Geology and Physical Geography, 700 ; 11. Mechanical Drawing of Geometrical Figures, 500 ; 12. Freehand (Figure and Landscape) Drawing, 500.

Of these subjects two will be compulsory, viz :—1. E. C. 1, to the extent of a Candidate's being able to write grammatically and with correct spelling. An exercise will also be given in W. Dic. 2. The following branches of mathematics—viz., ac., algebra, Eucl. (first four and sixth books), mensuration, plane trigonometry, and the elements of statics and dynamics.

The obligatory subjects of study at the College are :—Mathematics, pure and applied, with the Mechanics of Engineering ; Theory and Practice of Construction ; Elementary Principles of Architectural Design ; Surveying ; Mechanical Drawing and Descriptive Geometry ; Chemistry, Physics, and Geology ; Hindustani and History and Geography of India ; Accounts.

The optional subjects taught are :—Higher Mathematics in extension of the obligatory course ; Natural Science, ditto ; Architecture, ditto ; Free-hand Drawing ; Photography.

A Final Examination for Indian appointments will be held during the last year, which will be conducted by special Examiners not connected with the College. This Final Examination, in addition to paper work and vivâ voce questioning, will embrace exercises in surveying, drawing, designing, and estimating, which will occupy some weeks in execution. The subjects of examination are divided into four branches, viz. :—

1. Engineering, including Drawing, Architecture, Surveying, and Accounts.
2. Mathematics including the Mechanics of Engineering.
3. Natural Science.
4. Hindustani, and History and Geography of India.

Further particulars regarding the course of studies and distribution of marks allotted at the Final Examination will be found in the College Calendar. The Calendar also contains the papers set at the Entrance Competitive Examination.

Each Student is provided with a separate room furnished, and with fuel and light, also with the necessary attendance. He is required to supply his own bed-linen and towels. Meals are taken in hall. Wine and beer are not included in the ordinary fare, but are supplied from the College cellar. A chapel is attached to the College. Every Student will be required to go through a course of exercise in the gymnasium, and of military exercises, including the use of the rifle.

Students are required to wear academical dress under such regulations as may be prescribed by the President.

Every passed Student before proceeding to India will be required to furnish evidence of his competency in riding.

There are scholarships and prizes available to the Students of the College.

NOTE.

IN this newly classified section, referring to the Public Schools, many important leading Colleges and Schools in the United Kingdom have become, by their work and the number of the scholars, entitled to take rank with our more ancient institutions, hitherto known as the "nine great Public Schools," and these are now introduced into Part V. under the designation of "Our Chief Public Schools." For convenience of reference they are classified in alphabetical order, instead of being placed, as in previous editions, in accordance with the dates of their respective foundations. In making this selection the Compiler had three important points to consider: 1stly, a certain permanence (i.e., such an endowment as might reasonably ensure the perpetuity of a school apart from its temporary success under a popular master); 2ndly, as regards the number of pupils, which would be an important element in entitling a school to a place among our "leading Institutions"; and 3rdly, that the course of instruction should be in strict accordance with a "first grade" education. Great difficulty is necessarily experienced in "drawing a hard and fast line" in this section of the work, as doubtless several important Schools now omitted might be included herein; but, after consulting some of the highest authorities on the subject, to whose judgment and candour the Compiler feels deeply indebted, he has finally decided upon including only the twenty-four additional Schools now appearing; nevertheless, the list is still open to revision in future editions, and he will at all times be pleased to know and consider the views of those interested in the subject.

BEDFORD GRAMMAR SCHOOL,

ST. PAUL'S SQUARE, BEDFORD.

This School is one of the sixteen Grammar Schools licensed by letters patent of King Edward VI. in 1552. It was endowed by Sir William Harpur in 1566. The endowment meets about one half of the real cost of the education, the other part being defrayed by the fees. Under the new scheme approved by the Endowed School Commissioners, the old restrictions on the enjoyment of the privileges of the endowment have been removed, and no previous residence is required. The School has lately been reconstituted under a new Governing Body, and there are at present about 450 boys in attendance. Participates in an endowment of over 15,000*l.* per annum, to the extent of 4,800*l.* There is (1) a Classical department, in which boys are regularly prepared for the Universities, and specially for the Indian Civil Service; (2) a Civil and Military department, in which no Greek is taught, the extra time being given to Mathematics and Modern Languages. On this side boys are specially prepared for Woolwich and Sandhurst, under Mr. W. Seys Phillips, who is experienced in preparing for these examinations. Boys are admitted at or above 8 years of age, and it is recommended that they should enter as early as possible. Boys are only admitted at the beginning of term.

1. A form of application for admission (including a certificate of vaccination) should be returned to the Head Master, filled up and signed.

2. A certificate of character is also required on a form which can be obtained from the Head Master, and should be returned to him direct by the boy's late tutor, duly filled up.

Entrance Examinations are held on the first day of each term, at 10 a.m., in the Boarders' Hall of the Grammar School.

Boys above 10 will be expected to show sufficient proficiency to enter a form, the average age of which is not much above their own age.

Proficiency in Mathematics, Modern Languages, Science, or English will compensate for deficiency in Classics. The Examination is not in any sense competitive, and allowance may be made for any special circumstances.

Day-boys pay from 9*l.* (under 13) to 12*l.* (over 13) per annum for education, and there is an entrance fee of 2*l.*

The boarding-house Masters are—

H. M. Dymock, M.A., Oaklands, Kimbolton Road, Bedford.

Rev. S. B. Phillpotts, M.A., Merton House, Bedford.

W. Seys Phillips, M.A., Westfield House, The Oval, Bedford.

W. H. Kelaart, B.A., Spring Grove, Bedford.

A. F. Laloe, B.A., Lansdowne House, The Oval, Bedford.

The terms for boarders are 72*l.* per annum under 13, above that age 75 guineas; these terms include all tuition and School fees and the cricket subscription. Entrance fee, 2*l.* Boarders are eligible to all Prizes or Exhibitions.

The Head Master's official hours are Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 12.15 to 1, during term time.

Examinations are held annually by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, and the subjects taught in the School are English, Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Natural Science, French, German, History, Geography, Political Economy, Drawing, and Music. The usual arrangements are made for religious instruction. In all the Junior department special attention is paid to English, French, Latin, Grammar, and Arithmetic. There are two preparatory forms for very young boys, under the charge of Masters specially trained. Modern Languages receive particular attention, especially in the case of that large class of boys who are not intended for the Universities. Attention is paid to English Literature in the School. Good spelling is rigorously exacted. There is a School Library for the upper boys.

There are two well-fitted Laboratories, one in which regular instruction is given in Chemistry, the lectures being fully illustrated with experiments; the other in which regular instruction is given in Physics.

Unless parents express a wish to the contrary, all boys in the sixth form and in the upper division of the next form are entered as candidates for the certificates given by the Oxford and Cambridge Public Schools Examining Board.

Arrangements are made for practical instruction in carpentering, for those who desire it, and there is a practical engineering class, in which boys can get instruction out of school hours in the use of the lathe and the forge. Any boy can learn Drawing without extra charge.

ENTRANCE EXHIBITIONS.—There are a number of Exhibitions, not exceeding 4 under 14, and not exceeding 4 over 14, open to competition each year in March, giving remission from all tuition fees, under certain conditions, during the holder's stay in the School. The full number will not be given unless candidates of sufficient merit are forthcoming. Candidates can compete in one or more of the main branches of study. Boys are eligible whether already in the School or not.

LEAVING EXHIBITIONS.—There are eight in all, i.e., two annually, of the value of 70*l.* and 60*l.* per annum respectively, for four years, tenable at any University or any such other place of liberal or professional education approved by the Governors. All boys are eligible who have been at the School for the two years preceding the election.

Numerous prizes are given by Earl Cowper, K.G., and others.

HOLIDAYS.—The year is divided into three equal terms of 12 or 13 weeks. The Christmas holidays (4½ weeks) commence as near Christmas day as possible, Easter holidays (2 weeks) about the middle of April, and Summer (7½ weeks) about the end of July.

The Council consists of 27 Governors, with S. Whitbread, Esq., M.P., as Chairman.

Head Master.—J. Surtees Phillpotts, M.A., B.C.L., formerly Assistant Master at Rugby School, and Fellow of New College, Oxford.

CITY OF LONDON SCHOOL,

VICTORIA EMBANKMENT, E.C.

This School was established by the Corporation of London, under the authority of an Act of Parliament, in the year 1834. It is endowed with an annual sum, derived from certain estates left in 1442 by John Carpenter, and is under the government of the Corporation and a Committee chosen by them. The foundation stone of the new buildings was laid in 1880 on a new site given by the Corporation, on the Thames Embankment, whither it was removed from Milk Street at the beginning of this year 1883, having been opened by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales on the 12th Dec., 1882. The object of the School is to furnish a liberal and useful education for the sons of respectable persons who are engaged in Professional, Commercial, or Trading pursuits, without the necessity of removing them from the care and control of their parents. Boys are admissible at any age between 7 and 15 years, and may remain until 19. The mode of admission is by an application according to a form obtained of the Secretary, which is required to be signed by the parent or guardian, and also by some member of the Corporation, either Alderman or Common Councilman. Members are not limited as to the number of recommendations they may sign. The qualifications for admission are a knowledge of Arithmetic, as well as Reading and Writing. No boys can begin Latin till they have mastered Arithmetic up to Simple Proportion, and acquired a fair knowledge of English Grammar and Composition, with the outlines of Geography, and of French Grammar to the verbs "avoir" and "être." For entrance into the fifth and sixth classes a considerable proficiency in Mathematics is required, besides a knowledge of Latin and Greek. A general Examination, which is conducted by gentlemen from the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, and others experienced in tuition who are appointed for the purpose by the Committee. The Scholarships are filled up as vacancies occur. 8 Carpenter Scholarships (in memory of John Carpenter, the founder of the school), tenable at the school. Candidates must be between 11 and 16 years of age, and have been at least 3 years in the school. The advantages are gratuitous education, and books to a value not exceeding 2*l.* per annum; 25*l.* per annum towards maintenance, etc.; and 50*l.* on leaving the school, provided the scholar continues therein 3 years after election, and obtains a certificate of merit and good conduct during that period from the Head Master. There are about 16 other Scholarships, tenable at the Universities, and varying from 20*l.* to 100*l.* in value, and numerous prizes are given annually. The course of instruction includes the English, Latin, Greek, Sanskrit, French, and German Languages; Mathematics, Arithmetic, Drawing, the elements of Chemistry and Natural Philosophy, Elocution, and Vocal Music. Fees, 12*l.* 12*s.* for pupils under twelve years of age; 15*l.* 15*s.* for pupils over twelve years of age. Vacations, about 9 weeks.

CHARTERHOUSE SCHOOL,

GODALMING, SURREY.

MOTTO : "Deo dante dedi."

This celebrated School was founded by Thomas Sutton in 1611, and prior to 1872 was conducted in buildings situated in Aldersgate Street, City; it was erected on the foundation of the Chartreux monastery (Charter House Square), by Thomas Sutton in the reign of James the First, anno domini 1611, and a well-endowed Hospital was founded in connexion with it, for 80 old men. The entire endowment was shared between the School and the Hospital, and the whole was under the control of a body of governors and trustees. Great changes, however, have been effected in the constitution of the School by the Special Commissioners appointed for the purposes of "The Public Schools Act in 1868," and the Governing Body now consists of—The Archbishop of Canterbury for the time being as an ex-officio member, and of the following elected members, namely—One member to be elected by the Hebdomadal Council of the University of Oxford; one member by the Council of the Senate of the University of Cambridge; one member by the Senate of the University of London; one member by the President and Council of the Royal Society; one member by the Lord Chancellor for the time being; one member by the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being; one member by the Head Master, the Second Master, and the Assistant Masters of the School for the time being; three members by the Governors of Sutton's Hospital in Charterhouse for the time being; four members in the first instance by the Governors of Sutton's Hospital in Charterhouse.

By the new statutes "the Governors" shall mean "the Governors of Sutton's Hospital in Charterhouse;" "The Governing Body" shall mean "The new Governing Body of Charterhouse School;" "The School Fund" shall mean "The annual Moneys paid by the Governors to the Governing Body;" "The Tuition Fund" shall mean the moneys payable and received for tuition of the boys in the School; and "School Exhibitioners" shall mean "the holders of Exhibitions tenable at the School.

The number of boys in the School may not exceed 500. There are upwards of 487 pupils now in attendance, who are instructed in Classics, Mathematics, Arithmetic, Natural Science, English History, Geography, French, and German. The religious instruction is that recognised by the Church of England, but a boy may, on conscientious grounds, claim exemption from this.

The Scholars of Charterhouse are the Foundation Scholars, the day boys and boarders, the boarders forming the chief element in the School; and they are lodged and boarded in the School buildings or in the Masters' houses. All the Foundation Scholarships are assigned by competitive examination, none are given by nomination. There are 30 Junior Scholarships, of the value of 65*l.* per annum each, open to Foundation Scholars; these Scholarships are tenable only during good behaviour.

The conditions of admission and continuance in the School of boys not on the Foundation are as follows:—No boy is admitted before the completion of the 11th year, or after the completion of the 15th year of age, unless there be special reason, approved by the Head Master, for departure from these limits. It is required for admission that a boy shall be able to take a position in the School corresponding to his age. Testimony of good moral character is required. Boys may remain in the School till 16, 17, 18, or 19 years of age, according to progress and character. Application for admission is to be made to the Head Master.

With regard to Scholarships and Exhibitions, there are not less than 60 Scholarships tenable at the School. Of these 30 are Junior Scholarships, and are open to all boys between 12 and 14 years of age, whether in the School or not. The Examination is in Latin, French, English, and Arithmetic. These Scholarships are of the annual value of 65*l.*, and are tenable till the end of the 16th year, or till election to a Senior Scholarship. Senior Scholarships are open to all boys between 14 and 16 years of age, who shall have been at least one year in the School. These Scholarships are of the annual value of 85*l.* The Examinations for these Scholarships take place in the latter half of July in each year. There will be 10 Exhibitions of the annual value of 20*l.*, open to all boys in the School under 14 years of age. These will be tenable till 16, and may be held conjointly with Junior, but not with Senior Scholarships. There are annually 5 Exhibitions for boys leaving School. These are of the value of 80*l.* per annum, and may be held for four years, at one of the Universities or elsewhere, in preparation for any profession or occupation, subject to the approval of the Governing Body. These are thrown open to the whole School. A large number of boys go up for Woolwich, Sandhurst, and the Line examinations, direct from this School.

CHELTENHAM COLLEGE.

This well-known and excellent College was founded by a Proprietary in 1840, and consisted of 650 shares, which entitle the possessors to nominate one pupil for each share, but no pupil can be admitted without the sanction of the Council; and it was established in order to provide a classical, mathematical, and general education of the highest order on moderate terms, in strict conformity with the principles and doctrines of the United Church of England and Ireland—religious instruction forming a regular part of the teaching of each class. Full preparation is afforded to Candidates for admission at Sandhurst, or for direct commissions, and pupils have been very successful at these various Examinations, and without having had to resort to the assistance of a “crammer.” This is the “Modern Department,” viz., a Military and Civil Department, which was organised under the superintendence of the Rev. T. A. Southwood in 1843, who resigned the Head-mastership in 1879. He originally wished it to be a purely Military School. The School is divided into three Departments, the “Junior,” the “Classical,” and the “Military and Civil;” and the system at Cheltenham is this: There is first of all a “lower school,” for junior boys—comprising, perhaps, about 150 pupils; above this there are two Departments of about 300 boys each. One of these is the “Classical,” the other the “Modern” Department above alluded to. In the Classical Department, the staple of instruction is language in one form or another, with a larger admixture of other subjects than is common at most of our public schools. In the Modern Department the staple is mathematics, while the languages, and drawing of all kinds, fortification and surveying, occupy an important but a secondary position. The boys begin with the ordinary elements of English work, with Latin, French, and Mathematics, but with no Greek, which is not introduced into the regular system. As the pupils work up, and arrive at the three or four head classes of the School, they frequently drop Latin and take up German or Hindustani; they also enter upon Physical Science (Chemistry, Geology, Electricity, Heat, and Magnetism), increasing their mathematical knowledge and the study of English scientifically, with a great deal of English literature and English history. A real education is imparted, so that but little special preparation is required for passing the necessary examination for Woolwich; indeed, it is simply moving into the senior form of the School, and no special preparation at all is necessary with regard to entering Sandhurst, unless a boy is exceptionally backward. Pupils for the Indian Civil Service are prepared in the Classical side; boarders and day boys are received. The expense of a boy's education at Cheltenham is as follows:—The minimum charge for education in the several departments (including subscriptions to sanatorium, gymnasium, playground, and library, and seat in chapel) is as follows: in the Junior Department, for boys under thirteen, 19*l.* 1*s.*, and for boys above thirteen, 23*l.* 2*s.*; in the Classical Department, 23*l.* 2*s.*; and in the Military and Civil Department (including Drawing), 27*l.* 6*s.* per annum. Extra charges are—in the Classical Department, 5*l.* for special preparation for India Civil Service; and 4*l.* 4*s.* each for Drawing and Physical Science. In the Military and Civil Department, for Physical Science, 4*l.* 4*s.*; and in the Junior Department, for Drawing, 4*l.* 4*s.* The College has now a Swimming Bath of its own, the use of which is confined to the boys, the masters, and old collegians. The subscriptions for boarders is 12*s.* a term. Day boys, masters, and old collegians are admitted by ticket. The College has also erected Workshops, the use of which is optional, the charge being 1*l.* a term. No other extras, except for books, instruments, and stationery. The tuition fee (including gymnasium, playground, and library subscriptions), and that for a seat in chapel, must be paid terminally in advance. The instruction is on Church of England principles. Pupils are also prepared for the University, as well as for Civil, Military, and Indian Competitive Examinations. There are about 650 boys, of whom 450 are boarders, paying 50*l.* to 60*l.* per ann. for board, the tuition fees being 18*l.* to 28*l.* per ann. more. Scholars are admitted upon the nomination of a proprietor, or of the Council; if of the latter, they pay 6*l.* per ann. extra. The scholars vary in age from 8 years old upwards. There is an election to 12 Scholarships yearly. There is one Exhibition of 35*l.* per ann., tenable 3 years, at Trinity College, Oxford, and 4 Junior Scholarships of 25*l.* per ann. each, tenable at Cheltenham College for three years, and 2 Senior Scholarships of 70*l.* each, tenable during residence, besides being entitled to compete for certain Gloucestershire Scholarships at Pembroke College, Oxford. There are also various prizes. Vacations. 14 weeks.

The following Boarding Houses are now open for the reception of pupils, under the sanction of the Council, viz. :—

- J. Brook-Smith, M.A., Boyne House, College Road.
- Rev. J. Mugliston, M.A., Newick House, Bath Road.
- W. R. Porcher, M.A., Leconfield, College Road.
- The Rev. T. Wolesey, Lewis, M.A., Garth Common.
- Rev. T. C. Fry, M.A., Christowe House, Sandford Road.
- Rev. J. H. Churchill Baxter, M.A., Cheltondale, College Road.
- Rev. P. Hattersley Smith, M.A., Hazelwell, College Road.
- E. A. Bennett, M.A., Beaufort House, Montpellier Terrace.

The Boarding House for boys of the Junior Department, and entering the College under the age of 13, Rev. T. M. Middlemore-Whithard, M.A., Teighmore, Sandford Road.

The charge for boarding (exclusive of the College fees) is in the large houses 57*l.* per annum ; and in the junior house, 54*l.* for boys over ten years of age, and 51*l.* for boys under that age, including everything except medical attendance, tradesmen's bills, and money advanced by order of parents.

The undermentioned Masters of the College are empowered to receive a small number of boarders, viz. :—

Rev. P. J. F. Gantillon, M.A., 5, Fauconberg Terrace.

R. Prowde Smith, M.A., North Devon Lodge.

C. Tillard, B.A., Northwick Villa.

A. S. Davis, M.A., 12, Suffolk Square.

G. G. Pruen, M.A., Park House, Thirlestaine Road.

W. Griffin, M.A., Thirlestaine Villa.

N.B.—Two calendar months' notice of the intended removal of a pupil must be given, in writing, to the Secretary, such notice to expire at the end of a term. His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge distributed the prizes in 1883, and made special allusions to the excellent working of this School ; in default of which, a payment of one-sixth of the annual charges must be made.

CHRIST'S HOSPITAL,

NEWGATE STREET.

Sometimes called the Blue Coat School.

This grand institution was founded by Edward VI., 1552. It was in 1545 that, upon the recommendation of Sir Richard Gresham, Mayor, Henry VIII. granted the ground and buildings of the monastery of the Grey Friars with the hospital of S. Bartholomew, and in Edward VI.'s reign 3 hospitals were established by the Charter, 1 being Christ's Hospital, for the educating and apprenticing of children; about 340 children were then in attendance, the dress at that time being of russet cotton. The school possesses little or no income under the Charter. The endowments are now in great demand chiefly from legacies and donations given at different periods of the school's history. The yearly income is supposed to be larger than that of any other Foundation School in England, and it is estimated to exceed at the present time 70,000*l*. The Governing Body consists of a long and influential list of persons, in whom election to the Foundation is vested. There is a branch establishment at Hertford, which is the preparatory school, and all boys are sent there at first, and are transferred according to their progress to the London establishment. They have to pass an entrance Examination. A thorough Classical and Mathematical education is given. A Mathematical education to fit boys for entering the Navy and Mercantile Marine, to those on the Mathematical Foundations. A Commercial education for boys who show no aptness for Classical study, or who are not likely to enter senior classes of "Grecian" and "Deputy Grecians," or to compete for the annual University Scholarships. The pupils are lodged in the dormitories, and take their meals in hall, and are not permitted to leave the school except on "leave days," without special permission of the Masters or Warden. The Exhibitions to the Universities are provided out of the Hospital's Exhibition Funds. With regard to the existing regulations relative to the presentation and admission of children into this Hospital, the principal requirements are briefly that children must be presented when between 8 and 10 years of age, and must be free from active disease, as well as from any physical defect which would render them unable to take care of themselves; that their parents (if one or both be living) have not adequate means of educating and maintaining them, and that the children have not such means of their own. A written statement—showing the amount, or average amount, of the parental income, with particulars of its source or sources, the total number of children in the family, and of these how many are still young and dependent, and any other relevant circumstances—is in each case required to be made in the petition on the form of "Presentation," for the consideration of the Court or Committee of Governors, who have the power to reject any case which they may not deem a proper one for admission to the charitable advantages of the institution. The form of presentation is to be obtained from the individual Governor presenting, and the child's name in full is to be inscribed therein in the handwriting of such Governor, with a statement of his conscientious belief that the child so presented is a proper object for admission into this Hospital. Certificates of the parents' marriage, and of the child's birth and baptism, must in all cases be produced before the child's admission, and be permanently deposited at the Hospital, with the presentation. When a child is brought to the counting-house with a view to admission, after the completion and deposit there of the presentation and all other necessary documents, the personal attendance of the parent (if living) is required, to answer any further inquiries the Court or Committee may think proper to make as to the pecuniary or other circumstances of the case. All children are required, as a preliminary to admission, to pass an Examination as to their attainments; such Examination being graduated according to age. Admissions of children take place at meetings of the Governors held in February, March, April, May, June, September, October, and November (no admissions in January, July, August, or December). A general list, containing the names of all the Governors, but not indicating their turns for presentations, is published at the Hospital's counting-house, at a charge of 2s. 6d., and can be procured at any time. A list of the Governors in turn to bestow presentations is likewise published there, usually about the middle of March in each year.

CLIFTON COLLEGE, BRISTOL.

This School was originally a Proprietary College, and was founded in the year 1862, and incorporated by Royal Charter in 1877. By this Charter some important changes in its constitution have taken place. Formerly the shareholders of the Company had the right to alter the position and powers of the Head Master, and change the School arrangements, to divide the income in dividends, and even to dissolve the Company, put an end to the College, and sell the buildings. But the Charter fixes all important matters without any power to alter them, and preserves all the funds for College purposes. Under the Charter the College is a Public School, open to all boys without distinction, instead of being, as formerly, restricted to a class. The religious teaching is to continue to be in accordance with the Church of England, but a conscience clause is now added. The members of the College under the Charter are the life governors, who elect the governing body (the Council) to manage the affairs of the College. The present life governors are the late shareholders in the Company. Pupils are prepared for the Home, Indian, Civil, or Military Service; also preparation for the Universities of about 600 pupils who have been nominated for admission by life governors or the Council, are at present receiving instruction. The tuition fees are 25*l.* per annum, and the boarding fees from 60*l.* to 72*l.* per annum. The instruction in the Junior School comprises an elementary knowledge of Latin, Greek, English, and Arithmetic, and the College is divided into three other departments, viz., the Classical, the Modern, and the Military and Engineering. The Classical side has special reference to preparation for the Universities. In the Modern Department the instruction consists of Mathematics, Physical Science, Latin, Modern Languages, and English in all its branches. The Military and Engineering Department is devoted specially to preparing boys for the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich; for Sandhurst, the Indian Civil Engineering College, the profession of Civil Engineering, or for direct commissions in the Army.

Practical instruction is given in Chemistry and Physics. The teaching of Physical Science occupies a prominent place in the curriculum of studies. There are two laboratories, and a botanical garden and a workshop, and the subjects of Chemistry, Experimental Physics, Natural History, Botany, Zoology, and Physical Geography are taught, under the superintendence of four Masters. There are several Scholarships, varying from 25*l.* to 90*l.* a-year, tenable in the School, and there are also Exhibitions tenable at the Universities. There is an Engineer Cadet Corps composed of members of the College.

There is a Preparatory School, the object of which is to give a thorough and suitable grounding to little boys before proceeding to the Junior School. For this purpose, the numbers are limited to about fifty boys. The School is kept entirely distinct from the College, both as regards teaching premises and arrangements for play ; but at certain hours the boys have the separate use of the College gymnasium and baths, with due supervision and instruction. Boys are admissible at the age of seven years, and may remain till eleven, if the Head Master approves.

About thirteen weeks' vacation in the year, the holidays commencing in July being the longest.

Boarders are taken by the Head Master, the Rev. T. E. Brown, Mr. Oakeley, the Rev. H. J. Wiseman, the Rev. H. C. Watson, and Mr. Bartholomew. Boys in the Junior School are boarded with the Rev. B. Hartnell, Rev. P. A. Phelps, and in the Preparatory School with Mr. Locke. These are moved into the other houses as they become old enough. The Head Master can arrange for the boarding of a limited number of delicate boys, or of applicants for whom there is no vacancy, in a large house, with Mr. Grenfell or Mr. Tait. He also undertakes to make arrangements for the boarding of boys during the vacations, should the parents express a wish in writing to that effect. About 650 pupils are at present in this School.

DULWICH COLLEGE,

DULWICH, S.E.

DULWICH COLLEGE was founded in 1619, by Edward Alleyn, under letters patent of King James I., by which licence was granted Alleyn to establish a college "to endure and remain for ever," and to be called "Alleyn's College of God's Gift at Dulwich." The Manor of Dulwich—which constitutes the most important part of the endowment of the college—was purchased by Alleyn in 1606, from Sir Francis Calton, to whose ancestor, Thomas Calton, it had been granted by Henry VIII., on the dissolution of the Monastery of Bermondsey. The college was re-constituted by Act of Parliament in 1858. Dulwich College is a day-school on the system of the other principal London schools; but boys attending the college, otherwise than as day-boys from their own homes, are allowed to board in one or other of the authorised boarding-houses attached to the college. In the summer term of 1883 there were 500 day-boys and 46 boarders in attendance.

The ordinary subjects of instruction are—Divinity, the English, Latin, and Greek languages and literatures, arithmetic and mathematics, history and geography, natural science, French and German, drawing, vocal music, drill.

Application for the admission of any boy must be made to the Master of the College by the parent or next friend, on a form provided for that purpose, and no boy is admitted under the age of ten years. Candidates for admission are required to pass an entrance examination, which is graduated according to the age of the boy, but never falls below the following standard; that is to say, Reading, writing from dictation, sums in the first four simple rules of arithmetic, with the multiplication table, outlines of the geography and history of England, the translation and parsing of simple Latin sentences.

One term's notice of the intended withdrawal of a boy is required to be given to the Master of the College.

THE COLLEGE FEES.—All boys, including boarders, pay an entrance fee of 1*l.*, and tuition fee of 21*l.* per annum. These fees are due in advance, and are paid to the College Bankers in accordance with printed instructions forwarded at the beginning of each term to all parents by the Clerk to the College Governors.

THE BOARDING HOUSES.—All boys attending the College must reside with their parents, guardians, or near relations, within degrees to be determined by the College Governors, or in some Boarding House conducted under regulations made by the College Governors. No boy not so residing will be admitted to the College without the special permission of the College Governors. The Boarding Houses, as at present authorised, are those of the Rev. G. Voigt, M.A., Sydenham House, Dulwich; E. M. Everett, Esq., M.A., the Blew House, Dulwich Common; Mrs. Dryland, Elm Lawn, Dulwich Common; Miss Field, Plasgwyn, Dulwich. The charges for boarding (excluding the College fees stated above) vary from fifty to sixty guineas a year.

The amount of about 1,000*l.* is devoted annually by the College Governors to maintaining Scholarships tenable by boys while at the College. Ten such Scholarships, of the value of 20*l.* per annum, will be offered for competition in the present year. These Scholarships are tenable for three years, and the holders will be re-eligible at the end of that period.

The amount of about 1,000*l.* is devoted annually by the College Governors to maintaining Exhibitions of an annual value of not more than 75*l.* each, tenable for not more than four years, at the Universities of Oxford or Cambridge, or any other place of higher education or professional training approved by the College Governors, and to be awarded to boys who are being, and have for not less than three years been, educated at Dulwich College.

HOURS OF ATTENDANCE.—The hours of attendance are—Wednesday and Saturday, morning, 9—1; other days, morning, 9—12.30; afternoon, 2—4.

The vacations are approximately six and a half weeks in summer (in the months of August and September); four and a half weeks at Christmas; twelve days in the month of April.

Divine service is held in the College Chapel on Sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., and all boys have a right to seats.

DINNER IN HALL.—A dinner is provided daily in the great hall for boys who like to come, whether day-boys or boarders. Dinner tickets (either single or for the whole term) may be obtained at the College kitchens, at the following charges:—Terminal tickets, four days in the week, 2*l.* 8*s.*; extra for Wednesdays or Saturdays, 12*s.*; single ticket, 1*s.* The Governors of this College have, on the recommendation of the Head Master of Alleyn's School, decided to take temporary premises for the admission of 130 boys, in addition to those already attending the school. There are upwards of 170 names of candidates now on the books. This concession on the part of the Governors will, no doubt, be a great boon to the inhabitants of the neighbourhood, many of whom have for years been applicants for the admission of their sons. A scholarship is to be founded for Dulwich College boys for ever, to be called "Canon Carver's Scholarship." During the quarter of a century that Dr. Carver was the Head Master he had succeeded in creating, from one school of twelve boys, a first grade school of 600 boys, and also a second grade school of 252 boys.

DURHAM SCHOOL, DURHAM.

This Grammar School was founded by King Henry VIII. in 1541. There is an endowment of 820*l.* per annum, with 2 houses, and a scheme was sanctioned by H.M. in council for the sum of 3,000*l.* per annum, to be appropriated to the expenses of the School out of the capitular funds transferred to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners in 1868. The education given in the School is the usual Classical education of Public Schools, and is designed to prepare for the University and similar Examinations. Greek is not taught in the two lowest forms. Boys, who are promoted from these forms may either continue the Classical course, or join the Modern side of the School. The education on the Modern side of the School is intended to prepare for the Civil and Military Services, and for Professional and Commercial Life; it comprises Mathematics, Latin, French, German, English History and Geography, English Literature, Chemistry, and Physical Science, but no Greek. Boys are especially prepared for the Woolwich and Sandhurst Examinations. No boy can enter the School before he is 10 years old, nor after he is 15, except for special reasons to be approved by the Head Master. No boy can enter after he is 14, unless his knowledge of Latin is above that of the lowest form. Greek is not in any case required for the Entrance Examination; but a knowledge of the main parts of Latin Accidence is required. A certificate of good character from the last School or Tutor will be required before admission. The School has the privilege of attending the Cathedral Services on Sunday; it has also the use of the Galilee Chapel of the Cathedral for a School Sermon on Sunday afternoon. A Chemical Laboratory, Museum, and Science Rooms, are in the course of preparation, and will be ready for use shortly. A large room, devoted to Drawing and Music, is attached to the School. There is also a Carpenter's Shop, where boys may gain a practical acquaintance with tools in carpentry and the use of the lathe. The river flows immediately below the School buildings and grounds; and there is excellent boating. No boy is allowed to join the boat club till he has passed the swimming test. There is a large and well-furnished School Library, to which all the boys of the School have admission under varying conditions. For cases of infectious or other sickness there is an excellent hospital entirely detached from the School, with Matron always resident. The year is divided into three terms. The Christmas holidays are five weeks, the Easter holidays are three weeks, and the summer holidays are seven weeks.

FEES.—Board and washing, 5*l*. guineas a year. Tuition: for clergy-men's sons, 16 guineas a year; for day-boys (who are laymen's sons), 20 guineas; for boarders (who are laymen's sons), 22 guineas; entrance fee, 2 guineas. The fees are paid terminally, in the proportion of  $\frac{2}{3}$ ths each for the lent and summer terms, and  $\frac{1}{3}$ ths for the autumn term. Drawing and Music and Carpentering are optional, and are charged as extras. Boarders are received in either the Head Master's or the Second Master's house. The charges in both are the same. Boys are admitted as day-boys, whose parents or near relatives are living in Durham or the immediate neighbourhood. A term's notice is expected previous to the removal of a boy; otherwise payment for half the term will be required.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND EXHIBITIONS.—There are 18 King's Scholarships, of the annual value of 39*l*. 9*s*., tenable at the School for four years, to which period a fifth year is, if required, added by the Dean. The Dean and Chapter fill up the vacancies every year, on the first Saturday after the 20th of November, by examination; and any one under 15 years of age, whether previously at the School or not, is admissible as a candidate, provided always that his parents are not in wealthy circumstances. The following Scholarships and Exhibitions are attached to the School, at the Universities:—Six Exhibitions of 60*l*. a year each, two vacant every year, tenable for three years at Oxford, Cambridge, or Durham, open to candidates who have been at Durham School for at least three years. Three Exhibitions (one usually vacant every year) of 30*l*. a year each, at St. John's College, Cambridge. Two Scholarships of 15*l*. a year each, founded by Dr. Hartwell, Canon of Durham, and tenable at any College or Hall at Oxford or Cambridge for four years. One Scholarship at Emanuel College, Cambridge, of 16*l*. a year, for which a preference is given to Durham and Newcastle Schools. One Scholarship of 30*l*. a year at the University of Durham. One Scholarship of 15*l*. a year at the University of Durham. One Exhibition of 40*l*. a year, founded by Ralph Lindsay, Esq. (formerly a King's Scholar at Durham School), and tenable at the University of Durham, by natives of the diocese, who have been educated at the School for three years. The Patynson Scholarship at Christ's College, Cambridge (value about 20*l*. a year), was founded by Dr. Patynson, with a preference to natives of Northumberland, or in default of such, to Natives of the Diocese of Durham; in default of such again, it is open to all. The nomination to it is to be vested in the Dean and Chapter of Durham, who are not obliged, however, to nominate a boy from their own School.

Governors.—The Dean and Chapter.

Head Master.—Rev. W. A. Fearon, M.A., late Fellow and Tutor of New College, Oxford.

Second Master.—Rev. S. B. Guest-Williams, M.A., late Scholar of Exeter College, Oxford.

ETON.

MOTTO:—"Floreat Etona."

This celebrated School and College, the richest and most influential in England, is situate in the County of Bucks. It is only separated from Windsor in Berkshire by the river Thames. It was founded in 1441, by Henry VI., whose exemplary piety and devotion to learning earned for him the repute of being more fitted for the Cloister than the Court: for the erection of the necessary buildings, he provided funds from his own purse, and he framed a charter of foundation, and endowed it; and in order that the College should not lack Scholars, and as an inducement to others to join it, he caused 35 of the Winchester boys to be transferred to Eton, the School bearing the name of "The King's College of the Blessed Mary of Eton." It consists of a Provost, 7 Fellows, 70 Scholars called King's Scholars, 2 Chaplains, 10 Lay Clerks, 12 Choristers, a Head Master, a Lower Master, and several Assistant Masters. The buildings comprise two quadrangles; in the first is a central statue of Henry VI. in bronze. The square is surrounded by the chapel, schools, and dormitories. The other quadrangle comprises the cloisters and library. The Chapel is situate on the south side of the quadrangle. The date it was built is uncertain, but the College buildings were erected about the year 1440.

It affords education in Classics and Mathematics, and in French, German, Italian, Drawing, &c. The 70 Foundation Scholars, or King's Scholars as they are named—only about 11 vacancies for those occur yearly, and for these, two hundred of the cleverest boys from our Private Schools annually compete. The school expenses of a "King's Scholar" are nominal (an "Oppidan's" amount to about 150*l.* per annum), and they are admitted after competitive examination, between 12 and 15 years old. The other Scholars, numbering about 880, and called Oppidans, are admitted from 10 to 14 years of age into the Upper School, upon application to the College Tutor. The annual expenses of an Oppidan frequently exceed 200*l.* Lodging at a Dame's house is about 16*l.* a year cheaper than at a Tutor's. The King's Scholars are exclusively eligible to Scholarships at King's College, Cambridge, but there are 16 other Scholarships, the total value being about 800*l.* per ann. The Newcastle Scholarships, founded in 1829, is considered the blue ribbon of Eton, and King's Scholars now prefer entering into the general University Competition for open Scholarships to Balliol and other Colleges, to competing for King's. Eton has 40 benefices in gift, varying from 100*l.* to 1,200*l.* The Examinations are conducted by the Head Master. There are two classes of Scholars at Eton, one termed the "Collegers" or boys on the Foundation; the other class are termed "Oppidans." Foundation boys are lodged and boarded in the College, and the "Oppidans" reside and board in the Masters' houses. The fagging system is still continued here, but in a very modified form.

The following amended statutes for Eton College, as proposed by the Governing Body of the School, have been adopted in 1883:—Statute 21, Section 2.—The election of Scholars to the foundation shall be held every year at such time in July as the Governing Body shall from time to time determine. Statute 23, Section 2.—No boy shall be a candidate for such Scholarship after election 1884 who on the day of election has not reached his 12th or has passed his 14th birthday. Statute 24.—After election 1884 a Scholarship on the foundation shall be tenable only until the end of the school time in which the scholar shall have completed his 19th year, except for special reasons to be sanctioned by the head master and by him forthwith reported to the Governing Body."

There are now 964 students at the College, including in the sixth form, 20; fifth form, 524; remove, 211; fourth form, 106; and third form, 3. The list includes a prince, a duke, 21 lords, three counts, five baronets, and 42 honourables.

The Rev. C. O. Goodford, D.D., is the Provost, and the Rev. John Dupius, M.A., Vice-Provost; there are 15 Fellows, 2 Conducts, a Musical Instructor, a Steward of the Courts, an Auditor, and 50 Assistant Masters.

The New Governing Body of Eton College are Rev. C. O. Goodford, D.D. (Chairman); the Provost of King's College, Cambridge; the Very Rev. R. Scott, D.D., Dean of Rochester; the Rev. E. W. Blore, M.A.; T. H. Huxley, LL.D., F.R.S., Esq.; George K. Rickards, Esq., M.A.; John Hilbert, Esq., M.A.; Right Hon. Spencer H. Walpole, LL.D., Q.C., M.P.; the Rev. W. A. Carter, M.A.; the Earl of Morley, B.A.; Marquis of Lansdowne.

HAILEYBURY COLLEGE,

HAILEYBURY, HERTS.

This excellent School was founded in 1862, and incorporated by Royal Charter in 1864. It occupies the site of the old East India College. The number of boys in this School is about 400. It has been established for the education of the sons of the clergy and laity. The religious training is in accordance with the doctrines and formularies of the Church of England. The education is that of our best Public Schools, in Classics, Mathematics, and Modern Languages.

The School is divided into Upper, Middle, and Lower School ; and also into Classical and Modern side. On the Classical side is given the usual education of a Public School, which looks chiefly to the requirements of the Universities and of the learned professions. The Modern side, which is limited in number to 100 boys, is designed specially to prepare boys for the public services (civil or military), or for civil engineering, but those who have no such objects in view are also admitted.

In either case there is an entrance examination, in which boys must reach a certain standard according to age. The subjects of this examination are, dictation, Latin and Greek grammar and construing, arithmetic, and French. On the modern side no Greek is required, but a thorough grounding in all the other subjects is expected.

Pupils are boarded and lodged in the College buildings and an adjoining house, called Hailey House. Pupils are admitted to the School from 12 to 14 years of age. No pupil can remain in the Lower School after 16, in the Middle School after 17, or in the Upper School after 18 years of age, except by the special leave of the Master. Upper Sixth Form boys can remain up to the age of 19. Every boy on the Modern side is charged 2*l.* 2*s.* per term extra, to cover the greater expense of education. Pupils not nominated are required to pay : sons of laymen, 75 guineas per annum ; sons of clergymen, 65 guineas per annum. Pupils, if nominated by life donors or donors, are required to pay : sons of laymen, 65 guineas per annum ; sons of clergymen, 55 guineas per annum. An entrance fee of 5 guineas is required from each pupil, on his admission, and there are extras for Music and Drawing. The average of the payments for a full year is 90*l.* There are five Exhibitions of 60*l.*, 50*l.*, 50*l.*, 40*l.*, and 20*l.* respectively, tenable for three years at Oxford or Cambridge, and in some cases elsewhere, open yearly for competition to members of the School who are under 19 years of age. One, or at the most two, may be given for proficiency in other than Classical subjects.

Five Senior Scholarships, three of 40*l.*, two of 30*l.*, for boys between 15 and 16, and four entrance Scholarships of 30*l.* for three years, for boys under 13, are open yearly for competition.

There are holidays three times a year : at Christmas, five weeks ; at Easter, three weeks ; and in the summer, seven weeks. A boarding house has been added to the College, under the superintendence of the Rev. H. Couchman, M.A. Terms for the sons of clergymen are 95 guineas per annum ; for the sons of laymen, 105 guineas per annum. In this house all the boys have studies, in the College only the Upper Forms have them.

HARROW.

MOTTO: "Stet Fortuna Domus."

HARROW-ON-THE-HILL GRAMMAR SCHOOL, NOW KNOWN AS HARROW SCHOOL.—This now celebrated School is distant about ten miles from London, and its situation is an excellent one, commanding a view of Windsor Castle and the Oxfordshire hills. It is stated that in clear weather no less than thirteen counties can be seen from the top of the church tower. The founder of Harrow was a yeoman called John Lyon, born at Harrow, in the hamlet of Preston. He took the deepest interest in education, and even when his resources were small he set aside a yearly sum to be expended in educating the children of the poorer classes. In the fourteenth year of Elizabeth's reign, A.D. 1571, a charter was granted to "the Keepers and Governors of the School called the Free Grammar School of John Lyon, in the village of Harrow-upon-the-Hill, in the countie of Middlesex." The endowment is now about 1,100*l.* per ann., besides nearly 10,000*l.* invested in consols for the purposes of Scholarships, Exhibitions, Prizes, &c. It affords instruction to about 500 boys, between 12 and 20 years of age of whom about 50 are home boarders, paying 45*l.*, and the remainder boarders in a Master's house, at rates varying from 113*l.* to 180*l.*, including schooling, besides 16*l.* entrance fees, &c. There is a separate day school called an English Form, which is attended by sons of Harrow tradesmen, paying 5*l.* per ann., for Commercial course, including French. The Head Master enjoys, practically, the entire control of, and grants admission to, the School. His maximum income is 4,000*l.* per ann. There are 2 Scholarships of 50*l.* for 4 years, 2 of 30*l.* for three years at Oxford, 1 of 60*l.* for 3 years, 1 of 70*l.* for 3 years, and 1 of 100*l.* tenable 4 years; besides 5 Gold Medals, worth 10 guineas each, and numerous valuable Prizes in books. All but the first 200 boys in the School are liable to be fagged, excepting those who have fagged for three years. Half-holidays thrice a week. Vacations, 14 weeks. The Head Master's house is a commanding and substantial edifice, with accommodation for 64 boarders. The houses of the other masters who receive boarders are situate in the village, in the vicinity of the School. No boy can be admitted to the School until he has passed an entrance examination. Every boy at the School has a private tutor. The number of pupils at present exceeds 500, and under the government of the present Head Master no diminution in numbers can be anticipated, for this distinguished Public School retains its former power and prestige in the fullest vigour.

HIGHGATE SCHOOL,

HIGHGATE, N.

This excellent and select Public School was founded by Sir Roger Cholmeley, Lord Chief Justice, in 1565, under Letters Patent of Queen Elizabeth. The endowment is 1,000*l.* per annum. The School Buildings, comprising large hall and separate class-rooms for the different classes, were rebuilt in 1864; the Chapel (originally founded by Archbishop Grindley in 1567) is a beautiful building, and was rebuilt in 1866; the new Head Master's Boarding House was completed and opened in 1880, and is one of the most perfectly adapted houses in the country. There is a splendid cricket field, equal to that at Eton, and a spacious gymnasium. About 250 boys are admitted, of whom 100 are boarders, and the system of education is as follows :—The School is divided into three branches, the Classical, the Modern, and the Junior.

1. The Classical branch prepares directly for the Universities, the Indian Civil Service, Woolwich, and the other high competitive Examinations. Subjects of study: Greek, Latin, Mathematics, Arithmetic, Divinity, French, German, English History and Literature, Physical Science, Drawing.

2. The Modern branch prepares for Mercantile life, the Home Civil Service, and similar Examinations. Subjects: Latin, French, German, Divinity, English, History, Geography, Précis Writing and Dictation, Arithmetic, Mathematics, Physical Science, Drawing.

3. The Junior branch includes the two lower forms, and the course of instruction provides a sound elementary knowledge of Scripture, History, Latin, Arithmetic, French, and the rudiments of Greek, great attention being given to Writing, Dictation, Geography, and English Reading.

Special arrangements are made, by which boys reading for the Indian Civil Service and the more difficult Examinations can be as fully prepared as by any other private tuition. Throughout the School, Modern Languages receive more than the usual amount of attention and time. Physical Science forms part of the regular work in all forms except in the two highest (where it is optional) and the Junior School. Examinations by Public School Examiners of Oxford and Cambridge.

SCHOLARSHIPS, EXHIBITIONS, AND PRIZES.—There are Exhibitions of 60*l.* and 40*l.* per annum, open to competition every year, tenable at Oxford or Cambridge for three years. No boy eligible who has not attended the School three years. There are 20 Foundation Scholarships of 24*l.* per annum, open to all candidates, but day scholars have a preference for a fourth of the above number. Three Gladstone Scholarships of 25*l.* per annum, open to boys under 15, and tenable by them as boarders at the School for four years. Boarding House Scholarships, tenable with above, value 50*l.* to 25*l.*, are open to competition from time to time. In addition to the regular form prizes in different subjects, there are the following special prizes:—Lord Dartmouth's for general proficiency, French, and German; the Baroness Burdett-Coutts's for Mathematics; the "Dyne" for Divinity (two), and for History (two); the "Sir W. Bodkin" for Physical Science; the "Fletcher" for English Literature; the Governors' Gold Medal for Latin Verse.

SCHOOL FEES.—Tuition, 24*l.* per annum, payable in advance, in three equal terminal payments of 8*l.* Boarding, 60*l.* per annum, including laundress and all house expenses, but not including tuition. Entrance fee to the School, 1*l.* 1*s.* Extra: Music (piano), 2*l.* 2*s.* per term; Gymnasium, 1*l.* per term. Day pupils can dine at the Head Master's or other boarding houses for an extra charge of 4*l.* per term.

ADMISSION.—1. All applications for admission must be made to the Head Master. 2. A certificate of good conduct is required, before admission, from every boy who has been at any other school, or with a private tutor. 3. Age of admission, from 8 years. 4. Boarders are received by the Head Master, and by the Rev. W. D. Bodkin and the Rev. R. L. Morris, Assistant Masters. All boarding arrangements are under the supervision and control of the Head Master.

SCHOOL YEAR, VACATIONS, HOURS, ETC.—The School year is divided into three terms. Vacations—Spring, 3 weeks, commencing middle of April; Summer, 7 weeks, commencing end of July; Christmas, 5 weeks, commencing about 20th December. School Hours—Monday, Thursday, 9 to 12.30 and 2.30 to 5; Tuesday, Friday, 9 to 12.30 and 2.30 to 4.30; Wednesday, 9 to 1; Saturday, 9 to 12.30.

The number of boys in the School is over 250, of whom about 150 are day-boys, and 100 boarders.

There are twelve Governors, six co-optative, viz. :—

KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.—See SECTION III.

KING EDWARD'S SCHOOL,

BIRMINGHAM, WARWICKSHIRE.

This School was founded in 1552, and was reorganised by the Endowed School Commissioners in 1878. The endowments are 25,000*l.* per annum, and the Council consists of 22 Governors. It is now divided into Schools of two grades—(1) a High School for 350 boys and a High School for 200 girls, in both of which the education terminates at 19; (2) three Grammar Schools containing altogether 850 boys, and four Grammar Schools containing altogether 715 girls, in all of which an education is given terminating at 16.

THE HIGH SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

Head Master.—Rev. A. R. Vardy, M.A.

The admission of candidates to the High School must be between the ages of 8 and 19, and of good character and sufficient health; they must be resident with their relations, or in boarding houses licensed by Governors of the School. The examinations for admissions are in June and November, and the names of candidates must be previously registered at the Secretary's Office in New Street, and a certificate of birth produced. The subjects of examination are—Reading and Writing from dictation, Arithmetic, Outlines of English Grammar, History, and Geography.

Candidates may also be examined, if they desire it, in Latin, Greek, French, German, Elementary Science, and Elementary Mathematics. It is, however, not necessary for candidates to pass in all subjects of examination, success mainly depends on accurate knowledge of elementary subjects and of being well grounded especially in the early rules of Arithmetic. Two-thirds of the pupils are admitted on payment of fees, and the remaining one-third are elected to Foundation Scholarships, entitling the owner to receive gratuitously all the benefits of the School.

These Scholarships are awarded to candidates of the greatest merit in the examinations for admission, or at the half-yearly School Examinations.

There are three terms in the year, one beginning January 23rd, the Easter term on the 1st May, and the 3rd term on the 18th September. The course of instruction is framed with a view to the completion of School education by 19, or about that age, and includes English subjects, with Greek, Latin, French, and German Languages and Literature, Mathematics, Arithmetic, Natural Science, History, Geography, and Drawing. There is a yearly examination held in July by the Oxford and Cambridge Examination board. The fees are as follows:—There is an entrance fee of 10s.; the tuition fees are 9*l.* a year, or 3*l.* a term, and all pupils have to provide their own school books. The following Exhibitions and Scholarships are awarded in each year to candidates selected by the Examiners:—(1) Three Exhibitions of the value of 50*l.* each, tenable for four years at either Oxford or Cambridge, or at some place of higher education; one for proficiency in Classics, one for Mathematics, and one for general school work; and these are open to scholars who have been two years in the School. (2) An Exhibition of the annual value of 30*l.*, tenable for three years at Sir Josiah Mason's Science College. (3) King Edward's Scholarships, tenable for two years at the School, 20*l.* first year, 25*l.* second year, besides exemption from payment of tuition fees. These are open to Scholars who have been two years in one of the Schools of the Foundation, and who are not above 17. (4) Two King Edward VI. Scholarships, value 10*l.* first year and 15*l.* second year, under similar conditions to No. 5, and who are above 13, and not above 15. The following Scholarships are awarded from time to time, as they fall vacant:—(5) John Howell James's Scholarship, of the annual value of 50*l.*, tenable for three years at Oxford or Cambridge, and awarded for proficiency in School work generally. (6) Sands Cox Scholarship, of the annual value of 15*l.*, and tenable by a Student of Medicine at Oxford, Cambridge, or Edinburgh, or at one of the Hospitals or other Medical Schools of London. In addition to valuable prizes from the School funds, the following special prizes are annually awarded:—Lee Divinity prize, books to the value of 3*l.* 3*s.*; Chance, also a Divinity prize of books of the same value; "Albert" prize for Mathematics; the "Lightfoot" prize for Shakespeare; "Milward" prize for French, and other prizes of books; and prizes for the best collection of wild flowers, ferns, grasses, and mosses.

THE HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Head Mistress.—Miss Creak, B.A.

Full particulars are given in Vol. II. of this work.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

comprise the following, viz. :—

For Boys only. Five Ways. Head Master, Rev. E. F. M. MacCarthy.

For Girls only. Bath Row. Head Mistress, Miss S. J. Corbett.

For Girls only. Summer Hill. Head Mistress, Miss C. Brown.

Boys and Girls. Aston. Head Master, Mr. J. Temperley, B.A.; Head Mistress, Miss M. J. Nimmo, B.A.

Boys and Girls. Camp Hill. Head Master, Rev. A. J. Smith, M.A.; Head Mistress, Miss H. Grundy.

The course of instruction is framed with a view to the completion of school education by the age of 16 or thereabouts, and includes Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, History, Geography, the English Language and Literature, Latin, French, German, Mathematics, Natural Science, Drawing, and Vocal Music, and in the Girls' Schools, Domestic Economy and Needlework.

The upper pupils of the Schools are prepared for the University Local Examinations, and in the Boys' Schools for the Matriculation Examination of the University of London.

The school year is divided into three terms, commencing in January, May, and September.

Candidates for admission must be of good character and sufficient health, and must be residing with their parents, guardians, or near relations, or in boarding-houses licensed by the Governors of the School.

In case of deficiency of accommodation in the Schools for all candidates, those who are residing within a radius of ten miles from the Town Hall in Birmingham are entitled to be preferred.

Examinations for admission are held in the months of July and December. The names of candidates must be registered, previous to the examination, at the Secretary's Office, New Street. Notice of the time appointed for registration is given in the newspapers.

A Registrar's certificate of birth must be produced when the name of a candidate is registered for the examination, except in cases where such certificate has already been produced.

Two-thirds of the pupils are admitted only on the payment of fees. The remaining one-third are elected to Foundation Scholarships, entitling the holders to receive gratuitously all the benefits of the School. One half of these Scholarships are awarded on the results of the examinations for admission, and the other half to pupils in the School, on the results of the half-yearly School Examinations, held in July and December.

Entrance fee, payable on admission to the School, 2s. 6d. Tuition fee, 3l. per annum, payable in advance, by three instalments of 1l. in the beginning of January, May, and September. All pupils provide their own school books.

AGE.—Candidates must be between the ages of 8 and 16 years. The statute provides that, with the sanction of the Head Master or Head Mistress, a pupil may remain until the end of the second complete term after attaining his or her sixteenth year.

ADMISSION EXAMINATION.—Candidates will be examined in the following subjects :—Reading, and Writing from Dictation ; Arithmetic : the first four rules (simple and compound), Reduction, Vulgar Fractions, Practice, and Simple Proportion ; the Outlines of English Grammar, History, and Geography. Candidates may also be examined, if they desire it, in Latin, French, Elementary Mathematics, and Elementary Science. It is not necessary for Candidates to pass in all the subjects of examination. Some difficult questions are set for the more advanced candidates, but success mainly depends on an accurate knowledge of the elementary subjects, and on being well grounded, particularly in the early rules of arithmetic.

In each Boys' School, one Exhibition of the annual value of 30*l.* is awarded in each year, tenable for three years at Sir Josiah Mason's College, or at some institution which is in connection with the University of London, or at some Training College for Teachers. King Edward's Scholarships, tenable in one of the Schools of the Foundation, and of the annual value of 10*l.*, 14*l.*, and 7*l.* 10*s.*, are awarded in each year.

In each Girls' School one Exhibition of the annual value of 30*l.* is awarded in each year, tenable for three years at some place of higher education. King Edward's Scholarships, tenable in one of the Schools of the Foundation, and of the annual value of 9*l.*, 12*l.*, and 6*l.*, are awarded in each year.

LIVERPOOL COLLEGE,

LIVERPOOL.

This well-known School was opened in 1840, and incorporated in 1869, it consists of three departments, numbering about 600 boys, and is designed to supply at a moderate expense a sound education, based upon the principles of the Church of England.

UPPER SCHOOL

(now removed to the neighbourhood of Sefton Park). The education is similar to that in the great Public Schools, given to those who are intended for the Universities and learned professions, Pupils intended for a business career receive special instruction in Modern Languages, Modern History, and the Natural Sciences.

Eight University Exhibitions, open to pupils under the age of twenty, have been founded in connection with this School, one of the annual value of 22*l.*, four of 40*l.*, one of 45*l.*, and two of 50*l.*, tenable for 3½ or 4 years. Two of these are vacant every year.

The Lawrence Scholarship (founded by the late Mrs. Lawrence, in memory of her late husband, G. H. Lawrence, Esq.), is given to the best senior pupil in the Upper School, and entitles the holder to free education in this School for half a year.

Another Exhibition, the bequest of the late Sampson Smith, Esq., value about 40*l.* per annum, will shortly be added.

In addition to the ordinary class prizes, special prizes are given for Divinity, Mathematics, and Arithmetic, including two prizes, founded by the Earl of Derby, to be awarded, one for English History (value 4*l.* in books), the other for Modern History generally (value 5*l.* in books); and for Divinity, by the Lord Bishop of Liverpool.

Also Reading and Recitation Prizes, founded by J. K. Rounthwaite, Esq., of the value collectively of 4*l.* 10*s.* in books.

The course of instruction in the Classical Division comprises Greek and Latin, Translation and Composition, Arithmetic and Mathematics, French, German, Drawing, History and Geography (Ancient and Modern), English Composition, Chemistry. In the Modern Division more time is devoted to Modern History, French, Drawing, Writing, and Book-keeping, and German takes the place of Greek.

The terms are as follows per annum:—For boys above the age of 10, 22 guineas; below that age, 16 guineas; and below 9, 12 guineas. For the sons of a clergyman or relation of a donor, 18, 14, and 12 guineas. Pens, ink, and copybooks, 10*s.*; drilling, 10*s.*

The Middle School furnishes a complete commercial education, including a competent knowledge of Latin and French.

The Lower School provides for the trading classes a practical education.

A Junior Department is attached to each School, in which the pupils are kept apart from the others during the hours of study, and are altogether under the training of special Masters.

A public distribution of prizes takes place annually in the Lecture Hall, at which the Scholarships and Exhibitions are awarded.

The holidays in the Middle and Lower Schools are ten days at Easter, six weeks in the summer, four weeks at Christmas, and a few days at Michaelmas, partly dependent on distinctions gained by the pupils at the Universities or elsewhere.

The following Masters take boarders upon the terms mentioned, viz.:—

R. Scott, Esq., B.A., 4, Huntly Road, Elm Park, Fairfield, from 45 to 50 guineas.

Henry M. Shaw, Esq., 23, Huntly Road, Elm Park, Fairfield, at 55 guineas, inclusive.

V. Marindin, Esq., 40, Hampstead Road, Elm Park, at 50 guineas.

MIDDLE SCHOOL.

The course of instruction comprises Latin, English Composition, History and Geography, Mathematics (especially in their practical application), Arithmetic, French, Drawing, Vocal Music, Book-keeping and Writing, with Natural Sciences, and Chemistry for the senior pupils.

Greek, for the senior pupils, and German are voluntary subjects, dependent on the permission of the Head Master.

The following Scholarships and Exhibitions have been founded in connection with this School :—

One Scholarship, founded by the late Miss Callin, tenable for half a year, entitling the successful candidate to free education in this School, is awarded to the pupil standing highest in the order of merit who may not be nominated to the Upper School.

Two Scholarships awarded half-yearly, of the value of 10*l.* each per annum in money, founded by the late Very Rev. Dean M'Neile, one given for proficiency in History and Arithmetic, and the other for proficiency in Geography and Modern Languages.

One Scholarship, founded in memory of the late Richard Crowe, Esq., tenable for half a year, entitling the successful candidate to free education in this School, is awarded to the best reader at sight of Vocal Music.

Two Exhibitions on an average annually, entitling the successful candidates to education in the Upper School, at the terms of the Middle, provided the number of six be not exceeded, and that the candidate selected by the Principal be not, as a general rule, over 16 years of age.

Terms, per annum, 11*l.* 11*s.*; the son of a donor of 10*l.* 10*s.* or upwards, or a second son, 10*l.* 10*s.*; the son, brother, or nephew of a donor of 50*l.*, or a third son, or a boy between 9 and 10 years of age, 8*l.* 8*s.*; a fourth son, or a boy under 9 years of age, 6*l.* 6*s.*; pens, ink, copybooks, etc., 8*s.*; drilling, 6*s.*

LOWER SCHOOL.

The course of instruction comprises Latin (to the senior pupils), English Grammar, English Composition and History, Geography, Arithmetic and Book-keeping, French, Drawing, Vocal Music, Writing, Chemistry, and elementary Mathematics.

The following Scholarships and Exhibitions have been founded in connection with this School :—

Four Scholarships (tenable for half a year) entitling the successful candidate to free education in this School, founded by the late Edmund Molyneux, Esq., are awarded at Midsummer and Christmas every year.

Two Scholarships awarded half-yearly, value 3*l.* each per annum in money, founded by the late Very Rev. Dean M'Neile, one given for proficiency in History and Arithmetic, the other for proficiency in Geography and Modern Languages.

Two Scholarships (vacant occasionally), founded by the Rev. J. Heyworth, and entitling the successful candidate to free education in the Middle School as long as he may remain.

One Scholarship, founded in memory of the late Richard Crowe, Esq., tenable for half a year, entitling the successful candidate to free education in this School, is awarded to the best reader at sight of Vocal Music.

Two Exhibitions annually, entitling the successful candidates to education in the Middle School at the terms of the Lower, provided the number of six be not exceeded, and that, as a general rule, the age of the candidate be not over 14.

MALVERN COLLEGE,

GREAT MALVERN, WORCESTERSHIRE.

This College was founded in 1864, and opened in 1865. It stands on the slope of the Malvern Hills, and was built by the proprietors at a cost of nearly 50,000*l.*, the architect being Mr. Harsom. It contains six boarding houses, with accommodation for more than 250 boarders. The system is founded on that of Winchester; and through, being a Modern School, it has but few endowments, yet numerous valuable Scholarships are annually awarded. The education is of the highest order, as is shown by the large number of Classical and Mathematical Scholarships and Exhibitions, 41 having been obtained since 1869, besides some very high places in the Indian Civil Service competition, and other Examinations.

The College is divided into the Classical and Modern Side, and consists of the following Departments:—

1. The Classical side, which has special reference to the Universities, Woolwich and Indian Civil Service Examinations, etc., and embraces the study of English Composition and Literature in addition to the usual curriculum of Public School Education.

2. The Modern side, of which the course embraces the following subjects :—Latin, Mathematics, English Grammar, Literature and Composition, Modern History, Political and Physical Geography, Précis-writing, etc., and is expressly organised with a view to the Army Entrance and Home Civil Service Examinations. Mathematics and Modern Languages enter into the course of both departments, French being necessary, German voluntary, though without extra charge.

Chemistry is taught to all boys on the Modern side, and to the Middle School on the Classical side. A charge of 10s. is made.

In addition to the above, there is a class of candidates who are preparing for the Woolwich Entrance and the Indian Civil Service Examination.

3. The Junior School, which is preparatory to either Department, and is intended only for the youngest pupils.

Instruction in the workshop is voluntary; fee, one guinea per term.

Boys who require special preparation for any examination or additional instruction in any branch of knowledge may have private tuition, the fees for which are :—Ordinary private tuition, in one subject, 5*l.* ; Army Classes, 2*l.* 10*s.* ; French Conversation Class, 1*l.* 1*s.* ; Preparation in Hall (day boys), 1*l.* 1*s.*

The Bible and Church Catechism are taught to all the boys, and other Divinity subjects in the higher forms. The boys attend daily service in the College Chapel, and there are two full services on Sundays. The Bishop holds a confirmation yearly in the Chapel of the College.

An entrance Examination is held each term on the morning of the day on which term commences.

The holidays are a short spring vacation, commencing about the middle of April ; a summer vacation, commencing about the last week in July ; and a winter vacation, commencing a few days before Christmas-day.

Boys are admitted on the nomination of Shareholders, each share being of the value of 40*l.* Non-shareholders pay 6*l.* per annum for the use of a nomination.

The School is annually examined in Classics by Examiners appointed by the Council, and in Mathematics by the Oxford and Cambridge School Examining Board.

At present there are about 250 pupils, from 12 to 19 years of age, nearly all boarding in the Masters' houses. There are 14 House Scholarships of 40*l.* per annum, three Foundation Scholarships of 50*l.*, two Head Master's Scholarships of 60*l.*, besides others of less value; all these are in addition to a free nomination (6*l.* extra). The competition for Scholarships is held in December each year.

There are three terms, divided by vacations of three, five, and seven weeks. The Head Master, chief Mathematical Master, and four Assistant Masters receive boarders into their houses, which are constructed with every modern improvement. The site of the College is conspicuously healthy, and the climate bracing.

The President and Visitors comprise the Lord Bishop of Worcester; Vice-President, the Right Hon. Earl Beauchamp, Lord Lieutenant of Worcestershire; and 16 members of the Council, including six Vice-Presidents.

Head Master.—The Rev. Charles Thomas Cruttwell, M.A., Fellow and late Tutor of Merton College, Oxford.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL, MANCHESTER.

This School, which has taken so high a standing as a seat of education, was founded in 1515, by Hugh Oldham, Bishop of Exeter. It is a day-school, at which the scholars are principally residents of Manchester and its neighbourhood. An election of free scholars is held by the Governors twice in the year. Boys are admitted into the school by the High Master at the commencement of each term. The fee is 4 guineas a term. The school is divided into Classical and Modern Language sides, which are combined for the purpose of instruction in Mathematics, Drawing, and Writing. The Classical side has for its object the preparation of boys for the Universities and the learned Professions. The Modern Language side aims at giving a thorough knowledge of French and German, and elementary instruction in Physical Science, and at fitting boys for Mercantile pursuits. There are about 150 foundation Scholarships tenable for three years, and renewable at the end of that time; the other 800 boys pay 12 guineas a year. Has right of preference to 4 Scholarships exclusively, and 18 other Scholarships in rotation with 2 other Public Schools at Brasenose College, Oxford; 12 Exhibitions in rotation with 2 other Schools at S. John's, Cambridge, worth about 50*l.* per annum. Exhibitions: 5 at S. John's College, Cambridge, of the annual value of 50*l.*; The Rickard's Scholarship, of the annual value of 50*l.*; 6 Brackenbury Scholarships, of the annual value of 45*l.*; 2 Philip Wright's Scholarships, of the annual value of 50*l.*; 3 Shakespeare Scholarships, 2 of 20*l.* each, and 1 of 14*l.*; 20 Langworthy Scholarships, of the value of 20*l.*; 4 Armitage Scholarships, 2 of 25*l.* and 2 of 15*l.* 3 Exhibitions were founded in 1871, for the purpose of enabling the holders to continue their studies at Owens College after leaving the School. 1 Exhibition, tenable for 3 years, and worth about 17*l.* a year, is offered for competition annually. Numerous prizes are also awarded. A very high percentage of certificates have been gained by pupils at the University Local Examinations, a great number being in honours. In 1870, a new building in connection with the Manchester Grammar School scheme was opened, the cost of which was 30,000*l.* In 1880, a new building was added, at a cost of 50,000*l.* Several valuable Exhibitions, Scholarships, and Prizes have also been recently added. A school library has been recently opened. A course of physical training forms a regular part of the School work.

MARLBOROUGH COLLEGE, WILTS.

This most distinguished public school was originally founded for sons of the Clergy, and was established in 1843, and incorporated by Royal Charter in 1845; additional Charter, 1853. The College is divided into three Schools—the Upper, the Modern, and the Lower School. In the Upper School the education is chiefly intended as a preparation for the Universities. In the Modern School, the subjects of instruction are Mathematics, Latin, French, German, History (principally Modern), Geography, Natural Science, together with English Composition. There are special classes for the subjects of Examination at Woolwich. No boy is permitted to remain after the age of seventeen, if he has not reached the Fifth Form of the Upper or the Modern School. The Lower School is preparatory for the Upper and Modern; it is intended for boys between the ages of ten and fourteen. The Bible and Church Catechism form part of the regular instruction in all the Schools. A boy may at any time be transferred to the Modern School, provided he is sufficiently advanced in his studies for the Lower Fourth Form of the Upper School. The boys attend service regularly in the College Chapel, and the Master holds the office of Chaplain. The whole annual charges for education and maintenance are, in the College, with a nomination, 80*l.*; the annual charge for the education of the home-boarders, receiving education only, is, with a nomination, 21*l.* Pupils are admitted on the nomination either of Life Governors, who by the payment of 50*l.* acquire the right of having always one pupil in the College; or of Donors, who by the payment of 20*l.* acquire the right to a single nomination. Pupils are also admitted without a nomination on the payment of an additional 5*l.* per annum in lieu thereof. There are twelve Exhibitions to the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge; four vacant annually, worth 50*l.*, 40*l.*, 30*l.*, and 30*l.*, or somewhat less, a year respectively, tenable for three years. There are also two Exhibitions, of the value of 25*l.* and 20*l.* respectively, and tenable for two years at Woolwich, or such other place of education as the Master may approve, given annually to the members of the Modern School. The Examination for fifteen Foundation Scholarships, confined to the sons of clergymen, is held annually in December. There is an election annually to two Senior Scholarships, open to all boys under fifteen years of age; the annual value of these Scholarships is 50*l.* each, and they are tenable so long as the scholar elected remains at the School. There is also an election annually to one House Scholarship of the value of 80*l.* per annum, tenable at one of the large boarding-houses so long as the holder remains at the School, and to six Junior Scholarships, of the value of 30*l.* per annum each, open to boys under fourteen years of age, tenable for two years. There are also two Scholarships of the value of about 15*l.* per annum each, founded by the late Dean Ireland, and open to sons of clergymen only. Also one of the value of about 17*l.* per annum, founded by the late Archdeacon Berens, open to the sons of clergymen and laymen alike. There is also a Scholarship worth 16*l.* a year, confined to the sons of clergymen who have served for five years as Missionaries or Chaplains in India. And two Scholarships, each of the value of 20*l.*, tenable for one year, and confined to members of the Modern School. Two Scholarships called the "Authors' Scholarships," tenable for one year, of the value of 15*l.*, for proficiency in French and English, open to all members of the School below the Sixth Form. There are also a considerable number of annual prizes.

The College buildings (exclusive of the Lower School) are divided into six portions, each of which is assigned to one of the undermentioned House Masters, who undertakes the immediate control and superintendence of the pupils placed under him, in all matters of education, discipline, and domestic arrangement, except board, with which the Bursar only is concerned. The number of pupils in the College, inclusive of house-boarders and home boarders is 580, 370 within the College, and 210 in the boarding-houses. Of the 370 in College, 70 (sons of clergymen) are foundation scholars paying 50*l.* per annum, while the remainder pay 80*l.* or 85*l.*, according as they have or have not a nomination. The terms in the boarding-houses vary between 95*l.* and 110*l.* The charge for ordinary private tuition is 6*l.* per annum; for preparation for any special examination, 10*l.* 10*s.*

The present House Masters are :—

MERCHANT TAYLORS' SCHOOL,

CHARTERHOUSE SQUARE, E.C.

This ancient and well-known Public School was founded in 1561, by the Merchant Taylors' Company, and was rebuilt in 1875. It is supposed that Sir Thomas White, a member of the Company, and founder of S. John's College, Oxford, was the original promoter, and he afterwards endowed the school with 37 Fellowships in that College. Another member of the Company, Richard Hill, gave 500*l.* towards the purchase of the site. The first Head Master was Richard Mulcaster; he was appointed on the 24th September, 1561. The original statutes of the school are most quaint in phraseology—they provide for the teaching of "good and clean" Latin literature and Greek, "if it may be gotten" from the Head, called in them also the High, Master. This school is unendowed, and is supported entirely by the Worshipful Company of Merchant Taylors. About 500 pupils are in attendance, all day-boys. Presentations to the school are in the gift of the members of the Court of Assistants, and are generally issued on the first Wednesday in February, May, July, and November. The school is divided primarily into Upper and Lower; and the Upper School into 2 divisions, called the Classical side and the Modern side. In the Classical side are taught all such branches of knowledge as shall prepare pupils to enter the Universities. The course of study embraces Latin, Greek, Hebrew, English, French, German, and Mathematics, and in certain cases Natural Science and Drawing. In the Modern side the subjects of instruction are Mathematics, Latin, Greek, French, German, Natural Science, Modern History and Literature, Geography (including Physical Geography), Drawing, English Composition, Arithmetic and Mercantile subjects. A choice of subjects is allowed within certain limits, but as a rule only two languages can be learnt. The Lower School is preparatory to the Upper, promotions being made from the Lower School to the Upper School twice a year, according to individual proficiency. The half of Monday is, throughout the school, devoted to religious instruction. The school dues are an entrance fee of 3*l.*, and 12 guineas per annum, paid quarterly in advance, by boys in the Lower School, or 15 guineas per annum by boys in either department of the Upper School. This includes every charge for education except books. There is no boarding system directly recognised by the school, but boarders are received by the assistant Masters, and by other persons, with whom special arrangements must be made. No boy can be admitted into the school unless he is over 9 and under 14 years of age, and passes the Entrance Examination to the satisfaction of the Head Master. There are the following Scholarships and Exhibitions to the Universities attached to the school:—21 Scholarships of 100*l.* per annum, tenable for 7 years, under certain conditions, at S. John's College, Oxford; 4 Parkyn Exhibitions of 90*l.* for 4 years, to Cambridge, for Mathematics; 5 Andrew Exhibitions of 86*l.* per annum, for 5 years, tenable at S. John's College, Oxford, for History and Modern Languages; 2 Stuart Exhibitions, 1 to Cambridge, of about 60*l.*, for 4 years, and 1 to Oxford, of 50*l.* for 8 years; 4 Company's Exhibitions of 40*l.*, for 4 years to either Oxford or Cambridge; 1 School Exhibition, of about 60*l.*, for 4 years, tenable at Oxford; 2 Pitt Club Exhibitions, of about 30*l.* for 4 years, tenable at Oxford or Cambridge; and 1 Free Medical and Surgical Scholarship at S. Thomas's Hospital. All boys who have been in the school 2 years are eligible to the 21 Scholarships at S. John's College, Oxford, until the 11th of June preceding their 19th birthday. Candidates for other School Exhibitions may in some cases have passed their 19th birthday, but must have been a certain time in the school, and attained a certain rank in it, and passed certain Examinations. There are 10 Scholarships awarded annually by competition to boys who have been at least 1 year in the school. 4 of these, called Senior Scholarships, are open to boys under 16, and are of the value of 30*l.* per annum, and tenable as long as the holder remains in the school. One at least of these Senior Scholarships is awarded every year for Modern subjects. The remaining 6, called Junior Scholarships, are open to boys under 14, and are of the value of 15*l.*, tenable for 2 years, or until the holder is elected to a Senior Scholarship. The Examination for both Senior and Junior Scholarships is held on or about June 19th and following days. Examinations take place at Midsummer and Christmas. Examinations conducted by Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board. The vacations are at Easter, August, and part of September, and Christmas, in all about 12 weeks.

OUNDLE,

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

OUNDLE SCHOOL AND SIR WILLIAM LAXTON'S GRAMMAR SCHOOL. The Laxton foundation dates from 1556. The Trustees, the Grocers' Company, are accountable for only 300*l.* per annum, according to a decision of Lord Langdale in 1843, part of which sum is spent on the Laxton Almshouse for seven old men. But in addition to the Grammar School, now a Middle-class School, containing from 40 to 60 boys, they have established a First Grade Public School, already containing 185 boys, of whom 165 are boarders. The new Schoolrooms cost 15,000*l.*, and 30 acres of land have been purchased. New residences and boarding-houses for the Head and Second Masters, a sanatorium, etc., etc., are about to be erected. The tuition fee in the First Grade School is to be 15*l.*, reduced to 9*l.* for natives of the locality; in the Second Grade School 4*l.*, reduced to 2*l.* The charges for board are 55*l.* and 50*l.* There are at present four boarding-houses. The chief success of the School has been in preparing candidates for entrance Scholarships at Oxford and Cambridge, and the University honours gained by pupils since 1874 are remarkable. The course of studies includes Classics, Mathematics, French, German, Natural Science, and the usual English subjects. There are no extras, except books and stationery. There are no free scholars except 6, sons of Liverymen of the Grocers' Company, boarders in the First Grade School, but 20 deserving boys in need of assistance have their fees reduced by 10*l.* per annum. The Company's Exhibitions, 4 of 50*l.* per annum each, are tenable for 4 years at Oxford or Cambridge, and open to pupils of 3 years' standing, and under 19 years of age, 1 being vacant every year; the Company's Junior Scholarship is worth 45*l.* per annum, and is tenable for 3 years at a boarding house. It is open to all boys, members of the school or not, under 16 years of age, on January 1st; the Latham Exhibition, 30*l.* per annum, is tenable for 3 years at Cambridge; the 50*l.* Exhibition, the Junior Scholarship, and the Taylor Exhibition, 5*l.*, are awarded every year, in the month of July, by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board. There is an entrance Examination, suited to the applicant's age; the entrance fee is 5*l.* Vacations, 12 weeks. Annual Examination by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Board. The Rev. H. St. John Reade, M.A., late Scholar of University College, Oxford, resigned the Headmastership in 1883, having, during his seven years' tenure of office, raised the number of boarders from 40 to 160.

Head Master.—Vacant.

REPTON SCHOOL,

BURTON-ON-TRENT.

STATION: REPTON AND WELLINGTON, NEAR DERBY.

This well-known School, formerly known as Sir John Porte's School, was founded in 1556, by Sir John Porte. Endowment, 2,000*l.* per annum. The school was originally a Free Grammar School, giving gratuitous education to the sons of inhabitants of the parishes of Repton and Etwall. It is now one of the leading schools in England, admitting 275 boarders, who enter between the ages of 10 and 15, and is governed under "The Endowed Schools Act." The regular subjects of instruction are Latin, Greek, English, Mathematics, French, German, Drawing, Natural Science, and Vocal Music. There is also a Modern side, intended for boys preparing for various public services, in which instruction is given in the following subjects, viz.: Latin, English, French, German, Mathematics, Drawing, and Natural Science. Tuition fees, 25*l.* per annum; board and washing, 63*l.* per annum; entrance, 3*l.* 3*s.*; chapel, medical attendance, and library, 2*l.* 12*s.* The ordinary expenses of each boy, in addition to the above, is "less than 10*l.* a year." Exhibitions to University at discretion of governing body. Entrance Examinations at commencement of each term by Head Master. Examinations for Entrance Exhibition advertised each year. School examined by Universities' Joint Board. Vacations, 14 weeks.

SCHOLARSHIPS.—Four Porte and Harpur poor Scholarships, value 40*l.*, for three years, awarded by the Hereditary Governors in turn, to boys between the ages of 10 and 15. Four Porte and Harpur open Scholarships, value 40*l.*, for three years, confined to boys under 16, who are already members of the School.

EXHIBITIONS.—160*l.* is awarded annually by the Head Master in Entrance Exhibitions, which vary in number and value according to the proficiency of the candidates. The value ranges from 20*l.* to 45*l.*, and the Exhibitions are tenable, subject to diligence and good behaviour, so long as a boy remains at the School. Exhibitioners are eligible for the open Scholarships, but no boy may receive a larger sum than 80*l.* per annum. The value of an Exhibition may be subsequently increased, provided the holder is distinguished for diligence and general good conduct.

The following are a few from a long list of distinguished old Rep-tonians :—

Hon. Mr. Justice Denman, Senior Classics; Right Rev. Bishop Piers Claughton; Rev. Professor Sanday, late Fellow of Trinity College, Oxford; J. E. Sandys, Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, Senior Classic, and Public Orator in University of Cambridge.

The Governing Body consists of fifteen members, with His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, K.G., as President.

ROSSALL SCHOOL,

ROSSALL, NEAR FLEETWOOD, LANCASHIRE.

This celebrated School was founded in 1844 (principally through the exertions of the Rev. Canon Beechey), with the object of educating, at a moderate cost, the sons of clergymen and others, on a plan similar to that of Public Schools, and embracing a general course of instruction in Science and Modern Literature. No Endowment. The system of education comprises Religious, Classical, and Mathematical instruction, Chemistry, Modern Languages, etc. Regard is paid to the University Examinations for Scholarships, to the Examinations of the Military, Naval, and Civil Services, and the Preliminary Examinations in Law and Medicine. There is an annual Examination at Midsummer, under the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, for the purpose more particularly of testing the standard reached in Classics, Mathematics, Science, Modern Languages, etc., compared with that of other Schools. There is also an Examination in Music and Drawing. The Classical side, where the chief instrument of education is Language, is recommended for general education, for the Universities, for Law and Medicine. The Modern side, where the basis of education is Mathematics, is adapted for training boys for the Army, Navy, and Business. Natural Science is taught to the whole of the Modern School, and to part of the Classical. The Observatory is under the charge of the Master in Natural Science. The boys' workshops for instruction in Carpentry are under the superintendence of the Clerk of the Works. Every boy has a study either to himself or shared with 1 or 2 others. Instruction in 3 schools, whereof 1 is a Lower School, preparing for the 2 others, a Classical, and a Modern School; 300 boys, from 7 years old, all boarders, paying from 5*l.* 10*s.* to 7*l.* 10*s.* per annum each, the former sum being paid by clergymen whose sons are nominated, and the latter by laymen without a nomination; in each case, 10*l.* 10*s.* being taken off in consideration of a nomination by a life governor or donor of 50 guineas. Has 3 Exhibitions of 50*l.* per annum each, 3 of 30*l.* per annum, all tenable 3 years at Oxford or Cambridge; about 30, value from 70 guineas to 20*l.* per annum each, tenable in school. 10 or 12 entrance Scholarships are offered for competition every year, 2 of these are entitled Foundation Scholarships, and cover the whole of the School fees (60 or 70 guineas); they are open to boys under 14 on the Lady-day preceding, or in default of qualified candidates of this age, to boys under 15 at that date; 2 or 3 of these will be entitled Senior Scholarships, and open to all boys, whether members of the School or not, under 15 on Lady-day (March 25th) preceding the Examination; these will be tenable at the school for 3 years (or longer on recommendation of the Head Master); the remainder will be entitled Junior Scholarships, and open to all boys under 14 on the Lady-day preceding; they will be tenable for 2 years. The Scholarships will range in value from 20*l.* to 70 guineas; of the Senior Scholarships, 1 or 2 are given by the kindness of old members of the school, and are called "Old Rossallian Scholarships;" of the Junior Scholarships, 7 (called "Swainson" Scholarships), were founded by the munificence of a member of the Council; 1 by Bishop Rupertsland. Examiners from University. The school year is divided into 3 terms. Vacations, 14 weeks. There is a Preparatory School attached to Rossall, for 30 boys, which is under the charge of a married clergyman, subject to the general supervision of the Head Master.

Head Master.—Rev. Herbert Armitage James, B.D., Fellow and late Tutor of St. John's College, Oxford, some time Assistant Master at Marlborough College.

RUGBY SCHOOL.

MOTTO: "Orando laborando."

This eminent seat of learning is situate in Warwickshire, and it was founded in 1567 by Lawrence Sheriff. The endowment available for division among Rugby School and the Lower School of Lawrence Sheriff, and the maintenance of their fabrics, and of the house property from which the income is derived, and of the Almshouses and Almsmen, is, in the gross, 5,633*l.* per ann. About 430 boys are educated at Rugby School, of whom about 25 are Free Foundationers, being the sons of persons resident in or within 5 miles of Rugby prior to, and continuously since, July 31st, 1868. The management is in all points in the hands of the Head Master, who holds office at the sole pleasure of the Governing Body. The fees are inclusive: Tuition, including Natural Science, Modern Languages, Drawing, Vocal Music, as well as Greek, Latin, English, Mathematics, and Scripture knowledge, 40*l.* per ann. Board, including free use of the two Sanatoria, 72*l.* per ann. There are six Exhibitions, 3 of 60*l.* and 3 of 30*l.*, tenable for five years at either University, and are awarded annually. Nine Scholarships, varying from 80*l.* to 20*l.*, are awarded annually, open to all boys under 15 years of age, tenable as long as the boy is in the School; Examination in Classics, Mathematics, Science, French, English, &c. The School course comprises instruction in Divinity, Greek, Latin, Mathematics, Modern Languages, Natural Science, History, Geography, English Literature, Vocal Music, and Drawing. Vocal Music and Drawing are taught to those boys whose parents or guardians desire it. The other subjects are compulsory, but with such exemptions as the Head Master may think fit to grant.

DAY SCHOLARS.—Day-boys are required always to sleep at home, but, with the consent of the Head Master, may have their meals regularly in Rugby, at any place approved by him.

SCHOLARSHIPS.—There is an election to the nine Scholarships every June. Major Scholarships: two Classical, 80*l.* a year each; two Classical, 50*l.* a year each; one Mathematical, 40*l.* a year. Minor Scholarships: one Classical, one Mathematical, one French, one Natural Science, 20*l.* a year each. Candidates must be under 15 years of age on July 1st. All Scholarships are tenable as long as a boy remains at the School. There is no special work to be prepared. There is an allowance for age in the election to all Scholarships; and the papers will be set mainly with a view to well-taught boys between 13 and 14.

EXHIBITIONS.—There is an election to three Major Exhibitions and to four Minor Exhibitions each July; each Major Exhibition being of the value of 60*l.* a year, and each Minor Exhibition of 30*l.* a year. All Exhibitions are tenable for four years, provided the holder leave the School on being so elected, and pursue his studies at any University in the United Kingdom, or in any other place of special education, or elsewhere in preparation for any profession or occupation, subject to the approval of the Governing Body. All boys in the sixth form, who shall have been members of the School for not less than three years, including the term in which the Examination is held, are eligible for Exhibitions.

Many prizes have been founded. There is an observatory with curator, a gymnasium, a workshop, a swimming bath, a racquet court, &c.; a Reading Room and an Art Museum recently erected. Fagging, in a modified form, is part of the School system of self-government. Vacations, 15½ weeks. Sanitary inspection at least once every year, under the direction of the Governing Body.

THE RUGBEIAN MEMORIAL TO ARCHBISHOP TAIT.—The Rugbeians who were at Rugby during the headmastership of Archbishop Tait have started a fund in order to found a Scholarship in his memory, and 2,000*l.* has been raised for the purpose.

In 1878 was opened the Lower School of Lawrence Sheriffe, to afford instruction suitable to boys intended for commercial and other similar occupations, and also such as to qualify them for admission into Rugby School. Boys having foundation rights of free entrance to Rugby School pay half fees at the Lower or New School; other boys pay 8*l.* 8*s.* per ann. if under 12 years of age, 10*l.* 10*s.* per ann. if over 12. There are 82 boys in the Lower School, of whom 60 pay half fees. The Head Master of the Lower School appoints the Assistant Masters of this School, and is himself appointed by, and responsible to, the Head Master of Rugby School for the discipline and studies of this School. Head Master, H. T. Rhoades, M.A., and three Assistant Masters, besides Instructors in Chemistry, Drawing, Music, and Drill.

S. PAUL'S SCHOOL,

S. PAUL'S CHURCHYARD, MERCER'S HALL.

This celebrated Public Schools was founded in 1512 by John Collet, D.D., Dean of S. Paul's, and son of Sir Henry Collet, twice Lord Mayor of London. The school is, however, supposed to have been opened in 1510, and the Apposilino Book gives its dedication "to the child Jesus," A.D. 1509. The existing school buildings were erected about the year 1823. The school will shortly be removed to the Cedars estate, West Kensington, where a fine site has been secured. The Foundation gave gratuitous education to one hundred and fifty-three children of all nations and countries, each paying at his first admission, once and for ever, fourpence, "wrytynge of his name;" each boy now pays one shilling on admission. The endowment consists of lands and tenements in London, and the income therefrom, including interest on Consols, is 10,000*l.* per annum. The property was conveyed to the Mercers' Company, who take an active interest in the welfare of the school, and who, under the new scheme, still retain a large representation upon the Governing Body. Under this new scheme the constitution of the school will be as follows, and will comprise:—1. A Classical school, to be called S. Paul's School, for about 500 boys. 2. A modern school, to be called S. Paul's Modern School, for about 500 boys. 3. A high school, or high schools, to be called Dean Collet's School, or Schools, for not less than 400 girls in all. All the pupils are day-scholars, but boys are received as boarders in some of the Masters' houses. All candidates for admission are expected to pass a preliminary Examination, graduated according to the age of the candidates; and no boy is allowed to remain in the school after he has attained his 19th year. The fee for tuition in the school is fixed at 20*l.* per annum. Each Governor has the privilege of nominating 1 candidate for admission every year. The course of instruction embraces Religious instruction, and such instruction "shall be in accordance with the principles of the Church of England." In the Classical school are taught English, and Latin, and Greek Languages and Literatures; Arithmetic and Mathematics, History and Geography, Natural Science, French, German, Drawing, and Singing. In the Modern school Greek is omitted. Scholarships and Exhibitions:—Foundation Scholarships: There are 153 scholars on the Foundation, who are entitled to entire exemption from school fees. Vacancies on the Foundation are filled up at the commencement of each term in accordance with the result of a Competitive Examination. Candidates must be between 12 and 14 years of age. Capitation scholars are admitted on payment of 20*l.* per annum. School Exhibitions: The number and value of these are determined by the Governors from year to year. Keen Scholarship: This Scholarship is of the value of 30*l.*, tenable for 1 year, given to a scholar proceeding to Oxford or Cambridge for proficiency in Mathematics. University Exhibitions: In the University of Cambridge there are the following Exhibitions:—1. Five Exhibitions at Trinity, founded by Mr. Perry, in 1696, of the value of 13*l.* a year. 2. Two Exhibitions at S. John's, of the value of 10*l.* a year, for the sons of clergymen, founded by Dr. Gower in 1711. 3. An Exhibition founded by Mr. Stock in 1780 at Corpus Christi, of the yearly value of 30*l.* Given to a scholar recommended by the High Master. 4. Four Exhibitions in the same College, value 10*l.* a year each, founded by George Sykes, in 1766, consolidated now in 1 Exhibition, value 36*l.* a year. There are also the following school prizes:—The Sleath Prize; the Truro Prize; the Milton Prize; the Kynaston Prize. There is an excellent Library adjoining the school-room, and every year the High Master is allowed to add to the collection of books. The Mercers' Company have purchased 16 acres of land at West Kensington, near Addison Road station, at a cost of something over 40,000*l.*, and on this site buildings will be shortly erected for this celebrated school. The school is open to all. The numbers are increasing, and the staff of Masters has been doubled. The High Master's house has been turned into class-rooms. There are now 163 boys in the school, and provision will be made for 1,000 boys in the new buildings to be erected. Of these 153 will be on the Foundation, elected thereto by open competition. The school is, and will remain, a day-school.

The Governing Body are the Right Hon. Lord Selborne, 30, Portland Place, W., and 20 other members.

High Master.—F. W. Walker, M.A., late Fellow and Tutor of Corpus Christi College, Oxford; Public Examiner in the University of Oxford, 1868.

Sur-Master.—Rev. J. H. Lupton, M.A.

Art Master.—R. Harris.

Secretary and Librarian.—S. Bewsher.

ROYAL SCHOOL OF ST. PETER'S, YORK.

This School was founded in the reign of Philip and Mary, 1557, and has an endowment of 1,300*l*. At present there are 170 pupils in attendance, 80 boarders and 90 day-boys. Upon the authority of the late Mr. Davies, a reliable York antiquary, Guy Faux was a pupil at this School, and Thomas Morton, Bishop of Durham, was also educated at this School. It is the Grammar School of the Cathedral Church of York, and is under the government of the Dean and Chapter. The course of education in the general School comprises Religious instruction; the English, Latin, Greek, French, and German Languages; Mathematics, Natural Science, History, Geography, and English Literature.

In the Civil and Military Department the course of instruction embraces the following subjects: English, Latin, French and German Languages, Arithmetic, Theoretical and Practical Mathematics (including, when desired, Surveying, Fortification, and Navigation), History, Geography, and Natural Science. The boys in this department are admitted as boarders in the same houses with the other boys.

SCHOLARSHIPS.—Two foundation scholars and two free scholars are elected annually in July, from among boys who have been in the School at least from September of the preceding year, and have not completed their 15th year on the first day of January previous to the examination. The foundation scholars receive free board and education, and the free scholars free education for four years.

EXHIBITIONS.—One exhibitioner is elected annually in July, and is at liberty to proceed to any College of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, or Durham. Candidates must have been in the School for at least two years immediately preceding the examination, and must not have completed their nineteenth year on the first day of January previous to the examination.

The examination for the above Scholarships and Exhibitions is conducted by a Graduate or Graduates of one of the Universities, appointed annually by the Dean and Chapter; and candidates are not eligible without a certificate of good conduct from the Head Master.

THE LADY E. HASTINGS' EXHIBITIONS.—These Exhibitions are appropriated to certain Schools in the North of England (of which St Peter's School is one), each of which has the privilege of sending two candidates for each vacancy. Four or five of these Exhibitions are filled up in each year. The value of each Exhibition is 90*l*. per annum, and all are tenable for five years. Each candidate must have been educated at the school from which he is sent for two years previously. The examination takes place at Queen's College, Oxford, at which the successful candidate must enter; and the Provost and Fellows are authorized to pay a sum not exceeding 5*l*. to the six best unsuccessful candidates, for the purpose of defraying their expenses.

The School year is divided into three terms. The holidays are twelve weeks in the year.

At the end of the year there is a general examination of the School by the Head Master and other Masters; and at Midsummer the School is examined by Examiners specially appointed by the Dean and Chapter.

His Grace the Lord Archbishop of York and the Very Rev. the Dean of York give annual prizes.

TERMS.—The fee for education is 13 guineas per annum in the Upper School (including the four highest forms) and in the Civil and Military Department, and 11 guineas in the Lower School. The terms per annum of the extra Masters are as follows: for Drawing, 3*l.* 3*s.*; for Painting in Water Colours (including Drawing), 5*l.* 5*s.*; Pianoforte Music (including use of instrument), 7*l.* 7*s.*; Drilling, 1*l.* 4*s.* Special Lectures in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy, 3*l.* 3*s.*

BOARDING.—The Masters who receive boarders, under the sanction of the Dean and Chapter, are the following:—Rev. H. M. Stephenson, terms 52*l.* 10*s.* per annum; Rev. H. L. Clarke, terms 52*l.* 10*s.* per annum.

Washing, 4 guineas per annum. Choir and Instruction in Part Singing, with seat in chapel, 1*l.*

Head Master.—Rev. H. M. Stephenson, M.A., late Fellow of Christ's College, Cambridge.

Second Classical Master.—F. M. Scargill, M.A.

Third Classical Master.—G. Yeld, M.A.

Fourth Classical Master.—J. S. Atkinson, M.A.

Fifth Classical Master.—J. L. Freeman, M.A.

Sixth Classical Master.—Rev. W. O. F. Campbell.

Mathematical and Natural Science Master.—Rev. H. L. Clarke, M.A.

Civil and Military Department.—Rev. W. Routh, M.A. (First Master); A. W. Hales (Second Master).

French and German.—J. Travis.

Organist and Choir Master.—E. G. Monk, Mus. Doc.

Special Lecturer in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy.—Rev. H. L. Clarke.

Extra Masters.—W. J. Boddy (Drawing); W. Barnby (Music); Sergt. Kinneavey (Drilling).

SHERBORNE SCHOOL,

SHERBORNE, DORSET.

This well-known School was refounded in 1550, by King Edward VI. Endowment, 1,233*l.* per annum. The School buildings, which are among the most beautiful in England, comprise the remains of the Benedictine Monastery, to which large additions have been made in recent years, the ancient style of architecture being preserved. Instruction is given to about 325 boys, 30 being day-pupils. A new scheme for the management of the school was settled by the Endowed Schools Commissioners in 1871. The object of the foundation remains as before, to supply a liberal education in accordance with the principles of the Church of England. The subjects of "secular instruction" are prescribed to be—English, Latin, and Greek Languages and Literature, Arithmetic and Mathematics, Geography and History, Physical Science, at least 1 Foreign European Language, Drawing, Vocal Music. Boys are admitted upon the Modern side without Greek, provided they are sufficiently advanced in Latin, Mathematics, and French. Special provision is made for the preparation of boys for Woolwich, Sandhurst, and other public Examinations. There is an entrance Examination, graduated according to age. The charge for tuition is 22*l.* 10*s.*, per annum, and an entrance fee of 2 guineas paid to the Building Fund. Boarders are received by the Masters, at the charge of 75 guineas a year, which includes tuition fees. There is a School Chapel, and the Head Master holds the office of Chaplain. There is at present 1 Exhibition vacant each year, of the value of 40*l.* per annum, tenable for 4 years, at either University, for which all boys are eligible who have been at the school for the 2 years preceding the election. There are 10 foundation Scholarships paying the whole tuition fee, tenable for 2 years, the holder being re-eligible, and 3 old Shirburnian Scholarships worth 20 guineas, and tenable for 1 year; the "Houghton Cardew" (15*l.*), for encouraging the study of Scripture in the original languages; the "Leweston" (10*l.* in books), for Scholarship; the "Parsons," of the same value, for Divinity; the "Lister (3*l.*) for German; the "Digby Prizes," for Modern subjects; the "King's Medals," for Classics and Mathematics; and other smaller prizes. Sherborne is also one of 4 schools which send competitors for the Huish Exhibitions. There is a preparatory school for little boys very near the school. W. H. Blake, M.A., the Master of it, receives boarders at the charge of 72*l.* a year. The year is divided into 3 equal terms, with 15 weeks' holidays. There are Governors, with a Chairman.

SHREWSBURY SCHOOL,

SHREWSBURY, SALOP.

This important and flourishing Public School was founded in the reign of King Edward VI., A.D. 1551, in order to supply the void caused by the dissolution of the Monasteries and of the Seminaries dependent on them, when the King granted the tithes of several prebendal livings associated with the two dissolved Collegiate Churches of S. Mary and S. Chad, for the endowment of a Royal Free Grammar School to be called the * Boarders are received in the Head Master's house and in the houses of those Assistant Masters to whose name an asterisk is prefixed.

“Libera Schola Grammaticalis Regis Edvardi Sexti.” Before the School could be opened King Edward died, and it was in abeyance during the reign of Mary, and was not actually opened until 1562, when Queen Elizabeth added considerably to the endowment in 1571 by the valuable tithes of the Rectory of Chirbury and other ecclesiastical property, at the suggestion of the first Head Master, “the excellent” Thomas Aston or Ashton, sometime Fellow of S. John’s College, Cambridge, who, during the short period of his Mastership, entered 875 scholars, amongst whom were Sir Philip Sidney, Fulk Greville (Lord Brock). Of Ashton’s pupils 238 only were town boys (oppidans), the rest are called alieni. The Right Honourable Gathorne Hardy, the distinguished statesman to whom the author dedicated this work in 1872, who was raised to the Peerage in 1878 with the title of Viscount Cranbrook of Hemsted, having held the important posts of Secretary of State for War and Chief Secretary of State for India, proceeded from this school to Oriel College, Oxford, where he was second class in Classics, and graduated B.A. in 1836, and was made an Hon. D.C.L. of that University in 1866.

New and extensive buildings have been recently completed and opened. The site now occupied by the school premises was fixed upon by the governing body after much and anxious deliberation, and the 26 acres occupied by it secure ample provision both for playing fields and increased house accommodation. The main school building stands, flanked on one hand by the Head Master’s house, on the other by the Chapel, at the top of a high bank overlooking the Severn where it leaves the famous Quarry Walk. The school boathouse is immediately below, and the view in every direction is picturesque in the extreme. Near the southern boundary fence two masters’ houses have been built. The cricket-field, on which a considerable amount has already been spent, occupies a large space south and west of the school buildings, thus affording facilities for cricket and football on the one side of the site, as the river does for boating on the other.

The endowment of this school is about 3,100*l.* per annum. Instruction is given to about 120 boarders, whose total expenses vary from 90*l.* to 120*l.* per annum each, and about 60 day-boys, who pay 21*l.* per annum each. The school contains 15 sons of burgesses who are entitled to gratuitous education. Boys are admitted by Examination, under the direction of the Head Master, in Latin, English, Arithmetic, and other subjects taught in the school. The Examiners are appointed by the governing body. Any boy may be a candidate for election on the foundation, who has not passed his 15th birthday, and all boys on the foundation have the instruction of the school free of charge. There are 3 vacations in the year, the school terms being of equal length.

In 1798 an Act was passed by which the government of the school was vested in a body of 12 trustees, together with the Mayor of Shrewsbury for the time being. These trustees were to be possessed of a certain property qualification, and were required to be resident in the county of Salop. On the occurrence of a vacancy the remainder of the trustees were to elect three persons proper to fill it, and out of these the Corporation of Shrewsbury were to choose one. The Mayor was to be the chairman, and to have a second or casting vote at all meetings. The right of St. John’s College to appoint the head master was retained; the preference formerly given to burgesses of Shrewsbury was done away with.

most remarkable in the history of the school. From the appointment of Dr. Butler to the headmastership in 1798, the number of boys rose steadily, but never reached a higher total than 300. The average number of Dr. Butler's pupils was certainly under 200, of Dr. Kennedy's pupils, from 1836-1866, not over 150. A comparison of these numbers with those of the other public schools will show that this school has been among the smallest. As regards the number of boys proceeding to the Universities, in 1861 Shrewsbury took the 4th place (of the nine schools) at Cambridge, and the eighth at Oxford. In the course of the 20 years ending 1861, the school obtained at Oxford, in final examinations, four first classes in Classics, and two in Natural Science, and three first classes in Moderations, also three University Scholarships (Craven, Ireland, Hereford), eight University prizes (poems and essays), and one Eldon Law Scholarship. At Cambridge in the same time they gained 27 first classes in the Classical Tripos, and 11 in the Mathematical Tripos, eight Chancellor's medals, five University Scholarships, 15 Porson prizes, six Greek odes, and about 20 other medals and prizes. Within the same period 18 Shrewsbury men obtained College Fellowships at Oxford, of whom seven were engaged in the tuition of their colleges; while at Cambridge 30 Fellowships were gained, and 14 of the holders were tutors or lecturers. The report of the Commission makes the following remark upon these facts:—"The extent to which this small school contributes to the teaching power of the Universities is not a little remarkable." The distinctions gained in the 20 years preceding 1841 were not less in number or importance. Since 1861, at Oxford five first classes have been gained in the final schools, 17 in Moderations, five University Scholarships. At Cambridge, in the Classical Tripos 30 first classes, in the Mathematical Tripos three, three Chancellor's medals, 13 University Scholarships, 15 Porson prizes, 32 medals for Greek and Latin odes, poems, and epigrams. There have been besides many instances of honourable mention in various competitions. In the present year the second and third in the first class of the Classical Tripos at Cambridge were alumni of Shrewsbury, as was also the winner of the Porson prize. Sixty-six Porson prizes have now been adjudged in all, of which 37 have been awarded to Shrewsbury men.

The following subjects are taught—Religious Knowledge, Classics, Arithmetic, Mathematics, Natural Science, History, Geography, English, either French or German, and either Drawing or Music. Every boy is taught Natural Science. The boys attending Shrewsbury School consist of boarders and day-scholars. The former board with the Head Master and Senior Classical Master; the latter live with their parents. There are 32 Exhibitions or Scholarships, to which boys from this school have a claim, varying in value from 10*l.* to 63*l.* per annum, tenable at Oxford and Cambridge from 3 to 8 years; and 11 University Scholarships at Oxford or Cambridge have been gained by the school since 1868. Scholarships or Exhibitions open to all boys in the school, and tenable at any College or Hall in the University of Oxford or of Cambridge: 4 Exhibitions of 63*l.* a year, founded by Dr. Millington; 1 Exhibition of 60*l.* a year, founded by the Rev. James Millington; 2 Exhibitions of 35*l.* a year; 2 Oswald Smyth's Exhibitions of 36*l.* a year; 1 Exhibition of 23*l.* a year, founded by Dr. Taylor; 1 Exhibition of 40*l.* a year, founded by Dr. Matthews. Other Exhibitions open to all boys in the school: 1 Exhibition of 17*l.* 10*s.* a year, tenable at S. John's College, Cambridge; 1 Exhibition of 10*l.* a year, founded by Mrs. Nonely, tenable at any College in the University of Oxford. Exhibitions with preference to natives of Shropshire: 1 Exhibition of about 35*l.* a year, founded by Mr. Podmore, tenable at Trinity College, Cambridge; 4 Careswell Exhibitions of 60*l.* a year, tenable at Christ Church, Oxford. 14 other Careswell Exhibitions of 60*l.* are open to Shropshire boys in Shrewsbury School in default of candidates from the 5 other schools to which preference is given. Most of these Exhibitions are at present held by Shrewsbury men. The Careswell prize of 100*l.* is annually open to all candidates from the 6 schools without preference.

Shrewsbury School is one of the nine schools named in Her Majesty's Public School Commission, and one of the seven specified in the Public School Act of 1868. The present Governors are—

TONBRIDGE SCHOOL,

TONBRIDGE, KENT.

SIR ANDREW JUDD'S SCHOOL.—Chartered by King Edward VI., A.D. 1553. Endowment, 5,500*l.*, buildings, playground, and houses. At this well-known school, pupils are prepared for Universities, Civil Services, Woolwich, Engineering, etc. Instruction in English, Latin, Greek, French, German. There are excellent Workshops for technical subjects. There are 200 pupils, 125 of whom are boarders. Foundationers are those of whom the parents, or persons occupying the place of parents, reside within 10 miles by the ordinary roads and ways from Tonbridge Parish Church. Private tuition is exceptional, and intended to meet exceptional circumstances. For private tuition and other optional expenses the previous consent of the parent, in writing, is necessary. The object of the workshops is to give boys a practical acquaintance with the nature of wood and of metals, and to train them in the use of tools in carpentry and in forging, turning, and fitting.

FEEs.—Registration, 5*s.*; entrance, 3*l.* Tuition: Foundationers, 18*l.*; non-foundationers, 27*l.* Boarding, etc., fee: Boys under 14, 60*l.*; boys over 14, 66*l.* Laundress, 3*l.* Optional expenses: Private study, in some houses, if required, 3*l.*; instrumental music, organ or piano, 6*l.*; violin, 9*l.* 9*s.*; instruction in workshops, with use of tools, etc., 3*l.*; drilling, 1*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* The games subscription is for the Upper School 1*l.* 1*s.*, and for the Lower School 15*s.*

BOARDING HOUSES.—Boarders are taken by the Rev. Theo. B. Rowe, M.A., the Head Master, School House; the Rev. J. R. Little, M.A., Assistant Master, Park House; Owen Ilbert, Esq., M.A. Assistant Master, Hillside; the Rev. A. Lucas, M.A., Assistant Master, Parkside; the Rev. J. A. Babington, M.A., Assistant Master, Judd House. The arrangements in all these houses are similar, except that some houses have a certain number of private studies for the use of those who desire them. For day-boys who reside at a distance from the School, for dinner in hall in a Master's house, the payment is 5*l.* a term; for dinner and breakfast, 7*l.* a term.

The subjects of Instruction in the School are—Religious Instruction in accordance with the doctrines of the Church of England, the usual English subjects, Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Natural Science, French, German, Drawing, and Vocal Music. The School consists of the Lower School, comprising the three lowest forms. In these the instruction is the same for all boys, and consists chiefly of English, the elements of Latin and French, Arithmetic, the elements of Algebra and Geometry, Drawing, and Vocal Music. Above this, the Upper School branches off into two departments. The education given on the Classical side is such as is usual at Public Schools, and is designed to prepare for the University and similar Examinations. The education given on the Modern side is more special, and is intended to prepare for the Civil and Military Services and those professions, etc., which do not require a University degree. Boys who choose the Modern side omit Greek and Verse Composition, and devote the time so gained to German, English Literature, additional Mathematics, additional Natural Science, and Geometrical Drawing. In Latin, French, and all English Lessons, and in Mathematics, the two sides are classed together and work together, so as to preserve the unity of the School, and to give all an equal opportunity of rising to the highest positions. The names of boys of the Modern side are distinguished in the School list by being printed a little to the right. All Scholarships, Exhibitions, and other advantages of the School are open to them equally with boys on the Classical side.

ARMY CLASS.—There is a special Military Class under Mr. Hilary, Mr. Berncastel, and Mr. Babington, for those who are preparing for the Army, Sandhurst, Woolwich, etc.

Natural Science is taught throughout the Middle Division of the School, and in the Upper Division to those who desire it,—the boys in the Upper Division receiving, in addition to their class-work, practical instruction in Analysis in the Laboratories. The Governors have under consideration the erection of new laboratories, class rooms, and other buildings, as required by the new scheme.

REGULATIONS.—The boys attend in the School Chapel every morning and on Sunday afternoon. Boys are admissible to the School at the age of 10, and may remain (their conduct and progress being satisfactory) until the end of the term in which they are 19; for any further stay special permission is required. Application for admission should be made on a form which will be supplied. A certificate of good character from the last School or Tutor will be required before admission. An entrance Examination, graduated according to age, will be held on the first day of each term, and at other times if required. A knowledge of the elements of Latin Grammar, and of the outlines of the Geography of England, with some Arithmetic, will be required.

SCHOLARSHIPS TENABLE IN THE SCHOOL.—(a) Foundation Scholarships, not less than three, consisting in exemption from the School tuition fee, and renewable to the holder so long as he remains at School, subject to re-examination at the end of two years to see whether he has maintained a satisfactory standard of acquirement. (b) The Judd Scholarship of 40*l.* for four years, tenable with a Foundation Scholarship. (c) House Scholarships, from two to five, at the discretion of the Head Master, upon the results of the Examination; tenable with a Foundation Scholarship, but not with the Judd Scholarship, in any boarding house in which there is a vacancy, and so long as the boy remains at School. All Scholarships are tenable subject to good conduct. The value to the Scholars, the tuition fee being 27*l.*, will be, to the first, 67*l.* a year; to the other Foundation Scholars, 40*l.* a year; to other House Scholars, 20*l.* a year. To residents within 10 miles, the value of the Foundation Scholarships is 9*l.* less, as the tuition fee is 9*l.* less.

EXHIBITIONS FROM THE SCHOOL.—Four Exhibitions are awarded annually to boys about to leave the School at the July Examination, viz.:—One Exhibition of 90*l.*, one Exhibition of 80*l.*, one Exhibition of 70*l.*, one Exhibition of 60*l.*, all tenable for four years, tenable at any University, recognised Medical School, or approved Agricultural College within the United Kingdom, at the Royal Academies, at the Royal School of Mines, at South Kensington, at Woolwich, at Sandhurst, at Cooper's Hill, and at such other places of higher education as the Governors may approve. Any boy who is being, and has for not less than three years been, educated at the School, whether foundationer or non-foundationer, and whether on the Classical or on the Modern side, may compete. The Scholars of Tonbridge School are also eligible to the following Exhibitions:—Six Exhibitions of 18*l.* per annum, founded by Sir Thomas Smythe, tenable at any College of either University, in the gift of the Governors of Tonbridge School; one Scholarship of 100*l.* per annum, founded by Sir Thomas Whyte, at St. John's College, Oxford, awarded by the Master and Fellows of St. John's; one Exhibition of 29*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* per annum, founded by Mr. Henry Fisher, at Brasenose College, Oxford, in the gift of the Governors of Tonbridge School; one Exhibition of 2*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* per annum, founded by Mr. Thomas Lampard, in the gift of the Churchwardens of Tonbridge.

WELLINGTON COLLEGE, NEAR WOKINGHAM, BERKSHIRE.

Wellington College was founded in 1853, by Royal Charter, from public subscription raised in honour of the memory of the great Duke of Wellington, for the education of the sons of deceased Officers, who shall have borne commissions in Her Majesty's Army, or in the army of the Hon. East India Company. Non-Foundations are also received, and are eligible to all Scholarships. No distinction is observed in the College between Foundationers and non-Foundationers.

FOUNDATION.—None other but the sons of officers who, within five years of their death, had been either on full or half-pay, are eligible for admission on the Foundation. No boy can be elected to the Foundation below the age of 9 years, or above the age of 12. The age of the candidate is reckoned by the date of election by the Governors, and the election is in every case conditional on the boy's passing the entrance examination. Boys on election are admitted into Preparatory Schools on passing the prescribed standards of examination. No boy can ordinarily be allowed to remain in a Preparatory School beyond the age of 12 ; nor, under any circumstances, beyond the age of 13 ; in the Lower School, 14½ ; Middle School, 16 ; Lower V. (Classical School) or Lower I. (Mathematical School), 17 ; and in the Upper V. and Upper I. beyond 18. No boy can remain in the School beyond the age of 19.

Foundationers are elected by the Governors present at half-yearly meetings held for that purpose in March and June in each year.

The charge for a boy on the Foundation is 10*l.* a-year.

The Royal Commissioners of the Patriotic Fund have the privilege of having always 18 boys of their nomination, sons of deceased Officers of Her Majesty's Army, on the Foundation of the College, subject to a payment of 5*l.* a-year each boy.

Boys are admitted as Non-Foundationers at 11*l.* per annum. A limited number (not to exceed 80) are admitted at 8*l.* per annum. These must

I. The education in the Classical Department is not limited to any special or professional purpose, but is classical and general upon the Public School system, comprising English, Greek, Latin, at least one Modern Language (French until the Fifth Form, after that German is added to or substituted for it), Mathematics and Natural Science. All these subjects form regular portions of the School-work, i.e. (1) they are all taught within the proper limits of School hours; (2) they are encouraged in the same way, and proiciency in each of them advances a boy's place in the School ; (3) none are extras in the School accounts. Boys are classified and taught in Mathematics, Natural Science, and Modern Languages according to their proficiency in those subjects.

Boys in the higher forms of this Department are supposed to be preparing for University Examinations ; i.e., either for entrance at the University, or for the "Leaving Certificate" given in the School Examination by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board.

II. The education in the Mathematical Department differs from that in the Classical mainly in these respects :—

1. The amount of time given to Mathematics is largely increased, and that subject has the preponderating weight in deciding promotions.

2. Both French and German are taught simultaneously, and the time given to them is considerably increased.

3. Greek is entirely dropped, and Latin diminished.

The purpose of this Department is mainly to prepare boys for Woolwich, and other Examinations in which special stress is laid on Mathematics, and which do not require Greek.

Boys can enter either Department on their admission to the School, if there is room in a form suited to their age and capacity ; or they can be transferred from one to the other at any time subsequently, with six months' notice, or at a shorter notice if there is room.

If a boy is doing well in Classics, it is usually better that he should stay in the Classical Department till he has reached the Upper School. In any case it is strongly advised that boys should not be placed in the Mathematical Department until it is quite clear that the education in it is the one best adapted for their future career, and that they have sufficient Mathematical aptitude to profit by it.

Natural Science is taught regularly in both Departments of the Upper and Middle School.

Drawing and Singing are taught to all boys in the Lower and Middle School, and boys in the Upper School have the opportunity of continuing them if they wish it.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales presided at a special meeting of the Governors held at Marlborough House on the 30th May, 1883, when the report of the Governors for 1882, together with the accounts, was issued as a parliamentary paper. The Governors state that during the year 1882 the average number of Foundationers being educated at the College was 80, the number on the 31st of December, 1882, being 81 ; that the number of non-Foundationers attending the College during the like period was 336, of whom 256 were admitted at the full rate of charge, and 80 were admitted at the reduced rate of 80*l.* per annum. They further report that the number of boys on the foundation has been increased from 80 to 82. The accounts show that the expenditure on capital account up to the close of the year was 255,060*l.* 15*s.* The revenue statement shows an income of 33,931*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.*, and an expenditure of 27,053*l.* 3*s.* 8*d.* ; balance, 6,878*l.* 6*s.* 5*d.* The profit and loss account exhibits a balance of 62,550*l.* 19*s.* 1*d.* The endowment fund amounts to 106,150*l.*, the prize fund to 3,084*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* principal and 147*l.* 13*s.* 2*d.* interest, and the Durand Scholarship to 1,602*l.* 15*s.* 5*d.* principal, and 75*l.* interest. His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge distributed the prizes on the 28th June, 1883.

The Rev. C. W. Penny receives in his house 30 boarders, who are in all respects members of the College. Terms, 130*l.* a-year.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL,

OTHERWISE CALLED S. PETER'S COLLEGE, WESTMINSTER.

LITTLE DEAN'S YARD, WESTMINSTER.

MOTTO.—“Dat Deus incrementum.”

This ancient seat of education, which ranks among the first of the foundation Schools of England, and which has produced Scholars of the greatest eminence, was founded by Queen Elizabeth in 1560, for the free education of 40 Scholars in Latin, Greek, and Hebrew, in connexion with the Collegiate Church of S. Peter's, Westminster. This was a Chapter School until 1868, then by Public Schools Act a separate corporate body. It affords instruction to about 225 boys, 110 boarders and 115 day-boys. The Foundation of Queen Elizabeth consists of 40 boys, called "Queen's Scholars." The admission is by open competition to vacancies, which average 10 or more yearly, and are chiefly filled up at Whitsuntide in each year. The admission to the Foundation is dependent on proficiency. The Examinations for the Foundations are held between Christmas and Whitsuntide. There is no restriction in respect of birthplace; but Candidates are by the Statutes required ordinarily to have been a year previously in the School. They must be under the age of 15 on March 25th of the year of admission, and usually remain 4 years in College before presenting themselves for election to the Universities. The Queen's Scholars hold their Scholarships subject to an annual Examination, in which any Scholar failing to satisfy the Examiners of his industry and progress in study, may forfeit his place on the Foundation.

The fixed expenses of a Queen's Scholar are 30*l.* annually, payable half-yearly in advance, at Whitsuntide and Christmas. This charge includes maintenance, as well as tuition in all branches of study, except those which are mentioned below as extra.

For "Town Boys," or boys not on the Foundation, the school fees are 5 guineas entrance, and 30 guineas annually for tuition, also payable half-yearly in advance as above. These fees include all the ordinary instruction—Scriptural teaching, Classics, Mathematics, and Natural Science, History, Geography, English, French (or sometimes German for advanced pupils), together with Drawing, Singing, or Writing, at the discretion of the Head Master. Private tuition, as well as fencing and gymnastics, are charged extra, if required.

The age of admission is ordinarily from 10 to 14 years. No boy is eligible for admission unless he be sufficiently advanced, in proportion to his age, to profit by the teaching of the School.

"Town Boys" may board either wholly or partially at one of the boarding houses, or entirely at home. For home boarders a room is provided at No. 1, Dean's Yard, where for a small additional charge, books, great-coats, &c., may be kept. The boarding-house fees are 5 guineas entrance, and 65 guineas yearly for boarders, or 24 guineas for half-boarders, besides tuition fees.

The boarding houses, Nos. 1 and 2, Little Dean's Yard, are at present conducted by the Rev. B. F. James and the Rev. C. A. Jones, and No. 14, Barton Street, by Rev. R. F. Dale.

The school hours are ordinarily from 8 to 9 a.m., and from 10 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., and from 3.30 to 5.30 p.m. (from 3 to 5 p.m. in summer). Home and half-boarders who come from a distance are allowed to attend from 9 a.m. to 12.30 in the morning, instead of coming at 8 a.m. Wednesdays and Saturdays are half-holidays.

The school holidays are 3 weeks at Whitsuntide, 7 weeks in August and September, and nearly 5 weeks at Christmas.

The Grammars used in the School are the Public School Latin Primer and Grammar, and (for the present) Wordsworth's Greek Grammar and Farrar's Greek Syntax. In French, the School Grammar.

Six Exhibitions, tenable at the School, are offered annually for competition to Candidates (whether previously in the School or not) of ages between 12 and 14. Two are of the value of 30*l.* and four of 20*l.* raised to 50*l.* or 30*l.* respectively in the case of Boarders. These Exhibitions are all tenable for two years, or until the holder is elected upon the Foundation. A power is reserved of re-electing deserving Candidates. The Examination is held in Easter week. No entrance fee is charged for Exhibitioners.

The Annual Benefactions open to competition, for all boys proceeding to the Universities, who shall have been at least 3 years previously in the School, will be after 1882—

1. Three Scholarships at Christ Church, Oxford, tenable for 5 years. Total annual value above 80*l.* each. These Scholarships are augmented in all cases of merit, by gifts from the Carey Benefaction, the income of which amounts to 600*l.* a year, and is divisible among the Westminster Students of Christ Church.
2. Three Exhibitions at Trinity College, Cambridge, of 40*l.* a year, tenable for 3 years, or until the time for taking the B.A. Degree. The Senior Exhibitioner receives also a Samwaies Exhibition of about 24*l.*, tenable for 2 years at Trinity. The second Exhibitioner a similar Exhibition tenable for 1 year.
3. Two Exhibitions from the bequest of Dr. Triplett, tenable for 3 years at any College of Oxford or Cambridge, conditionally on certificates of residence and good conduct from the authorities of the College. Annual value 50*l.* each. These are not open to Students of Christ Church.

Any of these Studentships or Exhibitions may be withheld in default of deserving Candidates.

All the Examinations for the admission of Queen's Scholars, and for Studentships or Exhibitions, mentioned above, are conducted by Examiners appointed from Christ Church, Oxford, and Trinity College, Cambridge. The whole School is examined annually under the direction of the Governing Body.

An annual Latin play forms part of the School system.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE.

MOTTO.—“Manners make the Man.”

This celebrated School has the honour of being the senior foundation in England. It was founded by William of Wykeham, and called Saint Mary's College of Winchester, Anno Domini, 1387. It now consists of a governing body of twelve, a Warden, Sub-Warden, three Fellows, seventy Scholars, who live in the College buildings ; eight Exhibitioners, who live with the Commoners in the boarding houses ; a Head Master, a Second Master, twenty-two Assistant Masters, four Chaplains, three Clerks, one Organist, and sixteen Choristers. Average annual income, as returned to Public Schools Commissioners, 15,494*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.* There are now over 70 Scholars, and 300 students not on the Foundation, called Commoners, eight of whom are also Exhibitioners. The Exhibitioners are elected annually after a competitive examination ; these examinations are held in the month of July. The Scholars on the Foundation of Winchester College are elected after a competitive examination. A Scholar is boarded, lodged, and educated, at a cost to his friends of 21*l.* per annum. Besides the Scholars or boys elected on the Foundation, and who are lodged and boarded in the College, there are about 300 “Commoners” or non-foundation boys, who reside and are boarded in Masters' houses. The expenses of a Commoner are about 106 guineas per annum. Winchester has numerous Scholarships at New College, Oxford, open to Scholars and Commoners, and tenable for five years, of the annual value of 80*l.* There are also Exhibitions given to deserving boys, on their proceeding to the University. John Morys was the first Warden, in 1393.

The Commoners are received in boarding houses, containing about thirty-five boys each. There are Exhibitions (at present eight in number) to be held by Commoners, each of the value of 50*l.* per annum, to which boys under fifteen years are elected by competition at the time of the Examination for the Scholarships.

The Masters who keep boarding houses at present have an asterisk (*) to their names.

Application for a boy's admission as a Commoner will be most conveniently made direct to the Master in whose house it is wished that the boy shall be placed ; or it may be made to the Head Master, who will then make the further arrangements.

No boy is received after completing his fifteenth year (12 to 15), except under special circumstances, and on condition of his being able to take a good position in the School. Boys under that age are required to be qualified to join some class in the School.

The grammars in use are the Public Schools Latin Primer and Wordsworth's Greek Grammar, and the course of instruction is as in all the other ancient Public Schools.

There are holidays three times a year : at Christmas, five weeks, commencing on the Wednesday before Christmas Day ; at Easter, three weeks, commencing on the Wednesday before Easter Day ; in the summer, seven weeks, commencing on the Wednesday nearest to the 1st of August.

I. The Scholarships of Winchester College are open to the competition of all boys who have completed their eleventh and not exceeded their fourteenth year on the 1st of July preceding the election. An Examination graduated in difficulty according to the age of the candidates is held at the College annually in the month of July. The relative proficiency of the candidate, as exhibited in this Examination, determines the election. In cases of equal merit, the choice of the electors is influenced by the character of the candidates, and their pecuniary circumstances as stated in the declaration of their parents.

II. The Exhibitions are open to all boys under fifteen years of age, whether already in the School as Commoners or not. These are of the annual value of 50*l.* each, and are tenable during the whole of the Exhibitioner's stay in the School, unless vacated by his subsequent election to a Scholarship, or by forfeiture on account of idleness or other misconduct. The Examination for the Exhibition is conducted at the same time as that for the Scholarships.

III. Notice of candidates for the Scholarships or Exhibitions must be given on or before the first day of June in each year.

IV. Such notice—addressed to the Rev. G. Richardson, Winchester College—must be accompanied by the following papers :—

1. Certificate of baptism.
2. Certificate of character and conduct, specifying the length of time to which it applies, from the Schoolmaster or Tutor under whom the candidate has been last placed. In the case of a boy who has been brought up entirely at home, the parents' certificate of character is admitted.
3. A declaration signed by one of the parents of the candidate, or, if both parents be dead, by the person best qualified to give the necessary evidence. Forms of the declaration will be supplied on application to the Rev. G. Richardson, Winchester College Winchester.

V. The candidates are examined—

1. In Elementary Religious Knowledge.
2. In English Dictation.
3. In Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry.
4. In Latin Composition, Verse and Prose.
5. In construing and parsing in Greek and Latin.
6. French Grammar, Parsing and Translation (easy passages).
7. The outlines of Geography and English History.

VI. The Head Master shall have power to refuse the admission of any applicant if he judge it expedient.

VII. No boy shall remain in the School after the end of the School half-year in which he shall attain the age of 16 years, unless he shall have been previously admitted to Middle Part V.; no boy shall remain in the school after the end of the School half-year in which he shall attain the age of 17 years, unless he shall have been previously admitted to Senior Part V.; and no boy shall remain in the School after the end of the School half-year in which he shall attain the age of 18 years. Under exceptional circumstances the Head Master may relax these rules, but in no case shall a boy remain in the School beyond the end of the School half-year in which he shall attain the age of 19 years.

[For the purposes of this regulation the School half-year is considered to end on the 10th of January or the 10th of August, as the case may be.]

VIII. Besides the subjects specified above, others not declared beforehand are introduced from time to time ; copies of questions set at previous elections are not issued, nor are the particular books in which the Candidates will be examined previously stated.

IX. The Scholarships of New College, Oxford, are open to all boys alike who have received their education at the School of Winchester College, whether as Scholars or as Commoners.

The following payments are required to be made by every Commoner to his House Master:—

1. Upon admission to the School, an Entrance Fee of 12*l*.
2. For School Fees, an annual sum of 33*l*. 10*s*.
3. For Board and Private Instruction by the House Master, an annual sum of 78*l*. 10*s*. ; total, 106 guineas.
4. For Medical Attendance, an annual sum of 2*l*. 2*s*.

The payments due for the past Term are to be paid before the beginning of the following Term.

The Officers and Masters of the School consist of the governing body, the Lord Selborne, Chairman, and ten members.

OUR THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES.

OUR THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

Undergraduates at our Universities, who, after having taken their Degrees, are aspirants for ordination, or any other Student desirous of entering the Church, and otherwise fitted for it, will have to retire to some College specially set apart for giving a more particularly theological training, there to be prepared, by quiet study and practical learning, for the serious and important duties of their future office. Respecting benefices, there are, it appears, from 287 livings of 1,000*l.* a year, and above, thirty-seven of 1,000*l.* a year, 185 between 1,000*l.* and 1,500, forty-three between 1,500*l.* and 2,000*l.*, three of 2,000*l.*, thirteen between 2,000*l.* and 3,000*l.*, one 3,000*l.*, one 3,058*l.*, and one 3,500*l.* The last three livings are Hawarden (Chester), Upwell (Norwich), and Halsall (Chester). The Archbishops and Bishops have sixty-eight under their patronage, noblemen have forty-eight; Cambridge, fifteen; Oxford, eight; Lord Chancellor, five; the Crown, four; and the rest are in the gift of commoners, and a few belong to Deans and Chapters.

Some little time ago a proposal was started at Oxford for providing Students intending to take Holy Orders with a thorough theological training in Oxford itself, and "S. Stephen's House" was specially set apart with that object. The entire cost, all found, amounts to 110*l.* per annum. But the number of Candidates for Bishop's Ordinations who have availed themselves of the above advantages has hitherto been very limited, and there seems to be a general misconception that it is solely a missionary establishment, and men therefore prefer entering the various recognised Theological Colleges, full particulars of which institutions will be found fully described in the following pages; and in addition to these Institutions the Student is also referred to the Theological Faculties or Departments of the different Universities.

CAMBRIDGE PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR HOLY ORDERS.

These Examinations were established chiefly with a view to aid in promoting a more systematic and a better distributed course of preparation for Holy Orders. They are conducted under the direction of Professors of Divinity and members of Theological Faculty, in co-operation with many Bishops, and will enable Bishops to relieve their own examinations of some of those subjects by which the intellectual qualifications of Candidates are tested, and to give more devotional tone to the period immediately preceding Ordination.

But it has not been thought to be within the province of the Preliminary Examination to deal with such subjects as doctrine, pastoral care, and a general knowledge of Holy Scriptures.

The Council of Management consists of the Divinity Professors, elected representatives of Theological Faculties, and Examining Chaplains, one being nominated by each of the Bishops who take part in the scheme. The Examiners must be either Graduates in Theology or M.A. in Priests' Orders, and the examinations are held twice every year, about Easter and in October, and at different centres, with a view to suit the convenience of Candidates: due notice is given of the time and place. The examinations are open (a) to graduates of English Universities, (b) to members of Theological Colleges in connection with the Church of England, who have at least entered on the last term of the complete course, and are recommended by the Principal, (c) to any other person who may be nominated by a Bishop, with a view to ordination in his own diocese.

Every Candidate will be required to declare himself a member of the Church of England, and to produce a satisfactory certificate of moral character. All communications from candidates who are members of a Theological College must be made through the Principal or Vice-Principal of their College, and the names of candidates who satisfy Examiners are placed alphabetically in two classes. The following Bishops and Archbishops have expressed their intention of recognising the results of these examinations in their admission of candidates to Holy Orders:—Archbishops of Canterbury and York, Bishops of Winchester, Norwich, Worcester, Gloucester and Bristol, Hereford, Peterborough, Lincoln, Salisbury, Carlisle, Bath and Wells, Ely, Truro, and Durham. The papers given in previous examinations, with the regulations, may be had of Deighton, Bell, and Co., Cambridge. Candidates are required to send in their names and forms before the 1st March for the Easter examination, and before the 1st September for the October examination, to Rev. E. G. King, Madingley Vicarage, Cambridge.

CHICHESTER THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE.

This College was founded in the year 1839 for the instruction of candidates for Holy Orders in Theology and in the duties of the Christian Ministry. It is under the immediate control of the Bishop, and is in connection with the Cathedral Church.

The Principal is appointed by the Bishop, and the Vice-Principal by the Principal, subject to the Bishop's approval. They must both be in Priests' Orders and Masters of Arts, or Graduates in Theology or Law.

The College is designed for Graduates of the Universities and others professing their intention of offering themselves as candidates for Holy Orders in the diocese of Chichester or elsewhere. No Student is admitted without the approbation of the Bishop, and testimonials and references are required. Application for admission must be made to the Principal.

The College Terms for the year are four, and average eight weeks each.

With the consent of the Principal, residence may be continued during the vacations, in which case the Student is expected to attend Cathedral Service once each day.

The course of study occupies four Terms, viz., Lent Term, Easter Term, Michaelmas Term, and October Term, comprising the Holy Scriptures, especially the Greek of the New Testament; the Book of Common Prayer and the XXXIX Articles; Selections from the Early Fathers; the Evidences of Christianity; the History of the Church; the Duties of the Christian Ministry; the Composition and Delivery of Sermons; Management of Schools; Parochial Visitation, &c., &c.

Students who are not Graduates cannot be admitted for less than two years, unless under exceptional circumstances and by special permission.

At the end of each Term an examination is held in the subjects on which the Students have been lectured. The College Testimonials are not given unless these examinations are satisfactorily passed. Students are expected to pass the Cambridge Preliminary Examination before concluding their College course.

Each Student on admission pays a fee of 30*l.*,* together with 1*l.* to the College Library, covering all Collegiate charges for the year. If residence extend beyond the four Terms, 10*l.* is paid for each of the first three Terms after the fourth, together with 1*l.* to the College Library, as in the first year.

The Students reside in lodgings approved by the Principal, and no change of lodging is permitted without his previous sanction. The expense of residence is placed under limitations, and the Students are expected to conform, as to their habits and general conduct, to the directions of the Principal acting under the Bishop.

The Students attend prayers daily in the Cathedral during residence, and are expected to be frequent partakers of the Holy Communion.

Recognised Church-workers in the Diocese of Chichester may, under certain conditions, become "Probationers" of the College, and after passing examinations in stated books at intervals during two years, may obtain ordination with a single year of residence. No fees are charged to them while Probationers.

Visitor and President.

The Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Chichester, D.D.

Principal.—The Rev. William Awdry, Canon Residentiary of the Cathedral, M.A., Balliol College, Oxford; 1st Class Lit. Hum. in 1865.

Vice-Principal.—Rev. J. S. Teulon, M.A., Prebendary of the Cathedral.

Lecturer in Greek Testament.—Rev. T. P. Brandram, M.A., Priest Vicar of the Cathedral.

Lecturer in Ecclesiastical and Parochial Law.—R. G. Raper, Esq., Solicitor.

---

* If preferred, the 30*l.* may be paid in sums of 10*l.* at the commencement of each of the first three Terms.

CUDDESDON THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE,

WHEATLEY, OXFORDSHIRE.

The College is under the immediate direction of the Lord Bishop of Oxford, and is intended as a place of residence for religious preparation and theological study, between graduating at the Universities and being admitted to Holy Orders.

It is open to all who have passed the Final Examination at Oxford, Cambridge, and Durham; and the Theological Examination at Trinity College, Dublin, and King's College, London.

Students admitted are not in any way pledged to take cures within the Diocese of Oxford.

Those who, being already in Deacons' Orders, are desirous of retirement and study, before becoming candidates for the Priesthood, may be admitted for short periods, at the discretion of the Principal, if there be room in the College.

As a general rule, Students are not admitted for a shorter period than one year.

The year is divided into four Terms, ending severally with the four Ember Seasons, with the exception of Lent Term, which always ends on Easter Monday. Students are not allowed to remain in College during the vacations, without special leave of the Principal.

The course of study comprehends Lectures on the Holy Scriptures, on the Doctrine and Liturgy of the Church of England (especially Pearson and Hooker), on Church History, and the elements of Hebrew. Portions of the early Fathers and Historians are read in connection with the Lectures; the Students are also exercised in the composition and delivery of Sermons.

The manner of living is collegiate; all meals are taken in common, and all live under one roof, as in Colleges at the University.

The payment for a year's residence is 120*l.* Of this sum, 30*l.* is paid when the name is first entered, and 30*l.* at the beginning of the first, second, and third Terms of residence respectively. All College expenses, and all cost of fuel, candles, servants' wages, &c., are covered by the above payment; the rooms are furnished.

It is said that notice has been given that the following resolution will be proposed at the meeting of the next Oxford Diocesan Conference:—"That this Conference desires respectfully to draw the attention of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese to the pamphlet upon Cuddesdon College, addressed by the Rev. C. P. Golightly to the lay members of the Conference, and is of opinion that the statements contained therein show that the teaching in the said College does not deserve the confidence of members of the Church of England."

Visitor.—The Lord Bishop of Oxford.

Principal.—The Rev. W. Methuen G. Ducat, M.A., Balliol College, Oxford.

Vice-Principal and Librarian.—The Rev. C. Gore, M.A.

ELY THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE.

This College was founded in 1876, by the Bishop of Ely, and is under the management of the Bishop and the Principal. The number of Students is limited to 12, all Graduates ; married men are not admitted. There are four Terms, of eight weeks each, ending with Ember Seasons. The course of study comprises the Holy Scriptures in the original languages, the Book of Common Prayer, the Doctrines of the Church, Ecclesiastical History, and Pastoral Theology. Attention is also paid to the composition and delivery of Sermons.

The Students conduct services and preach in turn in a Mission Chapel ; and those who desire to visit the sick and the poor undertake small districts under the direction of the Vice-Principal. They also teach in the Sunday Schools.

The Lectures are arranged, as far as possible, to meet the requirements of the "Preliminary Examination for Holy Orders," the subjects for which are also set in many Dioceses at the Bishops' Examinations.

Each Student is required to have a Surplice, College Cap, Gown, and Hood of his University degree.

The tuition fees are 8*l.* per term. There are six Bursaries, of 50*l.* each.

In addition to the regular College Lectures, the Bishop of Ely himself delivers a course of lectures to the Students on Hooker. The regulations of the College provide that, besides the ordinary course of instruction in theology, attention should be paid to pastoral visitation. The Students also, under proper supervision, conduct services in the Mission Chapels of the neighbourhood.

Principal.—The Rev. H. Mortimor Luckock, D.D., Canon of the Cathedral.

Vice-Principal.—The Rev. W. Bouverie Trevelyan, M.A., Trinity College, Cambridge.

Prælector in Pastoral Care.—Rev. A. R. Evans, M.A., Hon. Canon of Ely.

CUMBRAE COLLEGE,

ISLE OF CUMBRAE.

This College was founded in 1849, when the foundation stone of the present Cathedral Church was laid. The two wings which constitute the present College were opened respectively in November 1850 and May 1851.

On S. Peter's Day, 1854, the Bishop of the Diocese was installed as Provost, and after holding the office for 12 years, he was succeeded by the Rev. J. G. Cazenove, who had for the same period been acting as Vice-Provost.

On Dr. Cazenove's resignation in 1875, the Rev. F. R. H. H. Noyes was appointed Provost, and was duly installed on June 9th of that year.

In May, 1876, the Collegiate Church was made the Cathedral Church of the Diocese of the Isles.

Students preparing for Holy Orders either in England or Scotland are received into the College.

The course is: for Graduates, one year; for Non-Graduates, two years. The terms are 95*l.* per annum, inclusive of board and tuition.

The course of study embraces the following books and subjects:—

Holy Scripture.—The Old Testament, some book or books of; the New Testament in Greek; the Criticism and Interpretation of the New Testament.

Doctrine.—The XXXIX Articles; Pearson on the Creed; Hooker's "Ecclesiastical Polity," especially Book V.; Butler's Analogy; the Church Catechism.

Ecclesiastical History.—The History of the Church for the first Five Centuries; the History of the Church of England; the History of the Church of Scotland.

Prayer Books.—Liturgies, Ancient and Modern; the rationale and structure of the Prayer Book; the Principles of Divine Service.

Lectures are also given throughout the year on some one or other of the writings of the Fathers, and instruction is given in Sermon-writing and preaching, as well as in Pastoral Theology.

By a recent arrangement with the University of Durham, Non-Graduates who have completed their course at this College may take their Degree at that University after a residence of three Terms, and on passing the final Degree Examination.

There are two Scholarships, of the value of 50*l.* per annum each, especially for Students preparing for ordination in Scotland.

Students are required to attend the daily Cathedral services.

The year is divided into three Terms, averaging 12 weeks each, and commencing about February 1st, June 9th, and October 5th.

In addition to Students preparing for Holy Orders in another department of the College, Students are preparing for Matriculation at the Universities.

Terms, 125*l.* per annum; and when there is room, long vacation Students are received to read for their Examinations at the rate of 12*l.* 12*s.* a month.

All Students are required to wear the gown of their Degree in Hall and at Lectures.

Visitor.—The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of the Diocese.

Provost.—Very Rev. F. R. H. Herbert Noyes, D.D.

GLOUCESTER THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE.

This College is designed, primarily, for Graduates of the Universities who, being furnished with College Testimonials, are desirous of entering upon a course of theological study, and of practical training in parochial work.

The period of residence for Graduates is three Terms; after which, if their conduct has been good, and they have satisfactorily passed the prescribed Examinations, they receive the College Certificate. This Certificate is accepted by the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol in place of the Certificate of having passed the Cambridge Theological Examination, and of having attended the usual two courses of Divinity Lectures at Oxford.

Graduates who do not require the Certificate may be admitted for periods less than three Terms.

Candidates who have not attained a University Degree may be accepted as Students of the College, provided that their applications have been first approved by the Bishop. Such Candidates, however, will be expected to possess a fair knowledge of Greek and Latin, to be tested by a preliminary examination. To obtain the College Testimonium, which will entitle them to be accepted by the Bishop as Candidates for Holy Orders, they are required to reside six Terms at the College, and to pass with credit a final examination.

The general regulation and discipline of the College is as follows :—
Daily attendance at the Cathedral.

Lectures for two or three hours every day, and regular training in parochial work, including District Visiting, Sunday and Night Schools, Cottage Lectures, &c., &c.

An examination at the end of every Term, and in the case both of applicants for a Certificate and of Non-Graduates, a concluding examination at the end of the whole prescribed course.

Particular attention is given to the composition of sermons and to public reading.

The Students live in lodgings approved by the Principal.

The year will be divided into three terms of about 12 weeks each, beginning about January 15th, May 1st, and September 20th.

The College fees are 10*l.* each term (to be paid in advance), in the case of those who are admitted to reside for not less than three terms ; and 12*l.* each term (to be paid in advance) in the case of those admitted for a less time ; and in all cases, an entrance fee of 1*l.* towards the Library Fund.

President and Visitor.

The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, and four Vice-Presidents.

Council.

The Ven. the Chapters of Gloucester and Bristol.

The Rev. the Rural Deans of the Diocese.

Principal.—The Rev. Charles J. Parker, M.A.

Vice-Principal.—The Rev. R. P. Luscombe, M.A.

LEEDS CLERGY SCHOOL.

This School was founded in 1876, by the Rev. J. Gott, D.D., Vicar of Leeds, with the object of preparing Graduates for their ordination to town curacies, and is under the sanction of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, and under the management of the Vicar of Leeds. The fees are, for tuition, 10*l.* a quarter, or 30*l.* a year of 4 quarters ; board and lodging in the house, 1*l.* per week. There are four Exhibitions of 80*l.* a year. All Exhibitioners must remain one year in the School, and to take their first curacy in a town parish.

Applications for admission must be made to Dr. Gott, enclosing College testimonials and references to two clergymen. Under certain circumstances non-Graduates may be admitted, but in their case at least two years' residence and an entrance examination are required. A free course of Lectures, specially adapted to younger clergy, are open to all the Rural Deanery. Missionary Students may come to this School for a few months before leaving England.

The Terms are divided into four quarters, which fit in as nearly as possible with Ember Seasons. The ordinary course of study and parochial experience lasts one year. (1) The instruction consists of Theological Lectures and guidance in study, and the course includes Holy Scriptures in original languages, Book of Common Prayer, History and Doctrine of Church, Pastoral, Theological, and usual subjects of Ordination Examination. (2) Instruction and practice in all branches of working of a large parish. (3) Devotional help.

Principal.—Vacant, assisted by the Rev. H. L. Paget, M.A.

LICHFIELD THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE.

Founded 1857. Graduates and others prepared for Holy Orders in the Church of England. Graduates of Universities in connection with the Church of England may obtain the College Certificate after a residence of three Terms. If the Certificate is not required, they are at liberty to study at the College for one or more Terms, on presenting satisfactory Testimonials.

All candidates for admission must send to the Principal three or four testimonials of good and suitable character, from clergymen who have known them well, and (if Graduates) from the Head or Tutor of their College. Non-Graduates must also pass an examination (1) in the Greek of S. Matthew's Gospel ; (2) in general knowledge of the Bible ; and (3) in English Composition. Unless under very exceptional circumstances, those who have failed at the Universities are not eligible for admission.

Graduates of the Universities reside one year ; non-Graduates two years. But Graduates, if they do not require the College Certificate, can be admitted to study for shorter periods, by special permission of the Principal ; and non-Graduates can, by industry and good conduct, obtain the Certificate from the Council (on the Principal's recommendation) somewhat before the expiration of two years.

The course of study comprises—The Holy Scriptures : the Old Testament in English, and the New Testament in Greek. The Prayer Book, with an examination of Primitive and Mediæval Liturgies. The Doctrines of the Church of England, especially as set forth in her Creeds, Articles, and Standard Divines (Hooker, Pearson, &c.). Church History, Primitive, Mediæval, and Modern. Evidences, &c. ; e.g., Bp. Butler, Paley, Blunt ; also the Canon Law ; the principles of the more important English Sects, &c. Elementary instruction is given in Hebrew and Greek.

Public reading is practised, under the instruction of the Principal ; and each Student in turn reads the Lessons at daily morning chapel.

Public speaking and Extempore Preaching are cultivated by means of semi-public Preaching, Debates, School-room Lectures, &c.

Sermons or Theological Essays are frequently written.

Visitation of the sick and poor is learnt, under the guidance of the clergy in the parishes of the city and neighbourhood.

An insight into the working of Schools is gained by occasional attendance at inspections, and by assistance at Sunday and Night Schools.

Elementary instruction in matters connected with health and disease is kindly given by one of the physicians in the city.

Music is taught by the Precentor of the College.

The tuition fees are 10*l.* for each term of 12 weeks, beginning about January 20th, May 20th, and September 20th. There is an entrance fee of 1*l.* to the Library ; Room-rent in the College House is 10*s.* a week ; in lodging (sanctioned by the Principal) it varies from 10*s.* upwards. Books cost about 4*l.* A surplice can be obtained at the College for 30*s.* It is computed that a Student's whole expense during residence need not exceed 30*l.* a Term.

There are at present several Exhibitions (of 30*l.* a year), open for competition every Michaelmas.

President.

The Lord Bishop of the Diocese.

Principal.

The Rev. G. H. Moberley, Rector of Duntsbourne House, late Fellow of Christ College, Oxford.

Vice-Principal.

THE LONDON COLLEGE OF DIVINITY,

S. JOHN'S HALL, Highbury.

This College was founded and endowed in the year 1863 by the Rev. A. Peache and Miss Peache, at a cost to them of upwards of 50,000*l.*, for the purpose of training for the Ministry of the Church of England suitable Candidates who have not received a University Education; and also for affording systematic Theological Teaching to Graduates. Its fundamental principle is contained in the following extract from its Trust Deed:—“The teaching and government shall always be strictly Protestant and Evangelical, in conformity with the doctrines of the United Church of England and Ireland, as expressed in the Thirty-nine Articles, as now by law established, interpreted according to the plain and natural meaning thereof.”

The College was opened in November, 1863, in a building rented for the purpose at S. John's Wood. In the year 1865, the property which had been occupied by the Metropolitan Training Institution at Highbury was purchased, and under the name of S. John's Hall the building was adapted for the use of the College of Divinity. The land contains about seven acres, lying on the north-western slope of Highbury Hill, with a view towards Highgate and Muswell Hill. It is laid out in gardens and ground for recreation. The College buildings comprise a residence for the Principal, Library, Lecture-rooms, Dining-hall, Tutor's apartments, and sets of rooms for fifty-one Students, each having a study and bedroom.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The full course occupies three years, and is thus arranged:—

FIRST YEAR.

An elementary Greek and Latin Class for less advanced Students; Lectures in Grammar and English Composition; Lectures based on Rawlinson's Ancient History, with special reference to Biblical History and Prophecy, and the basis of Ecclesiastical History; Lectures on Mediæval History, preparatory to the Ecclesiastical History of the same period; the Geography of Palestine; the Old Testament—the contents and relations of its several books; the Gospels in Greek; Opuscula of S. Augustine; Patres Apostolici; Horæ Paulinæ; Ecclesiastical History of the first three centuries; the Thirty-nine Articles—the English text and Scriptural bearings.

SECOND YEAR.

Ecclesiastical History subsequent to the first three centuries; History of the Church of England; Paley's Evidences; Butler's Analogy; Pearson on the Creed; Greek Testament; Septuagint; Hebrew; Old Testament Exegesis; Opuscula of S. Augustine; Eusebius.

THIRD YEAR.

Greek Testament; Hebrew; the Critical History of the Bible; the Thirty-nine Articles—considered Historically and Theologically; S. Augustine, De Doctrinâ Christianâ; the Prayer Book; Hooker; Composition and Delivery of Sermons; systematic training in Reading.

The above is a generally accurate description of the course ; though the subjects are not always strictly apportioned between the years as here stated.

Graduates of Universities, or persons entering under special conditions, take such a selection from the above lectures as may seem most needful during the limited time of their attendance. They may reside in lodgings. The Students undertake a considerable amount of Christian work in Schools, and in conducting Mission-room Services, Workhouse Visitation, and other means of usefulness.

FOR ADMISSION,

Candidates should apply to the Principal. They are required to give the names of competent referees, who may be able to speak of them from personal knowledge ; and to answer a paper of questions furnished by the Principal. They also have an interview with the Examiner of candidates. A fixed educational standard of admission has not been found to lead to satisfactory results. Each case is considered on its own merits, regard being had to the evidence of personal piety and promise of fitness for the Ministry apparent in the candidate. The first two Terms after admission are probationary.

All the advantages of the College are obtained for the payment of 60*l.* per annum. This sum is payable in instalments of 20*l.* on February 1st, May 1st, and October 1st, in each year. There is also an admission fee of 2*l.* 2*s.*, payable with the fee for the first Term. Furnished apartments, fires, board, and washing, together with all the educational advantages of the College, are secured by the payment of the above sum. The probable amount of his further personal expenses, including books, may be readily estimated by a candidate. The cap and gown of the College pattern may be procured from Messrs. Castell, Broad Street, Oxford, or Messrs. Cox, Southampton Street, Strand, for 1*l.* 4*s.* It will be observed that (practically speaking) the above terms amount to giving each Student a Scholarship of considerable value. Students not residing in the College pay a tuition fee of 10*l.* per Term, together with the admission fee of 2*l.* 2*s.*

There are three Terms in the year :—Lent Term, from the end of January to the day before Good Friday ; Easter Term, from the second Saturday after Easter to the end of July ; Michaelmas Term, from about the 20th September to the Thursday or Friday before Christmas.

Vacations are six weeks at Christmas, a fortnight at Easter, and eight weeks in August and September.

Regularity of habits, and conformity to College hours, and to the rules needful for the due order of such an Institution, are required.

Each Student has his own study and bedroom, the furniture of which is provided by the College, without charge.

All the meals are in the Common Hall.

The mode of instruction is that used in the best Colleges in Cambridge, being rather Tutorial and Catechetical, than Professorial.

Principal.—The Rev. T. P. Boulton, LL.D., late Fellow of S. John's College, Cambridge.

Secretary.—W. Irving Hare, Esq., 118, Pall Mall, S.W.

S. AIDAN'S THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE,

BIRKENHEAD.

This College was founded in 1846. There is a large and convenient building, including a house for the Principal, a chapel, and rooms for the Assistants and 70 resident Students, all in the same edifice; the chapel seats 150 persons, and is open to the public under the provisions of the Private Chapels Act. The College stands in its own ground of seven acres, and is two miles from the Birkenhead Railway Station, and three miles from Liverpool.

The Principal addresses intending Students in these words: "I would express an earnest hope that all Students coming to S. Aidan's will resolve, by God's grace, to exercise frugality, diligence, and self-discipline, as among the best practical preparations for the work of the Christian Ministry. I hope that Resident and non-Resident Students alike will, both in their persevering application to study, and in the regulation of their conduct generally during their College course, never forget the high object to which, in entering the College, they have distinctly devoted themselves, and that, with ceaseless prayer for God's blessing, they may so prepare themselves for the sacred Ministry of Christ's Church as both by their life and doctrine to set forth God's glory and set forward the salvation of all men."

Every one applying to be admitted as a Student is required to send to the Principal the names of two competent referees, a certificate of baptism, and a testimonial signed by a beneficed Clergyman of the Church of England, and if accepted, to pass the Entrance Examination, which is strictly elementary, and which comprises general questions in Old and New Testament History, Elements of Greek and Latin Grammar, the Gospel according to S. Mark in Greek, the Gospel according to S. Mark in Latin.

A certain amount of previous education is expected in every candidate for admission to the College, and in no case can the Entrance Examination be dispensed with, except when the Student is already a graduate of some University.

The College course for University Graduates will be three Terms, commencing with the Michaelmas Term. Graduates, on applying for admission, must send to the Principal a Certificate of their Degree, in addition to the documents above required.

Students desiring to study at the College during part of the Long Vacation may do so, by permission of the Principal, on payment of an extra fee.

A Preparatory Class is conducted during Term time and in the Long Vacation, in which Class applicants for future admission as Students may be prepared for the Entrance Examination, and can receive such other instruction as may be deemed advisable.

Those wishing to become members of this Class must send in to the Principal the References, Certificate, and Testimonial required from intending Students.

The fees are as follows :—

|                                                        | £  | s. | d. |

| Do. do. ... .. (Long Vacation Term)                    | 10 | 10 | 0  |

The principal Entrance Examination will be held at the beginning of the Michaelmas Term, and a Supplemental Examination will be held in January for those who cannot enter in October.

Examinations will be held at the end of each Term, and a list of the Students will be arranged in Classes, according to the results of the Examination.

The age of admission is from 20 and upwards.

No free Students. Boarders pay 63*l.* a year, and Day Students 31*l.* 10*s.*, with entrance fees in each case of 2*l.* 2*s.*, and admission fee of 5*l.* 5*s.* There is a fund for assisting Students, but there are no fixed rules for its application.

Visitor.—The Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Chester.

Principal.—The Rev. W. Saumarez Smith, B.D., late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

S. AUGUSTINE'S MISSIONARY COLLEGE, CANTERBURY.

(Founded as an Abbey, and endowed by King Ethelbert, A.D. 605 ; suppressed, A.D. 1538 ; Restored as a Missionary College, under Royal Charter, with a body of Statutes, A.D. 1848.)

"Benedicat nos Deus : Et metuant Eum omnes fines terræ."

The Missionary College of S. Augustine, Canterbury, was established by free contributions of Members of the Church, at the head of whom are Her Majesty the Queen, Her late Majesty the Queen-Dowager, and His late R. H. the Prince Consort. The greater part of the original fund was collected by the exertions of the late Rev. Edward Coleridge, of Eton College, and Mr. Beresford Hope, who has placed a beautiful carved oak altar table, mounted on Cumberland marble, in the crypt of the College Chapel in Memory of Lady Mildred Hope, his wife.

The College is on a portion of the site of the ancient Abbey* of S. Augustine, including the principal gateway, and the buildings are the † No Students are permitted to reside out of College, except those whose families or near relatives are residents in Birkenhead or the neighbourhood.

Chapel, Hall, Library, Warden's Lodge, Fellows' Buildings, and rooms for forty Students, and for twelve Foreigners.

The object of the College is "to provide an education to qualify young men for the service of the Church in the distant dependencies of the British Empire, with such strict regard to economy and frugality of habits, as may fit them for the special duties to be discharged, the difficulties to be encountered, and the hardships to be endured."

The College is formed on the general plan of the collegiate institutions of the English Universities—to consist of a Warden, Sub-Warden, and six Fellows.

The Students may be of any nation and rank in life, and are "under such Statutes, Rules, and Ordinances as are for the time being in force in the College." The principal clauses of the College Statute, relating to Students, are :—

"Candidates for admission into the College as Students will be submitted to a previous examination. They will be required to be in communion with the Church of England, and to bring with them satisfactory certificates of baptism, and of religious and moral character.

"They will not be admitted ordinarily under eighteen or above twenty-two years of age. But the Warden may, in special cases, dispense with this regulation on the subject of age. They shall sign a written promise to conform to the rules of the College, to obey those who are set over them, and diligently to pursue the studies appointed them. They shall also sign a written declaration of their deliberate intention to devote themselves, with all the powers of mind and body which God in His goodness has given them, to His service in the Ministry of the Church of England in the distant dependencies of the British Empire.

"The Students are required to attend the daily Morning and Evening Prayers in the College Chapel, and are exhorted to communicate monthly at the least, and oftener if they desire it, and the Warden consider them fit so to do.

"The Students shall have separate apartments, but shall take all their meals in common in the College Hall.

"They shall wear a distinctive dress, and their ordinary apparel shall be grave and sober.

"The ordinary course of instruction in the College will be completed in three years.

"The payments to be made by the Students for the expenses of their maintenance shall be from time to time fixed by the Warden, with the approbation of the Visitor, and shall be made in advance at the beginning of each Term."

The annual collegiate charge for the education and maintenance of each Student is 40*l*. This includes rooms, furniture, and attendance of College servants. It does not include the vacations, which are limited to three lunar months in the year, nor travelling and personal expenses, books, and stationery ; but the two last are furnished at a reduced price. The expense of cap, gown, and surplice is 3*l*. Each Student is expected to find his own sheets and towels. All other things are provided by the College. No fee of any kind, or caution money, is required on admission ; but every Student at the close of his residence, before receiving his College testimonials, is required to make a declaration that all his bills are duly settled.

In May, 1857, the use of a distinctive hood was sanctioned by His Grace the Visitor of the College. The hood, accompanied by a diploma, is granted by the College to such matriculated Students as have completed the prescribed course, and have received missionary or colonial appointments.

The Terms of the College are two, and are fixed according to the discretion of the Warden.

There are 26 Exhibitions of considerable value to Students.

S. BEES COLLEGE,

CUMBERLAND.

This College was founded by Bishop Law, in the year 1816, endowed by the Earl of Lonsdale with the incumbency of the Parish of St. Bees, and recognized by Act of Parliament (3 and 4 Vic. cap. 77). Its object is to supply a good and economical education for Candidates for Holy Orders. The College course extends over two years: this period is divided into four Terms, during which residence is indispensable. The first Term commences about the 28th of January, and ends towards the 5th of May; the second begins about the 28th of August, and closes about the 5th of December. The third and fourth are like the first and second. Lectures begin punctually (Sundays excepted) on the 1st of February and 1st of September. Students are admitted either in January or August.

There being no Collegiate Buildings, each Student furnishes himself with a house or lodgings in the village, under the direction and control of the Principal. The expense of board and lodging, with moderate economy, may be from eighteen shillings to twenty-four shillings a week for each Student. The fee for Tuition is 10*l.* a Term, paid each Term in advance; three guineas are paid by each Student when he comes into residence, in aid of a fund for keeping the College in repair and increasing the Library; the cap and gown cost about 1*l.* 10*s.*; this, with the additional cost of some prescribed books, includes all the necessary expenses. The Librarian, who is generally a distinguished Student of the College, is exempted from the payment of the College fee.

Before the admission of a Student, the Principal must be furnished with testimonials from two Clergymen of the Church of England; one of these must certify that the person in whose behalf it is given is a man of unblemished morality and consistent piety; that he is cordially attached to the Church of England; and fitted, by his general habits, character, and attainments, for the office of the ministry. It is desirable that it should also specify his age and condition, as well as his pursuits from the time when he left school to that in which the certificate is granted. If no single Clergyman can give the testimonial for the whole period, it may be covered by several. The other testimonial is to certify that the individual desiring admission has such a knowledge of the Greek and Latin languages that he can attend lectures upon the Greek Gospels and some easy Latin Author, with advantage to himself. No Student can continue a member of the College whose conduct is not in all respects satisfactory to the Authorities.

The ordinary limits of age are twenty-one and thirty-five. The testimonials may be sent in at any time during the three months previous to the commencement of that Term in which the Student proposes to begin his residence.

The course of study during the four Terms embraces Scriptural and Ecclesiastical History; the Evidences of Religion, external and internal; an expository knowledge of the New Testament; Lectures on the Creeds and the Articles of Religion; Theology, doctrinal and pastoral; and the composition and delivery of Sermons.

Principal.—The Rev. Edward H. Knowles, M.A., Hon. Canon of Carlisle.

Tutors.—The Rev. John Smallpiece, M.A.; the Rev. T. H. Shaw, M.A.

Lecturer.—The Rev. T. H. Shaw, M.A.

S. BONIFACE MISSION-HOUSE,

WARMINSTER, WILTS.

ESTABLISHED OCTOBER 5TH, 1860.

This College was founded by the Rev. Sir James Erasmus Philipps, Bart., M.A., Vicar of Warminster, for the purpose of preparing young men (of the age of about sixteen and upwards) for S. Augustine's College, Canterbury, and other Missionary Colleges abroad, as Bishop's College, Calcutta, S. John's, Newfoundland, and for direct work in the Mission Field, etc. It admits men of all classes in society, who seem to be gifted for Missionary work, and called to the same of God. Exceptional education can be offered to those who are of an advanced age, and cannot be admitted in consequence at S. Augustine's, etc. They are entitled Associate Students. Each application will be decided on its own merits.

The instruction given is in (1) the Latin and Greek Languages ab initio; (2) Mathematics (pure and mixed), if needed; (3) English Literature and Grammar, and general subjects, with a view to preparing them for any circumstances in which they may be placed; (4) Theology, the Old and New Testament History, Liturgiology, and Ecclesiastical History, etc.; (5) Gardening, Carpentering, Smith's work, Printing, and Bookbinding. Besides there are opportunities for teaching in the Night and Sunday Schools, and visiting the poor, when it is thought advisable, and their services are required. Singing is regularly taught, and instruction in playing on the Harmonium, etc., is also given.

The Students attend Matins in the Collège Chapel, and a short service in College in the evening. Also a Mid-day Service and Evensong, if so disposed. There is a Celebration in the parish on Sundays and Holy Days. Opportunities for special prayer and meditation are afforded at times, and it is intended by degrees, as thought fit from time to time, to give direct instruction in ministerial work, and the spiritual life.

The College is at present a large house, near the Parish Church, and there are about thirty Students. There is a Common room, and a Library.

The Terms are four in number, and are called Lent, Easter, Michaelmas, and Advent Terms. Lent Term begins about January 25th; Michaelmas about August 5th. The Vacations are five weeks at Christmas and seven at Midsummer, a week at Easter, and a few days between Michaelmas and Advent Terms after Commemoration Day. The two latter are usually spent in College.

The College charge is 40*l.* a year, including board, lodging, tutors, and washing. The S.P.G. make a grant to a certain number of the Students, of 10*l.* a year. This is attainable usually after a short stay at the College. Books can be obtained with 25 per cent. discount taken off at the College. It is recommended that 2*l.* worth a year be provided—the education being directly interfered with, if an insufficient number be granted. Otherwise the personal expenses of the Students are small, all extravagance and waste being discouraged, as inconsistent with the poverty which should more or less characterise all clergy, especially those who have chosen the Missionary life, and unjust to those who assist them in their stay at the College.

The College has the sanction of the Bishop of Salisbury; and there are 35 Students at present.

Warden.—The Rev. Sir James Erasmus Philipps, Bart., M.A., Vicar of Warminster, and Prebendary of Sarum.

Principal.—The Rev. S. J. Eales, M.A.

Vice-Principal.—The Rev. G. S. H. Walpole, B.A.

Tutor.—E. F. Macreth, B.A.

S. DAVID'S COLLEGE, LAMPETER, CARDIGANSHIRE.

Incorporated 1828. Founded by Bishop Burgess. The site of the College was the gift of Mr. Harford. Income from Endowment and Grant, about 1,000*l.* per ann. Students prepared for Holy Orders in the Church of England, at a cost of about 45*l.* per ann. for tuition, rooms, &c. The course extends to ten Terms—three Terms to the year. Numerous prizes and Scholarships.

This College possesses the exceptional privilege of conferring the Degrees of B.A. and B.D., and has been affiliated to the University of Oxford.

The Course of Instruction comprises the following subjects:—Theology, Classics, Mathematics, English, German, French, and Welsh.

Thus the Course embraces preparation for the Civil Service, and for other Professions, as well as for Holy Orders.

Nearly all the Scholarships on the original foundation, and all those recently endowed, are entirely open.

Students who enter in February and October are at liberty to compete for the Scholarships then vacant. The Examinations begin on or about the 1st of October and 1st February.

The Scholarships are tenable during residence in the College, but are forfeited by misconduct.

Prizes are given in Theology, Hebrew, Classics, Mathematics, Logic, History, the Natural Sciences, English, French, Welsh, and German.

The Bates Prize, value 14*l.*, is given to the Student who in his first year distinguishes himself most in Classics and Mathematics. Three Hebrew Exhibitions, one in Welsh, and one in Natural Sciences, of the value of 10*l.*, are awarded for the greatest proficiency in these subjects, and may be held with any Scholarship which does not exceed 40*l.* in value.

The College has by Charter the power of conferring the Degrees of B.A. and B.D., above referred to. The B.A. Degree can be obtained by Students who have resided nine full Terms, and who have passed all their Examinations satisfactorily. These Examinations take place each year in June, and are conducted by Examiners nominated by the Vice-Chancellors of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge. For the Theological Certificate and for the Degree of B.D. a residence of ten Terms is necessary. This Degree can only be obtained five years after the candidate has taken Priest's Orders.

The matriculation fee is 1*l.* The sum of 20*l.* must also be deposited at entrance as caution money, which is returned whenever a Student leaves College.

The entire necessary expenses of a Student, including tuition, rooms, commons in Hall, &c., do not exceed 45*l.* per annum.

Visitor.—The Lord Bishop of S. David's.

Principal and Professor of Greek.—The Rev. J. F. Jayne, D.D., Fellow of Jesus' College, Oxford.

Vice-Principal and Hebrew Professor.—The Rev. W. Davey, M.A., Prebendary of S. David's, late Scholar of Lincoln College, Oxford.

Professor of Mathematics and Natural Sciences.—Arthur Wm. Scott, M.A.

Latin Professor.—The Rev. Charles G. Edmondson, M.A., Prebendary of S. David's, late Scholar of Trinity College, Oxford.

Professor of English and Modern Languages.—T. F. Tont, M.A.

Welsh Professor.—The Rev. John Owen, M.A., late Scholar of Jesus College, Oxford.

SALISBURY THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE.

FOUNDED BY BISHOP HAMILTON, A.D. 1860.

The object of this Institution is to supply candidates for Holy Orders with religious and intellectual training, between the time of graduating at the University and entering the Ministry.

The College is designed for all who have taken their Degree at Oxford, Cambridge, or Durham ; or who have passed the Theological Examination at Trinity College, Dublin, and King's College, London.

Students may be admitted who have not graduated at the University, with the sanction of the Bishop ; such Students to remain at the College for two years at least.

Candidates for admission will be expected to produce testimonials of good conduct, and strict inquiry will be made of their fitness to enter upon this preparatory work.

Students are not confined in their choice of Curacies to the Diocese of Salisbury. The Bishop of Salisbury and some other Bishops will accept one year's residence at this College in lieu of the Divinity Certificate at Oxford and the Voluntary Theological Examination at Cambridge.

Students, before entering the College, are required to pass an examination in the Greek of S. Matthew's Gospel, in the English Bible, and in the first Book of Cicero de Officiis.

They reside in the College with the Principal, adopting a Collegiate life.

The length of residence for Graduates is one year, consisting of four Terms.

The Students attend daily the Cathedral and College Chapel Services. Surplice, cap, gown, and hood will be required.

The course of Lectures embraces the Old and New Testament, especially the study of the Psalter (as entering largely into future clerical life), the Doctrine and Liturgy of the Church of England, Church History, Patristic Reading, with the study of the Hebrew language. Practice in writing Sermons, and in preaching without book is given. Opportunities also are afforded for seeing parochial and school work.

The payments are 30*l.*, payable in advance at the beginning of each Term, and 1*l.* annually towards the Library.

The sum of 10*l.* will be required of each Student, upon his name being inserted in the College Books, which, upon his admission, will be deducted from the payment for the first Term.

These payments include all expenses connected with the College, for board, lodging, servants' wages, &c. ; but each Student is requested to bring his own sheets and towels.

The Terms are so arranged as to embrace the four Ember Seasons, viz Lent, Trinity, Michaelmas, and Christmas.

Visitor.—The Lord Bishop of Salisbury.

Principal.—The Rev. B. Whitefoord, M.A.

Vice-Principal.—The Rev. Charles W. Townsend, M.A.

CATHEDRAL SCHOOL OF DIVINITY, TRURO.

SCHOLÆ CANCELLARIÆ.

This School was founded in 1877, by the Rev. Dr. Benson, the then Bishop of Truro, now Primate of all England.

In the Cathedrals of the Old Foundation, it is the duty of a Canon, named the Chancellor (distinct from the Chancellor of the Diocese), to maintain Schools of Divinity in which men are trained for the work of the Ministry.

The foundations of such an Institution have been laid in Truro, and since the beginning of October 1877, students have been at work. There are now seventeen students receiving instruction.

There is a weekly Examination in one or more of the subjects, and Sermons are regularly composed and corrected.

All the Students are enabled to obtain experience in Parochial Work in Truro or the neighbourhood under the superintendence of the Clergy.

The course of Theological study is, in the main, shaped after the scheme put forth from time to time by the Theological Faculty of Cambridge, with a view to the "Preliminary Examination of Candidates for Holy Orders."

The Students attend the Cathedral for Morning Prayer and at other fixed times; and wear academic dress.

The ordinary term of Residence, unless the Student has taken a University Degree, is two years.

There are three terms in the year, averaging ten weeks each. The fees are 10*l.* a term, or 30*l.* a year.

Principal.—The Rev. G. H. Whitaker, M.A., Hon. Canon of Truro.

Vice-Principal.—Rev. G. S. H. Walpole, M.A.

WELLS THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE,

WELLS, SOMERSET.

This College was opened on the 1st May, 1840, to Graduates of the Universities of the United Church of England and Ireland, desirous of preparing themselves for Holy Orders, and furnished with satisfactory testimonials.

The period of residence ordinarily required is one year, but in certain cases Graduates may be admitted for a shorter period of not less than two Terms. The year is divided into four Terms, with vacations.

The Bishop of Bath and Wells will accept the testimonial of a year's residence and of fitness for Holy Orders, in place of the certificate of having passed the Cambridge Voluntary Examination, or of having attended the usual Divinity Lectures at Oxford, and in very special cases, instead of the Dublin Divinity Testimonium.

Non-Graduates who come with sufficient recommendations, and are approved by the Bishop, may also be admitted as Students. These Candidates are required to pass an entrance examination in elementary Bible-knowledge, and in Greek and Latin, and to reside two years at the College.

The general course of study consists of the Holy Scriptures, the Book of Common Prayer, and the Articles of the Church of England; Ecclesiastical History; Hooker, Bp. Pearson, Bp. Butler. Hebrew, and some of the Greek and Latin Church writers, form the subject of private Lectures. Attention is paid to the subject of Pastoral Theology, and opportunity is afforded for teaching in schools, and visiting the sick and poor; for practice in the composition of sermons, and of public reading; and for instruction in Church music.

The Students live in lodgings which are assigned by the Principal. They are required to conform to the College rules, and to pass satisfactorily the examinations at the end of each term, in order to obtain testimonials on leaving the College.

The College Fee is 30*l.* for each year, or 10*l.* per Term for any period less than the year, to be paid in advance into Messrs. Stuckey's Bank, Wells, to the account of the Trustees. In all cases a payment of 1*l.* 10*s.* towards the College Choir, and of 1*l.* 10*s.* to the Library, is required on admission. The cap, gown, and hood of Degree are used.

Visitor.—The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells.

Principal.—The Rev. E. C. S. Gibson.

Vice-Principal.—Rev. J. D. Murray, S. John's College, Cambridge.

S. STEPHEN'S HOUSE,

5, PARK STREET, OXFORD.

This House was opened in October 1876, as a place for the residence and training of candidates for Holy Orders, and especially of such as are looking forward to foreign Missionary work. It was originally intended only for Graduates; but, after some experience, it was decided to admit Undergraduates also: these latter, if intending to undertake Missionary work, may enter in their first year; if preparing for work at home, in their last year of residence.

The principal arrangements of the house are as follows:—There are three Terms in the year, corresponding with those kept by the Colleges, except that for Graduates the Summer Term extends six weeks into the Long Vacation, generally till the end of July. Undergraduates are required to reside for eight weeks in each Term, permission for longer residence being given when desirable. The charge for Graduates, including board, lodging, and tuition, is 81*l.* for the thirty weeks of their annual residence; for Undergraduates, 2*l.* per week for board and lodging. All meals are in common. There is a Chapel attached to the House, which is licensed by the Bishop, in which there are daily services; celebrations of the Holy Communion on Sundays, Holydays, and Thursdays; weekly addresses, etc. The Principal assists the Graduates as far as possible in their theological studies; the Undergraduates are chiefly engaged in reading for their University Examinations. Opportunities are provided for helping in parish work, such as teaching in Schools, visiting, and preaching in a Mission Room.

The special peculiarity of the work which distinguishes it from that of other Theological and Missionary Colleges consists in the opportunities here afforded (1) for those who are about to be ordained for home-work, of attending University lectures and making use of the many advantages which Oxford affords, whilst definitely training for Holy Orders; and (2) for the preparation for Foreign work of University men who will be, it is hoped, fitted to deal with the more intellectual systems of heathen religion, and to meet the increasing demands for an educated Clergy among our emigrants and colonists. The work has already been blessed; and though the progress has been slow, there is reason to believe that S. Stephen's House has not only been useful in training men, and in some cases in assisting Missionary candidates to obtain a University education, which otherwise would have been beyond their power, but has also cheered and strengthened those working abroad by showing that an attempt is being made to give a distinct recognition to Missionary training within the University. It has also been found helpful in affording hospitality and assistance to Missionaries who wish for a time to reside in Oxford, whether for purposes of study, or in order to attend meetings.

Patron.—The Lord Bishop of Oxford.

Principal.—The Rev. J. O. Johnston, M.A.

S. PAUL'S MISSION HOUSE,

BURGH-LE-MARSH, LINCOLNSHIRE.

This House was set apart for the Missionary work of the Church, on the Festival of the Conversion of S. Paul, January 28, 1878. There are 15 resident Students. Its design is to train young men who are resolved to devote themselves to Missionary work.

The course of instruction embraces English, Latin, and Greek, the Holy Scriptures, the Prayer Book, Theology. A portion of each day is spent in Gardening, Carpentering, etc. The Students attend daily Morning and Evening Prayer in the Parish Church of Burgh; and on Sundays they engage in some form of Church work under the direction of the neighbouring clergy.

Students are admitted at the commencement of either term, i.e., in the fourth week either of January or of August. The first half of each term is a period of probation.

The annual charge for the maintenance of each Student is 40*l.*, paid in advance, one half at the beginning of each term.

Principal.—The Rev. T. Skelton, B.D., late Fellow of Queens' College, Cambridge.

Chaplain.—The Rev. Canon E. S. Sanderson, M.A., Vicar of Burgh.

ISLINGTON CHURCH MISSIONARY COLLEGE, LONDON, N.

This College was founded on the 31st January, 1825, by the Church Missionary Society, and Students are trained for Holy Orders in the Church of England.

Principal.—Rev. T. Wortley Drury, M.A.

EAST LONDON INSTITUTE FOR HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONS.

HARLEY HOUSE AND COLLEGE, BOW ROAD, LONDON, E.

COUNTRY BRANCH :—CLIFF HOUSE, CUBAR, DERBYSHIRE.

The object of this Institute is to increase the number of efficient missionaries by training, both practically and intellectually, earnest and able young men (gratuitously if needed) for missionary service at home and abroad. The instruction given is mainly Biblical. More than 300 Students have been received, of whom nearly 200 have gone to China, India, Burmah, Japan, Africa, France, Spain, Italy, Syria, the West Indies, and the home field. Students are occupied during their training in mission work, preaching in halls, and in the open air, and those preparing to become medical missionaries attend lectures at a London Hospital.

Honorary Director and Principal.—H. Grattan-Guinness, assisted by Tutors and Lecturers.

THE SOUTHWARK THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE, SOUTHWARK, (BLACKFRIARS ROAD, S.E.)

FOR TRAINING YOUNG MEN FOR HOME MISSION PRIESTS.

This Institution was begun in a small and tentative manner, and only originally intended to help a few who might come within the influence of the founder. It has, however, been so peculiarly blessed by the Great Shepherd and Bishop of our souls, that friends having liberally contributed to the College, new buildings were erected, and formally opened and blessed by the Lord Bishop of Winchester (the Diocesan) on Thursday, June 14th, 1877, so that that which otherwise could only have been a blessing to a few may be a public benefit to the Church of God in this land.

Never, perhaps, in the history of the Church of England has the need of faithful priests, trained for work among the degraded and neglected poor of our great cities, been more keenly felt. Large masses of the population are growing up in practical heathenism, and the working classes in especial, not only alienated from the Church, but hostile to it.

A numerous body of well-trained clergy must be brought into the field to meet spreading infidelity and secularism.

Those who would enter upon the great and difficult work of evangelizing men so long alienated from God, must first learn the language, the manners, habits, and modes of thought of those amongst whom they are to labour; must grow elastic in mind, able to adapt themselves to difficult circumstances, to sympathize with the people, and to understand poor people's ways and speech.

The wide separation between classes in England renders this impossible for those to attain who belong to a higher rank, except it be by much study and experience, acquired by constant intercourse with the poor in their own homes.

No wooden system or slavish adherence to ancient precedent in Home Mission work can reach the hearts of England's poor. Keen appreciation of the times we live in, delicate capacity for being all things to all men, without ever ceasing to be one's self, i.e., God's priest; minute knowledge of the passions, the errors, the intellectual and moral evils of the day—all these are indispensable elements of modern ecclesiastical education, without which the ministry will fail to retain its hold over the faithful, or to win back the wandering sheep. Our soldiers are being armed with new weapons and modern tactics; and, in like manner, God's servants must be furnished with fitting arms for the novel warfare they have to encounter, if they are to contend successfully against the passions and weaknesses of the day. Our rising generation of priests must not be content only to seek a spirit of prayer, a habit of self-denial, or pure, single-minded faith; they must seek also the keenest apprehension of the special needs of our time.

To meet such wants as these, the Mission College has been established, which furnishes first, a basis of sound theological knowledge such as is supplied by other Theological Schools; and, secondly, a feature peculiar to this College, careful instruction in every branch of parochial work among the poor.

Students are employed in conducting Schools, Bible Classes, Clubs, Guilds, in visiting from house to house, and, when licensed by the Bishop of the Diocese, in conducting Mission Services and in preaching. In all these works, and others, too many to mention, careful instruction is given and ample opportunities for the Students to acquire practical experience, "that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

Before admission to the College, applicants must be recommended by three clergymen to whom they are well known, and furnish a medical certificate that no physical infirmity exists such as would interfere with their future usefulness. They then reside in the College as Students, but if able to pass the following Examination, as Divinity Scholars:—

1st. In General Knowledge of Holy Scripture.

2nd. In one Latin and one Greek book, selected at the option of the Student from the following:—

Anselm. Cur Deus Homo. (Williams and Norgate, Henrietta Street.)

Augustine. Doctrina Christiana. (D. Nutt, Strand.)

Cicero. Natura Deorum, or De Officiis. (D. Nutt, Strand.)

The Gospel of S. Luke in Greek. (Deighton and Bell, Cambridge.)

Xenophon. Anabasis, Book I. (D. Nutt, Strand.)

Greek Liturgy of S. James. (Hayes, Henrietta Street.)

3rd. Latin and Greek Grammar.

The term of residence (ordinarily two years) dates from the time of passing this Examination.

Graduates of the Universities reside one year, but if they do not require the College diploma they can be admitted to study for shorter periods by special permission of the Warden.

The course of study comprises:—The Holy Scripture; the Old Testament in English, and the New Testament in Greek; the Prayer Book, with an examination of Primitive and Mediæval Liturgies; the doctrines of the Church of England, especially as set forth in her Creeds, Articles, and Standard Divines (Hooker, Pearson, &c.); Church History, Primitive, Mediæval, and Modern; Evidences, &c., e.g., Butler, Blunt. Canon Law. Lectures are also delivered on the following subjects:—Dogmatic Theology, Pastoral Theology, Ecclesiastical History, Moral Philosophy, and Logic.

The manner of living is collegiate; all meals are taken in common, and all live under one roof, as in Colleges at the Universities.

The payment, including board, lodging, tuition, and college fees, is 52*l.* per annum, or 13*l.* per Term, paid in advance.

There are several Exhibitions connected with the College to assist poor Students.

Each Student, before being presented to the Bishop as a Candidate for Holy Orders, will be required to pass the standard of the Theological Faculty of Cambridge, and must have given full proof to the authorities of the College of his vocation to the ministry. The formal diploma or College certificate of Scholars of Divinity will be given at the Final Examination.

The year is divided into four Terms, arranged so as to embrace the four Ember Seasons,—Lent, Easter, Michaelmas, Christmas.

Students are not allowed to remain in College during the vacations without special leave of the Warden.

Parents wishing to dedicate their sons to Home Mission work can enter their boys at any age in the College School; and should they show a vocation for the work, will be admitted at the age of eighteen as Students of the College.

Warden.—The Rev. A. B. Goulden, Vicar of S. Alphege, Southwark.

Tutors and Lecturers.—Rev. A. A. Corfe, Cantab.; Rev. H. de Romestin, Oxon.

DORCHESTER COLLEGE OF ST. PETER'S AND ST. PAUL'S FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, DORCHESTER, OXON.

The above College was opened at Michaelmas, 1878, for the reception of Students of a superior class desirous of devoting themselves to the Foreign Missionary work of the Church; suitable premises having been liberally provided by a member of the Committee, at a cost of 3,000*l.*

The age for admission is eighteen, but Students may be accepted at sixteen, at the discretion of the Principal and Committee; an elementary knowledge of Latin and Greek is required at entrance. The annual inclusive payment will be 60*l.* per student, payable in equal proportions at the commencement of each of the three terms of residence, which comprise forty weeks of the year, two years to be the minimum duration of the course of study.

The instruction will fit candidates for ordination, with elementary knowledge of medicine.

Intending Students may obtain fuller information from Rev. James C. Ross, Baldon Vicarage, Oxford, Hon. Secretary.

Visitor.—Rev. Edward King, D.D., Canon of Christ Church, and Regius Professor of Pastoral Theology in the University of Oxford.

Principal.—Rev. Edward Clarence Paget, M.A., of Keble College, Oxford.

THEOLOGICAL HALLS AT OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE.

RIDLEY HALL, CAMBRIDGE, FOR THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS.

At the Universities both of Oxford and Cambridge, special establishments have lately been erected for the training and instruction of Theological Students, "in the principles of the Reformed Protestant Church," avowedly in opposition to "sacerdotalism," as well as to "scepticism," as is stated in the circular issued by a joint committee of the two Universities. The Earls of Chichester and Harrowby, the Bishop of Ripon, the Bishop of Sodor and Man, Bishops Perry, Ryan, and Anderson, and the Deans of Canterbury, Gloucester, and Ripon are leading members of this committee. The two Halls which have been opened bear the names of Wycliffe and Ridley, historic champions of the Protestant Reformation in England, having an obvious significance with regard to the Church principles they are designed to uphold. Wycliffe Hall, Oxford, under the Rev. R. B. Girdlestone as Principal, was opened more than a twelve-month ago. Ridley Hall was opened in 1882. These halls are not intended, like Keble College at Oxford, and Selwyn College at Cambridge, to be new colleges for the reception of undergraduates, but are meant to be institutions for assisting to educate resident members of the University, who are candidates for Holy Orders, and to train them to become good ministers. For the accomplishment of this object, the Halls will supply for graduates desirous of pursuing their theological studies an economical residence within the University, so that they may be able to attend the various professors' lectures, and avail themselves of all the other facilities for education afforded at Oxford and Cambridge respectively. This arrangement will not disconnect the resident students from their own Colleges, and will, it is believed, prove very preferable to their going to a Diocesan College previous to their ordination. The Principals of the Halls will also give lectures to undergraduates, who, having passed the general examination required of all undergraduates, propose to take their degree in theology. These lectures will be supplemental to those of the Divinity Professors, and supply a void which, according to the testimony of some of the most eminent of these, the lectures cannot fill. Each Hall is under the government of a Council, composed of members of the University to which it is attached.

Treasurer.—John Deacon, Esq., Birchin Lane, E. C.

Secretary.—E. S. Morse, Esq., 18, New Bridge Street, London, E. C.

WYCLIFFE HALL, OXFORD.

This Hall is designed as a place of study for Graduates who feel the need of special preparation for the ministry, or who wish for a quiet home whilst attending Divinity Lectures.

The course of study is mainly Biblical, special attention being directed to the scheme for the "Preliminary Examination of Candidates for Holy Orders." The study of Hebrew is encouraged, and introductory lectures are given on Christian Evidences, the Prayer-book, and Pastoral Work, with exercises in reading and preaching.

Each resident student has two rooms, but all meals are in common. The whole expense of rooms, board, and lectures is 21*l.* a term. Those who wish to stay up during part of the vacation can do so.

There are two Exhibitions, reducing the cost of residence nearly a half.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING THE EMPLOYMENT OF ADDITIONAL CURATES.

Office :—7, Whitehall, London, S.W.

This Society was established in 1837, and its object is to send Missionaries to labour among the masses in our great towns; to supply the incumbents of the smaller towns with such a staff of Assistant Curates as may enable them to take efficient care of the souls committed to them; to send the Gospel message and the means of grace into the remote hamlets and scattered cottages of our wide agricultural parishes; to make provision for the 264,000 souls which are annually added to the population of the country.

The Society's grants are given quite impartially, where they seem most needed and likely to do most good, without regard to the theological opinions of Incumbents, who are left to choose their fellow-labourers, subject only to the Bishop's approval.

During the year 1876 the Society has been enabled to support, in whole or in part, the large number of 637 Clergy; thus raising the clerical staff of aided parishes from 838 to 1,475. The sum paid in grants through the Society's agency was 63,292*l.* 11*s.* 4*d.*

The aggregate population of the aided parishes amounted to 4,155,612; and thus by the Society's aid the average population under the ministrations of each clergyman was reduced to 2,817.

The number of unaided applications of parishes still on the Society's Register as needing help is no less than 305.

The income of the Society last year was 72,632*l.*, the previous year being 71,505*l.*

ORDINATION CANDIDATES' EXHIBITION FUND.

Office:—7, Whitehall, London, S.W.

The object is to assist in supplying the necessary education to suitable Candidates for Holy Orders, who would otherwise be unable to obtain it.

It aims at attaining this object by granting Exhibitions not exceeding 60*l.* a year, to enable such Candidates to take a Degree at one of our Universities, or to complete a course at one of the Theological Colleges.

The rules are, that assistance towards enabling suitable men to procure the necessary education for qualifying themselves to enter Holy Orders shall in all cases be promised for a period not exceeding a year; but that such assistance shall be continued during the period required to obtain such qualification, unless, from inability to pass the University or College Examinations, or to satisfy the Committee as to his continued fitness for remaining a Candidate for Holy Orders, or from other cause, any person aided by this Fund shall, in the opinion of the Committee, render it undesirable for their aid to be further extended to him.

That the amount of assistance to be given shall in all cases be measured by the necessities of the applicant, and shall not in any case exceed 60% in any one year.

That in all cases a friend of the Candidate for assistance, as well as the Candidate himself, shall be seen by a member of the Committee, or by some one appointed by the Committee, who shall report to the Committee in writing.

That in all cases this Society shall require that the Candidate to be assisted shall be approved by a majority of the Committee present, which shall also determine the extent to which he may be helped.

That Candidates for assistance shall satisfy the Committee that there is a reasonable probability of their being able to pass Responsions or the previous Examination at the Universities, or the Examinations at Colleges at the proper time.

That Candidates shall be required to make applications on a form to be provided by the Committee.

That, as a general rule, assistance shall not be given to those who have already entered upon a University or College course.

That, as a general rule, no Exhibition shall be given to Candidates under 20 years of age.

That the following understanding be made with each Exhibitioner:—

- (1) That in the event of any of the recipients of the grants from the Ordination Candidates' Exhibition Fund failing to be ordained Priest in the Church of England, he shall engage to repay to the Committee, at the earliest possible time, the money advanced for his education; and (2) that in the event of doubts as to his vocation for Holy Orders arising during his University or College career, he shall be bound in honour to communicate such doubts to the Committee.

Forms of Application for the Society's assistance may be procured at any time from the Secretary, 7, Whitehall, London, S.W.

From a recent report referring to the Ordination Candidates' Exhibition Fund it would seem that the experience of the past has confirmed the anticipation that recent changes in the manner of awarding Exhibitions, Sizarships, &c., at the Universities has deprived the Church of many Candidates for Ordination. The almost inevitable result of a universal system of competitive Examination is to give the greater portion of the prizes contended for to the children of well-to-do people. In a few exceptional cases genius will conquer the difficulties arising from inferior education. But with men of average ability the scale will be turned by possessing or wanting the special instruction which can only be obtained by a liberal outlay of money. We find, therefore, that men, who under the old system of helping the poor at the Universities would have gained Exhibitions or Sizarships, are now displaced by the sons of the wealthier, who have been trained for the competition. As the old foundations are thus diverted from the purpose for which they were given, it is necessary to supply the void, if the Church would not lose many valuable men, whose services she greatly needs in the ranks of her Ministry.

It was to give some help towards supplying this want that this Fund was commenced. Its primary object is to assist young men of limited means to prepare for entering Holy Orders by taking a Degree at one of our ancient Universities ; but it was thought better not absolutely to limit its operations, as in some few cases it might be desirable to assist men to complete a course of reading at one of the Theological Colleges.

During the three years that have elapsed since the Fund was commenced, there have been 195 applications for assistance. Seventy-three of these applicants have been enabled to receive a favourable answer, and of these 21 have entered as Students at Oxford ; 15 at Cambridge ; 6 at Durham ; 3 at Dublin ; 1 at King's College, London ; 2 at the Theological College, Lichfield ; 7 at the Theological College, Chichester ; and 13 at other Theological Colleges ; 5 have not yet matriculated.

With regard to the supply of clergy, the following remarks from the pen of Canon Liddon will be read with interest :—

“The ‘ Ordination Candidates’ Exhibition Fund ’ would probably be more generally supported by Churchmen if its existence and objects were more widely known.

“It owes its origin to the foresight and energy of Mr. Grégory ; and he has continued to superintend and extend its operations ever since its first establishment.

“The importance of such a fund at the present time is plain enough. On the one hand, the new districts which are constantly being formed, as well as ancient and well-worked parishes, are asking more and more earnestly for clerical workmen, if the Church is not to forfeit her opportunities. On the other hand, the men are to be had, but not immediately, nor exactly on the terms of former years.

“The diminished number of candidates for Holy Orders among the wealthier classes in this country is a fact to which we must make up our minds. It may be partly accounted for by the growth of an indefinite scepticism, which relaxes moral interest and enterprise in a larger area of society than that which it directly affects. Partly, too, it may be traceable to the unsettling results of recent controversies within the Church, and, as I have reason to fear, of recent mistakes in legislation. But the main cause is to be found in the new careers in all directions which are open to young men of good education in the rising generation, and which attract many whose moral and mental bent would have inclined them, under other circumstances, to seek Holy Orders.

“Side by side with this failure of the old sources of clerical supply, there is a remarkable and increasing disposition on the part of young men in poorer circumstances to devote themselves to ministerial work. Doubtless, in some few cases, the motive of this disposition is not a satisfactory one ; men hope to better a social position, or to maintain themselves on easier terms than at present. But, so far as I have had opportunities of observing, this remark by no means applies to the great majority. The so-termed “ prizes ” of the Church are comparatively few ; and the clerk who leaves a house of business to seek ordination knows that he thereby condemns himself, not unfrequently, in future years, to comparative poverty. At least, it has fallen in my way to know or hear of several young men who, so far as we can presume to judge, would become clergymen, if they could, from motives of pure and unselfish enthusiasm ; and who would probably be found, some years hence, among the most untiring and efficient of the Church’s workmen.

“The practical question is, how to enable them to prepare for Holy Orders. The men of whom I am thinking are clerks, masters in small schools,— above all, the sons of poor clergymen. As a rule they are altogether dependent for their maintenance on their salaries; and they have either been imperfectly educated, or have forgotten what was learnt at school, and have to begin all over again, or nearly so. Where there are practical aptitudes for pastoral work, and tokens of sincerity of purpose, there is a natural disposition to overlook defective instruction in serious subjects, to say nothing of lack of that general breadth of information which we must all feel to be necessary, if we are to do our Master's work in the present day. To ordain men who are excellent but uninstructed is no kindness either to the ordained or to the Church.

"The Ordination Candidates' Exhibition Fund is an effort to assist young men of this description to complete their education with a view to ordination. Since 1854 the system of competitive examinations at the Universities has transferred their endowments, almost universally, to the sons of wealthy parents, who can pay for good schools and private tutors. Against these advantages, genius itself, if poor, has but a sorry chance; and the Church must expect to derive, in future years, comparatively few advantages from revenues which, whether before or since the Reformation, were mainly intended to supply the ranks of her ministry. Still, it is thought better, if possible, to assist the candidate for ordination to get his degree; not merely or chiefly because the degree is popularly considered a valid certificate of education, but because it is better to whet the mind upon history and philosophy before approaching the great questions which belong to theology.

"At the present time the fund is assisting thirty-two students. Of these eight are at Oxford, eight at Cambridge, one at Durham, seven at theological colleges, and eight have not yet matriculated. But it is supported by a small body of subscribers, and is altogether unable to meet the demand which its existence has revealed. At the last meeting of the Committee there were 122 applicants for assistance, and of these it was possible to assist only three.

"Possibly, in times to come, some fund of this kind will form part of the working machinery of every one of our dioceses. But the needs and the opportunities of the present moment are too great to allow us to wait for this. The Church needs men more than buildings, and men are to be had, if some effort is made to meet our changed and changing circumstances. To assist this effort, if not the most showy, is, I believe, one of the most useful ways of helping forward the Church's work that are open to her wealthier members in the present day.

A most practical way of promoting the object of the Fund has been suggested by the Clergy of the Rural Deanery of Hampton in the Diocese of London. It will be found in the following Resolutions of the Chapter. In view of the serious difficulty which now exists as to the supply of Clergy, it was resolved at the Chapter held at S. James's Vicarage, New Hampton, on the 22nd of February last, that an effort should be made to assist two candidates for Ordination from a fund to be raised in the Deanery, and the Rev. D. Trinder, the Rev. Henry Vigne, and the Rural Dean were appointed a Sub-Committee to report on the arrangements necessary for carrying out the following scheme:—

- I. That a sum of not less than 65*l.* per annum be raised by contributions from the several parishes contained in the Hampton Deanery.

- II. That grants be given to assist young men either to qualify themselves for an University Degree, or to read at one of the Theological Colleges.
- III. That for the first two years the Exhibitioners may continue at their usual occupations, receiving a grant of 20*l.* per annum to assist them in attending Theological Lectures in the evening, but that in the third year they be required to give up their whole time to preparation for Holy Orders, and that a grant of 60*l.* be allowed them.
- IV. That the scheme be worked in connection with the Ordination Candidates' Exhibition Fund, established at 7, Whitehall, S.W. and of which the Rev. Arthur J. Ingram is Hon. Secretary.
- V. That Candidates be supplied from the Deanery, if suitable men can be found; but if not, that the General Society be requested to supply the vacancies.
- VI. That the Incumbent of each parish in the Deanery be invited to guarantee such sum as he may think fit : the money to be sent before 31st of December next, either to the Rural Dean, or to the Rev. Arthur J. Ingram, marked "The Hampton Deanery Ordination Candidates' Exhibition Fund."

MAGEE COLLEGE, LONDONDERRY.

This College, opened in October 1865, was established mainly for the education of Students connected with the Irish Presbyterian Church. It comprises a Literary and Scientific Department, and a Theological Department. In the former there are four chairs, of Greek and Latin ; Mathematics and Natural Philosophy ; Logic, Belles-Lettres, and Rhetoric ; Metaphysics and Ethics. In the latter there are three, of Church History and Pastoral Theology ; Oriental Literature and Hermeneutics ; Theology. The Professors who hold these chairs constitute the College Faculty.

In addition to them there are other teachers, namely, a Professor of Living Oriental Languages, and Tutors of Modern Continental Languages and Elocution.

The College Session begins in the Literary and Scientific Department on the third Wednesday of October, in the Theological Department on the first Tuesday of November, and ends in both departments on the first Friday of April.

At the opening of the Session, Matriculation Scholarship Examinations are held, and Scholarships and Prizes (founded by public subscription) are awarded, varying in value from 5*l.* to 25*l.*

The Faculty's Certificate in Arts (recognised by the General Assembly of the Irish Presbyterian Church as equivalent to a Degree) is given to those Students who, having completed their Undergraduate course, and having studied at least one Session at Magee College, pass a satisfactory Examination in a prescribed course comprising all the subjects taught in the Literary and Scientific Department.

At this Examination, Students may also compete for Honours in any or all of the following subjects : Classics, Mathematical and Physical Science, Mental and Moral Science. Gold and Silver Medals and Certificates of Merit are awarded to those who gain First Class, Second Class, and Third Class Honours respectively.

WESLEYAN CLERICAL COLLEGES.

WESLEYAN THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTION.

These Colleges were founded in 1834 for the training of young men for the Ministry, and they are divided into three branches—one at Richmond, near London, one at Didsbury, near Manchester, one at Headingley, near Leeds, and in 1881 a branch was opened in Birmingham. The Richmond Institution is for the training of young men for the Foreign Missions. From the general report of the three Colleges recently issued it appears that the gross income is about 12,396*l*, and the expenditure something less. The income is derived from legacies, donations, subscriptions, and collections. The following districts are the highest contributors—Manchester, 705*l*.; Leeds, 582*l*.; Liverpool, 527*l*.; Second London, 504*l*. The two largest legacies ever left to the fund were paid to the treasurer in 1874—one from Mr. J. Heald, of Parr's-wood, for 5,000*l*.; and one from Mr. J. Fernley, of Southport, for 2,000*l*. The regulation is that the students should attend College for three years, while a few who specially distinguish themselves are allowed a fourth year. Up to this time many of the students have been sent from the Colleges before their three years were up, in order to supply vacancies in circuits caused by the sickness or death of ministers. There is a growing feeling against this shortening of the proper term of study, and strenuous efforts will be made to remedy it. A suggestion has already been made that the term of residence for all students should be extended to four years, and that the fourth year students should constitute the reserve list from which to fill up vacancies as they occur in the circuits. The general course of study includes Theology, Hebrew, Greek Testament, Textual Criticism, Logic, Philosophy, Classics, Mathematics, French, German, and English. The students preach almost every Sunday during their whole time of residence. The lessons in elocution are generously paid for by Mr. Isaac Holden. A beautiful chapel, costing 15,000*l*., has been presented to the Didsbury College by Miss Heald and Mr. W. N. Heald, in memory of the late Mr. James Heald. The Rev. John Farrar, of London, and Mr. Alderman Mitchell, of Bradford, are the general treasurers for the Colleges fund.

[THE THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE OF THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN SCOTLAND, EDINBURGH.

This College, which was designed for the reception of Students for Holy Orders, whether in England or Scotland, was, until recently, conducted at Trinity College, Glenalmond. It had its origin in the pious benefaction of Katherine Panton, residing near Aberdeen, "erecting and endowing a seminary of learning, or theological institution, for the education of young men desirous to serve in the sacred ministry of the Scotch Episcopal Communion."

In 1833, the Rev. Dr. Andrew Bell founded in connection with the Institution the Lectureship which bears his name.

The valuable Library of the Right Rev. Alexander Jolly, D.D., Bishop of Moray, was bequeathed to the Institution in 1838.

The first Professor of Theology was James Walker, D.D. (afterwards Bishop of Edinburgh, and Primus). He was assisted in his duties in the Theological Institution by Michael Russell, LL.D. (afterwards Bishop of Glasgow), as Lecturer in Ecclesiastical History. On the death of Bishop Walker in 1841, the duties of the Professor were performed by his successor in the see of Edinburgh, Right Rev. C. H. Terrott, D.D., up to the year 1848, when the Institution was removed to Trinity College, Glenalmond; the Warden, Rev. Charles Wordsworth, D.C.L. (now Bishop of St. Andrew's), being appointed Pantonian Professor.

The offices of Warden and Pantonian Professor were also held conjointly by the two Wardens next succeeding, Rev. Dr. J. Hannah (now Archdeacon of Lewes) and Rev. Dr. Robinson Thornton. During this period the position of Lecturer in Ecclesiastical History was for a time held by Rev. W. Bright (now Regius Professor of Ecclesiastical History, Oxford).

On the resignation of Dr. Thornton, in 1873, the offices of Warden and Pantonian Professor were separated.

In consequence of a destructive fire at Trinity College, Glenalmond, in which the buildings occupied by the Divinity Students were burned to the ground, the Theological Classes were removed temporarily to Edinburgh, in January, 1876; and in the following year the Bishops determined that the Theological College should be situated permanently in that city. The Course of Studies extends over two Sessions, commencing 25th October, and ending 31st May. There is a fortnight's vacation at Christmas and Easter. But Students required under section 7 to attend University Lectures are not exempted from attendance on such University Lectures as may be delivered during these vacations. Ordinarily the Classes may be joined only in October. The subjects of study include those in which candidates for Holy Orders are commonly required to answer at the Bishops' Examinations in Scotland and England. The Testamur is not granted to any Student who has not completed the required course, and passed the final examination. The Classes meet, at present, in the Old Manor House, Precincts of S. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh. Students, before receiving the Testamur, will be required to show certificates of having attended the lectures of the Professor of Metaphysics or the Professor of Moral Philosophy in the University of Edinburgh, or any University or College named in Canon X.

No one can be received as a Divinity Student who has not been confirmed and become a communicant; and every candidate for admission is required to bring a testimonial of good character from the Bishop of the Diocese, or at least from the Clergyman of the congregation to which the applicant belongs, recommending him as a fit and proper person to enter upon a course of preparation for Holy Orders. All candidates for admission are required to pass an examination in the Four Gospels in the original Greek, the Sacred History of the Old and New Testament, and Paley's Evidences of Christianity. Those who are not Graduates in Arts will be further required to pass a preliminary examination in the following subjects:—Cicero: De Officiis, lib. i. Xenophon: Memorabilia, lib. i. Students are permitted to reside in such lodgings only as may be sanctioned by the Pantonian Professor. Students, while in residence, are responsible to the Pantonian Professor for their conduct. Any serious case of misconduct or violation of the obligations resting on those who are candidates for the sacred office of the ministry in Christ's Church shall be immediately reported by the Professor to the Council, and its decision thereupon shall be final. Students are required to attend Divine Service daily at the Cathedral, unless for special reasons exempted by the Pantonian Professor. Students are required to wear their academic costume at Divine Service and at Lectures. On Sundays and Holy-days surplices are worn at Divine Service. Students wishing to gain some practical knowledge of parochial work must apply to the Pantonian Professor, who, should he approve of the application, will make suitable arrangements, under the sanction of the Bishop of the Diocese.

The fees are 12*l.* for each year, payable half-yearly in advance. This does not include the fees for the University Lectures, which are 4*l.* 4*s.*

Students holding Pantonian Bursaries are exempted from the fees payable to the Theological College. The following are the Bursaries, viz.: Pantonian Bursaries, at present of the annual value of 15*l.*, bestowed by the Bishops; the Jamieson Bursary, of the annual value of 20*l.*; the Luscombe Scholarship, of the annual value of 21*l.* 15*s.* 10*d.*; the Houblon Bursary, of the annual value of 18*l.*

The S. P. C. K. Endowment. The interest on 1,000*l.* at 4 per cent. supplies each Student with the principal text-books required at Lectures, including Hooker, Pearson, and Butler. The surplus, if any, will be disposed of by the Council in making additions to the College Library.

Every Candidate for admission is required to pass an examination in the following subjects:—

1. The Sacred History of the Old and New Testament.
2. The Four Gospels in the Original Greek.
3. Paley's Evidences of Christianity.
4. The first two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis to be construed and parsed.
5. Cicero de Officiis to be construed and parsed.
6. A passage of English to be translated into Latin.

He must also have been confirmed and become a communicant; and must produce a testimonial of good character from his Clergyman. He is expected to provide himself with cap, gown, and surplice. Applications for admission, or further information, may be made to the Rev. Pantonian Professor, Old Manor House, S. Mary's Cathedral, Precincts, Edinburgh.

There is also a Public School Department, for which see Trinity College, Glenalmond, page 627.

FREE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES.

There are three Colleges or "Divinity Halls," one in Edinburgh, one in Aberdeen, and one in Glasgow, and candidates are trained for the ministry, after Students have completed Undergraduate course at one or other of our Universities. The average endowment from all sources is about 4,000*l.* among the three Colleges. An entrance examination must be passed by all regular Students, except by those who have passed whole or part examination at a University for Degree in Arts. The course of study consists of four years' regular attendance. In each College Principal and Professors form a Senatus Academicus.

CONGREGATIONAL.

THE COUNTESS OF HUNTINGDON'S COLLEGE,
CHESHUNT, WALTHAM CROSS.

This College was founded in 1768, and is supported by an endowment, value about 800*l.*, and by annual subscriptions. It is specially designed to educate young men for the Christian ministry, without regard to denominational peculiarities. Instruction is given in Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Mathematics, Theology, &c.

The College originated in the necessity for seeking and preparing the Agency required for developing the great evangelistic work to which the Countess of Huntingdon devoted herself and her all. Her Ladyship, accordingly, took upon lease Trevecca House, in the parish of Talgarth, county of Brecon, and publicly opened it as a College, on the 24th of August, 1768 (being the anniversary of her birth), by a sermon preached by her Chaplain, George Whitefield, from the words (Exodus xx. 24) : "In all places, where I record my name, I will come unto thee, and bless thee." This College was sustained by the Countess, upon her sole responsibility; and from it were sent forth upwards of one hundred and fifty ministers.

As the Countess had but a life interest in her income, a Society was established under her patronage, on the 17th of October, 1787, called the "Apostolic Society," for "supporting and perpetuating the Countess of Huntingdon's College." Seven gentlemen were appointed trustees, and to them her Ladyship bequeathed the library, furniture, communion-plate, and all her other property at Trevecca. Lady Huntingdon died on the 17th of June, 1791, and was buried in the sepulchre of her fathers, at Ashby-de-la-Zouch. Immediately after, at a meeting of the "Apostolic Society," it was resolved that the College should be removed to the neighbourhood of London; and hence the purchase, for 950*l.*, of an estate of upwards of nine acres at Cheshunt, Herts—upon which was a large and substantial house; the distance from London being about 14 miles.

The house was publicly opened as the New College on the 24th of August, 1792. A Chapel was added in 1806 (renovated and enlarged in 1863), and in 1821 the College proper was erected, for the accommodation of twenty-two Students. In 1861 an adjoining estate, consisting of about two acres, was added to the College property; and by the erection on a part of this estate of the President's new house, room was provided in his former residence for six additional Students. The Centenary Year, 1868, was celebrated by further improvement and enlargement of the College buildings (at a total cost of nearly 10,000*l.*), consisting of new wing with tower, new class-rooms, library, housekeeper's department, and the reconstruction of the dining hall. There is now ample accommodation for upwards of forty Students. It was not until the year 1782 that the Countess of Huntingdon and her coadjutors formally seceded from the Church of England. The Rev. Thomas Wills and the Rev. William Taylor, who had been ordained in the Established Church, then withdrew from it under the protection of the "Toleration Act," and took the oaths of allegiance as Dissenting Ministers. They appear to have been the responsible authors of the well-known Fifteen Articles required by the Trust Deed to be subscribed by the Trustees, Tutors, and Students of the College. On Sunday, the 9th of March, 1783, these Articles were publicly read at Spafelds Chapel, at the ordination of ministers, in connexion with the Countess of Huntingdon; and it was at the same time announced, that the Articles had on the day previous been signed,—first by the two ordaining ministers, Messrs. Wills and Taylor, and then by the six Students about to be ordained.

It is important to observe, that though the Articles are decidedly Calvinistic in their character, the Trust Deed is, with respect to Church Polity, most Catholic in its spirit and arrangements—empowering the Trustees to call to their assistance, on occasion of the election of Tutors, or the admission of Students, “one or more of the principal minister or ministers serving in the connexion of the late Countess of Huntingdon, or any other minister or ministers whom the Trustees for the time being shall think proper;” and providing, not only in general terms for the admission of Students to serve in the ministry “at home or abroad, and either in the late Countess of Huntingdon’s Connexion or otherwise, as they afterwards shall think proper;” but distinctly intimating that “if such Student or Students shall prefer to be ordained, and serve in the Established Church, or other Churches of Christ, it shall and may be lawful for him or them, and he or they shall be at full and free liberty so to do.”

Hence the following declaration of the Trustees and Committee, first occurring in the Annual Report for 1822, and since continuously repeated: “The object of this Institution is not to serve the interests of a party; but to promote the extension of the kingdom of Immanuel, by the publication of His glorious Gospel and the doctrines of His grace; and the young men who are educated at Cheshunt College are left entirely free in their choice of the denomination of Christians among whom they may prefer to exercise their ministry.”

Students are admitted between the ages of 18 and 28, by Trustees and Committee, after examination of qualifications and testimonials, and after three months’ probation are educated gratuitously for from two to five years, paying, according to circumstances, from 15*l.* to 40*l.* per annum for board. The vacations are three months in the year. There is one Scholarship, value 20*l.*, competed for every year.

MANCHESTER NEW COLLEGE,

UNIVERSITY HALL, GORDON SQUARE, LONDON, W.C.

This College was founded in Manchester in 1786, and is now in connexion with the University of London and University College, London. It was removed to York Sept. 1, 1803, restored to Manchester in Sept., 1840, and was transferred to London in October, 1853. Students are prepared for the Congregational and Unitarian Ministry.

The course of study extends over five years ; namely, two Undergraduate, succeeded by three Theological years. The Student who desires to pass through the whole course is required to matriculate in the University of London, and at the end of the second year to take the Degree of B.A. in the same University.

Candidates for admission will be required to give satisfactory evidence of their ability to write clear grammatical English, and to read aloud distinctly, naturally, and with correct pronunciation.

In particular cases, with the special sanction of the Committee, Students may be admitted to some of the Theological and Philosophical Lectures without entering on the entire course.

Students who have taken the Degree of B.A. at any English, Scotch, or Irish University, may be admitted to the three years' Theological Course without further examination.

Students who have exhibited aptitude for the ministry, being not less than twenty-one years of age, and not having matriculated or graduated in any University, may be admitted to the three years' Theological Course, provided that—

(a) They satisfy the Professors, or other examiners specially appointed by the College, of their ability to enter on the Theological Course with advantage; and

(b) That they pass an examination in the following subjects: In Greek, four books of Homer, and two books of the Cyropædia, or of the Anabasis of Xenophon; in Latin, four books of Virgil, and two books of the Odes of Horace; of Sallust, either the Catilinarian Conspiracy, or the Jugurthine War; and of Cicero, either an oration or the two Treatises, De Senectute and De Amicitia. In all these they are to be examined in any part pointed out at the time without previous notice by the Professors of Manchester New College, or by examiners acting along with them, before they can be admitted as Students. It is further required, that besides being thoroughly acquainted with the Rules and Principles of Arithmetic, as far as Vulgar and Decimal Fractions (inclusive), they shall have studied Algebra, as far as Quadratic Equations (inclusive), and thoroughly mastered the first six books of Euclid. They will also be examined in some text-book of Logic, and be required to render at sight a passage of German into English, and any passage of the Gospels from the Greek.

SCHOLARSHIPS TO ASSIST UNDERGRADUATES.

To assist Undergraduate Students who wish to enter upon the Theological Course, only after graduation at some British or Irish University, the Trustees of Manchester New College offer not more than two Scholarships yearly, of the annual value of 50*l.* each.

Each Scholarship will be tenable for one or two years, as arranged by the Trustees or Committee, but not for any longer period, unless with the special permission of the Trustees, and in every case a Scholarship shall lapse when the scholar enters on the Theological Course of the College.

The Examination for the Scholarships will take place in the month of April or May in each year.

STUDIES.

Undergraduate Period.

During this period the Student is partly engaged in the classes of University College in Greek and Latin, German or French, and one Science subject. If he be on the Foundation, Manchester New College pays the fees for these Courses. He is also engaged with Rev. C. B. Upton in Mental Philosophy Courses adapted to the requirements of Graduation in the University of London, viz.: (1) Psychology; (2) Logic; suitable text-books being studied and commented upon; and he pursues his studies in Mathematics, pure and applied, under the guidance of Mr. Bridge.

The Student is further required to study Hebrew during each year, under the direction of the Professor to whose department the Hebrew belongs.

Monthly Essays or Orations are prepared and read in the Common Hall by the Undergraduate Students.

Theological Period.

The College adheres to its original principle of freely imparting Theological knowledge without insisting on the adoption of particular Theological doctrines.

The duration of the Session is from the beginning of October to the end of June.

The Classes of New College are open to any one on payment of the following fees:—

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The Medical Bill, introduced by the Duke of Richmond, has at length passed the House of Lords. The original intention of the Bill, as may be gleaned from the following statements, was to legalise the action of the English examining bodies in their formation of a conjoint Board, and also to render the adoption of a similar scheme, and of an examination fairly equivalent to that proposed for England, compulsory in Scotland and Ireland. The effect of this would have been that any person who had passed the examination in either of the three countries should receive from any of the corporations composing it a Diploma which would entitle him to be registered and to act as a medical practitioner. The Bill, however, as at last amended, provides and enacts that every person who satisfies the requirements of a conjoint Board will receive from it a qualifying certificate which will entitle him to be placed upon the register, and to practise the Medical Profession. This scheme will greatly interfere with the powers and duties hitherto employed with so much advantage to the Medical Profession by those venerable Institutions, The Royal Colleges of Physicians and of Surgeons. These existing corporations will, however, supply the Examiners to the several conjoint Boards. Special provision is made for the Medical Examination of women. The medical graduates of the University of Dublin are obliged to undergo, in addition to the usual training in Medicine and Surgery, a further liberal training in Arts during four years, as it has been the invariable practice of the University of Dublin to require graduation in Arts as a necessary preliminary to graduation in Medicine.

The following opinions and particulars as to the original intention of the framers of the "Government Medical Act (1858) Amendment Bill," the provisions of which have now passed the House of Lords, may be interesting to many, and will seriously affect the existing licensing system in Great Britain, for the General Medical Council have taken up the question of a "conjoint scheme of medical examination." In 1870 this Council passed the following resolution:—"That this Council is of opinion that a joint examining Board should be formed in each of three divisions of the kingdom, and that every person who desires to be registered under any of the qualifications recognised in the Medical Act shall be required, previously to such registration, to appear before one of these Boards and be examined in all the subjects which may be deemed advisable by the Medical Council; the rights and privileges of the Universities and Corporations being in all other respects the same as at present. The Council has subsequently sanctioned a scheme for an Examining Board for England, made in conformity with that resolution. The Council adheres to the principle of that resolution, and is of opinion that no medical legislation relating to examinations will be satisfactory which does not provide for the formation of an examining Board in each of the three divisions of the kingdom, and direct that every person who desires to be registered under the Medical Act shall be required to appear before one of these Boards and be examined in the subjects which may be deemed necessary by the Medical Council." At present examinations are committed "to 19 various examining Boards throughout the kingdom, any one of which could grant diplomas to practise in any part of the kingdom."

The Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, referring to the "Examination Rules for securing uniformity of examinations for qualification," thus express their views:—

"If it became law, the College would thenceforth not have authority to confer even a valid surgical diploma except in subordination to such examination rules as the General Medical Council, with the sanction of the Privy Council, might have laid down. In commenting on these clauses, by which it is proposed so largely to disfranchise the College in favour of a central supremacy, the President and Vice-Presidents take as their principle that the magnitude of the sacrifice which is demanded of the College ought to be estimated as a question of proportion—with reference, namely, to the general scope and promise of the Bill in its bearing on public interests, and especially as regards the degree in which the Bill may be expected to secure, in the national system of licensing for the medical profession, certain necessary and substantially final reforms. In this point of view, the President and Vice-Presidents have to submit to the Council that, in their opinion, the Bill does not offer any such promise of public advantage as to claim that the College should on that account make any considerable surrender of independence; and they must even observe that in their opinion the reforms which are most wanted in the licensing system of the United Kingdom would perhaps be rather impeded than promoted by the passing of the Bill. For the Bill, if it became law, could hardly fail to be deemed an expression of indifference on the part of the Legislature to that which the largest and weightiest consent of skilled authority has long recognized to be the chief evil of the present system—the evil of 19 uncombined and (in principle) competing Examination Boards in the three divisions of the United Kingdom, with the privilege allowed to each separate authority to grant registrable titles which shall be valid throughout the British Empire."

The Royal College of Physicians of London have passed the following resolution:—

"The Bill having been introduced into the House of Lords by his Grace the Lord President on behalf of the Government, the provisions of which are of the utmost importance not only to the public and profession at large, but also especially to the Royal College of Physicians, it was deemed desirable to convene a special meeting of the College to consider those clauses of the Bill which have a direct bearing on the responsibilities and influence of the College. The attention of the College was called more particularly to clauses 3, 8, 9, 14, and 17. But before commenting on those clauses the College desires to express its extreme regret and disappointment that the Bill altogether fails to provide for that compulsory establishment of conjoint Examining Boards for each division of the United Kingdom which was recommended and urged on the medical authorities by the General Medical Council, for which the College has been strenuously labouring during many years, and which constituted the main feature of Lord Ripon's Bill of some years ago. For the attainment of this object the College has spared neither time nor labour, has manifested its readiness to sacrifice its own individual interests and independence of action, and has loyally co-operated with the other English authorities, believing that by so doing it was acting in the common interests of the profession and for the good of the public."

The Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh consider the proposals on the licensing system a disfranchisement of the College in favour of a central supremacy, but all the members representing English Universities and Colleges, support the motion of declaring in favour of Examining Boards in the three divisions of the kingdom in place of the teaching bodies examining their own pupils and giving diplomas to practise in any art of the kingdom upon varying examinations.

There is a general feeling among the teachers of medicine in London, that the old charges for medical teaching are no longer enough to cover the cost of apparatus and to remunerate the teacher, and at a meeting of the representatives of every school in London, held recently, it was unanimously resolved to commend to the consideration of the schools the propriety of raising the fees 25 per cent.

The subject of medical education at Cambridge has been warmly taken up by the Syndicate, who have referred to the Board of Medical Studies the question whether it is desirable to found a complete medical school in Cambridge so as to make it possible for a student to complete his whole medical course here, or whether it is better for all concerned, while making the teaching at Cambridge as perfect as possible in the scientific subjects which are the basis of medicine, to leave students to carry on elsewhere the greater part of their clinical studies and most of what relates directly to the practice of medicine. The reply of the Board of Medical Studies states that they consider it inexpedient that students should complete their whole professional education at any single medical school, and that it is therefore desirable that students should pursue their studies away from Cambridge for a year or more before commencing practice, either before or after their final M.B. examination. They believe, however, that it would be in most cases advantageous to students to carry their medical studies in Cambridge further than is usually done at present, and in some cases as far as the final M.D. examination, and they are therefore of opinion that the University should provide systematic instruction in all the subjects necessary for a medical degree, as is done at other Universities. In order that this may be carried out satisfactorily the Board of Medical Studies think that the University should provide—1. A Professor of Pathology. There seems to be no reason why the study of pathology should not be most thoroughly and effectively carried on in Cambridge. For this purpose the University should devote the services of the ablest man that can be obtained, who should devote his whole time and energies to his subject. To insure this he ought to be debarred from the private practice of medicine, though it would be most desirable that he should hold a hospital appointment. Under these circumstances he should have a stipend of not less than 700*l.* a year. He would ultimately require a demonstrator. 2. A Professor of Surgery. As he need not be debarred from the private practice of surgery, a stipend of 300*l.* a year would probably be found sufficient. 3. Systematic teaching in (1) midwifery and the diseases peculiar to women, (2) medical jurisprudence, (3) sanitary science, (4) mental diseases. This might probably be provided for 700*l.* a year, or thereabouts; but some, at any rate, of these subjects might ultimately be represented by eminent men upon whom the University might confer the title and status of a Professor.

4. Systematic clinical teaching. This is already supplied to a considerable extent by the physicians and surgeons to the hospital. It is, however, not definitely connected with the University or subject to academical regulations. The University might with advantage appoint (1) one or more clinical lecturers in medicine; (2) one or more clinical lecturers in surgery; (3) an assistant teacher of medicine and one of surgery. It would be the special duty of the two assistant teachers to give systematic elementary instruction in clinical medicine and surgery to the younger students. Stipends of 100*l.* a year each would probably suffice for the present for these lecturers and teachers. Other special subjects, such as ophthalmic surgery, ought to be provided for in a medical school which aims at completeness. Arrangements for reaching them might, however, be trusted to grow up with the growth of the school.

GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION AND REGISTRATION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

Offices.—299, Oxford Street, London, W.

President.—Dr. Henry Wentworth Acland.

Treasurers of the General Council.—Dr. Richard Quain and Dr. Sir Henry Alfred Pitman.

Registrar of the General Council.—William John Clarke Miller, B.A.

COUNCIL'S REGULATIONS FOR THE REGISTRATION OF MEDICAL STUDENTS.

No person shall be allowed to be registered as a Medical Student unless he shall have previously passed a preliminary examination in the subjects of general education as specified in the following list,* as required by the General Medical Council, and has produced evidence that he has commenced medical study:—

- (1) English Language, including Grammar and Composition; †
- (2) English History;
- (3) Modern Geography;
- (4) Latin, including translation from the original and Grammar;
- (5) Elements of Mathematics, comprising (a) Arithmetic, including Vulgar and Decimal Fractions; (b) Algebra, including Simple Equations;
- (c) Geometry, including the first two books of Euclid, or the subjects thereof;
- (6) Elementary Mechanics of Solids and Fluids, comprising the Elements of Statics, Dynamics, and Hydrostatics; ‡

* The examinations in general education conducted by Universities will be accepted as heretofore, but if in any of these examinations the subjects of Elementary Mechanics of Solids and Fluids are not included, the Candidate must pass in some one or other of the optional subjects instead, and a knowledge of Elementary Mechanics will be required at a subsequent examination.

† "The General Medical Council will not consider any examination in English Language sufficient that does not fully test the ability of the Candidate:—(1) To write sentences in correct English on a given theme, attention being paid to spelling and punctuation as well as to composition; (2) to write correctly from dictation; (3) to explain the grammatical construction of sentences; (4) to point out the grammatical errors in sentences ungrammatically composed, and to explain their nature; and (5) to give the derivation and definition of English words in common use."

‡ "This subject may be passed either as preliminary, or before, or at the first professional examination."

(7) One of the following optional subjects :—(a) Greek ; (b) French ; (c) German ; (d) Italian ; (e) any other Modern Language ; (f) Logic ; (g) Botany ; (h) Elementary Chemistry.

The examining bodies whose examinations fulfil the conditions of the Medical Council as regards preliminary education are as follows :—

1. Oxford University.
2. Cambridge University.
3. Durham, and the Universities of London, Dublin, and all the Scotch Universities ; Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland ; Apothecaries' Hall, Ireland ; also other bodies such as College of Preceptors, and certain Colonial and Foreign Universities.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND,

LINCOLN'S INN FIELDS.

This Institution has also been of inestimable service in promoting Medical and Surgical learning. The buildings were erected in 1835. Candidates for the diploma of membership of the College, M.R.C.S., who commenced their professional education on or after the 1st of January, 1861, are required to produce one or other of the following certificates : Of Graduation in Arts at a University recognized for this purpose ; of having passed an Examination for Matriculation, or such other Examination as shall, in either case, from time to time be sanctioned by the Council of this College, at a University in the United Kingdom, or at a Colonial or Foreign University recognized by the Council of this College ; of having passed the Preliminary Examination for the Fellowship of this College, or of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland, or of Edinburgh, or of Glasgow ; of having passed the Examination in Arts of the Society of Apothecaries of London, or the Apothecaries' Hall of Ireland ; or of having passed the First-Class Examination of the Royal College of Preceptors, or received the Tesstimur of the Codrington College, Barbadoes, or taken the Degree of Associate of Arts granted by the Tasmanian Council of Education, with a certificate that the Student has been examined in Latin and Mathematics. Candidates who shall not be able to produce one or other of the foregoing Certificates will be required to pass an Examination in English, Classics, and Mathematics, conducted by the Board of Examiners of the Royal College of Preceptors, under the direction and supervision of this College. The Library contains upwards of 36,000 volumes. Dr. Robert Willis, the learned Librarian, died on the 21st September, 1878. The fee for the Diploma of Fellowship (F.R.C.S.) is 25 guineas, or 5 guineas to those who are members ; and for the Diploma in Dental Surgery (L.D.S.) the fee is 10 guineas.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS.

Date.—In March and September, the next examination commencing on the 4th of September.

Duration.—Three days.

Subjects.—Part I. Compulsory.

Writing from dictation.

English Grammar.

Writing a short English composition.

Arithmetic.

The Geography of Europe, and particularly of the British Isles. The outlines of English History.

Mathematics. Euclid, Books I. and II. or the subjects thereof. Algebra to Simple Equations, inclusive.

Translation of a passage from the Second Book of Caesar's Commentaries, "De Bello Gallico."

Part II. Optional—on one of which the candidate will be required to offer himself for examination :—

1. Translation of a passage from the First Book of the Anabasis of Xenophon.
2. Translation of a passage from X. B. Saintine's "Picciola."
3. Translation of a passage from Schiller's "Wilhelm Tell."
Besides these translations into English, the candidate will be required to answer questions on the grammar of each subject, whether compulsory or selected.
4. Mechanics.
5. Chemistry.
6. Botany and Zoology.

The quality of the handwriting and the spelling will be taken into account. Fee—Two pounds.

The Preliminary Examination for the diploma of Fellowship is similar to the above, with this exception, that Greek and one modern language (Nos. 1 and 2 or 1 and 3) are rendered compulsory. If the Student has already passed the Preliminary Examination for the diploma of Membership, he may qualify for the Fellowship by passing subsequently in these two subjects, and in one, at his option, of the remaining subjects in Part II. The Matriculation of the London University is also received as a qualification for the Fellowship, provided that the candidate has passed in Greek and in French or German.

The following is considered by the Examiners as the commencement of professional education :—1. Attendance on the Practice of a Hospital, or other Public Institution recognized by this College for that purpose. 2. Instruction as the Pupil of a legally qualified Surgeon, holding the appointment of Surgeon to a Hospital, General Dispensary, or Union Workhouse, or where such opportunities of practical instruction are afforded as shall be satisfactory to the Council. 3. Attendance on Lectures on Anatomy, Physiology, or Chemistry, by Lecturers recognized by this College. The commencement of professional study, otherwise than by attendance on Lectures in recognized Medical Schools, or by attendance on the practice of recognized Hospitals, will not be admitted until a Certificate thereof shall be furnished to the Secretary for registration at the College, by the Practitioner whose pupil the candidate shall have become, or by the Medical Superintendent of the Hospital or other Institution to the practice of which he shall have entered, and will, consequently, date only from the reception of such Certificate by the Secretary ; the Certificate to be accompanied by proof of having passed the necessary Preliminary Examination in General Knowledge. Candidates are required to produce the following other Certificates, viz., of being 21 years of age ; of having been engaged during 4 years in the acquirement of professional knowledge ; of having studied Practical Pharmacy during 3 months ; of having attended Lectures on Anatomy, delivered not less frequently than 4 times in each week, during 2 Winter Sessions ; of having performed Dissections during not less than 2 Winter Sessions ; of having attended Lectures on Physiology, delivered not less frequently than twice in each week, during 2 Winter Sessions ; of having attended Lectures on Surgery during 2 Winter Sessions, of which one course must not be earlier than the third Winter Session, at a recognized Medical School ; of having attended 1 Course of Lectures on each of the following subjects, viz., Chemistry, Materia Medica, Medicine, and Midwifery ; of instruction and proficiency in the Practice of Vaccination ; of having attended, at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals in the United Kingdom or Colonies, the Practice of Surgery, during 3 Winter and 2 Summer Sessions ; and of having, subsequently to the first Winter Session of the foregoing attendance, attended at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals, Clinical Lectures on Surgery during 2 Winter and 2 Summer Sessions ; of having attended at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals in the United Kingdom or Colonies, the Practice of Medicine, and Clinical Lectures on Medicine, during 1 Winter and 1 Summer Session ; of having, subsequently to the completion of 2 years' professional education, taken charge of patients under the superintendence of a Surgeon during not less than 6 months, at a Hospital, General Dispensary, or Parochial or Union Infirmary, recognized for this purpose, or in such other similar manner as, in the opinion of the Council, shall afford sufficient opportunity for the acquirement of Practical Surgery. The Winter Session comprises a period of 6 months, and, in England, commences on the 1st of October, and terminates on the 31st of March. The Summer Session comprises a period of 3 months, and, in England, commences on the 1st of May, and terminates on the 31st of July. The Examination for Membership is divided into 2 parts. The First or Primary Examination, on Anatomy and Physiology, is partly written and partly demonstrative on the recently dissected subject, and on prepared parts of the human body. The Second or Pass Examination, on Surgical Anatomy and the Principles and Practice of Surgery, is partly written, partly oral, and partly on the practical use of Surgical Apparatus. The Primary Examinations are held in the months of January, April, May, July, and November, and the Pass Examinations generally in the ensuing week respectively. Candidates will not be admitted to the Primary or Anatomical and Physiological Examination, until after the termination of the second Winter Session of their attendance at a recognized School or Schools; nor to the Pass, or Surgical Examination, until after the termination of the fourth year of their professional education. The fee of 5 guineas, paid prior to the Primary Examination, and allowed on the whole fee of 22*l.* (this sum of 22*l.* is exclusive of the fee of 2*l.* paid for the Preliminary Examination), payable for the Diploma, is retained; and after any two consecutive failures at the Primary Examination, the Candidate is required to pay an additional fee of 5 guineas, prior to being again admitted to that Examination, which additional fee is also retained. Since the 1st of October, 1868, all Candidates presenting themselves for the final Examination for the Diploma of Member of the College, are required to pass an Examination in Medicine at the College, or to produce a recognized Degree, Diploma, or Licence in medicine before receiving the Diploma.

From an annual report of this Institution it appears that during the collegiate year 747 Candidates presented themselves at the Primary Examination for the Diploma of Membership, of which number 478 passed and 269 were rejected. At the Pass Examination 531 Candidates offered themselves, of which number 321 were successful; 89 were approved in Surgery, and when qualified in medicine, will be admitted Members of the College; 72 who had also been approved in Surgery, and subsequently passed in Medicine, were also admitted Members; 121 were altogether rejected, and 393 Diplomas were issued in the year.

SOCIETY OF APOTHECARIES.

---

APOTHECARIES' HALL,

BLACKFRIARS.

The Society of Apothecaries of London was founded, in 1815, by Act of Parliament, as an Examining Board, and the Examination in Arts is held in January, April, and September in each year. The Examination is conducted by means of printed papers. Candidates are examined in the following branches; and no Candidate will be approved unless he show a competent knowledge of each branch of the Examination:—1, The English Language; 2, The Latin Language; 3, Mathematics; 4, One of the following subjects, at the option of the Candidate:—(a) Greek; (b) French; (c) German; (d) Elementary Chemistry. The fee is one guinea. In the Examination for a certificate of qualification to practise as an Apothecary, each Candidate is required to produce proof of his having, previously to commencing his studies at a Medical School, passed a Preliminary Examination in Arts (The Preliminary Examination of the Society of Apothecaries, see page 419), of having been engaged four years in Medical Studies (the period may include the time spent in attending lectures and Hospital practice); also of his being 21 years of age, of good moral conduct, and of having pursued a course of study similar to that required for the Royal College of Surgeons, and an additional six months' Medical Practice. The Court of Examiners meet every Wednesday and Thursday; and Candidates, having given seven days' notice to the Clerk of the Society, have to attend at a time which will be duly specified. The first Examination, which may be passed after the second Winter Session, includes the British Pharmacopœia, Latin of Physicians' Prescriptions, Anatomy and Physiology (including an examination on the living subject), General and Practical Chemistry, Botany, Materia Medica, and Histology; the second Examination, after the third Winter Session and the completion of the four years, includes the Principles and Practice of Medicine (including an examination of one or more patients), Pathology, and Therapeutics, Midwifery, including the Diseases of Women and Children, Forensic Medicine, and Toxicology. The Society also examines for Certificates of qualification to act as Assistant in compounding and dispensing medicines, the Candidate having to show himself capable of translating Physicians' Prescriptions and the British Pharmacopœia, and an acquaintance with Pharmacy, Pharmaceutical Chemistry, and Materia Medica. Fees for Apothecaries' Certificate, 6 guineas; for an Assistant's, 3 guineas. The Society annually offers 2 Gold Medals, and 2 Silver Medals, as prizes for proficiency—2 in Botany, and 2 in Materia Medica and Pharmaceutical Chemistry. Books are also awarded.

Secretary to the Court of Examiners.—Thomas R. Wheeler.

THE PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY OF GREAT BRITAIN,

17, BLOOMSBURY SQUARE, W.C.

Founded 1841; Incorporated by Royal Charter 1843; Confirmed and Extended by Pharmacy Act 1852; and invested with further powers and duties by Pharmacy Act 1868.

The Society consists of three grades—Members, Associates, and Registered Apprentices or Students. Members must have joined the Society before 1853; or have passed the Major Examination and been registered as Pharmaceutical Chemists; or been placed on register as Chemists and Druggists by reason of having been in business on their own account prior to August 1st, 1868. Associates must have passed the Minor Examination, or having been employed as Assistants before passing of Act in 1868 must pass a modified Examination. Registered Apprentices or Students are required to have passed the first, or Preliminary Examination. There are also Honorary and Corresponding Members elected by the Council.

REGULATIONS OF THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

FIRST OR PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.*

(For Registration as Apprentices or Students.)

This Examination is held at about forty centres throughout Great Britain, at twelve noon on the first Tuesdays in January, April, July, and October in every year.

Candidates must give notice to the Registrar in London, on a printed form of application, to be obtained from him, and pay the fee not less than fourteen days prior to that on which the examination is to be held. Each candidate must state at which of the centres he desires to present himself.

The Examination is a written one, and comprises—

LATIN.—Translation into English of a paragraph from the first book of Cæsar ("De Bello Gallico"); Latin Grammar. Translation of simple sentences from English into Latin.

ARITHMETIC.—The first four rules: Simple and Compound; Vulgar

* In lieu of this Examination certificates of having passed the examinations of certain other bodies are accepted.

Fractions, and Decimals; Simple and Compound Proportion; a thorough knowledge of the British and Metrical Systems of Weights and Measures.

ENGLISH.—Grammar and Composition.

In awarding marks, spelling and the quality of the handwriting are taken into account.

MINOR EXAMINATION.

(For Registration under the Pharmacy Act, 1868, as Chemists and Druggists.)

Candidates for this Examination must have attained the full age of twenty-one years.

They must have passed the first or preliminary Examination, and have been registered as Apprentices or Students.

Each Candidate must produce a certified declaration that for three years he has been registered and employed as an Apprentice or Student, or has otherwise for three years been practically engaged in the translation and dispensing of prescriptions. The printed form on which this declaration is to be made may be obtained from the Registrar in London.

The following form the subjects of Examination:—Prescriptions, Practical Dispensing, Pharmacy, Materia Medica, Botany, Chemistry.

MAJOR EXAMINATION.

(For Registration as Pharmaceutical Chemists under the Pharmacy Act, 1852.)

Candidates for this Examination must have attained the full age of twenty-one years.

They must have passed the "Minor" Examination, and been registered as Chemists and Druggists at least three months previously.

Each Candidate must (if he has not already done so on entering for the Minor Examination) produce a certified declaration that for three years he has been registered and employed as an Apprentice or Student, or has otherwise for three years been practically engaged in the translation and dispensing of prescriptions. The printed form on which this declaration is to be made may be obtained from the Registrar in London.

The following are the subjects of examination:—Materia Medica, Botany, Chemistry, and Physics.

MODIFIED EXAMINATION.

For Assistants under the Pharmacy Act, 1868, as approved by the Privy Council.

(For Registration as Chemists and Druggists.)

No person is eligible for this examination who did not register for the same on or before December 31st, 1869.

The subjects of this examination are Prescriptions, Practical Dispensing, Materia Medica, Pharmacy.

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.—The Board of Examiners meets in London in February, April, June, July, October, and December. The Board of Examiners for Scotland meets in Edinburgh in February, April, July, and October.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES.—Candidates must give notice to the Registrar, and pay the fee, on or before the first day of the month in which the examinations are to be held, and they will receive due notice of the date on which they will be required to present themselves. Each Candidate for the Major or Minor Examination must, at the time of giving notice, produce a Registrar's certificate of birth, and a certified declaration that for three years he has been registered and employed as an Apprentice or Student, or has otherwise for three years been practically engaged in the translation and dispensing of prescriptions. Printed forms on which this declaration is to be made may be obtained from the Registrar. Each Candidate for the Modified Examination is required, at the time of giving notice, to state his age and the number of the receipt for his declaration.

EXAMINATION AND REGISTRATION FEES.—Preliminary Examination, 2*l.* 2*s.*; Minor Examination, 3*l.* 3*s.*; Major Examination, 5*l.* 5*s.*; Modified Examination, 1*l.* 1*s.*

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE SOCIETY.—Persons who have passed the Preliminary Examination are eligible to be elected Apprentices or Students of the Society, 10*s.* 6*d.*; persons who have passed the Minor or Modified Examination, if not in business, are eligible to be elected Associates of the Society, 10*s.* 6*d.*; persons who have passed the Minor or Modified Examination, if in business, are eligible to be elected Associates in Business of the Society, 1*l.* 1*s.*; persons who have passed the Major Examinations are eligible to be elected Members of the Society, 1*l.* 1*s.*; Registered Chemists and Druggists in business before August 1st, 1868, are eligible to be elected Members of the Society on payment of an entrance fee of two guineas and the annual subscription, 1*l.* 1*s.*; Life Member's fee, 21*l.*

THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY OF THE PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Session October 1st to July 31st. Students can enter at any period. Application for admission or further information to be made to the Professors or their Assistants in the Lecture Room or Laboratories, 17, Bloomsbury Square, London, W.C. The following courses of instruction are carried out :—

CHEMISTRY AND PHARMACY, by Professor Redwood, Ph.D., F.I.C., F.C.S. Lectures on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday mornings. The lectures comprise the following subjects:—1. An exposition of the physical forces involved in chemical and pharmaceutical operations and changes. 2. The chemistry of inorganic bodies, including a description of the elements and their more important inorganic compounds, especially those used in medicine. 3. The chemistry of organic compounds, with a description of such as have important applications in the arts and in medicine. The subjects will be fully illustrated with experiments, diagrams, and specimens, and every lecture will be followed by an examination of the class on those subjects which have been previously treated of by the Professor. With the view of connecting the lecture teaching with the instruction given to the practical class in the laboratory, and of enabling the Professor to increase the number of his experimental illustrations, the Demonstrator of Practical Chemistry will assist at these lectures and at the examinations. Instruction in Practical Dispensing will be provided for those Students who have previously had but slight means afforded them of becoming skilled in such operations. Fees: One course (five months), 3*l.* 3*s.*; an entire session (two courses), 4*l.* 4*s.*; perpetual admission, 5*l.* 5*s.*

BOTANY AND MATERIA MEDICA, by Professor Bentley, M.R.C.S., F.L.S. Lectures delivered Thursday, Friday, and Saturday mornings. The lectures comprise the following subjects:—1. Structural and Physiological Botany, which is especially adapted to meet the requirements of pharmaceutical students. 2. Organic Materia Medica, comprising the medicinal substances obtained from the organic kingdom, which are considered in the order of the natural historical relations of the organized beings which produce them. 3. Systematic and Practical Botany, which is taught during the summer months in the Royal Botanic Society's Gardens, Regent's Park. All the lectures are very fully illustrated by every means to which recourse can be had, including fresh, dried, and preserved portions of plants, together with their products and secretions; and by an extensive series of drawings, diagrams, and preparations, as well as by experiments and microscopical preparations. Fees: Botany and Materia Medica, one course (five months), 2*l.* 2*s.*; an entire session (two courses) including systematic and practical Botany, 3*l.* 3*s.*; systematic and practical Botany, separately, 1*l.* 1*s.*; perpetual admission to all the courses, 4*l.* 4*s.*

PRACTICAL CHEMISTRY.—Director of the Laboratories, Professor Attfield, Ph.D., F.R.S., F.I.C., F.C.S. Demonstrator, Wyndham R. Dunstan, F.C.S. The Laboratories are open from ten o'clock in the morning until five in the afternoon daily, except on Saturdays, when they are closed at two o'clock. They are fitted up with every convenience for the study of the principles of Chemistry by personal experiment. They are specially designed for the student of Pharmacy, but are equally well adapted for the acquirement of a knowledge of Chemistry in its application to medicine, manufactures, analysis, or original research. There is no general class for simultaneous instruction, each Student following an independent course of study always determined by his previous knowledge; pupils can therefore enter for any period at any date. A complete course of instruction, including the higher branches of quantitative analysis, occupies ten full months, and dated from the day of entry to that day twelvemonth. Fees: 10 to 5 daily (Saturdays 10 to 2), one month, 4*l.* 4*s.*; two months, 7*l.* 7*s.*; three months, 10*l.* 10*s.*; five months, 15*l.* 15*s.*; ten months, 26*l.* 5*s.* Three days weekly, or three hours daily, one month, 2*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*; two months, 4*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*; three months, 6*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.*; five months, 10*l.* 10*s.*; ten months, 17*l.* 17*s.* Two days weekly, or two hours daily, one month, 2*l.* 2*s.*; two months, 3*l.* 10*s.*; three months, 4*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*; five months, 7*l.* 7*s.*; ten months, 12*l.* 12*s.*

LIBRARY AND READING ROOM AND MUSEUMS.—These are open to all Students connected with the Society. Other Students in the School may obtain orders for admission on application to the Secretary.

SCHOLARSHIPS, PRIZES, ETC.—The Jacob Bell Memorial Scholarships, tenable for one year. Two Scholarships are offered annually, and come into operation at the commencement of the Session in October. Candidates for these Scholarships must be Apprentices or Students on the registrar of the Pharmaceutical Society. The Pharmaceutical Society's School is that in which the holders of the Scholarships shall pursue their studies. Each Scholarship is of the annual value of 30*l.*, and is to be held for one year.

BOTANICAL PRIZES.—A Silver Council Medal is annually offered for the best Herbarium, collected in any part of the United Kingdom, between the first day of May and the first day of June in the year following, and should there be more than one collection possessing such an amount of merit as to entitle the collector to reward, a second prize consisting of a Bronze Medal, and also Certificates of Merit, will be given at the discretion of the Council. In the event of none of the collections possessing sufficient merit to justify the Council in awarding medals or certificates, none will be given.

COUNCIL PRIZES.—At the end of each of the five months' Courses of Lectures on Chemistry and Pharmacy, and Botany and Materia Medica, a Bronze Medal and Certificates of Merit, and at the close of the Session (ten months) a Silver Medal and Certificates of Honour and Merit, are offered for competition by the Council to all Students connected with the Society. In the Class of Practical Chemistry, a Silver Medal, two Bronze Medals, and Certificates of Honour and Merit, offered by the Council, are competed for at the end of the Session only, by Students connected with the Society.

President.—T. Greenish, with twenty-one members of the Council.

Vice-President.—G. F. Schacht.

Treasurer.—T. Robbins.

Secretary and Registrar.—Elias Bremridge, 17, Bloomsbury Square, London, W.C.

It is usual to take at least one Medical and one Surgical qualification ; and the Student will probably become a Member of the College of Surgeons for the latter purpose, while his choice of a Medical qualification must depend somewhat on his abilities and opportunities. No qualification can be obtained until after the age of 21; but the amount of professional study required is not the same for all the examining bodies. Thus the Diplomas of the College of Physicians, the College of Surgeons, and of the Apothecaries' Society, can be obtained after four years' professional study at an Hospital, and the Degree of M.B. of the London University after four years and a half of Hospital study,—provided that the Matriculation Examination is passed before entry at the Hospital, and the Student is able to pass the Preliminary Scientific and the first M.B. Examinations within his first two years. Advantage may be often gained by attendance on the special courses for the Preliminary Scientific Examination, with the object of passing it before entering upon the usual Anatomical and Physiological studies.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION IN ARTS.

Before entering upon the strictly professional work, it will be necessary to pass a Preliminary Examination in Arts, as hospital studies undertaken before a certificate of knowledge in the subjects of general education has been obtained are not recognized by the examining bodies. This certificate may be one of graduation in Arts at one of the following Universities :—

Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, London, Durham, Queen's University in Ireland, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Aberdeen, and S. Andrew's.

Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.

Canada—McGill College, Montreal; and Queen's College, Kingston.

Australia—University of Adelaide.

Or it may be a certificate of one of the following Examinations .—

Oxford. Responsions or Moderations.

Local examinations, senior and junior, the certificates to include Latin and Mathematics.

Cambridge. Previous Examination.

Local examinations, senior and junior, the certificates to include Latin and Mathematics.

Oxford and Cambridge “Schools Examination Board.” The certificates to include the several subjects required in the Preliminary Examination of the College of Surgeons.

Dublin. Entrance examination.

London. Matriculation examination.

Durham. Examination of Students in Arts in their second and first years.

Local examinations, senior and junior, the certificates to include Latin and Mathematics.

Registration examination for Medical Students.

Queen's University in Ireland. Two years' Arts Course for diploma of Licentiate in Arts.

Preliminary examinations at end of B.A. Course.

Local examinations, the certificates to include Latin and Mathematics.

Matriculation examinations.

Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Glasgow, and S. Andrews.—Preliminary or extra-professional examinations for graduation in Medicine.

Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay.—Matriculation examinations.

Canada ; Queen's College, Kingston.—Matriculation examination, preliminary examination of Students in Medicine. McGill College, Montreal ; University of Trinity College, Toronto ; Bishop's College, Montreal ; University College, Toronto ; Victoria College, Toronto ; University of Laval, Quebec.—Matriculation examinations.

Nova Scotia ; King's College, Windsor.—Matriculation examination. Responsions. New Brunswick ; Frederickton.—Matriculation examination. Dalhousie College and University.—Halifax ; Matriculation examination.

Australia ; Melbourne.—Matriculation examination, with a certificate that the Student has passed an examination in Latin. Sydney.—Matriculation examination. Adelaide.—South Australian Institute ; Preliminary examination. University of Adelaide.—Matriculation examination, Class I.

University of the Cape of Good Hope.—Matriculation examination.

New York ; Bellevue Hospital Medical College.—Matriculation examination.

The preliminary examination for the Fellowship of the College of Surgeons.

The preliminary examinations of the Royal Colleges of Surgeons in Ireland and of Edinburgh, or of the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow.

The examination in Arts of the Society of Apothecaries of London, or of the Apothecaries' Hall of Ireland.

The first-class examination of the Royal College of Preceptors.

Testamur of the Codrington College, Barbadoes.

The Degree of Associate of Arts granted by the Tasmanian Council of Education, with a certificate that the Student has been examined in Latin and Mathematics.

The voluntary examinations of Christ's College, Canterbury, New Zealand, the certificate to include all the subjects required from time to time in the preliminary examination of the College of Surgeons.

Should the Student not have passed any one of the examinations above enumerated, he should pass one of the three following examinations :—

Matriculation of the London University.

Preliminary in Arts at the College of Surgeons.

Preliminary in Arts at the Society of Apothecaries.

Of these, the matriculation examination of the London University is to be recommended, as it is the only one of the three which admits to the subsequent examinations for Degrees in the University, and for the Fellowship of the College of Surgeons without additional examination.

The regulations with regard to these are shortly stated, and further information may be obtained for the University of London, page 96 ; Royal College of Surgeons, page 276 ; Apothecaries' Hall, page 280.

PERIOD AND ORDER OF STUDY REQUIRED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON, ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS, ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS, AND THE SOCIETY OF APOTHECARIES.

THE UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

Requires four years' professional study at one or more of the Medical Institutions or Schools recognised by that University, subsequently to the passing of the Matriculation Examination or graduation in Arts.

Regulations as to the M.B. Degree.

Candidates are required to have matriculated or graduated in Arts in a British University, to have studied Medicine four years, one in a British School.

There are three Examinations to be passed :—

The Preliminary Scientific takes place annually on the third Monday of July. Subjects: Mechanical and Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Botany, Vegetable Physiology, and Zoology. Candidates must be seventeen years of age.

The first M.B. takes place annually on the last Monday of July. Candidates must be nineteen, and have passed the Preliminary Scientific Examination a year previously, and must have studied Medicine for two years.

Certificates required: Two Winters' Dissections, Practical Chemistry, Practical Pharmacy, and on three other subjects.

Subjects of Examination: Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Botany, Materia Medica, and Pharmacy.

The second M.B. takes place annually on the first Monday of November. Candidates must have passed the first M.B. Examination.

Certificates required: Of the ordinary courses besides those above enumerated; of having conducted twenty labours; two years' surgical and two years' medical practice, with clinical lectures in such; and six months' practical medical and surgical work.

Subjects of Examination: General Pathology, General Therapeutics and Hygiene, Surgery, Medicine, and Forensic Medicine.

THE COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS

Requires three Winter Sessions of six months each and two Summer Sessions of three months each, of Hospital attendance on Medical and Surgical Practice.

Certificates required: Of having attended, during three Winter Sessions and two Summer Sessions, the Medical and Surgical Practice at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals; of having discharged the duties of Clinical Clerk at a recognized Hospital for a period of not less than three months; of having performed the duties of Dresser at a recognized Hospital for a period of not less than three months; and of having been engaged during six months in the Clinical Study of Diseases peculiar to Women.

Of having studied the following subjects: Anatomy (with Dissections), during two Winter Sessions; Physiology, two Winter Sessions; Chemistry, six months; Practical Chemistry, three months; Materia Medica, three months ; Practical Pharmacy, three months ; Botany, three months ; Morbid Anatomy, six months ; Principles and Practice of Medicine, two Winter Sessions ; Principles and Practice of Surgery, two Winter Sessions ; Clinical Medicine, two Winter Sessions and two Summer Sessions ; Clinical Surgery, two Winter Sessions and two Summer Sessions ; Midwifery and Diseases peculiar to Women, three months ; Forensic Medicine, three months.

THE COLLEGE OF SURGEONS

Requires three Winter Sessions of six months each, and two Summer Sessions of three months each, of Hospital attendance on the Practice of Surgery.

Candidates will be required to produce the following other Certificates, viz.:—1. Of being twenty-one years of age. 2. Of having been engaged during four years in the acquirement of professional knowledge. 3. Of having studied Practical Pharmacy during three months. 4. Of having attended lectures on Anatomy, delivered not less frequently than four times in each week, during two Winter Sessions. 5. Of having performed Dissections during not less than two Winter Sessions. 6. Of having attended Lectures on Physiology, delivered not less frequently than twice in each week, during two Winter Sessions. 7. Of having attended Lectures on Surgery during two Winter Sessions, of which one Course must not be earlier than the third Winter Session, at a recognized Medical School. 8. Of having attended one Course of Lectures on each of the following subjects, viz.: Chemistry, Materia Medica, Medicine, Midwifery, and Pathology. 9. Of Instruction and Proficiency in the Practice of Vaccination. 10. Of having attended, at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals in the United Kingdom or Colonies, the Practice of Surgery during three Winter and two Summer Sessions ; and of having, subsequently to the first Winter Session of the foregoing attendance, attended at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals Clinical Lectures on Surgery, during two Winter and two Summer Sessions. 11. Of having attended, at a recognized Hospital or Hospitals, in the United Kingdom or Colonies, the Practice of Medicine, the Clinical Lectures on Medicine during one Winter and one Summer Session. 12. Of having attended, during the whole period of attendance on Surgical Hospital Practice, demonstrations in the Post-mortem rooms of a recognized Hospital. 13. Of having, subsequently to the completion of two years' professional education, taken charge of patients under the superintendence of a Surgeon during not less than six months, at a Hospital, General Dispensary, or Parochial or Union Infirmary recognized for this purpose, or in such other similar manner as, in the opinion of the Council, shall afford sufficient opportunity for the acquirement of Practical Surgery.

THE SOCIETY OF APOTHECARIES

Requires three Winter and three Summer Sessions of Medical Practice.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION OF THE SOCIETY OF APOTHECARIES.

Date.—The last Friday and Saturday in January.

|   |   |            |
|---|---|------------|
| " | " | April.     |
| " | " | September. |

Duration.—Two days.

Subjects.—The English Language.

The Latin Language. (September examination : Horace's Odes, Book III.)

Mathematics : Arithmetic ; Algebra to Simple Equations ; The first two Books of Euclid.

One of the following subjects at the option of the Candidate :—Greek : Xenophon Anabasis, Books I. and II. ; French, Molière, "L'Avare ;" German, Fongué, "Undine ;" Natural Philosophy ; Mechanics ; Hydrostatics ; Pneumatics. Fee : one guinea.

Course of Study prescribed.

First Winter Session : Chemistry, Anatomy and Physiology, Dissections. First Summer Session : Botany, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Practical Chemistry. Second Winter Session : Anatomy and Physiology, including Dissections and Demonstrations, Principles and Practice of Medicine, Clinical Medical Practice. Second Summer Session : Midwifery and Diseases of Women and Children, Forensic Medicine and Toxicology, Clinical Medical Practice. Third Winter Session : Principles and Practice of Medicine, Clinical Medical Lectures, Morbid Anatomy, Clinical Medical Practice. Third Summer Session : Practical Midwifery and Vaccination, Morbid Anatomy, Clinical Medical Practice.

Certificates are required of having completed five years' apprenticeship (which may include the period spent at the Hospital) ; of a personal attendance of twenty cases of Midwifery ; and of having received instructions in Practical Vaccination.

VACATIONS.

There are three months' Vacations during the year, viz., April, after the Winter Session, and August and September, after the Summer Session.

MEDICAL TITLES AND PRIVILEGES.

Considerable discussion, and in many quarters some consternation, has been created by the proposed changes involved in the new Medical Amendment Act, which, if passed, will prevent Physicians who have not graduated at a recognised University from using the title of "Doctor." It would thereby affect thousands of practitioners, many of them doubly qualified, who will have to remove the prefix "Doctor," and be no longer addressed by that title. The term "Doctor" implies the possession of a degree from a University, and the College of Physicians a few years ago passed a resolution that even their own Fellows were not to be called "Doctors" unless they possessed such degree, still it should not affect those practitioners whose professional status has become recognised in our midst, and it would be a great injustice thus to interfere with the titles they have enjoyed by custom, if not by right, in many instances for a long period of years.

THE RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES OF CHEMISTS AND DRUGGISTS.

According to the legal interpretation, the medical profession is divided into four classes, viz.: 1. The physician, whose title of "Doctor" it is now intended to cancel, unless he has an University degree. 2. The ordinary Surgeon. 3. The Apothecary. And the fourth rank in the profession is the Chemist's and Druggist's; and as this latter sometimes acts as a practitioner in cases in which he considers himself fitted to treat, it is intended that some specific legal regulation be issued to prevent Chemists from having such discretionary powers.

Long before the Act of 1815 the apothecary was what the druggist afterwards became—"that is, he culled his simples himself in the fields, dried them in his apotheke or place in which he deposited them, and from thence administered them." But before 1815 the apothecary, besides being himself a seller, had acquired the habit, though not the technical right, of attending people, advising them, and giving them medicines. "The general practitioner of to-day," according to Mr. Justice Field's view, "is an apothecary as created by the Act of Parliament of 1815." After the Act, and by the terms of it, the practice of the apothecary is described as an "art, mystery, or faculty," and it is distinguished from the "trade or business" of a chemist or druggist by being closed to all who have not undergone a special training and passed a severe examination.

Speaking generally, chemists have honourably kept within their legitimate sphere of business, and whatever necessary regulations may be instituted in connection with their calling would doubtless receive their full support and cordial co-operation.

OUR MEDICAL SCHOOLS.

S. THOMAS'S HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL AND SURGICAL COLLEGE, WESTMINSTER BRIDGE, LONDON.

President.—H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, K.G.

All accounts agree in attributing the origin of S. Thomas's Hospital to circumstances more or less accidental. In Stow's "Survey of London," we find that "a fire happened in the Borough of Southwark in the year 1207, which destroying the Priory of S. Mary Overie, the Canons erected an Hospital hard by for the celebration of divine service, till their Monastery could be rebuilt; which they soon after accomplishing, Peter de Rupibus, or De la Roche, Bishop of Winchester, for the greater convenience of air and water, removed the said Hospital in the year 1215, and erected it in a place where Richard, Prior of Bermondsey, but two years before had built an Almonry or Almshouse for the reception of indigent children and necessitous proselytes; and having dedicated the same to S. Thomas the Apostle, endowed it with land to the amount of three hundred and forty-three pounds per annum.

From this time, Golding truly says, nothing of importance occurred either in the government or revenues of S. Thomas's Hospital until the 26th year of Henry VIII., when an estimate was formed of the latter, which were found to amount to the annual sum of 347*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* It is not to be wondered at that we have so little to record during these early times; for the "Hospitium" dependent on the rich Abbey of Bermondsey was, as the name strictly implies, more an Almshouse than an Hospital. No doubt the sick found their way into it with other distressed persons; and no doubt some learned monk, using the shelter and leisure of the cloister for researches in alchemy and medicine, was told off to minister to their physical necessities. The brotherhood of the Rosy Cross, to which Gower, now lying in the neighbouring church, belonged, was intimately connected with the early quest after arcana and elixirs of life which represented the science of the time.

In the year 1535, Henry VIII. was excommunicated by Pope Paul III., and, declaring himself head of the Church, he proceeded to dissolve the Catholic houses, whose large revenues went to the Crown. There seemed to have been 645 monasteries and abbeys thus treated, twenty-eight of which had abbots with seats in Parliament, ninety colleges and free chapels, and 110 hospitals of various descriptions. It is certainly in favour of the sweeping change that so able and honest a man as Sir Richard Gresham, the Lord Mayor of London, should have put his hand to the following petition to the King:—

"Most redoubted, puyasant, and noble Prince * * * *—nere and within the cytie of London be iij hospitalls or spytells, commonly called Seynt Georges Spytell, Seynt Barthilmews Spytell, and Seynt Thomas Spytell, and the new Abbey of Tower Hill, founded of good devotion by auncient fathers, and endowed with great possessions and rents only for the reliefe, comforte, and helping of the poore and impotent people lying in every street, offending every clene persone passing by the way with theyre fylthy and nasty savors. Wherefore may it please your merciful goodness, enclyned to pytie and compassion, for the reliefe of Xts very images created to his own similitude, to order by your high authoritie, as supreme head of this Church of England, or otherwise by your sage discretion, that your mayer of your cytie of London, and his brethren the aldermen for the time being, shall and may from henceforth have the order, disposition, rule and governaunce, both of all the lands, tenements, and revenues apperteynyng and belongyn to the said Hospitals, governors of them, and of the ministers which be or shall be withyn any of them, and then your grace shall facillie perceyve that where now a small number of Chanons, Priests, and Monkes be founde for theyr own profit only, and not for the common utilitie of the realme, a great number of poore, needy, syke and indugent persones shall be refreshed, maynteyned, and comforted; and also healed and cured of their infirmities frankly and freely by physicians, surgeons and potycaries, which shall have stipende and salarie only for that purpose; so that all impotent persones not able to labour shall be releved, and all sturdy beggars not willing to labour shall be punished."

It is from the death of Henry that the connection of S. Thomas's Hospital with the City of London appears to begin. To meet the needs of the sick and destitute, who had before depended on the charity of the religious houses, a Committee or Board of Inquiry was instituted by the citizens, with the sanction of King Edward. About 2,100 souls were reported as fit recipients of relief, as fatherless children and invalids, or as "Idle Rogues of both sexes who were levyng contributions on public sympathy by feigned tales of sorrow." It was proposed to establish receptacles for each class in the unoccupied monastic buildings, and a pecuniary contribution was set on foot to complete the work. They bought the dissolved houses of the Franciscans or Grey Friars near S. Bartholomew's Hospital, and also by charter from the King received a grant as follows: "That the said mayor, commonalty, and citizens, and their successors, may have and enjoy all the franchises, immunities, and privileges whatever, which any Archbishop of Canterbury, and which the said Charles late Duke of Suffolk, or any master, brethren, or sisters of the late Hospital of S. Thomas in Southwark as aforesaid; or any Abbot of the said monastery of S. Saviour, Saint Mary Bermondsey, next Southwark aforesaid, or any prior and convent of the priory of S. Mary Overie, ever had or enjoyed, or which we hold or enjoy, or our most dear father Henry the VIIIth, late King of England, or had enjoyed, or ought to have, hold, and enjoy the same; and that none of our heirs or successors may intermeddle with this our grant."

The Greyfriars became Christ's Hospital, and the Southwark site, the Hospital of the Holy Trinity or S. Thomas's. The Lord Mayor and certain citizens then met on the 6th of October, 1552, and constituted themselves by royal permission governors of the hospitals, and almoners of the money collected. The Hospital of the Holy Trinity they named, in compliment to Edward, the "King's Hospital," and ordained it to receive 260 "wounded soldiers, blind, maimed, sick, and helpless objects."

They also directed that 380 children should be received into Christ's Hospital.

To complete the scheme, the old palace of Bridewell, in Blackfriars, where the Emperor Charles V. had lodged in 1522, when on a visit to Henry VIII., and where subsequently Wolsey had lived, was granted to the City by Edward as a house of correction for dissolute persons and idle apprentices, and for the temporary maintenance of distressed vagrants.

Lastly, the lands lately belonging to the Palace of the Savoy were conferred jointly on the three foundations; and, a month only before the end of Edward's short reign, he incorporated by a second charter bearing date the 6th of June, 1553, the Lord Mayor and commonalty of the City of London in succession as perpetual governors of Saint Bartholomew's, Christ's, Bridewell, and the King's Hospital (which last received the name of S. Thomas the Apostle), and secured to them the possession of all the estates and revenues appertaining to them by previous deeds of gift. So were the royal hospitals founded.

In 1557 the laws were framed and printed under the name of "The Order of the Hospitals of K. Henry the VIII. and K. Edward the VI., viz., S. Bartholomew's, Christ's, Bridewell, S. Thomas's. By the Maior, Cominaltie, and Citizens of London," etc.

It is a matter of more difficulty to trace the early history of the medical school in connection with the hospital. For the facts which follow I am indebted to the late R. G. Whitfield, Esq., who, from the long period during which his family had been associated with this foundation, was perhaps more qualified to speak than any other person.

The earliest mention in the hospital books of an apprentice is on December 31st, 1561. It is not until 1702 that a law is met with precluding pupils or surgeons from dissecting the dead body without permission from the treasurer.

In 1703 the grand committee resolved that no surgeon should have more than three "Cubbs," a term altered in 1758 to that of "Dressers." Besides these there were also apprentices to the surgeons of the hospital, and ordinary pupils. The first mention of lectures occurs soon after the appointment of Wm. Cheselden, in 1718. These he at first gave at his own house, but afterwards by permission in the hospital. They were on anatomy and surgery. In 1723 a regular registry was ordered to be kept by the apothecary, of pupils entering to surgical practice. In 1725, Guy's Hospital was opened for the reception of patients. In 1751, the assistant physician was allowed to take two pupils for his own benefit. In 1768, an additional surgeon, Mr. Joseph Else, was elected to read lectures to the pupils.

The students of Guy's Hospital had by courtesy been allowed to attend the operations, and a similar favour admitted the S. Thomas's men to those at Guy's. But on the 8th November, 1768, it was formally resolved that the pupils of each hospital have the liberty of attending not only the operations, but surgical practice, and the money to be divided between the six surgeons and two apothecaries. Hence the appellation of the "United Hospitals;" an amalgamation never extended beyond the surgical practice.

From its foundation down to the year 1862, the Hospital occupied the original site near London Bridge, but in that year the property was sold for the extension of the railway accommodation, and the establishment temporarily removed to the Surrey Gardens, where it was carried on till the summer of 1871. In 1868 the first stone of the new hospital at Westminster Bridge was laid by the Queen, and the completed building was opened by Her Majesty in 1871. In September the patients were first admitted into the new hospital, and the Medical School was opened on October 2nd.

The original hospital latterly contained 500 beds. The present building contains in all 572 beds. It consists of six blocks appropriated to the reception of patients ; with one for the administrative and other offices, and one for the Medical School. The Ward blocks, though connected by corridors, stand apart, so as to afford free exposure in all directions. The Wards, with the exception of four which are placed on the ground floor, occupy the first, second, and third floors. Generally, each Ward affords accommodation for 28 beds, which are placed against the piers between the windows, so as to secure thorough ventilation. In a small Ward annexed to each larger Ward, there are two beds for cases requiring special care or treatment.

During the twelve months ending December 31st, 1880, the number of patients admitted into the Hospital amounted to 4,081. In the same period, 21,532 out-patients have been treated, and in the Maternity Department 2,136 women have been attended at their own homes. Casualties, to the number of 43,054 attendances, were treated during the same period.

The School buildings stand at the southern extremity of the Hospital, from which they are quite isolated. They contain ample accommodation for large classes of students.

The Museum is one of the most important in the metropolis. There is a large Reading Room and Library for the use of the pupils.

In addition to these are the various Lecture Rooms, the Dissecting Rooms, the Laboratories for Practical Physiology and for practical Chemistry, and the Post-mortem Rooms.

At the opening address in 1880, Dr. Ord, the Dean of the Medical School, chose as his subject "Medical Education," chiefly from the parent and student's point of view. The studies, he said, should include the classics as well as modern languages, history, geography, mathematics, and natural philosophy. Referring to natural science, he maintained that it ought to form part of the school schedule. A boy should not go direct from school to the hospital. There should be a course of study between the school life and the hospital life. It was a great plunge for a boy to suddenly leave the moral restraint and supervision of school life for the freedom of the hospital. It was highly desirable that a common college should be formed in London in connection with our medical schools, where the sciences should be taught, leaving the teaching of pure medicine and surgery, with perhaps anatomy and physiology, to the hospital schools.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

The WILLIAM TITE Scholarship. This Scholarship, founded by the late Sir W. Tite, C.B., M.P., F.R.S., and endowed with 1,000*l.* Consols, produces 30*l.* per annum.

The MUSGROVE Scholarship. This Scholarship, founded by Sir John Musgrove, Bart., the President of the Hospital, and endowed with 1,400*l.* Consols, produces 40 Guineas per annum, and is tenable for 2 years.

A College Scholarship of the value of 40 guineas, also tenable for two years, will be given every second year.

Entrance Scholarships.—Two entrance Scholarships in Natural Science of the value of 100*l.* and 60*l.*

Prizes amounting to 200*l.* are annually awarded, exclusive of Gold and Silver Medals, etc.

FEES FOR ATTENDANCE ON THE LECTURES AND ON THE PRACTICE OF THE HOSPITAL.
PERPETUAL TICKETS.

Admitting to Hospital Practice and Lectures.

The Fee to Hospital Practice and Lectures may be paid in several ways.

- 1st. One hundred and twenty-five pounds paid on entrance ;
- 2nd. One hundred and thirty pounds in two payments, 70*l.* on entrance, and 60*l.* at the beginning of the next year ;
- 3rd. Payment by three instalments, viz., of 60*l.* at the beginning of the first year, 50*l.* at the beginning of the second year, and 30*l.* at the beginning of the third year, entitles a Student after payment of the third instalment to an unlimited attendance.

Gentlemen entering at St. Thomas's in the second year of their Studentship pay 65*l.* for that year ; 25*l.* for the third year ; or upon paying 85*l.* on entrance they will become Perpetual Students. Students entering in their third year pay 40*l.* : for the next year 20*l.*, or one payment of 55*l.* on entrance will entitle them to be Perpetual Students.

The fee for attendance on the general subjects required of Students in Dental Surgery, is for the two years, 55*l.*, or by instalments, 50*l.* for the first year and 10*l.* for the second year. If certificates for Dental practice are also required, the special fee for that subject has to be paid.

Regularly qualified Medical Practitioners are admitted to the Hospital practice, and to the Lectures and Library, on payment of a fee of 12*l.* 10*s.* for unlimited attendance, but are not entitled to receive certificates for such attendance.

All privileges in respect of Hospital attendance are granted subject to the approval of the Governors.

The different Courses of Lectures, or the Hospital Practice, may also be attended separately on the following terms :—

For the Medical and Surgical Practice, including the Special Departments :—

|              |            |               |          |

Instructions in Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical manipulation, to meet the requirements of the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, and of the Society of Apothecaries, is given in the Dispensary of the Hospital. The fee for this course of instruction is 5 guineas for three months.

Students are requested to observe that, by the Regulations of some of the Examining Bodies, and of the Hospital, the different courses of Lectures should be attended in the following order :—

FIRST YEAR.

Winter Session.—Anatomy, Dissections, Physiology, Chemistry.

Summer Session.—Materia Medica, Botany, Practical Physiology, Practical Chemistry, Clinical Surgery.

SECOND YEAR.

Winter Session.—Anatomy, Physiology, Practical Surgery, Dissections, Clinical Medicine and Surgery.

Summer Session.—Midwifery, Comparative Anatomy, Clinical Medicine and Surgery.

THIRD YEAR.

Winter Session.—Medicine, Surgery, Clinical Medicine and Surgery.

Summer Session.—Forensic Medicine, Pathological Anatomy, Clinical Medicine and Surgery.

Students are advised during their first Winter Session to attend the Lectures on Physics and Natural Philosophy; in their third or fourth Summer Session, to attend the course of Practical and Manipulative Surgery, Forensic Medicine, Pathological Anatomy, Clinical Medicine and Surgery, the course of Ophthalmic Surgery, and the Lectures on Mental Diseases and on Hygiene.

They are also strongly recommended to devote, during the whole period of their attendance at the Hospital, as much time as they can spare from other engagements, to the study of Practical Medicine and Surgery in the wards and in the out-patients' rooms.

All information as to the course of study, Scholarships, Prizes, Appointments, etc., will be given by Dr. Gillespie on application.

GUY'S HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL,

S. THOMAS STREET, BOROUGH, S.E.

This Hospital was founded, A.D. 1722, by Thomas Guy, at his "sole cost and charges." He was born in the year 1645, and in the year 1660 he was bound apprentice to Mr. John Clarke, a bookseller in the Porch of Mercer's Chapel in Cheapside. In 1668 he became a Freeman of the City of London, and of the Stationers' Company, and started in business with a capital of about 200*l.*, at "the little corner house of Lombard Street and Cornhill." Five years later he became a Liveryman of the Stationers' Company. His business flourished, and he gradually acquired considerable wealth. In course of time he was chosen Sheriff of London ; but he paid the fine and declined to serve. In the year 1695 he entered Parliament as Member for Tamworth ; and he subsequently sat in all Parliaments from the third of William III. to the first of Queen Anne. "His private acts of charity were many and great." To many of his poor though distant relations he made stated yearly allowances of greater or less amount. He frequently accomplished the discharge from prison, and reinstatement in business, of insolvent debtors, who at that period were liable to very harsh treatment. He was constantly ready to advance money, without charge for interest, to enable young men, whom he knew to be deserving, to start in business. "When he met with such diseased and friendless objects as wanted the help of an Hospital, he used to send them to S. Thomas's (of which institution he was a Governor), with directions to the Steward to supply them at his expense with clothes and such other necessaries as are not provided by the Hospital." Among his more public acts of benevolence the following may be mentioned :—He made large benefactions to the Stationers' Company and to Christ's Hospital. He built, maintained during his life, and endowed by his will, almshouses, and a Free Library at Tamworth. In 1707 he built and furnished three Wards, in S. Thomas's Hospital, for the reception of sixty-four patients, and contributed one hundred pounds yearly towards their support. At a later period he expended some three thousand pounds further in improvements or repairs of the same Hospital, or in addition to its funds.

In 1720 he proceeded to carry out the scheme, viz., the foundation of the Hospital which bears his name ; and he leased from the Governors of S. Thomas's Hospital, for the term of 999 years, the piece of ground upon which he proposed to build, and which forms an important portion of the site of the present Hospital.

On the 24th September, 1724, Guy made his will. He survived long enough to see the building completed ; and then, on the 27th December, he died at the age of 80 years. In little more than a week the Hospital was opened ; and on Thursday, 6th January, 1725, 60 patients were admitted. On the 6th April following, the first Committee of Governors was held ; and on the 9th, two Physicians and two Surgeons were formally appointed.

The Hospital now contains accommodation for 695 patients. The Surgical Wards, including those for accidents and for venereal diseases, and the Operating Theatre, are in the "Old Building" (I). The General Medical Wards are in the New Building, which also contains the Ophthalmic Wards with 50, and the Obstetric Wards with 26 beds, as well as spacious dormitories for the nurses, the out-patients' rooms, and a ward which is reserved for use in case of extra pressure from epidemics, and in order to allow of the other wards being at intervals purified and left empty for a time.

By his will, Guy bequeathed the residue of his property for the endowment of his Hospital, and to provide for the maintenance in it of four hundred patients. The sum expended during his lifetime in the building and furnishing of the Hospital, together with that received for its endowment under his will, amounted to little short of two hundred and fifty thousand pounds. The benefits conferred on the world by this munificent Foundation are incalculable, and are ever increasing. And the memory of the Founder may well be held in reverence.

On the 8th February, 1828, William Hunt, Merchant and Citizen of London, and for many years an influential Governor of this Hospital, added a codicil to his will, by which about 180,000*l.* came to the funds of the Hospital at his death in 1829. Three windows of stained glass have been recently placed in the Chapel by the Governors, commemorative of this munificent benefaction.

The Chapel, in which Sunday and week-day services are held, affords accommodation for Students, as well as for other members of the Institution. It contains a fine statue of the Founder by Bacon, tablets in memory of Sir Astley Cooper and of Dr. Addison, and the windows of stained glass, already mentioned, in memory of Mr. Hunt.

The School of Medicine and Surgery attached to Guy's Hospital may be considered to date its formal commencement from about the year 1769, when a resolution was approved by the Governors to the effect that "all such persons as shall be chosen Surgeons of this Hospital shall occasionally give Lectures on Surgery to the pupils that shall be entered at this Hospital."

In the year 1768, it was resolved "that the barrier between this Hospital and S. Thomas's be taken down, and that the pupils of S. Thomas's have free leave to see not only the operations but also all the other practice of this Hospital." Corresponding advantages were afforded to the pupils of this Hospital by the authorities of S. Thomas's. Thus was established the union of the Schools of Guy's and S. Thomas's—a union maintained until such comparatively recent date that very many alumni of "The United Hospitals" still survive. Some of the courses of lectures (notably those on Surgery) were given at S. Thomas's; others (notably those on Medicine) at Guy's; and the practice of both Hospitals was open to the pupils of each. In the beginning of the year 1825 circumstances arose which led to the dissolution of the union, and by a resolution of the Governors, the Treasurer of Guy's was "requested and authorized to make such arrangements as he may find necessary to provide for and place the Surgical School of this Hospital, in all its departments, on the most respectable and efficient footing." In accordance with this resolution, and under the direction of the Treasurer, the erection of a block of buildings containing the Anatomical Theatre, the Museum, a Dissecting Room, and other requisite offices, was promptly executed, at a cost of about 8,000*l.* On the 21st of June, 1826, the Treasurer reported "all the school buildings ready and occupied." From this period dates the establishment of "Guy's" as an independent and complete medical school, affording opportunities for study and means of instruction, not only in medicine and surgery, but also in all the various allied sciences, in accordance with the prescribed curricula of the Examining and Licensing Corporations, and the requirements of the Public Services. Important alterations in the arrangements, and additions to the buildings, have been made from time to time, with the view to meet as completely as possible increasing demands.

Instruction is given in all branches of Medical Science required by the Universities and Examining Boards.

Special classes are held in the Hospital for Students preparing for the Examinations of the University of London and of the College of Surgeons.

The Museums of Anatomy, Pathology, and Comparative Anatomy contain 11,000 specimens, 4,500 drawings and diagrams, an unique collection of anatomical models, and a series of 600 models of skin diseases. About 2,500 cases are annually attended by the Students in connection with the lying-in charity.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING STUDENTS.

Gentlemen desirous of becoming Students must produce satisfactory testimony as to their education and conduct. Students are required to conform to the rules and regulations for the internal management of the Hospital. Several of the Lecturers have vacancies for resident private pupils:

There are several Scholarship prizes and medals granted to Students annually—two open Scholarships, each of 125 guineas, (1) in Classics, Mathematics, and Modern Languages; (2) in Chemistry, Physics, Botany, and Zoology. There are also six Scholarships, varying in value from 10*l.* to 50*l.* each, and are awarded at the close of each Summer Session for general proficiency in medical study. Two gold medals are given by the Treasurer, one for medicine and one for surgery, and there are other prizes and rewards.

COURSE OF STUDY ADVISED TO STUDENTS.

On receiving his card of admission to lectures and practice, the Student should proceed as soon as possible to register it at the College of Surgeons, Lincoln's-inn-fields, and at the Apothecaries' Hall, Blackfriars. It is also necessary to register at the office of the General Medical Council, 415, Oxford Street; the Student may effect this by filling up a form in the office at Guy's Hospital, and leaving with it the certificate of his Preliminary Examination. These are then sent up, with those of other Students, to the Medical Council Office, and the Examination Certificate and a Certificate of registration are returned to the Student at a later date.

At the College of Surgeons and the Apothecaries' Hall the Student must attend personally within fifteen days from the commencement of the Session.

Students who intend to take a Degree in the University of London should defer entering the Hospital until they have matriculated, may with advantage pass the Preliminary Scientific Examination before commencing the usual courses of anatomy and physiology. If, however, they have only matriculated, then the first year should be devoted to learning the rudiments of Human Anatomy, and attending the courses of Chemistry, Physics, Botany, and Comparative Anatomy, in preparation for the Preliminary Scientific Examination. Special classes in each of these subjects are held, and Examination papers given. After this Examination has been passed, the second year should be devoted to Anatomy, Physiology, and the other subjects of the first M.B. Examination, and until this is passed it is advisable not to undertake any higher appointments than those of Assistant Surgeon's Clerk, Surgical Ward Clerk, and perhaps Dresser in the Surgery.

FEES FOR HOSPITAL PRACTICE AND LECTURES.

A Perpetual Ticket may be obtained—(1) By the payment of one hundred and twenty-five guineas on entrance. (2) By two payments of 66*l.* at the commencement of the first Winter Session and the following Summer Session. (3) By the payment of three annual instalments at the commencement of the Sessional Year—First year, 50*l.*; second year, 50*l.*; third year, 37*l.* 10*s.*

Several of the Lecturers have vacancies for resident private pupils.

Fee for attendance on the Hospital Practice and Lectures required for the Dental Diploma of the College of Surgeons, 50 guineas; or in two annual instalments of 30 guineas and 20 guineas.

Clinical Lectures are given weekly in Medicine, Surgery, and Midwifery.

S. BARTHOLOMEW'S HOSPITAL AND COLLEGE, SMITHFIELD.

This Hospital was founded in the year 1123 by Rayhere, minstrel of Henry I., in connection with his foundation of the Church and Priory of S. Bartholomew. He designed his charity—‘Ad omnes pauperes infirmos ad idem hospitale confluentes quousque de infirmitatibus suis convaluerint, ac mulieres prægnantes quousque de puerperio surrexerint, necnon ad omnes pueros de eisdem mulieribus genitos, usque septennium, si dictæ mulieres intra hospitale predictum decesserint.’ The present annual value of the endowment of School and Hospital is 50,000*l*.

At the suppression of monasteries in 1537 the Priory and Hospital, and their revenues, came into the possession of Henry VIII., who, in 1544, at the petition of Sir Richard Gresham, Lord Mayor of London, and father of Sir Thomas Gresham, refounded the Hospital by Royal Charter, and endowed it with the greater portion of its former revenues; being ‘moved thereto with great pity for and towards the relief and succour and help of the poor, aged, sick, low, and impotent people . . . lying and going about begging in the common streets of the city of London and the suburbs of the same,' and 'infected with divers great and horrible sicknesses and diseases.'

At the granting of the Charter the Hospital contained 100 beds, and its medical staff consisted of a Physician and three Surgeons.

From this its second foundation, S. Bartholomew's Hospital has increased in 300 years to more than six times its original extent; and the opportunities which, as it increased, it afforded for the study of disease, did not escape the learned and benevolent men who attended on the sick within its walls. They taught at the bedside, and gave lectures on the most important subjects of medical and surgical science and practice.

William Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, was appointed physician to the Hospital in 1609, and held his office thirty-four years, highly honoured and esteemed by the Governors. The rules which he laid down for the duties of the medical officers of the Hospital were adhered to for nearly a century after his retirement.

Referring to this great discoverer, it may be interesting to record that he was born at Folkestone on the, 1st of April, 1578, and was educated at Canterbury School and at Caius College, Cambridge. He became a Fellow of the College of Physicians and was afterwards appointed Lumleian Lecturer to the College and Physician-Extraordinary to King James I. He was also the Physician-in-Ordinary to Charles I. During the Civil War his house in London was plundered, and papers containing the results of his anatomical and physiological investigations were destroyed. In 1657 he resigned his Lumleian Lectureship; and in the following year, the eightieth of his age, he died. The movements of the blood, and the functions of the heart and blood-vessels, were wholly unknown until Harvey solved the problem; and the importance of this discovery to Medical Science cannot be adequately estimated, for the whole fabric of modern Surgery rests upon it. The late Dr. Parkes affirmed that "the explanation of the actions of the heart and of the circulation of the blood is not only one of those cardinal discoveries which lie at the very foundation of physiology and medicine, but is from its very nature one of those great landmarks which must remain in the sight of all."

A banquet was held at the Royal College of Physicians in May, 1878, in honour of the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of this great discoverer; and it was decided to mark the tercentenary of Harvey's birth by the erection of a monument worthy his memory. Professor Huxley, in a very eloquent speech, referred to the life and labours of Harvey, of his claims as a philosopher and discoverer, and of the methods by which he worked for the attainment of the truths which it was his privilege to disclose. He also paid a fitting tribute to the high personal qualities which had won for him the esteem and regard of his fellow-workers and the men of his own time.

Although the actual commencement of a Medical School is not recorded, it appears that in 1662 students were in the habit of attending the medical and surgical practice of the Hospital; and their studies were assisted by the formation, five years afterwards, of a Library 'for the use of the Governors and young University scholars.'

In 1843 the Governors founded a College, to afford the pupils the moral advantages, together with the convenience, of a residence within the walls of the Hospital, and to supply them with ready guidance and assistance in their studies. This establishment has been enlarged to nearly twice its original extent.

The Church of S. Bartholomew-the-Less, which is within the Hospital walls, was restored in 1865.

In 1872 Sir Sydney Waterlow gave Lauderdale House and grounds at Highgate for use as a Convalescent Hospital for a term of years.

In 1877 an institution was opened for the training of nurses in connexion with the Hospital.

The Clinical Practice of the Hospital now comprises a service of 710 beds : of these, 227 are allotted to the Medical Cases, 322 to the Surgical Cases, 26 to Diseases of the Eye, 20 to the Diseases of Women, and 86 to the Syphilitic ; while 34 are at the Convalescent Hospital at Highgate. Children are admitted into both the Medical and Surgical Wards, those under 5 years of age being received into the female wards.

In the year 1876, relief was afforded to 5,652 in-patients, and 147,441 out-patients, besides women attended in their confinements at their own homes.

THE COLLEGE.

It is part of the duties of the Warden to direct particularly the studies of the Resident Students ; but it is recommended that in questions relating to their education all Students should seek his advice. By applying to the Warden, Students will obtain information respecting rooms in College, or will be advised respecting residence out of the Hospital, as gentlemen connected with the Hospital receive Students to board in their houses.

Students attending the practice of the Hospital, or the Lectures in the Medical School, will be admitted to residence in the College on the recommendation of a Medical Officer of the Hospital. Students commencing their attendance at the Hospital or College may obtain such recommendations on adducing satisfactory evidence of good moral character.

Each Student shall pay an Entrance Fee of Two Guineas, and subscribe his readiness to submit to all the Regulations of the College and of the Hospital.

Resident Students are expected to dine in the Hall every day.

Non-Resident Students may dine in the Hall, if they give notice.

A Student may not, without the consent of the Warden, give up his rooms in the course of a Term. (The Terms are three in each year : namely, one extending from the commencement of the Winter Session in October to the commencement of the Christmas Vacation ; another from the conclusion of the same Vacation to the conclusion of the Winter Session at the end of March ; and the third from the commencement of the Summer Session in May to the conclusion of the same in July.)

For the terms of Board and Residence, and all other information regarding the College, application should be made, either personally or by letter to the Warden.

There are two Scholarships of the value of 100*l.* each, tenable for one year, and many other Scholarships, one of 80*l.*, two of 50*l.* each, four of 35*l.* each, one of 30*l.*, and one of 20*l.*, besides exhibitions and prizes.

CHARING CROSS HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

62 & 63, CHANDOS STREET, CHARING CROSS, S.W.

Students who enter this Hospital for their entire Medical Education are called Matriculated Students, and enjoy certain privileges, and matriculation involves no examination.

The Physicians and Surgeons give daily Clinical Instruction at the bedside in the Wards of the Hospital, and Clinical Lectures are delivered three times a week.

Clinical Instruction in Diseases of the Eye and Ophthalmoscopic Demonstrations are given in the adjoining Ophthalmic Hospital, to which the Students of Charing Cross Hospital are free.

Clinical Demonstrations in Auscultation and Physical Diagnosis generally are given every week on such cases, both of out- and in-patients, as are available for the purpose; also practical instruction and demonstrations in Operative Surgery, Aural Surgery, and Dental Surgery.

The Hospital contains 180 beds. These, together with the 50 beds of the adjoining Royal Westminster Ophthalmic Hospital, to the practice of which Matriculated Students are admitted, make a total of 230 beds available for clinical teaching.

Special classes for the preliminary Scientific Examination of the University of London are held during each Winter and Summer Session. Dean—Francis Herd, F.R.C.S.

Two Entrance Scholarships of the value of 30*l.* and 20*l.* respectively, tenable for one year, are awarded annually in October, after a competitive examination.

The Llewellyn Scholarship, of 25*l.*, Golding Scholarship of 15*l.*, Pereira Prize of 5*l.* (with Medal), the Governor's Gold Clinical Medal, and the Silver and Bronze Medals and Certificates of Merit of all the different classes, are open for competition to all Matriculated Students.

The following appointments are open to Medical Students :—

Medical Registrar (salary 40*l.* per annum).

Surgical Registrar (salary 40*l.* per annum).

Resident Medical Officer, Resident Surgical Officer, Resident Obstetrical Officer, Assistant Medical Officer, Assistant Surgical Officer, Clinical Clerkships, Surgeons' Dresserships, Dental Surgeon's Assistants, Pathological Assistants—open to all Matriculated Students without additional fee.

The fees for the entire Course of Lectures required by the Examining Boards amount to 91*l.* 7*s.*, including a fee of 2*l.* 2*s.* for Matriculation (which involves no examination), and they may be paid in five separate instalments. The first is payable on entrance, the second on the 1st of May following, and so on, the fifth instalment being due at the commencement of the third year.

Gentlemen can enter to any course of Lectures, or to Hospital Practice only.

The composition fee for Dental Surgery, including Matriculation, is 42*l.* 2*s.*, which can be paid in two instalments.

A Prospectus, containing much additional information, will be forwarded on application to the Dean.

LECTURERS AND TEACHERS.

Anatomy.—Mr. Bellamy, F.R.C.S.

THE MIDDLESEX HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL,

CHARLES STREET, BERNERS STREET, W.

This Hospital contains 305 beds, and there are special departments for diseases of women and children, the eye, the throat, and ear, the skin and the teeth, and a special department for the reception of patients suffering from cancer, which affords accommodation for 33 in-patients. They are admitted without letters of recommendation, and their period of residence in the Hospital is unlimited. Two Entrance Scholarships, value 25*l.* and 20*l.* respectively, are awarded annually at the beginning of the Winter Session, after an Examination in Classics, Mathematics, or Natural Science. The Broderip Scholarships, value 30*l.* and 20*l.*, are awarded annually to those Students who pass the most satisfactory examination at the bedside, and in the post-mortem room, and a prize, value 10*l.* 10*s.*, is given to the Candidate standing third in the competition. There is a Science Scholarship of the value of 50*l.* The Governors' Prize of 21*l.* is annually awarded to the most diligent Student throughout the entire curriculum. Class Prizes are also given, and there are valuable rewards in the form of nine Resident Appointments. The Tutor daily assists Students in their studies free of charge, thus rendering private teaching apart from the School unnecessary. The fee for the entire curriculum is 90*l.*, which may be paid by instalments. Gentlemen who have completed one year of study at one of the Universities may become perpetual pupils on payment of 55*l.*

Parents and guardians who propose sending pupils to the Hospital may obtain information from Mr. Andrew Clark, the Dean, or from the Resident Medical Officer, at the Hospital.

The Dean attends in the Board Room of the Hospital at one o'clock p.m. daily, from September 20th to October 14th, for the purpose of admitting Students and issuing tickets of admission to Hospital Practice and Lectures. It is most desirable that Students who propose to enter at the College for the Winter Session should do so on as early a day as possible, in order that they may register their names at the office of the Medical Council, 315

Oxford Street, W., and at the Royal College of Surgeons, before the expiration of the appointed time.

Some of the Lecturers receive Students as Resident Pupils ; for particulars, application should be made to the Dean.

During the past year 2,369 patients were admitted into the Wards of the Hospital. The number of out-patients during the same period amounted to 24,467.

Upwards of 500 Midwifery cases were attended under the superintendence of the Obstetric Physician during last year.

The Medical College attached to the Hospital provides the most complete means for the education of Students who are preparing for the examinations of the University of London, the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, and the Society of Apothecaries.

OFFICERS AND LECTURERS.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE HOSPITAL, GOWER STREET, W.C.

This Hospital was founded in 1828 as the University Dispensary, and intended to give "medical and surgical advice, and administer medicines gratuitously to poor persons suffering under disease of any description." It was in 1833 re-established as the North London Hospital. The Council of the University College, London, with the consent of the Proprietors, gave as their contribution a most eligible plot of ground, valued at 7,000*l.*, contiguous to the University. The first stone was laid by His Grace the Duke of Somerset on the 22nd May, 1833, and the Hospital was opened for the reception of patients on the 1st November, 1834, for the "Relief of poor sick and maimed persons, and the delivery of poor married women at their own habitations." It is a general hospital, and includes separate departments for diseases of women and of children; also for diseases of the skin, the eye, the ear, the throat, and the teeth. During the year 1877, upwards of 18,000 patients were relieved, 2,131 of which number were in-patients. The students at the Hospital go through a regular course of instruction, in the first instance, for two years at the University College; and to establish the connexion between the Hospital and the College, the Council of University College, of which practically the Hospital is the Medical School, gave it the name of the "North London or University College Hospital," by which title it is now known and called. The particulars of "University College" will be found in Part III.

Like many kindred Institutions, it is greatly in want of additional funds. By the melancholy death of Sir Francis Goldsmid in 1878, it lost one of its chief benefactors, for in addition to the legacy of 40,000*l.* to the College and 10,000*l.* to the Hospital, his annual subscriptions were more than the interest on that sum.

The President at a recent meeting stated that the College deserved support, not only on the same grounds as other charitable institutions, but because it was a great school, and its medical activity was very great. The average number of patients treated per bed at Hospitals in London is 9·2 per year per bed. At the University College Hospital it is 13·3, for 2,131 patients were passed through 160 beds. It was, therefore, the most costly Hospital, each bed costing over 70*l.* a year; while the average cost in other hospitals was about 60*l.* Its expense was therefore 15 per cent. above the average, but its activity was 30 per cent. above the average. While pupils were taught in it, they were not allowed to try their 'prentice hands on patients. It could not be said as of old—

"I had, O Symmachus, a simple pain.
You came, a hundred students in your train;
A hundred probing fingers pressed my brow.
I had no fever then; I have it now."

The pupils were not in the modern well-conducted Hospital allowed to probe, but only to alleviate suffering. The patients were grateful to them, and often knew not the name of the great physician who had directed their treatment, but only that of the house surgeon or house physician who had attended them. University College was the first Hospital in which promotion did not go by purchase. A dresser had to pay a large sum, and other officers had to pay 500*l.* or 1,000*l.* for apprenticeship. This Hospital first had la carrière ouverte aux talents. The establishment of that principle was most beneficent. Hospitals were to a certain extent on their trial now, a Royal Commission was even spoken of to inquire into their administration; and there was some foundation for such an inquiry. In matters of management, routine had set in in some hospitals; in matters of construction their own Hospital suffered from having been built in the pre-sanitary age. They wanted 4,000*l.* or 5,000*l.* to place it in such a position as to satisfy the sanitary requirements of the day. Money was also wanted for a convalescent institution. In 1876-77, 18,077 patients were relieved, 15,946 being out-patients.

The course of study is similar to that pursued at the other leading hospitals, and every Medical Student must be registered in the manner prescribed by the General Medical Council, and no Medical Student shall be registered until he has passed a preliminary examination as required by the General Medical Council. There are three Entrance Exhibitions of the respective values of 100*l.*, 60*l.*, and 40*l.* per annum, tenable for two years. There are two Scholarships, one of 45*l.* per annum, tenable for three years, and one of 70*l.* per annum; one prize of the value of 30*l.*, besides many other prizes and medals of less value.

COMPOSITION FEES FOR THE ENTIRE COURSE OF ATTENDANCE IN COLLEGE AND HOSPITAL

prescribed for the Licence of the College of Physicians, for the Diploma of the College of Surgeons, and for the Licence of the Society of Apothecaries:

125 guineas, if paid in one sum at the commencement of the course, or 130 guineas, if paid by instalments, as follows: First year, 60 guineas; second year, 50 guineas; third year, 20 guineas.

These fees admit to perpetual attendance upon Hospital Practice, and upon the Lectures in Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Surgery, Medicine, and Midwifery, and to three years' Practical Anatomy; to one Course each of Botany, Materia Medica, Practical Chemistry, Practical Physiology, Medical Jurisprudence, Pathological Anatomy, Practical Surgery, and Pharmacy.

All fees are paid at the Office of the College, where the Student receives his tickets, which must afterwards be signed by the respective Professors. Drafts to be drawn in favour of Mr. Harry Brown, Assistant Secretary and Accountant. The Office is open from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m., except on Saturdays, when it closes at 1 p.m., and during the Vacations, 11 a.m. till 3 p.m., and Saturdays 11 a.m. till 1 p.m.

At the beginning of each Session after the first, Perpetual Tickets must be brought to the Office to be renewed and redated for the purposes of registration.

SESSIONAL TICKETS may be exchanged for PERPETUAL TICKETS on payment of the difference of the fees, at any time before the end of the Session in which they are taken out; but this exchange cannot be made at any later date, except on payment of another Sessional Fee.

The Tickets called "PERPETUAL TICKETS," for Classes in the Faculty of Medicine, will not be renewed after the expiration of five years from the date of their issue, except (1) to Students who have obtained a Medical or Surgical qualification, or (2) with the approbation, in writing, of the Dean of the Faculty.

Students are recommended to apply to the Dean or the Vice-Dean for any information or advice that they may require regarding their studies.

WESTMINSTER HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL,

OPPOSITE WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

This Hospital, the first established in this country by voluntary subscriptions, was instituted in 1719, and incorporated by Act of Parliament in 1836. In 1834, the Medical School was established. Alterations are in progress, which will enlarge the resources of the Institution, and place it on a par in sanitary matters with the best constructed of the modern Hospitals. It will contain upwards of 200 beds. With its smaller resources the Hospital received, during the year 1876, 1817 in-patients and 19,968 out-patients—Total, 21,785.

The Hospital and Medical School afford the means of complete instruction in Medicine and Surgery and the sciences in relation therewith.

There are separate departments for Diseases of the Eye, Diseases of the Ear, Diseases of the Skin, Diseases of the Teeth, and Diseases peculiar to Women.

In addition to the practice of the Hospital, pupils who enter for the whole period of medical education are permitted to attend, without further fee, the practice of the Royal Westminster Ophthalmic Hospital, and that of the National Hospital for Paralysis.

Clinical Lectures are delivered weekly during the Winter and Summer Sessions by the Physicians and Surgeons. The Offices of House Physician and House Surgeon are open to competition amongst gentlemen who have been educated at the Hospital, and who are qualified to practise under the Medical Registration Act. The House Physician and House Surgeon and other officers are not only appointed without the payment of any fee, but they are provided with board and lodging in the Hospital, free of expense. Clinical Clerks and Dressers are selected from the most qualified Students, without any additional fee. The entire course of study (including Hospital Practice and Lectures) required by the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons and the Society of Apothecaries may be attended on payment of 94 guineas, in three instalments, or 80 guineas in one sum.

There are two Scholarships of the value of 50*l.* a year each, tenable for two years; two Entrance Scholarships, of the value of 10*l.* per annum each, tenable for two years; one Scholarship of the value of 20*l.*, and several prizes and exhibitions.

SUGGESTIONS TO STUDENTS.

Before commencing the period of Medical study it is necessary to pass a Preliminary Examination in Arts. The Examination most to be recommended is the Matriculation of the University of London, as it will enable the Student subsequently to present himself for a London Degree, should he desire to do so. Should circumstances deter the Student from offering himself for the matriculation, he will find an easier standard in one or other of the Preliminary Examinations for the Fellowship or Membership of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, or that of the Society of Apothecaries. Full information with regard to the dates and subjects of examination, or the list of examinations recognised by these bodies, may be obtained from the Secretary of the College of Surgeons, Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, or from the Beadle at Apothecaries' Hall, Bridge Street, Blackfriars.

As soon as the Preliminary Examination has been passed, it will be necessary for the Student to register at the Medical Council, 315, Oxford Street, as the commencement of the course of professional study recognised by any of the qualifying bodies will not be recognised as dating earlier than fifteen days before the time of registration.

The Preliminary Examination over, there are three ways of commencing Medical Education:—1. By attendance for one year on the practice of a Provincial Hospital or other public Institution recognised for this purpose. 2. As the pupil, for one year, of a legally qualified Surgeon, holding sufficient public appointments to afford such opportunities of practical instruction as shall be satisfactory to the authorities. 3. By entering at once at a recognised Medical School. In the two former cases it will be necessary, in order that it may be recognised by the College of Surgeons, to furnish a Certificate to the Secretary for registration at the College, from the Medical Superintendent of the Hospital or other institution to the practice of which the Student shall have entered, or from the practitioner whose pupil he shall have become. This Certificate must be accompanied by proof of having passed the necessary Preliminary Examination.

The minimum period of Medical study required is four years from the date of registration, of which time at least two years and a half must be passed at a recognised Medical School: but three years and a half are necessary to avoid entering upon the study of the practical subjects before the primary examinations have been passed. On entering for Lectures and Hospital Practice in London, it is necessary for Students to register their Cards of Admission within fifteen days from the commencement of the Session, both at the College of Surgeons and at Apothecaries' Hall.

The Examining Bodies require each Student to pass two examinations, one at the end of the second year of study, the other at the termination of the fourth year.

MEDICAL TUTORS.

Two Tutors have been appointed to afford additional assistance and guidance to the Students in their work, and will, with the assistance of the Demonstrator of Anatomy, hold senior and junior classes for the study of the various subjects. Each Student will be required to attend three hours' tutorial instruction in each week, for which advantage he will be required to pay to the Dean a fee of two guineas at the commencement of each Winter Session, and a fee of one guinea at the commencement of each Summer Session.

Students may compound for the Tutorial Classes by payment of five guineas in one sum.

RESIDENCE OF STUDENTS.

Parents and guardians are requested to communicate with the Dean before deciding upon the residence of Students. Some of the Lecturers take pupils to reside with them.

S. MARY'S HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL SCHOOL, CAMBRIDGE PLACE, PADDINGTON.

This Hospital is situated in one of the most pleasant and healthy districts of London, and its Medical School has been constructed with the most careful attention to convenience, ventilation, and sanitary requirements. It comprises very complete means of preparation for the Examining Boards of the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, the Society of Apothecaries, the University of London, the Public Services, and, what is of still greater importance, for the exigencies of private practice. The founders of this Hospital constantly held in view the importance of making it available as a means of teaching and treatment in Special as well as General Medical and Surgical diseases. Hence it offers to the Students every variety of practice.

The Hospital contains 165 beds, 76 of which are devoted to Medical, and 89 to Surgical cases. Two wards are appropriated to the Diseases of Children, and one to those of Women; beds are also provided for Ophthalmic cases. During the year relief was afforded to 2,046 in-patients, and 16,071 out-patients and casualties.

Special instruction is provided (by separate courses) in Minor Surgery and Bandaging, Ophthalmic and Dental Surgery, Comparative Anatomy, Histological and Pathological Anatomy, and Mental Diseases. The Clinical system is carefully organized in the general wards. There are also departments for Diseases of Women and Children, of the Eye and Ear, of the Skin and Throat. The scientific teaching is mainly demonstrative. All the resident medical appointments (including the House-Surgencies) are open to the pupils without expense of any kind, and are equivalent to five Scholarships of the annual value of 50*l*. The Resident Registrarship, of the value of 100*l*. a year, with board and lodging.

ROYAL FREE HOSPITAL, AND LONDON SCHOOL OF MEDICINE FOR WOMEN,

GRAY'S INN ROAD, W.C.

This Hospital was founded in 1828, in Greville Street, Hatton Garden, London, by W. Marsden, M.D.

Patron.—The Queen.

Vice-Patron.—H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

President.—His Grace the Duke of Buccleuch and Queensberry, K.G., and a Council of 30 Governors.

Trustees.—A. E. Marsden, Esq., M.D., and others.

Treasurer.—E. Masterman, Esq., 27, Clements Lane, E.C.

Chaplain.—Rev. R. Maguire, D.D.

Secretary.—J. S. Blyth, Esq.

The Annual General Court is held in February, at this hospital. Foreigners, strangers, and others in sickness or disease, having neither friends nor homes, are admitted as indoor patients to wards on their own application so far as the means of the charity will permit, and out-door patients, comprising all sick and diseased persons having no other means of obtaining relief, may attend every day at 2 o'clock to receive medical and surgical advice and medicine free. The average daily number in the wards is 90; about 1200 in-patients are admitted annually, and about 28,000 out-patients receive advice and medicine.

MEDICAL OFFICERS.

Consulting Surgeons.—T. H. Wakely, M.D.; A. E. Marsden, M.D.

Physicians.—Dr. O'Connor; Dr. Cockle.

Assistant Physician.—Dr. W. Allen Sturge.

Assistant Surgeon.—W. Harrison Cripps.

Dentist.—Haslar Harris.

House Surgeon.—R. Atkinson, F.R.C.S., B.A.

Pathol Demonstrator.—Dr. W. Allen Sturge.

LONDON SCHOOL OF MEDICINE FOR WOMEN,

30, HENRIETTA STREET, BRUNSWICK SQUARE, W.C.

This Institution was founded in 1874 in association with the Royal Free Hospital, Gray's Inn Road, referred to above.

EXAMINATION IN ARTS.—Ladies desiring to prepare for the Medical Profession must pass one of the Examinations in Arts recognized by the General Medical Council, such an examination being compulsory before registration as a Medical Student. Candidates for entrance must be 18 years old, and the form of application for admission is supplied by the Dean. The Winter Session commences in October, and Lectures are given on Anatomy, Chemistry, Physiology, Practice of Medicine, Practice of Surgery, and a Course of Practical Anatomy with Demonstrations. Lectures on Clinical Medicine and Clinical Surgery at the Royal Free

Hospital, where daily Clinical Instruction is given to students. The Summer Session commences the first week in May. Lectures on Practical Chemistry, Pathology, Midwifery, Diseases of Women, and demonstrations on Minor Surgery and Auscultation.

Compounders' fee for the ordinary curriculum of non-Clinical Lectures is £80, if paid in one sum, or if paid in instalments, £40 for the 1st year, £30 for the 2nd year, and £15 for the 3rd year. In this fee are included two courses each of Anatomy, Practical Anatomy, Practice of Medicine and Physiology, and one course each of Chemistry, Practical Chemistry, Practical Physiology, Materia Medica, Surgery, Pathology, Midwifery, and Forensic Medicine.

Any student having paid the compounding fee is, on the further payment of £6 6s., entitled to attend at pleasure additional courses of classes to those mentioned above.

SEPARATE CLASSES.—The fee for separate courses of non-Clinical Lectures is £8 8s. for each subject in the Winter course, and £5 5s. for each in the Summer course.

Students not holding a perpetual ticket, and who have attended regularly, can repeat any course on payment of £2 2s. for each course. Materials for practical classes are charged according to a fixed scale. The fee for each course of twelve Lectures on Mental Pathology, Ophthalmic Surgery, and Hygiene is £2 2s.

The Hospital fee, including Annual Courses of Lectures on Clinical Medicine, on Clinical Surgery, Demonstrations on Minor Surgery, and Auscultation Tutorial Classes, £45, if paid in one sum, or if paid in instalments, £20 for 1st year and £15 for each of the 2nd and 3rd years. No student is admitted to the Hospital for less than one year. Class Examinations are held in each class in ordinary Curriculum, and attendance upon these examinations is required from all Students. Every Student is required to attend not less than two-thirds of the Lectures.

Preparation for the Medical Profession occupies at least four years, during three years of which Students must attend Lectures at the School. The fourth year should be employed in Hospital Work and in Practical Midwifery, Practical Pharmacy, and Vaccination, the fees for which are paid to the respective Institutions at which these subjects are studied. The Universities of London, the Royal University of Ireland, and Victoria University, have placed this School on the list of recognised Institutions from which certificates of medical education will be received.

Ladies not desiring to study medicine with a view to practice, may by permission of the Council attend classes on payment of the fees without passing the Examination in Arts, but will not receive certificates of attendance. Information as to residence for Students in the neighbourhood of the School will be given by the Hon. Secretary. There is one Entrance Scholarship of £30.

LECTURERS AT THE SCHOOL.

Anatomy.—Mr. Wottley, M.B., B.S.; Mr. A. Leaky.

Physiology.—Mr. E. A. Schafer.

Chemistry.—Mr. C. W. Heaton, F.C.S.

Botany.—Dr. P. H. Stokoe.

Materia Medica.—Dr. T. J. MacLagan.

Practice of Medicine.—Dr. H. Donkin; Mrs. Garrett Anderson, M.D.

Midwifery and Diseases of Women.—Dr. Ford Anderson ; Dr. Louisa Atkins, L.K.Q.C.P.I.

Forensic Medicine.—Dr. Dupre, F.C.S., F.R.S. ; M. T. Bond, F.R.C.S.

Practice of Surgery.—Mr. A. T. Norton.

Pathology.—D. Allan Sturge. Comparative Anatomy.—Dr. Murie.

Hygiene.—Dr. Sophia Jex-Blake, L.K.Q.C.P.I. ; Dr. Edith Pechey, L.K.Q.C.P.I.

Mental Pathology.—Dr. Sankey.

Ophthalmic Surgery.—Mr. James Adams, F.R.C.S.

LECTURERS AT THE ROYAL FREE HOSPITAL.

Clinical Medicine.—Dr. E. Buchanan Baxter ; Dr. Cockle, F.R.C.P.

Clinical Surgery.—Mr. Gant, F.R.C.S. ; Mr. W. Rose, F.R.C.S.

Dean of the School.—Mr. A. T. Norton, F.R.C.S., St. Mary's Hospital.

Hon. Secretary.—Mrs. Thorne. Assistant Secretary.—Miss Heaton.

THE LONDON HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL COLLEGE, MILE END, E.

The establishment of this Hospital dates from the year 1740, when a few benevolent persons (the foremost of whom was Mr. John Harrison, the first Surgeon to the Charity) opened a small Infirmary in Featherstone Street. This locality was speedily changed for Prescott Street, Goodman's Fields, and the need for additional accommodation soon becoming apparent, a portion of the present building was opened in 1757. Not long afterwards the Governors were incorporated by Royal Charter. The West Wing was opened in 1831 ; the East Wing in 1842 ; the Alexandra Wing in 1866 ; and the Grocers' Company's Wing in March, 1876.

The progress of the Hospital as a house of refuge for the sick poor may be gathered from the fact that while in the first eighteen months of its existence it received only 127 in-patients and 2,188 out-patients, in 1880 a total of 6,313 in-patients and a total of 55,767 out-patients were admitted.

The position of the London Hospital in the neighbourhood of docks, factories, and workshops, renders it, probably, one of the largest Accident Hospitals in the world. During 1880 the total of accident cases was 10,964, of which 2,165 were admitted into the wards.

The daily average attendance of patients in 1880 was 550, and as many as 611 have been at one time resident in the Home.

The London Hospital contains about 800 beds, varying in appropriation according to circumstances.

It stands out prominently as one of the most active Hospitals in the capital in the onward movement of Medical Education.

The entry of the first Student took place in January, 1742, and annually from that time pupils were admitted to attend the practice of the Physicians and Surgeons. So early as 1749 Mr. Harrison obtained the permission of the House Committee to deliver a course of lectures on Surgery in the Court Room of the Hospital, and in 1755 a similar permission was granted to Mr. Thompson, another surgeon to the Institution. It is now more than a hundred years ago since Mr. Thompson performed at the Hospital the first amputation at the hip ever done in this country.

In August, 1781, Sir William Blizard (to quote a Minute of the House Committee) obtained permission to deliver two courses of lectures on Anatomy and Surgery during the next winter in the demonstrating theatre of this Hospital; at the same time, to obviate any reflections that may arise from the feelings of some persons, he engaged not to use (the remains of) any of the patients of the Hospital. Thus almost from the foundation of the Hospital Anatomical Demonstrations and Courses of Lectures had been continued, but it had now become necessary to make more comprehensive arrangements for Medical Education. Owing to the absence of practical opportunities of studying Anatomy and Surgery at the English Universities, as well as to the customs of the times, Students purposing to practise as Surgeons were virtually excluded from the benefit of University education.

The London Hospital therefore enjoys the credit of having in 1785 set the first example of a complete Medical School in connexion with a Hospital upon the model of the Medical Faculty of an University. Moreover, the printed prospectus of the London Hospital Medical College for 1792 shows that in addition to the Courses of Lectures on the usual subjects of Medical Education, a Course of Lectures on Clinical Medicine was at that time given in the School. Subsequently, Clinical Lectures were discontinued, but they were successfully resumed by Dr. Billing in 1823. The building at the east end of the Hospital continued in use until 1854, when the present Medical College was inaugurated.

The Medical College stands apart from the Hospital, but in the Hospital grounds. It consists of two large Lecture Theatres, three Museums, a Reading-Room, Library, and a Large Chemical Laboratory, Dissection Rooms, Rooms for the Lecturers, Curators, Students, &c. During the year 1867, the House Committee liberally expended a considerable sum in improving the Museum; but the need for additional accommodation having been for some time apparent, a proposition was made that a wing should be added to the Medical College for the purpose of providing a good Reading-Room for the Students, in addition to the Library in the Hospital; increased space for Museum specimens, which are rapidly accumulating; a gallery of illustration of Skin Diseases in Models and Drawing, and a collection of Anatomical Models and Preparations, and in 1871 and again in 1880 larger additions have been made.

There are nine Scholarships, besides Exhibitions and Prizes, which are competed for during the Winter and Summer Sessions; one of 60*l.*, one of 40*l.*, one of 35*l.*, one of 30*l.*, and six of 20*l.* each, besides prizes, &c., of the value of 10*l.* and 5*l.*

The Medical School of the London Hospital is under the direction of a College Board.

The Executive authority is committed to a Warden, who is also Secretary of the Council Board.

Special attention will be paid to the preparation of Students for their Examinations at the College of Physicians, the College of Surgeons, the Apothecaries' Hall, and the University of London.

The Educational System is comprehensive. All the Special Branches of Medicine and Surgery are separately taught, the Special Departments for Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Skin, &c., affording abundant material for observation and Clinical Instruction. The latest addition to the School Buildings is the London Hospital Club, opened in January 1882.

ADVICE TO STUDENTS.

Students who are able to do so are strongly advised to choose for their Preliminary Examination in Arts the Matriculation Examination of the University of London. They will thus have the option of proceeding subsequently to the Medical Degrees and Honours of the University, which are generally admitted to be of a superior character.

S. GEORGE'S HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL, GROSVENOR PLACE, LONDON, W.,

Provides every facility for the education of Students, and for their preparation for the various Examining Boards.

In addition to the ordinary curriculum, separate courses of Lectures and Demonstrations are given on Ophthalmic, Aural, and Dental Surgery, Psychological Medicine, Diseases of the Skin, Diseases of the Throat, and on Orthopædic Surgery, by members of the staff who devote their attention to these branches of practice.

A course of Lectures on Comparative Anatomy is also given to meet the requirements of the Universities, and the Fellowship Examination at the College of Surgeons.

The Hospital contains 351 beds, of which 205 are devoted to the reception of Surgical, and 146 to Medical Cases.

Wards are especially set apart for the reception of cases of Diseases of the Eye, and Diseases peculiar to Women. In all the women's wards cribs are placed for the reception of children.

All the Medical Appointments, including those of House Physician, House Surgeon, Clinical Clerks and Dressers, are open to the Pupils of the Hospital, without additional fee or expense of any kind. These Offices are awarded after Examination.

The following paid Offices are awarded yearly upon the recommendation of the Medical School Committee—viz., Obstetric Assistant, with a salary of 100*l.* and board and residence; Curator of the Museum, Medical Registrar, Surgical Registrar, and Demonstrator of Anatomy, with a salary of 50*l.* each.

A Library, Reading, Newspaper, and Dining Rooms are included in the School Buildings, and Students can there obtain all their meals at fixed and moderate charges.

INFORMATION AS TO THE COURSE OF STUDY NECESSARY FOR ENTERING THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

All gentlemen who intend to obtain the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians of London, the Diploma of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, or the Licence of the Society of Apothecaries, before commencing their attendance upon Hospital practice or lectures, must either possess a certificate in Arts granted by one of the bodies whose certificates are recognised by the General Medical Council, or else must undergo a Preliminary Examination in Arts at the Society of Apothecaries.

The dates of the Examinations in Arts, together with the subjects of Examination at the Society of Apothecaries, may be had by applying to the Beadle in Bridge Street, Blackfriars.

All Students who have passed their Preliminary Examination in Arts, or have obtained a certificate from one of the recognised bodies, must, after entering the School, register their names at the office of the Medical Council, 299, Oxford Street, together with the name of the Medical School they have joined.

Forms for Registration may be obtained from the Dean, or by personal application at 299, Oxford Street.

After this registration a Student may at once commence his course of professional education. His studies will have to be pursued for four years from that date before he can present himself for final Examination and obtain his licence to practice.

The period during which he must attend the Medical and Surgical Practice of some recognised Hospital, and the courses of Lectures, attendance upon which is required, vary according to the licences or diplomas for which he is a candidate; but this information can at once be obtained by inquiry of the Dean of the School, or any of the Hospital authorities.

All Students are strongly advised to use every effort to obtain the junior appointments offered them, and especially those of House Physician and House Surgeon. These appointments are now open to every Perpetual Student of the Hospital without payment, and being held for twelve months offer an opportunity for obtaining practical professional knowledge, the value of which it is impossible to estimate too highly.

FEES FOR LECTURES AND HOSPITAL PRACTICE.

Perpetual Pupils' Fee, 130*l.*; payable in the following instalments, viz.:

First year, 45*l.*; second year, 45*l.*; third year, 40*l.*; provided that previously to this last payment the conduct and progress of the student has been satisfactory to the Medical School Committee. Or, one payment of 125*l.* at entrance.

Gentlemen who have commenced their Professional Education at any of the English Universities, and have there completed a year, or two Sessions of their studies and Hospital practice, will be allowed a reduction of 40*l.* from their fee as Perpetual Pupils. Others will be admitted to the same privileges on payment of a reduced fee calculated on the proportion of Lectures and Hospital practice from which they can claim exemption by producing certificates which will be accepted by the Licensing Bodies.

The extra charges not included in the above Fees are:—

ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, GREAT COLLEGE STREET, CAMDEN TOWN, N.W.

Patron.

Her Majesty the Queen.

President.

Field-Marshal His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, K.G., &c., with 10 Vice-Presidents, 3 Trustees, and 50 Governors and Members of the Council.

This College was founded in 1791, and was incorporated in 1875. It is situate in Great College Street, Camden Town, London.

The Scholastic Department of this Institution has been greatly increased, a Pharmaceutical Laboratory, Professors' Dissecting Room, Students' Reading Room, and Class Rooms specially arranged for Histological investigations, the study of Morbid Anatomy and Pathology, having been added to the former buildings.

The Infirmary has also been almost entirely rebuilt. It now contains ample accommodation for upwards of 100 Horses, besides Cattle, Sheep, Dogs, and other animals. It is fitted up with large and airy Loose-boxes and Stalls; Hot, Cold, Douche, and Vapour Baths; Operating Rooms, Covered Exercising Ground, Reception Yard for out-patients, &c. Three of the new rooms are specially set apart as an Infirmary for Dogs.

The Infirmary and General Practice of the College is conducted by Professors Robertson and Axe, assisted by Mr. Pemberthy.

An Assisting Hospital Surgeon and Dispenser—selected from among the pupils of the Institution who have recently obtained the Diploma of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, and who as Students had distinguished themselves by their uniform good conduct or as prizemen—is appointed from time to time to act under the Principal or other Professor.

Monitors, Clinical Clerks, and Dressers, are periodically selected from among the Students.

1. Candidates for admission as Students will be admitted, without a Matriculation Examination, on the production of a Certificate of having passed within the last four years one of the following Examinations:—

- (a) An Examination for Matriculation or any higher Examination at a University in the United Kingdom, or at a Colonial or Foreign University recognized by the Governing Body of the College.
- (b) An Examination recognized by the General Medical Council as exempting Candidates from the Preliminary Literary Examinations of the various Medical Corporations.
- (c) An Examination for Matriculation at any Veterinary College or School affiliated with the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, or with any Foreign or Colonial School recognized or to be recognized by the Governing Body of the Royal Veterinary College.
- (d) An Examination held by the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain.
- (e) An Examination held by the Committee of Council on Education for Government Certificates.
- (f) One of the "Local Examinations" held by the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland.
- (g) One of the Examinations for Certificates held by the College of Preceptors.

THE QUEEN'S COLLEGE,

BIRMINGHAM.

FACULTY OF MEDICINE.

This College was founded in 1828, and incorporated by special Act of Parliament in 1867.

Students may enter—(1.) for their entire Medical Education; (2.) for one or more courses of Lectures; (3.) to prepare for the Preliminary Scientific and other similar Examinations; (4) the Junior Department to prepare for the Preliminary Examination required by the Licensing Boards before entry into the Medical Department. Each Student on entering will be required to subscribe a declaration that he will conform to the regulations of the College.

The University of London holds two Annual Matriculation Examinations within the walls of the College, in the months of January and June, for Students residing in Birmingham or the neighbourhood. The Local Fee for these is 2*l*.

The Academical Year consists of two Sessions, viz., the Winter Session, from October 1 to March 31, and the Summer Session, from May 1 to July 31.

Connected with the College are Museums of Anatomy and Pathology, under the superintendence of a Curator, and a Library containing upwards of 2,000 volumes, which are open to the Students free of charge.

The Demonstrators of Anatomy and the Medical Tutor attend daily in the Dissecting Room to assist the Students.

The Medical Tutor holds Classes for Junior Students throughout the Winter and Summer Sessions.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES.

THE SANDS COX PRIZE is a Prize of the value of 20*l*. This Prize is open to Students who have completed their curriculum, and is awarded after Examination in Medicine, Surgery, and Midwifery.

THE WARDEN'S PRIZE, of the value of 3*l*. 3*s*., is offered by the Rev. W. H. POULTON to the most proficient Student of the first year.

INGLEBY SCHOLARSHIPS.—Two Ingleby Scholarships. These Scholarships are open to Students who have completed the first two years of their curriculum.

CLASS PRIZES.—Medals and Certificates of Honour are awarded annually in each class after examination.

UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS, ETC.—Students of Queen's College are qualified to compete for all Scholarships, Gold Medals, and other Prizes offered by the University of London, the Royal College of Surgeons, and the Apothecaries' Society.

COLLEGE FEES.

A Composition Fee of Fifty Guineas is received, which affords to the Student courses of Lectures for the University of London, Royal College of Physicians, Royal College of Surgeons, and Apothecaries' Society. Should any Student fail to attend any course with sufficient regularity, he will have to attend again, and, unless from illness or other cause deemed satisfactory by the Professors, to pay the fee for that course beyond what he has already paid as Composition. This Composition fee may be paid half at the beginning of the first year, and the other half at the commencement of second year.

Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine including Pathology, Surgery including Pathology : 5*l*. 5*s*. for each course.—Demonstrations and Dissections, Chemistry, Midwifery : 4*l*. 4*s*. for each course.—Materia Medica, Medical Jurisprudence, Botany, Practical Chemistry : 3*l*. 3*s*. for each course.

The following courses are not included in the Composition Fee :—

Ophthalmic Medicine and Surgery, Dental Surgery, Comparative Anatomy : 3*l*. 3*s*. for each course.

PRELIMINARY SCIENTIFIC, B.Sc., AND OTHER EXAMINATIONS. FEES.

Chemistry and Natural Philosophy, Botany, Structural. Physiological, and Systematic, Zoology and Comparative Anatomy, Mechanical Philosophy : 10*l*. 1*s*. for the four courses, payable on entry. For each Class singly, 3*l*. 3*s*. ditto.

Every Student on entrance will have to deposit 2*l*. as "Caution Money," which will be returned, less such deductions as may be ordered by the Warden, when the Student has passed his final examination at one of the examining boards. He will also have to pay a Fee of 1*l*. 1*s*. to the Library Fund. All Fees are to be paid to the Warden, and no Student will be registered unless he produce the Warden's receipt.

The above refers exclusively to the College Fees.

HOSPITAL FEES.

Fees for attendance for 4 years (the period required by the University of London and the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, etc.) on the Medical and Surgical Practice and on the Clinical Lectures at both Hospitals, 3*l*. 10*s*.

N.B.—This payment may be made in two equal sums, the first on entrance, the second at the commencement of the second year.

One year's attendance: 15*l*. 15*s*. Six months' attendance: 10*l*. 10*s*. Special Department for Midwifery and Diseases of Women (optional): 2*l*. 2*s*. Dental fee (optional): 1*l*. 1*s*.

MEDICAL SCHOOL, BRISTOL.

In Association with the University College, Bristol (Old Park).

The Medical School will henceforth be conducted as a Department of the newly established University College, Bristol, and commodious buildings are about to be erected for the College in Tyndall's Park. Until these are completed, the Medical School will continue to occupy the premises in the Old Park.

Certificates of attendance upon the Lectures of this School, and on the Practice of the Royal Infirmary and General Hospital, are received by the University of London, the Royal College of Physicians, the Royal College of Surgeons of England, the Apothecaries' Society, the East India Medical Board, and the Army and Navy Boards.

By order of the Medical Council, all Students are required to have passed an examination in General Literature before the commencement of registered attendance on Lectures and Hospital Practice.

FEES.

An Entrance Fee of Five Guineas to the Infirmary, and Subscription of One Guinea per annum to the Library.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN IRELAND, ST. STEPHEN'S GREEN, DUBLIN.

This College was founded 100 years ago. It was originally started in a modest building in one of the back streets in Dublin; gaining reputation and funds by the high standard of its examinations, and by the prudent administration of its income. It eventually moved to its present site, where a college has been erected which is one of the handsomest buildings in Dublin; and within the past 18 months the college has actually expended out of its reserve 10,000*l.* in still further extending its library (now the largest medical library in the United Kingdom) and its museums. Regulated very similarly to that in London, but possesses a School of Surgery, where Lectures are given upon all the subjects of professional study, and practical instruction is provided in Operative Surgery. The Summer Session commences in April, and the Winter Session in October.

The Fee for each Course of Lectures is Three Guineas, excepting Descriptive Anatomy, which is Eight Guineas, Practical Chemistry, which is Five Guineas, and Ophthalmic and Aural Surgery and Hygiene, which are free.

A Composition Fee of 5*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* is taken as payment in full for all Lectures and Dissections required for the Diploma in Surgery.

A Junior Exhibition of 15*l.*, a Senior Exhibition of 25*l.*, and Honorary Certificates will be awarded at the end of each Winter Session.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS OF EDINBURGH, AND THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF EDINBURGH.

These Colleges, while they still continue to give their Diplomas separately, under separate regulations, have made arrangements by which, after one series of Examinations, the Student may obtain the Diplomas of both Colleges.

The general principle of this Joint Examination is, that it shall be conducted by a Board, in which each Body is represented in those branches which are common to both Medicine and Surgery; but that the College of Physicians shall take exclusive charge of the Examination in Medicine, and the College of Surgeons of the Examination in Surgery.

The object of the Joint Examination is to give to Students facilities for obtaining from two separate Bodies, and at less expense, a Qualification in Medicine and a Qualification in Surgery. Students passing that Examination successfully will be enabled to register two Qualifications under the Medical Act,—Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, and Licentiate of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh.

The arrangement for thus conferring a Double Qualification by the co-operation of the two Colleges is in conformity with Section XIX. of the Medical Act, and received the special sanction of the General Council of Medical Education and Registration, at a meeting held on the 7th of August, 1859.

The attention of Medical Students is particularly directed to the fact, that it is required by the regulations issued by the General Medical Council, that after 16th September, 1866, every Medical Student shall have passed the complete Examination in General Education before he can be placed on the Register of Medical Students established by the Council; and that no one can be admitted to his final examination, or can be placed on the Register of Medical Practitioners in virtue of any qualification in Medicine or Surgery, until a period of four years has elapsed from the date of his registration as a Medical Student.

REGULATIONS.

Every Candidate must have followed his course of study in a University; or in an Established School of Medicine; or in a Provincial School specially recognized by the Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons of that division of the United Kingdom in which it is situate.

All Students who intend becoming Candidates for the Diplomas of the Colleges must have passed the complete Examination in General Education, and have had their names inscribed in the Register of Medical Students instituted by the General Medical Council,—at the commencement of their professional studies.

The subjects of the Preliminary Examination in General Education shall be as follows, namely :—

1. English Language, including Grammar and Composition.
2. Arithmetic, including Vulgar and Decimal Fractions.
3. Algebra, including Simple Equations.
4. Geometry.—First two Books of Euclid.
5. Latin; Horatii Carmina, Book I., Sallustii Jugurtha.
6. One of the following subjects at the option of the Candidate :—(1) Greek. (2) French. (3) German. (4) Natural Philosophy, including Mechanics, Hydrostatics, and Pneumatics.

N.B.—In Latin, Greek, French, and German, parsing the words from the passages given to be translated will be required ; also, translation of short sentences from English into the respective languages.

Prospectuses containing more specific information as to the subjects of examination in general education may be had on application to the officer of either College.

PROFESSIONAL EXAMINATIONS.

Candidates for the Double Qualification shall be subjected to two Professional Examinations, to be conducted at separate times, partly in writing and partly orally.

The First Examination shall embrace Anatomy, Physiology, and Chemistry ; and shall take place not sooner than the end of the second Winter Session.

The Second Examination shall embrace Medicine, Surgery, and Surgical Anatomy, Midwifery, Pathological Anatomy, Materia Medica and Pharmacy, and Medical Jurisprudence ; and shall not take place before the termination of the Winter Session of the last year of study. In the case of Candidates who began their course of study after 16th September, 1866, it will not take place till four years after the Examination on General Education.

EDINBURGH ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS.

Licences and diplomas after examination are conferred upon Candidates who have completed 21 years of age, who produce evidence of their having been engaged in the study of Medicine during at least four years, and of their having attended courses of lectures and a two years' practice at a public hospital containing no fewer than 80 beds. There are three examinations—one in Literature and Science, and two in Professional subjects. No Candidate will be admitted to the first Professional Examination until he has completed two, or to the second until he has completed four years of professional study. Candidates for the Licence of the College, who already possess a qualification from a recognised Licensing Body, or who have passed the first Professional Examination before a Qualifying Body (provided it be as extensive as that required by this College), will be at once admitted to the second part of the Examination. Meetings for the examination of Candidates who already possess a qualification from a recognised Licensing Body will be held on the first Wednesday of every month (with the exception of September and October), and, if necessary, on the following days. Candidates are required to communicate with the Secretary to the College not less than eight days before the date of the Examination at which they propose to appear. The fee payable on the granting a Licentiate'ship is 15 guineas.

Hon. Secretary and Treasurer.—Joseph Bell, F.R.C.S., 20, Melville Street, Edinburgh.

EDINBURGH MEDICAL SCHOOL.

This School of Medicine was founded in 1505, and the Courses of Lectures qualify for the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons of Edinburgh, London, and Dublin, and the other Medical and Public Boards, the University of Edinburgh and other Universities. The minimum cost of the education in this school for the double qualification of Physician and Surgeon from the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, including the fees for the joint-examination, is 95*l.*, which is payable by yearly instalments during the period of study ; whilst the minimum cost for the single qualification of either Physician or Surgeon, including fee for Examination, is 80*l.*

Secretary.—Stevenson Macadam, M.D., Surgeons' Hall, Edinburgh.FACULTY OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS OF GLASGOW,

VINCENT ST., GLASGOW.

I. THE DIPLOMA OF THE FACULTY.

Candidates for the licence must have been engaged in professional study during four years from the date of registration, and in actual attendance at a University or School of Medicine recognised by the Faculty, during not less than four Winter Sessions, or three Winter and two Summer Sessions, and must have completed the following curriculum, viz. : Anatomy, two six months' courses ; Practical Anatomy, twelve months ; Chemistry, Physiology, Medicine, Surgery, Clinical Medicine, and Clinical Surgery, each one course of six months. Another six months' course of Surgery, or Clinical Surgery, at the option of the Candidate ; Practical Chemistry, Medical Jurisprudence, Midwifery, and Materia Medica, each one course of three months ; instruction in Pathological Anatomy and Practical Pharmacy, each three months ; Hospital Practice, twenty-four months. The Candidate must also produce certificates of proficiency in Vaccination, and of having attended at least six cases of Labour.

The first Examination embraces Anatomy, Chemistry, and Physiology, and cannot be undergone before the end of the Second Winter Session of study. Fee, 6*l.* 6*s.* The second Examination embraces the remaining subjects of the curriculum, and cannot be undergone before the termination of the full period of study. Fee, 9*l.* 9*s.*

The Examinations will be held at four periods every year ; the precise dates may be learned on application to the Secretary. A Candidate, on showing a sufficient reason for it, may be admitted to Examination on a day specially arranged, by paying an extra fee of 5*l.* Candidates who have passed the Examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Chemistry, before any of the Licensing Bodies enumerated in Schedule A of the Medical Act, are exempt from the First Professional Examination.

II. THE DOUBLE QUALIFICATION.

The Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow and the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh also grant their diplomas conjointly after examination before a Board of Examiners, in which each body is represented; the object being to give to Students facilities for obtaining from two separate Bodies, and at a less expense, a Double Qualification in Medicine and Surgery. The curriculum of study embraces a course of Medicine in addition to the subjects required for the Diploma of the Faculty. The Fees for the first and second Examinations, respectively, are 8*l.* 8*s.* and 12*l.* 12*s.* The dates of the quarterly periods of Examination may be learned on application to the Secretary of the Faculty.

Copies of the Regulations for the Single and the Double Qualifications, of which the above is an abstract, and of the lists of subjects for the Preliminary Examinations of the Faculty, may be had on application.

President.—Dr. Robert Scott Orr.

Visitor.—Dr. R. Perry.

Secretary.—Alexander Duncan, B.A.

GLASGOW ROYAL INFIRMARY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

Empowered by Royal Charter.

Fees :—First Course, 2*l.* 2*s.*; Second and Perpetual, 1*l.* 1*s.*; Practical Physiology, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*; Anatomy (including Anatomical Demonstrations and Practical Anatomy), First Session, 4*l.* 4*s.*; Second Session, 4*l.* 4*s.*; afterwards, 1*l.* 1*s.* per Session. Summer Course of Practical Anatomy with Demonstrations, 1*l.* 1*s.*

Of the curriculum of four years of study required for Medical graduation in the University of Glasgow, two years may be taken at the Royal Infirmary Medical School. During these two years the Students may attend any four of the departments of Medical study required by the University, and in addition, six winter months' Hospital practice and a course of Practical Anatomy. (The Hospital practice and Practical Anatomy must be taken during the same Winter Session.) Besides the above, attendance on the Hospital practice and on the Clinical Lectures is recognised by the University without any restriction. Most of the Lecturers being recognised by the University of Edinburgh, Students may study at this School under conditions nearly similar to those laid down for the University of Glasgow. The fee for any class taken for graduation in Glasgow must be the same as that for the corresponding class in the University.

ROYAL INFIRMARY.

The Hospital contains 570 beds, which are all available for the purposes of Clinical Instruction. About 400 operations are performed annually.

Appointments.

There are five Physicians and five Surgeons' Assistants who reside in the Hospital. The fee for these appointments is 25*l.* per annum, and they are open to Students who have passed all their examinations except the last. They are held for twelve months, six of which are to be passed in the Medical and six in the Surgical Wards, or the whole period can be passed in one department. Clinical Assistants, Dressers, Dispensary Clerks, and Assistants to the Pathologist, are selected from the Students without any payment. These appointments are very numerous and of great value to the Students, owing to the large number of patients annually treated in the Hospital.

Fees for Hospital Practice and Clinical Instruction.

MANCHESTER ROYAL INFIRMARY. MANCHESTER.

The Manchester Royal Infirmary was originally founded in 1752, but the present buildings are of much later date. The stone front was erected in 1831, the south wing in 1848, and the north wing, otherwise called the "Jenny Lind Wing," was completed in 1851. The dome and clock were added in 1854. In recent years the institution has been greatly extended by the establishment of the Lunatic Hospital at Cheadle, of the Barnes Convalescent Home, and of the Monsall Fever Hospital.

The Royal Lunatic Hospital at Cheadle was erected in 1848, at an expense of £25,000, and, with the subsequent additions, now accommodates 150 patients.

The Barnes Convalescent Home at Cheadle, which was erected chiefly by the munificence of the late Mr. Robert Barnes, provides accommodation for 124 beds.

Fever and small pox cases were transferred in 1871 to the Fever Hospital at Monsall, which contains 130 beds, and is situated in the outskirts of the city.

All these establishments are under the same Board of Management as the Royal Infirmary, and are served by the same medical staff.

The Infirmary also embraces a Nurse-training institution, consisting of a staff of about 80 skilled nurses, who are available not only for the service of the Infirmary, but also for the use of private patients in Manchester and the surrounding districts.

The Infirmary itself contains 315 beds. The annual average number of Out and Home patients is over 16,000, and the list of casualties in the Accident-room exceeds 6,000 per annum. The associated Hospitals (exclusive of the Lunatic Asylum) contain together 570 beds.

THE WOLVERHAMPTON AND STAFFORDSHIRE GENERAL HOSPITAL.

A CLINICAL AND TRAINING INSTITUTION FOR GENTLEMEN INTENDED FOR THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

Founded 1848. Beds 210. This Hospital contains large Male and Female Accident Wards; Wards for cases of burns; General Medical and Surgical Wards; a Ward for Diseases peculiar to Women; a Children's Ward, and a detached Fever Wing; also a commodious semi-detached Out-patient Department. The General Wards have Clinical rooms attached, in which the analysis and the microscopic inspection of the Urine are conducted, also Ophthalmoscopic and Laryngoscopic examinations.

This Hospital is an excellent institution for preparing and training gentlemen intended for the Medical Profession, and it offers to them unsurpassed opportunities of acquiring a complete professional groundwork, and an elementary knowledge of medical subjects previously to their entering at a Medical College.

Instruction can be obtained in Chemistry, in Natural Philosophy, and in the Anatomy of the Dry Bones, Ligaments, Viscera, and in Topographical Anatomy.

The course of Practical Surgery includes the use of Surgical Apparatus, the performance of Surgical Operations, and the demonstration of Morbid Surgical Anatomy.

In the Hospital the Pupils are required to attend daily in the Casualty Room, in the Out-patient Department, and in the Wards, the instruction afforded being of the most practical nature, including Bandaging, the application of Splints, Tooth-drawing, and every kind of elementary professional detail ; likewise how to observe and examine patients.

The art of Dispensing, the preparation of Drugs, and of Pharmaceutical Compounds can be learnt in the Hospital Dispensary and Laboratory.

Operations are performed on Thursday at eleven o'clock, and practitioners are welcome. The practice of the Hospital is recognised by all the Examining Boards.

Fees for Hospital Practice.

Six Months, Six Guineas ; One Year, Ten Guineas ; Perpetual, Twenty Guineas.

Some members of the Honorary Staff receive Resident Pupils.

For further particulars apply to Mr. Vincent Jackson (Honorary Secretary of the Medical Committee), 46, Darlington Street, Wolverhampton.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE,

S. JAMES'S ROW, SHEFFIELD.

This school was founded in 1827. The table of fees, including demonstrations, are—Physiology: 1st Course, 3*l.* 3*s.* ; 2nd Course, 2*l.* 2*s.* Anatomy: 1st Course, 4*l.* 4*s.* ; 2nd Course, 2*l.* 2*s.* Practice of Medicine: 1st Course, 4*l.* 4*s.* ; 2nd Course, 2*l.* 2*s.* Practice of Surgery: 4*l.* 4*s.* Chemistry: 4*l.* 4*s.* Midwifery and Diseases of Women: 3*l.* 3*s.* Materia Medica: 3*l.* 3*s.* Medical Jurisprudence: 3*l.* 3*s.* Botany: 3*l.* 3*s.* Practical Chemistry: 3*l.* 3*s.* Practical Physiology: 3*l.* 3*s.* Practical Surgery: 3*l.* 3*s.*

Perpetual Fee for attendance on all the Lectures required by the Royal College of Surgeons and the Apothecaries' Hall, 42*l.*

Some of the Lecturers, and other Members of the Profession in the town and neighbourhood receive House Pupils, who thus obtain facilities for completing their Medical studies.

The Library at the Medical School is open to Students, under certain regulations.

Prizes and Certificates of Honour are given annually.

The names of all Students must be registered within fifteen days after the commencement of each Session ; and no Student commencing Professional studies at a Medical School can be registered who has not passed an Examination in Arts.

In compliance with a request from the General Medical Council of Education, the Court of Examiners of the Society of Apothecaries of London require that in future all Pupils applying for their Certificate of Qualification to practise, shall be instructed and furnished with Certificates of Proficiency in Vaccination by gentlemen holding appointments, in conformity with the Regulations of the Local Government Board, Whitehall.

Hon. Secretary.—Arthur Jackson.

ADDENBROOKE HOSPITAL, CAMBRIDGE,

Founded by J. Addenbrooke, M.D., was opened in 1766, and was further endowed in 1813 by 7,000*l.* from J. Botwell, Bookseller, Cambridge. It is supported chiefly by voluntary contributions, and has recently been greatly enlarged and altered, containing now about 120 beds. Certificates of attendance on practice in it are recognised by the University, the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, etc.

During term clinical lectures are delivered weekly by the Physicians and Surgeons. The fees for attendance on medical and surgical practice and lectures for six months are 8 guineas; twelve months, 10 guineas; perpetual, 15 guineas. The University Library has over 200,000 vols., and is entitled to a copy of every book published in the United Kingdom. No Student may take books out of the Library, but those who, having been admitted to M.B., M.C., LL.M., M.A., M.D., LL.D., D.D., have their names on Registrar of Members of Senate or on the Board of their respective Colleges.

Every facility is given to Students to the Cavendish Laboratory and the different Museums and Lecture Rooms for Botanical, Physical, and other studies.

Consulting Physician.—M. J. H. Bond, M.D.

Physician.—G. E. Paget, M.D., F.R.S., and ten other Physicians and Surgeons.

Librarian.—H. Bradshaw, M.A.

ROYAL INFIRMARY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE, LIVERPOOL.

Contains 250 beds, including wards for the treatment of diseases peculiar to women. Clinical Lectures on Medicine and Surgery are delivered weekly. Dressers and Clinical Clerks are appointed by the Medical Board. Four Exhibitions, entitling the successful candidates to six months' free residence, with board, in the infirmary, are awarded annually by Examination.

Registrar.—R. Caton, M.D., M.R.C.P.

ROYAL MEDICAL BENEVOLENT COLLEGE, EPSOM.

Office:—37, Soho Square, London, W.

This College was founded in 1852 in order to provide an Asylum and Pensions for duly qualified medical men, and the widows of such, in reduced circumstances ; and a School for the sons of duly qualified medical men.

Fifty Pensioners receive Annuities of 21*l.* each ; twenty-four of them have in addition furnished rooms in the College at Epsom.

Fifty Foundation Scholars receive an education of the highest class, and are boarded, clothed, and maintained, at the expense of the College. They must be elected from among the necessitous orphans and sons of such medical men. They must be fully eight years old, and are allowed to remain in the School until they are seventeen.

The School, generally known as "Epsom College," contains, in addition to the fifty Foundation Scholars, one hundred and sixty Resident Pupils, who are the sons of medical men, and who are charged 48*l.* a year if under fourteen years of age, and 51*l.* a year if fourteen years of age and upwards, for education, board, lodging, and washing, inclusive of the use of books and school materials. Full particulars of this School will be found in Part VIII.

There is a Chapel for Divine Worship, according to the ritual of the Church of England.

DENTAL EDUCATION.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

THE Dentists Act, passed on the 22nd July, 1878, came into operation on the 1st August, 1879, and provides for the compulsory registration of all persons practising dentistry in the United Kingdom, also for the regulation of Examinations in dental surgery under the supervision of the General Medical Council, and subject, to some extent, to the requirements of that body.

In the form of Registration, Dental and additional qualifications may be entered, with a view to enabling the public to discern between Dentists who are unqualified and those who possess surgical qualifications. A fee of 5s. is fixed for entering "additional qualifications" in the Dentists' Register, and 3s. 4d. as the price of the Register. Pupils who have been articulated to their own parents will be in all other respects considered in the same position in regard to registration as Students as those pupils who have paid premiums for instruction. Students who commenced their professional education by apprenticeship to Dentists entitled to be registered, or by attendance upon professional lectures, before July 22nd, 1878 (when dental education became compulsory), shall not be required to produce evidence of having passed a Preliminary Examination in Arts. The registration of dental students will be carried on at the Medical Council Office in London, in the same manner as the existing registration of medical students, and, with the exceptions specified, subject to the same regulations as regards Preliminary Examinations in Arts.

THE DENTAL HOSPITAL OF LONDON
AND THE LONDON SCHOOL OF DENTAL SURGERY,
LEICESTER SQUARE.

This hospital was founded in 1859, and opened for the reception of patients at 32, Soho Square. In March, 1874, it was removed to more commodious premises at 40, Leicester Square, which it now occupies. It is supported by voluntary contributions. The rapid growth of the school (there being now more than 100 students upon the books), and the frequent inquiries about its arrangements, and also about the course of study necessary for the candidates for the Dental and Surgical Diplomas, render it desirable that information relating to these subjects should be fully given, but the nature of this work will not permit of a very full description

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

LECTURES.

DENTAL SURGERY AND PATHOLOGY.

INFLAMMATION :—Its Nature, Pathology, and Symptoms. Its important bearing in relation to Dental Surgery. Various examples of its action in connection therewith. The phenomena of reflex pain and action explained.

THE FIRST DENTITION :—Local and Constitutional Maladies occurring synchronously with that period. The effects of Struma, Syphilis, etc., upon Dentition, Diseases connected with the temporary Teeth. Their management considered in relation to the coming permanent dentine.

THE SECOND DENTITION :—The chief forms of Temporary and Permanent Irregularity. Their causes and treatment.

CARIES, AND SPECIAL DISEASES OF THE TEETH AND TISSUES CONNECTED THEREWITH :—Its Pathology in connection with various theories on the Development of Tissues. The Vital, Chemical, and Chemico-vital explanations of Decay. Its Treatment, constitutional and local. The operation of filling considered under all its different relations. Diseases of the Pulp and the surrounding Tissues of the Teeth, and their treatment. Effects of Mercury, Rheumatism, Syphilis, etc., on the soft and hard structures connected with the Teeth. Necrosis. Exostosis. Absorption. Denudation. Salivary Calculus. Abnormal conditions of the Mucous Membrane of the Mouth. Hypertrophy, Epulis, etc. Diseases of the Antrum. Denti-gerous Cysts. Odontomes. Extraction of Teeth. Replantation.

ORAL SURGERY :—Tumours of the Maxillæ generally considered. Dislocation and Fractures of the Jaw. Diseases connected with the Salivary Ducts. Necrosis and Caries of Bone. Hair-lip. Perforations of Hard Palate, Cleft Palate. Neuralgia, etc. Therapeutic action of drugs used in Dental Surgery.

These Lectures are delivered on the mornings of Tuesday and Friday, at 8 o'clock, during the months of May and June. Recent Specimens, Preparations, Models, Drawings, etc., will be used to illustrate the Lectures.

DENTAL ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.

(Human and Comparative.)

GENERAL SCOPE OF ODONTOLOGY :—General Characters of Teeth, as to composition, form, position, etc.

THE DENTAL TISSUES :—Enamel. Distribution of, peculiar modification of, etc. Dentine, structure, etc., relation of to Bone, Vaso-dentine and Osteo-dentine. Cementum. Structure, distribution, etc. Dental Pulp, structure, modification in advanced age, etc.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF TEETH :—General account of, as seen in Fish, Reptiles, and Mammals. Special modifications in particular groups. Relation of modern views to those held by Goodsir, etc.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE JAWS :—Their bearing upon Irregularities of the Teeth.

THE ATTACHMENT OF THE TEETH :—By Membrane, by Anchylosis, by Implantation in Sockets. The relations existing between these three methods.

THE TEETH OF MAN.

ANATOMY OF CHIEF ASSOCIATED PARTS.

An outline (so far as time may allow) of the Dentition of other Vertebrates.

Causes operating to modify an animal's dentition :—(1) Inheritance ; (2) Armament for sexual warfare ; (3) Provision for capture and comminution of food.

Fish :—Examples of Typical Dentitions.

Reptiles :—Ditto.

Mammals :—Ditto. Examples of extreme modifications for particular purposes. Character of Marsupial Dentition ; of Carnivorous, Insectivorous, Rodent, and Herbivorous Dentitions.

These Lectures are delivered on the mornings of Wednesday and Saturday, at 8 o'clock, during the months of May and June. The course is illustrated by Preparations, Diagrams, and Microscopic Examinations.

MECHANICAL DENTISTRY.

Comprising the Preparation of the Mouth for Artificial Teeth. Impression-taking in Wax Composition and Plaster of Paris. Mould-making in Plaster and Metal. Bites or Articulations. The Metals used in Dentistry. Gold-melting, Refining, and Alloying. Plate-making. Artificial Teeth, their qualities and arrangement. How to work Tube and Pin Teeth. Vulcanite, its nature and preparation. Making Vulcanite Cases. Making Pivots. Mounting Spiral Springs. Regulation Plates. Dr. N. Kingsley's Method of making Soft Rubber Obturators.

This course is illustrated by diagrams and practical demonstrations.

These Lectures are delivered on the evenings of Wednesday, at 7 o'clock, during the months of October, November, and December.

METALLURGY IN ITS APPLICATION TO DENTAL PURPOSES.

The Lectures delivered in this course, while embracing, as far as possible, the subject generally, will be devoted more particularly to those metals useful in Dental practice.

The general properties of the Metallic Bodies will first be examined, and also their Clinical relations to the non-Metallic. Some consideration will then be given to heating appliances, and to the nature and uses of Gaseous and Solid Fuels. After these the metals will be separately treated of, commencing with the noble, and ending with the base metals.

Throughout the course, such Chemical and Mechanical points as may bear upon the Student's pursuits will be treated of, and methods of analysis detailed.

These Lectures are delivered on the mornings of Tuesday and Friday at 12 o'clock, during the months of October and November.

An Examination is held once a month, and a report of each Examination is sent to the Dean.

All students who desire to attend these classes must apply to the Dean for permission to do so, and they will attend in the order arranged by him.

Sir Edwin Saunders, dental surgeon to the Queen, has presented the leasehold premises, No. 39, Leicester-square, adjoining this Hospital, value £2,400, to the authorities of that institution for the purpose of its enlargement.

THE
NATIONAL DENTAL HOSPITAL AND COLLEGE,
149, GREAT PORTLAND STREET, W.

It was established at 149, Great Portland Street, and opened to the public on November 11th, 1861.

The first special Dental School established in the United Kingdom was the Metropolitan School of Dental Science, which was opened on October, 5th, 1859, Dr. B. W. Richardson delivering the inaugural address.

With a view to affording greater educational facilities, the field of work of this latter Institution was enlarged, and its name changed to the National Dental College, and an inaugural address was delivered by Mr. Oakley Coles on May 8th, 1877.

RULES AND REGULATIONS TO BE OBSERVED BY STUDENTS OF THE HOSPITAL.

I. Students admitted to the practice of this Hospital must enter for the period of two years, and with the understanding that it is their intention to obtain the Dental Diploma of the Royal College of Surgeons. Exceptions to this rule can only be made under special or particular circumstances, and with the consent of the Medical Committee.

II. Students are required to attend the Hospital daily (except on Sundays) at 9 a.m., and must sign their names, and the time of their arrival, in the Attendance Book. No Student shall be entitled to receive his Certificate of Attendance, unless he has attended not less than two-thirds of the time for which he entered.

III. No Student shall be allowed to undertake any operation during the first two months of his Hospital practice, except by special permission of the Dental Officer in attendance.

IV. Students must provide the necessary instruments for stopping teeth; and all instruments and appliances the property of the Hospital shall, after being used by a Student, be returned by him, cleansed, to their proper places.

V. No Student shall be allowed to receive fee or remuneration from any patient attending the Hospital; and no mechanical work in the form of artificial teeth shall be supplied to a patient by a Student of the Hospital.

VI. The authority of the Medical Officers of the Hospital must be always respected by the Students; and in case of unseemly conduct, it will be the duty of the Medical Officer to report the same to the Committee, who shall have the power to deal as they may think fit with such cases.

SUGGESTIONS TO STUDENTS.

Before commencing his Professional Education, the Student must pass a Preliminary Examination in Arts.

The Examination most to be recommended is the Matriculation of the University of London, as it will enable the Student subsequently to present himself for an University degree, should he desire to do so.

The Preparation of Candidates for any of the Preliminary Examinations is conducted by the Rev H. R. Belcher, M.A.

Having received a Certificate of his Preliminary Examination, and cards of admission to Lectures and Hospital Practice, it is necessary to register the same at the Medical Council Office, 315, Oxford Street, within fifteen days of commencing his professional studies. The commencement of such studies will not be recognised by any of the qualifying bodies as dating earlier than fifteen days before the time of registration.

Any one registered as a Medical Student must also register as a Dental Student, if he be such.

Prizes, consisting of medals, books, and certificates of honour, are awarded annually.

LEGAL EDUCATION AND OUR INNS OF COURT.

LEGAL EDUCATION,

AS REQUIRED BY THE COUNCIL OF LEGAL EDUCATION, OR THE SEPARATE INNS.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

In giving information respecting the necessary course of study, the regulations and expense of being prepared for, and manner of entering, the Bar, the choice of an Inn, the means of admission, the mode of keeping terms, the process of preparation, and the examinations required, the author believes he is supplying a widely felt want, having been repeatedly asked for information by intending Students on these various points, and he has therefore been induced to devote a rather long and comprehensive chapter to this section of the volume. The necessary steps a Student should take for being admitted to the Bar are herein given, with details which will be a guide to those who have selected the Law as their future profession, in order to become a Barrister or a Solicitor.

Briefly, then, "a call to the Bar" in England must be through one of our "four Inns of Court," The Benchers of which Inns alone are qualified to pass Students.

In choosing the Law as a profession, it must occur to every one that a successful career is by no means a certainty, and it should be borne in mind that at the present time there are at the Bar nearly 200 Queen's Counsels, 6,735 Barristers, and 12,000 Solicitors; within the last ten years the number of Barristers has been doubled, and amongst this number there must be a large section of disappointed or unsuccessful men. How many of the 6,735 barristers get employment may be conjectured from the fact that the lead in a case can only be held by a Queen's counsel, and of these there are but 187, of which number probably one quarter does not practice at all. The "four Inns" above alluded to are: The Society of Lincoln's Inn, of the Middle Temple, of the Inner Temple, and of Gray's Inn.

The regulations of these four Societies are nearly similar. Full particulars as to entrance at these Inns will be given in the following pages. Any Student reading for the Bar must keep Terms after having become a member of an "Inn of Court."

Terms are kept as follows:—Those who are at the same time memoers of any British University, by dining any three days, and in the case of all others by dining six days, in each Term, in the hall of their Inn. Students must be 21 years of age, and have kept (generally) 12 Terms before being called, and must have passed the following examinations:—

- (1) A preliminary examination before entrance in English, Latin, and History, which is dispensed with on production of a certificate of a University Public Examination.
- (2) An Examination in Roman Law, either alone any time after four Terms have been kept, or combined with (3).
- (3) An Examination in (a) Common Law, (b) Equity, (c) Real and Personal Property Law, after keeping nine Terms.

It requires at least three years' study for any one to qualify himself to become a barrister, but Lectures are delivered on the above subjects at the Inns, attendance on which is not compulsory. An examination is held each year, at which prizes are given for proficiency in the subjects of the several Lectures.

The rewards offered for competition amongst the Students of all the Inns by the "Council," consist of 12 Studentships, each of them being of the annual value of one hundred guineas; eight are tenable for two years, and four for one year. The Council also issue 18 prizes of the value of 500*l*. There are also "Inns of Court" Studentships in Roman Law, Jurisprudence, International Law, and Constitutional History, which each Inn offers for competition amongst its own Students. Lincoln's Inn offers 4 Scholarships of one hundred guineas each, and four of fifty guineas each, tenable for one year. Middle Temple likewise offers 8 Scholarships, the total annual value being 630*l*., also tenable for one year. The Inner Temple does the same. Gray's Inn offers Scholarships and Prizes of the annual value of 375*l*. These Prizes, which are valuable and numerous, are of recent foundation, and are particularly intended to cover the fee of 100 guineas for working for a year in some Barrister's Chambers.

Students can be called to the Bar during any Law Term by giving a fortnight's notice before "Call day," usually the sixteenth day of each Term. He will then have to pay certain fees amounting to about 100*l*. A serious item is the Government stamp, of 50*l*. The sums required at the different Inns are as follow:—At the Middle Temple, 99*l*. 10*s*. The details of this, as well as of the payments necessary on admission, will be found in a future page. At Lincoln's Inn the total is 94*l*., and the same sum at the Inner Temple; but the fees at Gray's Inn amount to only 77*l*. 2*s*. 4*d*., as detailed farther on. After a call to the Bar a young Barrister should read in Chambers for at least two years, besides attending the Courts, before he commences to practise on his own account. Members of the Junior Bar are permitted to take pupils, and the fee is usually 100 guineas for a year, or 50 guineas for six months. The advantage of reading in Chambers is sometimes very great, for if the future practitioner is made of the right metal he becomes so useful to the Barrister with whom he is studying that he will frequently help on his pupil, in his future career, by introducing clients and business to him. Six months with each Barrister would suffice in an ordinary course, divided, say, between a Conveyancer, a Special Pleader, and a Chancery Barrister; and an additional Term should be spent with the Barrister who makes that branch of the law his specialty which a Student intends to follow. The cost of a Barrister's education is about 450*l*., and for the usual course of study of 4 years this would give an average outlay of about 112*l*. a year. This total consists of 40*l*. entrance fee, 25*l*. for dinner dues, etc., and fees and other charges make up the sum named; such as 225 guineas for reading in Chambers, 50*l*. for law books, and 10*l*. for wig and gown. After the Barrister is called, his Chambers will cost him 60*l*. a year, and the cost of living can be properly estimated at about 200*l*. a year; and if we allow that 5 years must elapse before a Barrister can hope to get into practice, it is not a difficult problem to solve what the cost of a legal education is.

By an Act of Parliament called "The Solicitor's Act," any Barrister of not less than five years' standing at the Bar, if he fail in his occupation as a Barrister, or is disappointed with his success, or finds the work too laborious, may change his specialty in the profession, and become a Solicitor. The regulations for the admission of Students to the Inns of Court will be given in extenso in the succeeding pages.

COUNCIL OF LEGAL EDUCATION.

(Established by the Four Inns of Court to Superintend the Subject of the Education of Students.)

The Council of Legal Education consists of 8 Benchers, 2 nominated by each Inn of Court, who provide 5 Readers, whose duties are—to deliver two courses of Lectures in each educational term to Students for the Bar, to form classes, and to afford advice and directions for the conduct of their professional studies. Each Student pays 5 guineas for the entire course of Lectures, and 5 guineas for admission to the Private Classes. Studentships and Exhibitions of 50 guineas and 25 guineas per ann. respectively, tenable 3 years, are awarded to the Students most distinguished in the July Examinations. For being called to the Bar it is necessary, as previously stated, that each person should apply to some Inn of Court to be admitted as a Student, filling up a form, to be obtained on application at the Treasurer's office of the Inn, and to be signed by himself and by two Barristers testifying to his fitness and respectability. Having been approved by the Benchers of the Inner Court, he will have to keep Terms by dining in the hall of the Inn three days in each Term if he be a member of a University, and six days in each Term if he be not—12 Terms to be kept before the call can be made. The time occupied in term-keeping is 3 years. No Student under 21 years of age is qualified to be called. The cost of a call to the Bar is about 150*l.*, of which, at the Inner Temple, one guinea is charged for the admission form; 40*l.* 11*s.* 5*d.* for admission fees, and 82*l.* 12*s.* for call fees. Before "going into Commons," a bond has to be signed by two sureties for payment of Commons dues, which merely amount to 6*l.* per ann.

Chairman.—Right Hon. Spencer H. Walpole, Q.C., M.P., L.I.

Vice-Chairman.—The Rt. Hon. the Master of the Rolls.

Clerk of the Council.—Thomas Corn, Esq.

EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR STUDENTSHIPS, HONOURS, AND PASS CERTIFICATES.

No Student admitted after the 31st December, 1872, can receive from the Council the Certificate of fitness for call to the Bar, required by the four Inns of Court, unless he shall have passed a satisfactory Examination in the following subjects—viz., 1st, Roman Civil Law; 2ndly, The Law of Real and Personal Property; 3rdly, Common Law; and, 4thly, Equity.

No Student admitted after the 31st December, 1872, can be examined for call to the Bar until he shall have kept nine Terms; except that Students admitted after that day shall have the option of passing the Examination in Roman Law at any time after having kept four Terms.

An Examination is held, to which a Student of any of the Inns of Court, who is desirous of becoming a candidate for a Certificate of Fitness for being called to the Bar, is admissible.

Each Student proposing to submit himself for examination will be required to enter his name, personally or by letter, at the Treasurer's or Steward's Office of the Inn of Court to which he belongs, and he will further be required to state in writing whether his object in offering himself for examination is to obtain a Certificate preliminary to a call to the Bar, or whether he is merely desirous of passing the Examination in Roman Law under the above-mentioned Rule.

As an encouragement to Students to study Jurisprudence and Roman Civil Law, Twelve Studentships of One Hundred Guineas each have been established, and divided equally into two classes ; the 1st class of Studentships to continue for two years, and is open for competition to any Student as to whom not more than four Terms shall have elapsed since he kept his first Term ; and the 2nd class to continue for one year only, and to be open for competition to any Student, not then already entitled to a Studentship, as to whom not less than four and not more than eight Terms shall have elapsed since he kept his first Term ; two of each class of such Studentships to be awarded by the Council, on the recommendation of the Committee, after every Examination before Hilary and Trinity Terms respectively, to the two Students of each set of competitors who shall have passed the best Examination in both Jurisprudence and Roman and Civil Law.

REGULATIONS AS TO THE ADMISSION OF STUDENTS, THE MODE OF KEEPING TERMS, THE EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION OF STUDENTS, THE CALLING OF STUDENTS TO THE BAR, AND THE TAKING OUT OF CERTIFICATES TO PRACTISE UNDER THE BAR.

1. Every person, not otherwise disqualified, who shall have passed a Public Examination at any University within the British dominions, shall be entitled to be admitted as a Student, without passing a Preliminary Examination, but subject to Rule 7.

2. Every other person applying to be admitted as a Student shall, before such admission, have satisfactorily passed an Examination in the following subjects, viz., (a) The English language, (b) The Latin language, (c) English History.

3. Such Examination shall be conducted by a joint Board, to be appointed by the four Inns of Court.

4. For constituting such Board, each of the four Inns of Court shall appoint four Examiners, and the Council of Legal Education shall have power to allot such remuneration as the Council shall think fit to such Examiners.

5. The Examiners shall attend according to a rota to be fixed by themselves, and two shall be a quorum.

6. Meetings of the Examiners shall be held at least once in every week during each Law Term, and once in the week next preceding each Law Term, and at such other times as shall be appointed in accordance with any order of the Board.

7. No Attorney at Law, Solicitor, Writer to the Signet, or Writer of the Scotch Courts, Proctor, Notary Public, Clerk in Chancery, Parliamentary Agent, or Agent in any Court original or appellate, Clerk to any Justice of the Peace, or person acting in any of these capacities, and no Clerk to any Barrister, Conveyancer, Special Pleader, Equity Draftsman, Attorney, Solicitor, Writer to the Signet, or Writer of the Scotch Courts, Proctor, Notary Public, Parliamentary Agent, or Agent in any Court original or appellate, Clerk in Chancery, Clerk of the Peace, Clerk to any Justice of the Peace, or to any officer in any Court of Law or Equity, and no person acting in the capacity of any such Clerk, shall be admitted as a Student at any Inn of Court until such person shall have entirely and bonâ fide ceased to act or practise in any of the capacities above-named or described; and if on the Rolls of any Court, shall have taken his name off the Rolls thereof.

8. The following forms shall be adopted by each of the four Inns of Court on applications for admission as Students :—

I, _____ of _____, the _____ son of _____, in the county of _____, [add father's profession, if any, and the condition in life and occupation, if any, of the applicant] do hereby declare that I am desirous of being admitted a Student of the Honourable Society of _____

for the purpose of being called to the Bar, or of practising under the Bar, and that I will not, either directly or indirectly, apply for or take out any certificate to practise, directly or indirectly, as a Special Pleader, or Conveyancer, or Draftsman in Equity, without the special permission of the Masters of the Bench of the said Society.

And I do hereby further declare that I am not an Attorney at Law, Solicitor, a Writer to the Signet, a Writer of the Scotch Courts, a Proctor, a Notary Public, a Clerk in Chancery, a Parliamentary Agent, an Agent in any Court original or appellate, a Clerk to any Justice of Peace, nor do I act, directly or indirectly, in any such capacity, or in the capacity of Clerk of or to any of the persons above described, or as Clerk of or to any Barrister, Conveyancer, Special Pleader, or Equity Draftsman, or of or to any officer in any Court of Law or Equity.

Dated this _____ day of _____

9. Every person applying to be admitted as a Student shall pay the sum of One Guinea upon application for the Form of Admission ; and the sums so paid shall form part of the common fund hereinafter mentioned.

KEEPING TERMS.

10. Students who shall at the same time be Members of any of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, London, Durham, the Queen's University in Ireland, St. Andrew's, Aberdeen, Glasgow, or Edinburgh, shall be enabled to keep Terms by dining in the halls of their respective Inns of Court any three days in each Term.

11. Students who shall not at the same time be Members of any of the said Universities shall be enabled to keep Terms by dining in the halls of their respective Inns of Court any six days in each Law Term.

12. No day's attendance in Hall shall be available for the purpose of keeping Term, unless the Student attending shall have been present at the grace before dinner, during the whole of dinner, and until the concluding grace shall have been said, unless the acting Treasurer on any day during dinner shall think fit to permit the Students to leave earlier.

CALLING TO THE BAR.

13. Every Student must have attained the age of twenty-one years before being called to the Bar.

14. Every Student must have kept twelve Law Terms before being called to the Bar, unless any Term or Terms shall have been dispensed with under Rule 20 or 56.

15. Students admitted before the first day of Hilary Term, 1864, and not already qualified, have the option of qualifying themselves for call to the Bar, under the Regulations of Hilary Term, 1852,* or under the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1869,† or under such of these Regulations as are applicable to Students admitted after the 31st December, 1871; and Students admitted after the first day of Hilary Term, 1864, and before the first day of January, 1872, and not already qualified, shall have the option of qualifying themselves for call to the Bar either under the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1869, or under such of these Regulations as are applicable to Students admitted after the 31st December, 1871. And as regards Students seeking to qualify themselves for call to the Bar under the Regulations of Hilary Term, 1852, attendance for one whole year at the Lectures of two of the Professors under these Regulations shall be equivalent to the attendance at Lectures required by the Regulations of Hilary Term, 1852; and as regards Students seeking to qualify themselves for call to the Bar under the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1869, attendance at the Lectures and Private Classes of two of the Professors and Tutors under the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1872, or at the Lectures of two of the Professors under these Regulations, shall be equivalent to attendance at Lectures and Classes required by the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1869. And as regards Students seeking to qualify themselves for call to the Bar, either under the Regulations of Hilary Term, 1852, or under the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1869, the passing, to the satisfaction of the Council of Legal Education, of an examination in such of the subjects mentioned in Rule 45 of these Regulations as may be prescribed by the Council, shall be equivalent to the pass examination required by the Regulations of Hilary Term, 1852, and by the Regulations of Michaelmas Term, 1869, respectively.

16. No Student admitted after the 31st December, 1871, shall be called to the Bar, unless such Student shall, to the satisfaction of the Council of Legal Education, have passed a Public Examination for the purpose of ascertaining his fitness to be called to the Bar, and have obtained from the Council a Certificate of having passed such Examination.

17. No Student shall be called to the Bar until his name and description shall have been screened in the Hall, Benchers' Room, and Treasurer's or

* Rule 12 of Regulations of Hilary Term, 1852:—"No Student shall be eligible to be called to the Bar who shall not either have attended during one whole year the Lectures of two of the Readers, or have satisfactorily passed a Public Examination."

† Rule 15 of Regulations of Michaelmas Term:—"No Student shall be eligible to be called to the Bar who shall not have attended during one whole year the Lectures and Private Classes of two of the Readers, or have been a Pupil during one whole year, or periods equal to one whole year, in the Chambers of some Barrister, Certified Special Pleader, Conveyancer, or Draftsman in Equity, or two or more of such persons, or have satisfactorily passed a General Examination. Provided that Students admitted before the first day of Hilary Term, 1864, shall have the option of qualifying themselves to be called to the Bar, either under the Rules of the Inns of Court of Hilary Term, 1852, or under these Regulations."

Steward's Office of the Inn of which he is a Student, fourteen days in Term before such call.

18. The name and description of every such Student must be sent to the other Inns, and shall also be screened for the same space of time in their respective Halls, Benchers' Rooms, and Treasurers' or Stewards' Offices.

19. No call to the Bar shall take place except during a Law Term ; and such call shall be made on the same day by each of the Inns, namely, on the sixteenth day of each Law Term, unless such day shall happen to be Sunday, and in such case on the Monday after.

20. Four Terms and no more, under any circumstances, may be dispensed with in favour of Students admitted before the 1st January, 1873, and who have come from India or the Colonies with a view to return to residence there, and it is not expedient to dispense with any Terms for such Students except on the following conditions, viz. :—

1. That Students from India do satisfactorily pass an Examination in Hindu and Mahommedan Law, the Indian Penal Code, the Code of Criminal Procedure, the Code of Civil Procedure, the Indian Succession Act, and in such other Codes and Acts as may from time to time become Law in British India ; and, in addition to such Examination, do pass such Examinations, and abide by all such Rules and Regulations as are applicable to Students admitted before the 1st January, 1873, seeking a Pass Certificate, by Examination, for call to the Bar.
2. That Students from the Colonies do pass such an Examination as shall be required by the Council of Legal Education, regard being had by the Council to such Rules and Regulations as were in force before the 1st day of January, 1873, in order to obtain a Certificate of Honour.
3. Provided that each of the four Inns of Court be at liberty to dispense with the above conditions in such very special circumstances as they may think fit, and that such circumstances be stated in the Certificate of Call to the Bar given to every such Student. The Benchers of each Inn, subject to the foregoing limitations, being guided, in the dispensation of Terms, by the circumstances of each particular case.

CERTIFICATES TO PRACTISE UNDER THE BAR.

21. No Student is allowed to take out a Certificate to practise under the Bar without the special permission of the Masters of the Bench of the Inn of Court of which he is a Student, to be given by order of such Masters, and no such permission shall be granted to any Student unless he shall be qualified to be called to the Bar, and the regulations, as to screening names in the Halls, Benchers' Rooms, and Treasurers' or Stewards' Offices, applicable to Students desirous of being called to the Bar, shall be applicable to Students desirous of practising under the Bar. Such permission shall be granted for one year only from the date thereof, but may be renewed annually.

Council of Legal Education.

22. The Council of Legal Education consists of twenty Benchers, five to be nominated by each Inn of Court, of whom four form a quorum. The Members of the Council remain in office for two years, and each Inn has power to fill up any vacancy that may occur in the number of its nominees during that period. To this Council shall be entrusted the power and duty of superintending the Education and Examination of Students, and of arranging and settling the details of the several measures which may be deemed necessary to be adopted for those purposes, or in relation thereto, and such other matters as are herein in that behalf mentioned.

23. The Council of Legal Education have power to grant dispensations to Students admitted before the 1st day of January, 1872, who shall have been prevented by any reasonable cause from attendance on Lectures or Classes.

The Committee of Education and Examination.

24. A permanent Committee of eight members are appointed by the Council, to be called the Committee of Education and Examination, of whom three shall be a quorum. Two members of such Committee, to be selected by the Committee, shall go out of office at the end of two years from the 11th of January, 1873, and two members, to be selected in like manner, shall go out at the end of every succeeding two years. No member going out shall be re-eligible until he has been at least one year out of office.

25. The Committee, subject to the control of the Council, superintends and directs the Education and Examination of Students, and all matters of detail in respect to such Education and Examination; and the Committee, at the end of every year reports to the Council as to the practical working of the scheme during that year.

Subjects for Instruction.

26. Students are provided with the means of Education in the general principles of Law, and in the Law as practically administered in this country, and for the purpose of such Education, Systematic Instruction shall be given in the following subjects, viz. :—

Jurisprudence ;
International Law—Public and Private ;
Roman Civil Law ;
Constitutional Law and Legal History ;
Common Law ;
Equity ;
The Law of Real and Personal Property ; and Criminal Law.

Mode of Instruction.

27. The educational year is divided into three Terms, one to commence on the 1st of November and to end on the 22nd of December, the second to commence on the 11th of January and to end on the 30th of March, and the third to commence on the 15th of April and to end on the 31st of July, subject to a deduction of the days intervening between the end of Easter and the beginning of Trinity Term.

28. Instruction is given by means of Lectures, but the attendance of Students at such Lectures shall not be compulsory.

29. The Council shall, subject to any alteration which may hereafter be deemed necessary, appoint four Professors, viz. :—

- i. One of Jurisprudence, to give instruction in the subjects numbered i., ii., and iii. in Clause 44 of these Regulations.

- ii. One of Common Law, to give instruction in the subjects numbered iv. and vii. in Clause 44 of these Regulations, and in the Law of Evidence ;
- iii. One of Equity ;
- iv. One of the Law of Real and Personal Property.

30. It shall not be compulsory on the Professors to give instruction to Private Classes ; but any Professor who may do so shall be at liberty to receive, in addition to his Salary, fees from the Students who attend his Classes. Attendance of Students at such Classes shall not be compulsory.

31. The Professors shall hold office at the pleasure of the Council, but, as a general rule, shall not be continued in office for a period exceeding three years, unless re-elected.

32. To secure systematic instruction, the Scheme of the Lectures to be given by each Professor shall be submitted to, and approved by, the Committee of Education and Examination, at such times and in such manner as the Committee shall direct.

33. At the Private Classes, instruction shall be given to Students in a more detailed and personal form than can be supplied by Lectures, and also advice and direction for the conduct of their professional studies.

34. The Council may, from time to time, make arrangements for the delivery of occasional Lectures or Courses of Lectures on any legal subject by any of the Professors appointed under these Regulations, or by any other persons.

35. Students, in addition to availing themselves of the means of instruction provided by these Regulations, are recommended to attend in the Chambers of a Barrister or Pleader for the purpose of studying the practice of the Law ; but such attendance shall not be compulsory.

36. Each Professor shall receive a Salary to be fixed by the Council not exceeding One Thousand Guineas a year.

37. The Council shall be at liberty to expend sums not exceeding Five Hundred Pounds a year in Prizes to be given to those Students who have attended the Lectures and passed the best Examinations on the subjects thereof, and also from time to time to appoint (in addition to the Boards of Examiners hereinbefore and hereinafter mentioned) Examiners to conduct such Examinations at an expenditure not exceeding One Hundred Pounds per annum.

Payments by Students.

38. Each Student shall pay on admission a sum of Five Guineas, which shall entitle him to attend the Lectures of all the Professors so long as he shall be a Student ; and each Student shall be entitled to attend the Private Class (if any) of each Professor on payment of the Fee fixed by such Professor.

The Examiners.

39. There shall be a Board of six Examiners, to be appointed by and to hold office during the pleasure of the Council ; but no Examiner shall hold office for more than three years consecutively, nor shall he, after he has held office for that period, be re-eligible until he has been at least one year out of office.

40. In every year after the second, two of the Examiners, to be selected by the Council, shall retire.

41. Each Examiner shall receive a Salary of One Hundred and Twenty Guineas a year.

42. Before the appointment of any Examiner, notice shall be given by advertisement or otherwise, as the Council shall direct, inviting Candidates for the office.

43. No member of the Council, and no person who is, or within two years has been, a Professor or Tutor appointed by the Council, shall be eligible as an Examiner.

The Examinations for Studentships and Call to the Bar.

44. The subjects for examination shall be the following :—

- i. Jurisprudence, including International Law, Public and Private.
- ii. The Roman Civil Law ;
- iii. Constitutional Law and Legal History ;
- iv. Common Law ;
- v. Equity ;
- vi. The Law of Real and Personal Property ;
- vii. Criminal Law.

45. No Student admitted after the 31st December, 1872, shall receive from the Council the Certificate of fitness for call to the Bar required by the four Inns of Court unless he shall have passed a satisfactory Examination in the following subjects, viz. :—

- i. Roman Civil Law ;
- ii. The Law of Real and Personal Property ;
- iii. Common Law and Equity.

46. No Student admitted after the 31st December, 1872, shall be examined for call to the Bar until he shall have kept nine Terms ; except that Students admitted after that day shall have the option of passing the Examination in Roman Civil Law, required by Rule 45, at any time after having kept four Terms.

47. The Council may accept a Degree in Law granted by any University within the British Dominions as an equivalent for the examination in any of the subjects mentioned in Rule 45, other than Common Law and Equity ; provided the Council is satisfied that the Student, before he obtained his Degree, passed a sufficient Examination in such subject or subjects.

48. There shall be four Examinations in every year, one of which shall be held in sufficient time before each Law Term to enable the requisite Certificates to be granted by the Council before the first day of such Term. The days of Examination shall be fixed by the Committee, and at two of such Examinations, viz., at those to be held next before Hilary and Trinity Terms, there shall be an Examination for Studentships and Honours.

49. The Honours List shall contain two Classes, in both of which the List shall be alphabetical. The Examination for Honours shall be in the subjects mentioned in Clause 44, and no Student shall be entitled to be placed in either Class unless he shall have passed a satisfactory Examination in all the subjects mentioned in Clause 45.

50. As an encouragement to Students to study Jurisprudence and Roman Civil Law, Twelve Studentships of One Hundred Guineas each shall be established, and divided equally into two classes ; the 1st class of Studentships to continue for two years, and to be open for competition to any Student as to whom not more than four Terms shall have elapsed since he kept his first Term ; and the 2nd class to continue for one year only, and to be open for competition to any Student, not then already entitled to a Studentship, as to whom not less than four and not more than eight Terms shall have elapsed since he kept his first Term ; two of each class of such Studentships to be awarded by the Council, on the recommendation of the Committee, after every Examination before Hilary and Trinity Terms respectively, to the two Students of each set of competitors who shall have passed the best Examination in both Jurisprudence and Roman Civil Law. But the Committee shall not be obliged to recommend any Studentship to be awarded if the result of the Examination be such as, in their opinion, not to justify such recommendation.

51. Each Inn of Court shall bear the expense of the Studentships awarded to its own Students.

52. The Examiners shall submit their Examination Papers to the Committee for approval at such time as the Committee shall direct ; and the standard required for each Class in Studentships and Honours and for Pass Certificates, and the number of marks to be attributed to each paper, shall also be submitted to the Committee for their approval.

53. Previous to each Examination the Committee shall give such notice as they shall think fit of the Books and branches of subjects in which Students will be required to pass at such Examination in order to be entitled to a Certificate under Rule 45.

54. The Examinations shall be partly in writing and partly vivâ voce.

55. One Examiner at least shall be present during the whole time of the Examination in writing.

56. The Board of Examiners shall, after each Examination, report the result thereof to the Committee, who shall submit to the Council the names of those Students (if any) who are in their opinion entitled to receive Certificates under Rule 45, or to obtain Studentships or Honours ; and the Inn of Court to which any Student placed in the First Class of Honours shall belong, may, if desired, dispense with any number of Terms, not exceeding two, which may remain to be kept by such Student previously to his being called to the Bar.

57. At every call to the Bar, those Students who have obtained Honours shall take rank in seniority over all other Students who shall be called on the same day.

58. All Students shall be bound by such variations as may from time to time be made in these Regulations.

Common Fund.

59. The four Inns of Court shall continue their annual contributions of Three Hundred and Sixty Pounds each towards constituting the Common Fund, to which shall be added the several fees for Forms of Admission, and for attending Lectures ; and also the several sums of Five Guineas for each Student, to be paid by the Inns of Court respectively, as additional contributions, pursuant to the Report of the Committee of the four Inns of Court, dated 6th December, 1871 ; and any further money which may, from time to time, be required to enable the Common Fund to meet the charges on it in any year, shall be contributed by the four Inns of Court at the end of such year, rateably and in proportion to the number of Students belonging to the four Inns respectively, who shall in that year have been called to the Bar, or have for the first time obtained permission to practise under the Bar.

THE LAW SOCIETY OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

“LAW INCORPORATED SOCIETY,” CHANCERY LANE.

This Society was instituted in 1833, for the Examination of Candidates for admission on the Roll of Solicitors. An Examination Committee is selected from the Council, of not less than five or more than nine members, and this Committee have such powers in addition to those conferred or imposed on them by the regulations as may from time to time be delegated to them by the Council. The regulations are as follows:—

Preliminary Examination.

Four Preliminary Examinations are held in each year, that is to say, one in each of the months of February, May, July, and October ; on such days in those months respectively as the Committee may appoint.

General Exemptions from Preliminary Examinations.

A certificate of having passed a Preliminary Examination under this Act shall not be required from any person who has taken the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Laws in the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Durham, or London, or in the Queen's University in Ireland, or the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, Bachelor of Laws, or Doctor of Laws, in any of the Universities of Scotland (none of such degrees being honorary degrees), or who has been called to the degree of Utter Barrister in England, or who has passed the first public examination before Moderators at Oxford, or the previous examination at Cambridge, or the examination in arts for the second year at Durham, or who has passed one of the local examinations established by the Universities of Oxford, or one of the nongremial examinations established by the University of Cambridge, or one of the examinations of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, or one of the matriculation examinations at the Universities of Dublin or London (notwithstanding he may not have been placed in the first division of such matriculation examination), or the examination for the first-class certificate of the College of Preceptors incorporated by Royal Charter in 1849. The president of the Queen's Bench Division, the Common Pleas Division, and the Exchequer Division of the High Court of Justice, and the Master of the Rolls, or any three of them (the Master of the Rolls being one), may make, and from time to time alter and revoke, regulations extending the above exemption to any persons who pass any examination held in any of the above-mentioned universities or in the Owens College, Manchester, or in any other university, college, or educational institution, and specified in that behalf in the said regulations.

The Preliminary Examination is conducted either by the Examiners appointed under these regulations personally in the Hall of the Society, or in such other place as the Committee may from time to time appoint; or by two local solicitors to be appointed by the Committee, in the following towns or some of them, and at such place or places in those towns as the said local solicitors may in each case specify:—

Birmingham, Bristol, Cambridge, Cardiff, Carlisle, Carmarthen, Chester, Durham, Exeter, Lancaster, Leeds, Lincoln, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Oxford, Plymouth, Salisbury, Shrewsbury, Swansea, Worcester, York.

The Preliminary Examinations are on the following subjects, namely:—

1. Writing from dictation. 2. Writing a short English composition. 3. Arithmetic: the first four rules, simple and compound; the rule of three; and decimal and vulgar fractions. 4. Geography of Europe and History of England. 5. Latin—Elementary.

6. And any two languages to be selected by the candidate out of the following six, namely:—(1) Latin; (2) Greek—Ancient; (3) French; (4) German; (5) Spanish; (6) Italian.

At least five months before the day appointed for holding any Preliminary Examination, the Committee shall furnish to the Secretary of the Society, or to such other Officer as the Council may direct, a list of the books selected by them for the examination of candidates in the said six languages, and the Secretary or such Officer shall furnish a copy to any person applying for the same.

Every candidate shall, at least thirty days before the date of the Preliminary Examination at which he proposes to be examined, give written notice to the Secretary or such other Officer as the Council may direct, of his desire to be examined, and shall state in such notice the two languages in which he proposes to be examined under these regulations, and the town at which he wishes to be examined, and his age and residence and place or mode of education.

With respect to the examination of candidates at the Preliminary Examination desiring to be examined in the country, papers shall be transmitted by the Committee to the local solicitors appointed by them under these regulations.

The Secretary, or such other Officer as the Council may direct, shall summon the candidates at such times as may be fixed by the Committee, and the said local solicitors shall require the candidates in their presence to write from dictation, as hereinbefore mentioned, and to give written answers to the papers so transmitted; and the said solicitors shall without delay seal up and send to the Committee the writing from dictation and the answers so written.

If the Committee are satisfied as to the proficiency and fitness of a candidate at a Preliminary Examination, they shall certify the same in the form of a report to the Council of the result of such examination, and the Council may thereupon resolve that a certificate, signed by the President or Vice-President of the Society, shall be delivered to such candidate.

Intermediate Examination.

Four Intermediate Examinations shall be held in each year ; that is to say, one in each of the months of January, April, June, and November, on such days in those months respectively as the Committee may appoint.

The Intermediate Examinations shall be held in the Hall of the Society, or in such other place as the Committee may from time to time appoint.

The subjects of the Intermediate Examination shall be such elementary works on the Laws of England as may be from time to time selected by the Committee.

Not later than the month of July in every year the Committee shall furnish to the Secretary, or to such other Officer as the Council may direct, a list of the works selected by them for the examination of candidates in the ensuing year ; and the Secretary or such Officer shall furnish a copy of such list to any person applying for the same.

Every person serving under articles of clerkship shall (subject as herein-after mentioned) present himself at an Intermediate Examination, and shall be examined within the six months next succeeding the day on which he completes half his term of service.

A candidate who fails to present himself at or to pass an Intermediate Examination within the above period may present himself at any subsequent Intermediate Examination ; but if he fails to pass an Intermediate Examination within twelve months next after the date of the expiration of one-half his term of service, his Final Examination shall be postponed for a period equal to the period intervening between the expiration of such twelve months and his passing such Intermediate Examination, or for such shorter period as the Committee may, on the ground of illness, or on other special grounds, direct.

Every Candidate, at least thirty days before the date of the Intermediate Examination at which he proposes to be examined, shall give to the Secretary, or to such other Officer as the Council may direct, written notice of his desire to be examined, and shall leave with the Secretary or such other Officer the articles and any assignment thereof, or supplemental articles, duly stamped and registered, under which the candidate has served or is serving his clerkship, or any portion thereof, together with a certificate of his having passed a Preliminary Examination (unless he shall have been exempted therefrom), and together with answers to the questions in that behalf, signed by the candidate, and by the solicitor or solicitor's London agent, barrister, or special pleader with whom he has served or is serving his clerkship or any portion thereof, or with whom he has been or is a pupil.

The Secretary or such other Officer as aforesaid may, in any case where he thinks proper, refer such answers to the Committee ; and if the Committee, after such inquiries as they see fit, are of opinion that any of such answers are unsatisfactory, they shall certify the same to the Council, and the candidate shall not be permitted to present himself for examination : provided that the Council may in any case, on special grounds, allow the candidate to be examined notwithstanding such answers.

If the Committee are satisfied as to the proficiency and fitness of a candidate at an Intermediate Examination, they shall certify the same in the form of a report to the Council of the result of such examination, and the Council may thereupon resolve that a certificate, signed by the President or Vice-President of the Society, shall be delivered to such candidate.

Final Examination

Four Final Examinations shall be held in each year, that is to say, one in each of the months of January, April, June, and November, on such days in those months respectively as the Committee may appoint.

The Final Examinations shall be held in the Hall of the Society, or in such other place as the Committee may from time to time appoint.

The Final Examinations shall be on the following subjects, namely:—

1. Principles of Law and Procedure:—

(a) In matters usually determined or administered in the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice.

(b) In matters usually determined or administered in the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer Divisions of the High Court of Justice.

2. Principles of the Law of Real and Personal Property, and the Practice of Conveyancing.

3. The Law and Practice of Bankruptcy.

4. { Criminal Law and Practice.

{ Proceedings before Justices of Peace.

5. The Law and Practice of the Probate and Divorce Division of the High Court of Justice.

Every candidate, at least forty-two days before the date of the Final Examination at which he proposes to be examined, shall give to the Secretary, or to such other Officer as the Council may appoint, written notice of his desire to be examined, stating his place or places of residence and of service under articles for the last preceding twelve months, together with the name or names and place or places of residence of the person or persons with whom he has served during the continuance of his articles; and shall also leave with the Secretary or such Officer the articles and any assignment thereof, or supplemental articles, duly stamped and registered, under which the candidate has served or is serving his clerkship, or any portion thereof, together with certificates of his having passed a Preliminary and Intermediate Examination (unless he shall have been exempted therefrom respectively), and together with answers to the questions in that behalf, signed by the candidate, and also by the solicitor or solicitors, London, agent, barrister, or special pleader with whom he has served his clerkship, or any portion thereof, or with whom he has been a pupil.

The Secretary, or such other Officer as aforesaid, may, in any case where he thinks proper, refer such answers to the Committee; and if the Committee, after such further inquiries as they see fit, are of opinion that any of such answers are unsatisfactory, they shall certify the same to the Council, and the candidate shall not be permitted to present himself for examination: provided that the Council may in any case, on special grounds, allow the candidate to be examined notwithstanding such answers.

If the Committee are satisfied as to the proficiency and fitness of a candidate at a final examination, they shall certify the same in the form of a report to the Council of the result of such examination, and the Council may thereupon resolve that a certificate, signed by the President or Vice-President of the Society, shall be delivered to such candidate. The Committee may, in their report, recommend any candidate for honourable distinction as they may see proper.

General.

If any candidate for examination does not present himself at, or fails to pass, any examination at which he has given notice of his intention to present himself, he shall be entitled, on giving at least fourteen days written notice to the Secretary or such other Officer as the Council may direct, and otherwise complying with the requirements of these Regulations, to present himself at any subsequent examination.

Any person claiming the benefit of any exemption or exception in respect of any examination under the Solicitors' Acts, 1843, 1860, and 1877, or under any regulations made in pursuance thereof, shall, before he shall be entitled to the benefit of such exemption or exception, produce to the Secretary, or such other Officer as the Council may direct, a testamur, certificate, Judge's order, or other satisfactory evidence showing his right thereto.

Any person (not being entitled to exemption from the Preliminary Examination) who enters into articles of clerkship shall, before or at the time of producing his articles to the Registrar pursuant to Section 7 of the Solicitors' Act, 1860, produce to the Registrar a certificate of having passed a Preliminary Examination.

Where any allegation is made by the Registrar as to the moral unfitness of any candidate at a Final Examination to be an officer of the Supreme Court, it shall be the duty of the Secretary or such other Officer to refer such allegation to the Committee, who shall take such steps for inquiring into the matter referred to them as they may deem necessary and proper.

If the allegation referred to the Committee is in their opinion proved, the Committee shall report the same to the Council, and the Council may, in their discretion, refuse to grant a certificate to the candidate.

REGULATIONS MADE BY CERTAIN OF HER MAJESTY'S JUDGES.

We, the Right Honourable Sir Alexander James Edmund Cockburn, Baronet (Lord Chief Justice of England), the Right Honourable Sir George Jessel (Master of the Rolls), the Right Honourable John Duke Baron Coleridge (Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas), and the Right Honourable Sir Fitzroy Kelly (Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer), hereby, in pursuance of the powers contained in the Solicitors' Act, 1877, order as follows:—

1. There shall be paid to the Incorporated Law Society, by persons applying to be examined at a Preliminary, Intermediate, or Final Examination, the following fees (that is to say):—

By every person applying to be examined at a Preliminary Examination a fee of two pounds.

By every person applying to be examined at an Intermediate Examination a fee of three pounds.

By every person applying to be examined at a Final Examination a fee of five pounds.

Every such fee shall be payable to the Secretary of the Society, or such other Officer as the Council may from time to time direct, by the candidate, on giving notice of his desire to be examined at the examination in respect of which the fee is payable. Provided that where a candidate has, before the first day of January, given notice of his desire to be examined at an examination to be held after that day, the fee in respect of such examination shall be payable on or before the 5th day of January.

Where a candidate, after giving notice of his desire to be examined at a Preliminary, Intermediate, or Final Examination, has not presented himself at or has failed to pass such examination, one half only of the prescribed fee shall be payable by him on applying to be examined at a subsequent examination of the same class.

2. In addition to the exemptions contained in section 10 of the Solicitors' Act, 1877, a certificate of having passed a Preliminary Examination under this Act shall not be required from any person who has passed the Junior Students' General Examination in the Owens College, Manchester.

3. Any person who has passed the First Public Examination before Moderators at Oxford, or the Previous Examination at Cambridge, or the Examination in Arts for the second year at Durham, or who has passed in honours at the Entrance Examination at the University of Dublin, or the Matriculation Examination at the University of London [being placed in the first division of such Matriculation Examination], or the Legal Student's Higher Examination in the Owens College, Manchester, may be admitted and enrolled as a solicitor after service under articles of clerkship to a practising solicitor for the term of four years.

THE HONOURABLE SOCIETY OF KING'S INNS, DUBLIN.

RULES WITH REGARD TO THE ADMISSION OF STUDENTS INTO THE SOCIETY, AND TO THE DEGREE OF BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

ADMISSION OF STUDENTS.

I.—Every person applying to be admitted a Student into this Society shall present at the Under-Treasurer's Office, three clear days at the least before the day of term, a memorial in the printed form adopted by the Benchers, which memorial is to be signed and lodged by the person applying to be admitted a Student, and a certificate annexed thereto, signed by a practising Barrister of at least ten years' standing.

II.—Every person applying to be admitted a Student shall pay the sum of one guinea upon application for the form of memorial.

III.—Every person applying to be admitted a Student, on presenting such memorial, shall produce a certificate of having paid at the Stamp Office the stamp duty of twenty-five pounds sterling, and shall also pay to the Under-Treasurer the sum of twenty-two pounds ten shillings, which includes five pounds five shillings for admission to the library, and five pounds five shillings for Professors' fees—the balance being the fee for admission into the Society as a Student.

IV.—Every Student shall, in addition to the sum of five guineas, Professors' fees paid on admission, also pay the sum of five guineas, Professors' fees for every year after the first year, during which he shall attend the lectures of the Professors of the King's Inns; and no Student shall be admitted to attend the lectures of any Professor of the King's Inns except on production of the certificate of the Under-Treasurer that he has paid such fees.

V.—Every person applying to be admitted a Student, who shall be a graduate or undergraduate of any University, or who shall be a Student of any of the Inns of Court in England, having passed the preliminary examination therein, shall be entitled to be admitted a Student without passing a preliminary examination.

VI.—Every other person applying to be admitted a Student shall, before such admission as a Student, pass an examination in the following subjects, viz. :—

Latin:—

Cæsar—Commentaries, Books I. and II.

Virgil—Æneid, Books I. to VI.

Horace—Odes, Book I.; Satires and Epistles.

English History:—

The Student's Hume, or The Abridgment of Lingard's History of England.

English Language and Literature:—

1. English Grammar; Selections from Latham's History of the English Language.

2. The Student's Manual of English Literature

3. Any three of the following subjects, at the Student's election:—

a. Chaucer—Prologue and Knight's Tale (Clarendon Press Series).

b. Spenser's Faërie Queene, Book I. (Clarendon Press Series).

c. Any three of the following Plays of Shakspeare: Julius Cæsar, Macbeth, Hamlet, King John, Henry V., Richard II., Othello, Midsummer Night's Dream, Romeo and Juliet.

d. Milton's Paradise Lost, omitting Books V.—VIII., and the Sonnets.

e. Bacon's Essays: Of Truth, Of Adversity, Of Revenge, Of Atheism, Of Superstition, Of Travel, Of Innovation, Of Nature in Man, Of Building, Of Studies.

f. Dryden—Absalom and Achitophel, and Religio Laici, or The Hind and the Panther.

g. Pope's Essay on Man, and Rape of the Lock.

h. Byron—Childe Harold.

i. Tennyson's lesser Poems, as in edition of 1852, or The Arthurian Legends.

- j.* Johnson's Lives of Milton, Dryden, Pope, and Addison.
k. Macaulay's Essays on Warren Hastings and Lord Clive, or on Frederick II. (of Prussia) and Lord Chatham.

KEEPING TERMS.

VII.—Every Student shall keep twelve Terms' Commons—eight Terms' Commons in the Dining Hall of the Society, and four Terms' Commons in one of the Four Inns of Court in London, the last of which twelve Terms may be kept in the Term in which the Student shall apply to be called to the Bar.

VIII.—Every Student shall be enabled to keep terms by dining in the Hall of the Society on two days at least in the Term, one day in the half-week commencing on Monday, and one day in the half-week commencing on Thursday. No day's attendance in the Hall shall be available for the purpose of keeping Term, unless the Student attending shall have been present at the grace before dinner, during the whole of dinner, and until the concluding grace shall have been said.

IX.—EDUCATIONAL QUALIFICATIONS.

1. Attendance at one course* of each of the three Professors of the King's Inns, and one course of either of the Law Professors of Trinity College. This attendance to extend over two years at least. The Student must produce the certificate of the Professor whose lectures he has attended of such attendance, and of having passed the examination at the end of each term of the course.

2. Graduates of the University of Dublin, the Queen's University, Oxford, Cambridge, and London Universities, may qualify for call to the Bar by attending for a year the lectures of two of the Professors of the King's Inns, and in the case of all such graduates, except graduates of the London University, by attending for a year the lectures of two of the Professors of Law in their respective Universities, and passing the examinations (if any) held by the Professors at the end of each course, and in the case of graduates of the University of London, by attending for one year the lectures of two of the Professors of Law in University College, and passing the like examinations if such be held.

3. In addition to Nos. 1 or 2, every Student must pass the General Examination.

X.—No Student shall be allowed to present himself for the General Examination unless he has completed his courses of lectures, and has produced the proper certificates of attendance at the lectures and examinations from the Professors.

XI.—The General Examination required to be passed by all Students before called to the Bar shall be in any four of the following groups of subjects, viz.:—1. Jurisprudence, Civil and International Law; 2. Real Property; 3. Equity; 4. Common Law; 5. History of Law, Constitutional Law, and Criminal Law—of which Jurisprudence, Civil, and International Law must be one. The Prize Examination shall be in all the subjects.†

* The subjects of the lectures are announced before Hilary, Easter, and Michaelmas Sessions in each year. Three consecutive sessions form a course.

† The rules which regulate the times, place, and subjects of examination are published at least three months before the examination, and can be procured at the Office of the Under-Treasurer.

XII.—There shall be two General Examinations held in each year, one immediately before the November, and another before the April sittings.

XIII.—That it shall be in the power of the Education Committee to grant a Special Examination to any Student on any grounds they may deem sufficient.

XIV.—These rules shall be retrospective in their operation, and all Students who entered after November, 1872, shall be entitled to claim the benefit of them.

XV.—An exhibition of twenty guineas per annum, to continue for a period of three years, shall be conferred on the most distinguished Student at each General Examination; and he shall also be entitled, if so recommended by the members of the Education Committee, to be excused from keeping two of the Terms' Commons in the Dining Hall of the Society, which would otherwise be required for his admission to the Bar.

XVI.—A prize of twenty guineas shall be conferred on the Student obtaining the second position; and he shall also be entitled, if so recommended by the members of the Education Committee, to be excused from keeping one Term's Commons in the Dining Hall of the Society in Ireland, which would otherwise be required for his admission to the Bar.

XVII.—The Benchers, however, reserve to themselves a discretion of withholding an exhibition or prize in case the Education Committee report that they do not consider the answering sufficiently meritorious. The Benchers may give special certificates of honour to Students failing to obtain the first or second prize, where the Education Committee report that the answering of any Students may merit such distinction.

XVIII.—The list of all the Students passing the General Examination, and arranged in order of merit, and stating the exhibitions, prizes, privileges, and distinctions conferred on them, respectively, shall be placed in the Hall of the Four Courts, in the Law Library, and in the Lecture Room of the King's Inns.

XIX.—At any call to the Bar, those Students who have passed the General Examination, and who have obtained exhibitions or prizes thereat, shall take rank in seniority over all other Students who shall be called on the same day, and those who have obtained exhibitions or prizes shall take rank respectively in seniority, according to the rank and date of the exhibitions or prizes obtained by them.

XX.—The Students intending to present themselves at the General Examination shall give in their names at the Under-Treasurer's Office, seven clear days before the day of holding such Examination.

CALLING TO THE BAR.

XXI.—Every Student, having complied with the foregoing rules, desiring to be admitted to the degree of a Barrister-at-Law, and being of the full age of twenty-one years, shall present a memorial, in the printed form adopted by the Benchers, at the Under-Treasurer's Office, three clear days at the least before the first day of Term; said memorial to be signed by the Student himself; the certificate annexed thereto to be signed by a practising Barrister of at least ten years' standing, and the declaration at foot thereof by a Benchers.

XXII.—Every Student so applying for admission to the degree of a Barrister-at-Law shall, on presenting his said memorial, pay to the Under-Treasurer the sum of forty pounds, being the payment to the Society thereon, and lodge at the same time a certificate of having paid fifty pounds stamp duty at the Stamp Office, certificates of having complied with the requisites prescribed by Rule IX., and a certificate of having kept the requisite number of terms from one of the Inns of Court in England.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE AND OTHER LOCAL EXAMINATIONS, AND HIGHER LOCAL EXAMINATIONS.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The Local Examinations were instituted in 1858, by Oxford and Cambridge Universities, to supply a common test of attainment both for pupils of public schools and for those privately educated.

In the year 1869, and also in 1875, the compiler of this volume published two works, entitled the "Oxford and Cambridge Local Examination Record," wherein he tabulated the returns, showing at a glance what each school had done yearly, thereby giving the total results of fifteen years' Examinations. Copies of these works are still to be obtained.

The first "Local Examinations" for persons "not members of the University," were held by the University of Oxford in June, 1858, and by the University of Cambridge in the following December. Subsequently other Universities followed the examples of Oxford and Cambridge, and "Local Examinations" are now also held by the Universities of Durham, Dublin (for women only), London (for women), Edinburgh, and the Queen's University in Ireland. These Examinations are conducted at various "centres" throughout the country, by means of printed papers set by a central body of Examiners, and worked by the Candidates in the presence of Superintending Examiners appointed by the Universities. Oxford holds an Examination where a Local Committee is "prepared to undertake all those expenses which are occasioned by the Examination being local;" and Cambridge, where twenty-five fees, at least, are guaranteed. To meet the local expenses (of providing room, stationery, etc.), which are borne by the local Committees, a "local fee," which varies at the different centres, is charged to each candidate, in addition to the University fees. For the first seven years the Cambridge Local Examinations were open to boys only; but in 1865 girls were admitted also; and after the scheme, as regards girls, had been tested for three years, it was made permanent. The Universities of Oxford, Durham, and Edinburgh have also similarly extended their Local Examinations. The conditions of examination, subjects, etc., are alike for boys and girls, but Cambridge does not publish the names of girls when friends do not desire such publication, merely giving the numbers by which candidates are known in the examination. The system pursued by each University in carrying out its Local Examinations is, in the main, the same; but while the other Universities award Certificates only, Oxford and the Queen's University in Ireland confer the title of "Associate in Arts" upon successful Senior Candidates, and Durham that of "Literate." "The Student's Guide to the University of Cambridge" says:—

"Oxford confers on those who pass the Senior Examination the title of Associate in Arts, and on the Juniors merely a Certificate; Cambridge gives a Certificate only to both classes. Oxford does not allow the fact that a Student has passed the Theological part of the Examination to be stated on the Certificate, unless he has been examined in the Prayer Book; Cambridge does allow it. Oxford arranges the Candidates in the First Class in order of merit, the rest alphabetically; Cambridge arranges all alphabetically, but adds lists of those who have specially distinguished themselves. Oxford now also sets special books in languages for the Senior Examination; Cambridge does, but adds also some passages from other books than those set."

As showing the valuable influence which these Local Examinations exercise, it may be mentioned that while, at the first Oxford Local Examination in 1858, only 430 Candidates were successful out of 1,151 who were examined, in the year 1882 the number of successful Candidates was 1,283 out of 2137 examined. The results of the Cambridge Local Examinations are still more remarkable. In 1858, Cambridge held its Examinations at eight "centres" only, and the total number of students examined was but 370, of whom 217 gained Certificates; in 1882 there were 118 "centres," including Jersey, Trinidad, and Mauritius, and the number examined was 7,640, of whom 4,000 passed.

In 1882 the Cambridge examinations were held in December at 118 centres for boys and 104 for girls. Of the former, Bishop Auckland, Burnley, Chigwell, Hereford, Hoxton, Isle of Man, Jamaica, Leicester, Maritzburg, Rochester, Spalding, Truro, Woolwich, and Wrexham; and of the latter, Barnes, Burnley, Hoxton, Isle of Man, Leicester, Maritzburg, Richmond, Rochester, Sevenoaks, Silcoats, Spalding, Totteridge-park, Truro, Woolwich, and Worcester-park were new centres. It appears that in 1878 there were entered 3,329 junior boys, 1,483 junior girls, 626 senior boys, and 997 senior girls, making a total of 6,435. In 1882 the corresponding figures were 3,926 junior boys, 1,793 junior girls, 648 senior boys, and 1,273 senior girls—total, 7,640. In 1882, of the 3,668 junior boys examined, 31·6 per cent. passed in honours, 41 per cent. not in honours, making a total passed per cent. of 72·6; the failures being 27·4 per cent. Of the 1,740 junior girls examined 23·6 passed in honours, 47·9 not in honours; the total number passed was 71·5, while the total failures were 28·5. Of the 605 senior boys examined 26 per cent. passed in honours, 31·7 per cent. not in honours—57·7 per cent. total passes, while the total failures were 42·3 per cent. Of the 1,238 senior girls examined 13 per cent. passed in honours, 48 per cent. passed not in honours. The total passed was 56 per cent., while the total failures were 44 per cent.

According to the twenty-fifth annual report of the Oxford delegates under the statute De Examinatione Candidatorum qui non sunt de Corpore Universalis for the year 1882, which has just been issued by the Clarendon Press, the following information is given:—"The local examinations for the year 1882 began on the 5th of June, and were held at 35 centres, at 25 of which boys were examined, and at six boys only, and at four girls only. The number of candidates examined was 2,137, viz., 1,426 Juniors, and 711 Seniors. Of these, 822 Juniors and 461 Seniors passed, making a total of 1,283." In 1883 the number of candidates who presented themselves for examination were as under:—

|                                                              |       |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| 320 Senior Boys ; 340 Senior Girls ; 10 Musical Candidates . | 670   |
| 858 Junior Boys ; 361 Junior Girls . . . . .                 | 1,219 |

|                 |       |
|-----------------|-------|
| Total . . . . . | 1,889 |
|-----------------|-------|

This shows a decrease of 461 Candidates in the last two years, viz. :—

1881—Seniors 767, Juniors 1,575; total 2,342.

1882—Seniors 711, Juniors 1,426; total 2,137.

1883—Seniors 670, Juniors 1,219; total 1,889.

OXFORD LOCAL EXAMINATIONS.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY LOCAL EXAMINATIONS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

These Examinations commence in June 1884. Candidates are examined in Oxford, and in such other places as the Delegates may appoint. An application to have a place appointed should come to the Delegates from the Local Committee, such Committee being prepared to guarantee the payment of £25, in case the fees paid by the Candidates should fall below that sum, and to undertake all expenses distinctly local. Application to be made before the 1st Feb., 1884. For Examinations in Oxford the forms may be obtained from G. E. Baker, Esq., Clarendon Buildings, Oxford. From other places from the Local Secretaries. No printed form will be issued at any place after April 8th, and no Candidate's name will be received at any place after April 15th.

EXAMINATION OF JUNIOR CANDIDATES.

(For Certificates.)

Any person of either sex born on or after July 1st, 1868, may be received as a Candidate. No one born before that day can be received.

The Subjects of Examination will be supplied by any of the Local Secretaries.

EXAMINATION OF SENIOR CANDIDATES.

(For the Title of Associate in Arts.)

Any person of either sex born on or after April 30th, 1866, may be received as a Candidate. No one born before that day can be received.

The Subjects of Examination will be supplied by any of the Local Secretaries.

Girls may be examined at any place where boys are examined, and at such other places as the Delegates may appoint. But in every case the Delegates must first be satisfied,

1. That there is a Local Committee of ladies, who will efficiently superintend the examination of the girls ;
2. That such Committee will see that girls who do not live in the place find suitable lodging and accommodation ;
3. That the examination room for girls is quite separate from the room or rooms intended for the boys.

Printed Forms, on which Candidates are to make application, will be prepared by the 1st of March, and may be obtained until Saturday, 7th of April, after which date none will be issued. The Forms for Junior and Senior Candidates are distinct.

For the following places Forms may be obtained from the respective Local Secretaries, whose names are subjoined ; from whom also copies of these Regulations and other necessary information may be procured.

G. E. BAKER, Secretary to the Delegacy.

The Delegates are prepared to undertake the Examination of Schools. Applications should be made to the Secretary not less than two months before the day on which it is desired that the Examination should commence.

EXAMINATION OF WOMEN.

REGULATIONS FOR THE YEAR 1883-4.

The condition restricting the Examinations to Women over Eighteen Years of age has been removed.

The Examinations will consist of a First Examination and a Second Examination. The subjects required to be studied for each Examination can be obtained of any Local Secretary. These cannot be passed by any Candidate in the same calendar year. No Candidate will be admitted to the Second Examination unless she has passed the First, or some other Examination accepted by the Delegates as equivalent.

At present the Delegates accept as equivalent—the Matriculation Examination of the University of London (or the General Examination for Women) : the Cambridge Higher Local Examinations, if the Candidate has passed in Group C and with distinction in two languages of Group B : the Oxford Senior Local Examinations, if the Candidate has passed in Section C, and with the special recommendation of the Examiners in two languages of Section B : The Examination for Certificates of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, if the Candidate has passed in two subjects of Group I and in Elementary Mathematics.

The First Examination will be held in June and December 1884.

The Second Examination will be held in June 1884 only.

Candidates for the Examinations to be held in June may be examined, with consent of the Local Secretary and upon payment of the Local Fee (if any), at any of the places appointed for the Local Examination of Girls, except London. Candidates for the Examination to be held in December will be examined in Oxford only. Printed forms of entry for the Examinations to be held in June may be obtained from G. E. Baker, Esq., Clarendon Building, Oxford, on and after February 1st, and must be returned to him with the Fees, those for the Second Examination on or before March 3rd, and those for the First Examination on or before April 14. Forms for the First Examination, to be held in December, may be obtained in the same way on and after Oct. 1st, and must be returned with the Fees on or before November 1st.

The Fees payable will be for the First Examination, or for the Examination in the Rudiments of Faith and Religion, £2 ; and £2 10s. for the Pass Examination, or for the Examination for Honours. No Fee can be returned under any circumstance, or be carried to the credit of a Candidate at a subsequent Examination.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY EXAMINATION OF SCHOOLS.

The Delegates are prepared to undertake the Examination of Schools. Application for such Examination should be made to G. E. Baker, Esq., Clarendon Buildings, Oxford, not less than two months before the day on which it is desired that the Examination should commence.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

REGULATIONS FOR LOCAL EXAMINATIONS 1883-4, AND FOR THE EXAMINATION OF SCHOOLS.

Attention is called to the extension of age for admission to the Examination for Junior Students.

There will be two Examinations, commencing on Monday, December 17, 1883, at 2 P.M., one for Junior and one for Senior Students, superintended by Examiners appointed by the University. Every one entered for the Examination will be required to pay a fee of twenty shillings to the University.

A Local Committee, with a Local Secretary, should be formed in any place where an Examination is desired, and they should communicate early with the Rev. G. F. Browne, St. Catharine's College, Cambridge, the Secretary to the Syndicate. The final application for an Examination at a new centre must be made before September 1st, 1883, and must guarantee the payment of twenty-five fees at the least.

At centres for the Examination of Girls there must be a Local Committee of Ladies, one of which will act as Secretary. The room for Examination must in ordinary cases be separated from that of the Boys.

The Local Committee is expected to give efficient assistance to the presiding Examiner in the superintendence of the Examination. Information for the guidance of Local Secretaries and Committees can be obtained on application to the Secretary of the Syndicate.

Forms of Entry will be prepared by August 15, and must be obtained from the Local Secretary of the place at which the Student desires to be examined. Each application must state whether Forms for Senior or Junior Students are required, with the probable number of either.

The Forms, duly filled up and signed, must be returned to the same Local Secretary (not to the General Secretary) on or before October 1. With them must be remitted the fees, viz., the University fee of £1 for each Candidate, and the Local fee charged by the Committee at the place of Examination.

No fees can be returned. If notice of withdrawal be given more than 14 days before the Examination, the Student can enter in another year without further fee to the University, subject to the usual conditions of age, but must apply for a fresh form of entry.

The names of the Boys who pass with credit will be placed alphabetically in three Honour classes. The names of those who pass to the satisfaction of the Examiners, yet not so as to deserve Honours, will be placed alphabetically in two classes. After the name of every Boy will be added his place of residence, the school (if any) from which he comes to attend the Examination, and the name of his Schoolmaster. Separate lists will also be given of those Boys who may specially distinguish themselves in particular parts of the Examination, and in these lists the Boys will be arranged in order of merit. The names of those who are admitted to the Examination for Juniors between the ages of 16 and 17 will be placed in a list by themselves, in alphabetical order, not in any class of Honours. Similar classes and lists will be drawn up for Girls, but the names of those who do not request that their names may appear will not be given.

The classes of Honours are determined solely by the total number of marks obtained by the Student. No marks will be given in any paper, unless the Student shows enough knowledge to satisfy the Examiners in that paper. Regard will be paid to handwriting and spelling.

The Students who pass with credit or satisfy the Examiners will receive Certificates to that effect. A Student who barely satisfies the Examiners in the minimum number of subjects may be rejected on the ground of general weakness. Every Certificate will specify the subjects in which the Student has passed with credit or satisfied the Examiners, and the class obtained, if any.

Students are desired to observe that in case of disobedience to any of the Regulations made for the conduct of the Examination the Certificate may be refused.

EXAMINATION OF JUNIOR STUDENTS.

No one born before Dec. 15, 1867, can be admitted as a Junior Student under the ordinary conditions. Those born on any of the days from Dec. 15, 1866, to Dec. 14, 1867, both inclusive, can be admitted to the Examination for Junior Students under the condition printed on p. 518 in italics. These dates being determined by a Grace of the Senate, no application for a relaxation can be attended to.

PART I. PRELIMINARY.

Every Student will be required to satisfy the Examiners in (1) Reading aloud a passage from some standard English prose author.—(2) Writing from dictation.—(3) English Grammar, including the parsing and analysis of sentences.—(4) Arithmetic.

A certain number of marks will be assigned to handwriting.

PART II.

The Examination will comprise the subjects mentioned in the eight sections. Particulars of the subjects in each section and group will be forwarded by any Local Secretary ; and every Student will be required to satisfy the Examiners in at least two sections not in the same bracket, but no one will be examined in more than six. At least one of the four subjects of Section I must be taken by all Students, unless their parents or guardians object to their Examination in that section ; for Students who enter for only one of the four subjects, this Section will not count as one of the maximum number of six Sections allowed.

EXAMINATION OF SENIOR STUDENTS.

No one born before Dec. 15, 1865, can be admitted as a Senior Student. This being determined by a Grace of the Senate, no application for a relaxation can be attended to.*

PART I. PRELIMINARY.

Every Student will be required to satisfy the Examiners in English Grammar, including parsing and the analysis of sentences ; the principles and practice of Arithmetic.

---

* Persons who bonâ fide intend to become Candidates for the Degree of Bachelor of Music (Cambridge) or Medical Students can be admitted above the age of 18, but they will neither be placed in the Class List nor receive the usual Certificate. The Syndicate will inform the Registrar of the University and of the General Medical Council and the Royal College of Surgeons of the success of such Candidates.

PART II.

The Examination will comprise the subjects mentioned in the nine sections. Particulars of the subjects in each section will be supplied by any Local Secretary ; and every Student will be required to satisfy the Examiners in three at least of the Sections marked A, B, C, D, E, F ; or in two of them, and in one of the sections marked G, H : but no one will be examined in more than five of the sections marked A, B, C, D, E, F. At least one of the five subjects of Section A must be taken by all Students, unless their parents or guardians object to their examination in that section ; for Students who enter for only one of the five subjects, this Section will not count as one of the maximum number of five Sections allowed.

No Student can take two papers set at the same time in the Time Table.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES.

St. John's College offers a Sizarship, together with 30*l.* per annum for two years, to the best Senior Candidate who shall have obtained the mark of distinction in both Pure and Applied Mathematics; and a like prize for the best Candidate who shall have obtained the mark of distinction both in Latin and in Greek. Any Student who accepts such offer must obtain admission to the College without delay, and commence residence before the age of 19 years. If the holder of one of these Sizarships obtains an open Scholarship at St. John's, he will be allowed to retain the 30*l.* for the two years.

A Scholarship of 35*l.* for two years (to be continued for a third year if the Student is making satisfactory progress), and the Birmingham Scholarship of 35*l.* for one year, are offered by Newnham College to the best Candidates among the Senior Girls in the first class. The recipients must pursue their studies at Newnham College, Cambridge.

The Trustees of the Reid Fund offer a Scholarship of 30 guineas per annum, entitling the holder to free instruction at Bedford College, London, for seven terms, and 15 guineas per annum towards payments in the College Boarding-house, to a Candidate in the first or second class of Senior Girls. There are three terms in each year.

The Syndicate will give prizes to the four Candidates who pass the best Examination among the Senior and Junior Boys and the Senior and Junior Girls, 12*l.* to each of the two Seniors, and 8*l.* to each of the two Juniors.

The following prizes for girls are offered by private donors:—5*l.* for the best Candidate in Political Economy; two guineas for the best Senior and for the best Junior Candidate in Mathematics, if they obtain distinction.

The Council of the Royal Geographical Society offer two silver medals, one for the best Senior in Physical Geography (Section F, division k), and one for the best Senior in Political Geography (Section B, division b). These medals will not be given if there are no candidates of sufficient merit.

The London Association of Schoolmistresses offer prizes of 5, 3, and 2 guineas to the three Senior Girls, and of 3 and 2 guineas to the two Junior Girls, who stand first in Latin.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY EXAMINATION IN EDUCATION.

The University of Cambridge holds Lectures and an Annual Examination in the History, Practice, and Theory of Education. For particulars apply to O. Browning Esq., King's College.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY LOCAL LECTURES SYNDICATE.

The University of Cambridge sends Lecturers to such towns as have made application for them. The course consists of twelve lectures, and each lecture is preceded or followed by a "class," when questions are asked by the Lecturer and the audience, and written answers to previous questions are examined. The usual subjects are Literature, History, Natural Science, Political Economy.

Secretary—Rev. G. F. BROWNE, St. Catherine's College.

CAMBRIDGE TEACHERS' TRAINING SYNDICATE.

1. An Examination of Teachers in the Theory, History, and Practice of Teaching is held at Cambridge, and in London, in June, for persons who have completed the age of 20 before June in that year, and certificates will be awarded to those who have passed the Examination satisfactorily.

2. No Candidate can be admitted to the Examination unless he or she have either

1. Graduated in some University of the United Kingdom, or passed the Examination for Licentiate in Arts at St. Andrews.

Or 2. Satisfied the Examiners in Parts I. and II. of the Previous Examination.

Or 3. Obtained a certificate in one of the Higher Local Examinations of the Universities of Oxford or Cambridge.

Or 4. Obtained the certificate of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board in the subjects accepted by the University as equivalent to Parts I. and II. of the Previous Examination.

Or 5. Satisfied the Examiners in one of the Senior Local Examinations of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, or Durham, in English and at least one language, ancient or modern, and in Euclid and Algebra.

[Women who have passed the Senior Local Examination may qualify by passing a separate Examination in Euclid and Algebra.]

Or 6. Passed the Examination for Matriculation at the University of London.

3. The subjects of Examination are :

(1) The Theory of Education.

(a) The scientific basis of the Art of Education.

(b) Elements of the Art of Education.

(2) The History of Education in Europe since the Revival of Learning. The special subjects for 1884 will be Milton's Tractate on Education, and the Life and Work of Froebel.

(3) The Practice of Education. This subject will consist of two parts :

(a) Method, that is, the order and correlation of studies, oral teaching and exposition, the right use of text-books and note-books, the art of examining and questioning, and the best methods of teaching the various subjects which are included in the curriculum of an ordinary school.

- (b) School management. The structure, furniture, and fitting of school-rooms, books and apparatus, visible and tangible illustrations, classification, distribution of time, registration of attendance and progress, hygiene, with special reference to the material arrangements of the school and the conditions of healthy study.

One paper will be set on each of the subjects (1), (2), (3). A fourth paper will be set containing a small number of questions of an advanced character on each of the three subjects.

A fee of £2 10s. shall be paid to the Syndicate by each candidate.

4. The Syndicate further award certificates of practical efficiency in teaching to candidates who have already obtained a certificate of theoretical efficiency, and have been engaged in school work for a year in some school or schools recognized for this purpose by the Syndicate. The bases for the certificate of practical efficiency will be :

- (1) Examination of the class taught by the candidate.
- (2) An inspection of the class while being taught.
- (3) Questions put to the teacher in private after the inspection.
- (4) A report made by the Head Master or Mistress.

5. The Syndicate will also be ready to inspect in the summer of 1884 any College established for the training of teachers other than elementary, and to award certificates of theoretical knowledge to such candidates as may deserve them. They will also be prepared to examine the students of such Colleges with a view to awarding certificates of practical efficiency, if they are satisfied with the duration and character of the training in practical work received by the candidates.

Secretary of the Syndicate—OSCAR BROWNING, King's College, Cambridge.

SEPTEMBER EXAMINATION.

This Examination is intended principally for Students who desire exemption from the Cambridge Previous Examination and the Preliminary Examination required by the Medical Council. The Regulations can be obtained from the Secretary to the Syndicate.

HIGHER LOCAL EXAMINATIONS.

The Regulations for these Examinations for men and women above the age of 18 can be obtained from the Secretary to the Syndicate.

EXAMINATION AND INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS.

1. Application for the Examination of a School under the regulations of the University must be made to the Syndicate at least two months before the proposed date of the Examination through the Secretary, the Rev. G. F. Browne, St. Catharine's College, Cambridge.

The Subjects of Examination of each class will be those taught them in the School, and may extend to the following : Divinity, English, Latin, Greek, French, German, Mathematics, Natural Sciences, Drawing, Music.

The Report of the Examiner or Examiners will specify the state of proficiency of each several class, and the general state of the whole School ; and will name if required the student in each class who passes the best Examination. This Report will be made to the Syndicate, and will be communicated by them to the Head Master or Governors of the School. If the Report is printed by the authorities of the School, a copy must be sent to each Examiner and to the Secretary to the Syndicate.

The fee charged for the Examination will not be less than £10, for which amount three days' work partly in oral examination and partly in looking over answers will be undertaken. The Examiner will be required to be present two full days at least. If the number of students, the extent of the subjects, and the amount of paper-work require a longer time or more Examiners, then for each additional day for each Examiner fees to the amount of £3 per diem will be charged. A "day" is taken to mean about  $7\frac{1}{2}$  hours' work.

The travelling and hotel expenses of the Examiners, and the expense of printing examination papers, if any, must be entirely defrayed by the School.

When two or more Schools in the same neighbourhood are examined in immediate succession, the expenses will be apportioned between them; and the minimum fee may be derived from more than one School in the same neighbourhood.

2. The Syndicate is prepared to send a practised Examiner to inspect parts or the whole of a School.

LOCAL LECTURES.

Information may be obtained from the Secretary to the Syndicate, Rev. G. F. Browne, St. Catharine's College.

REGULATIONS FOR THE HIGHER LOCAL EXAMINATIONS IN 1884.

There will be an Examination in June 1884, open to all persons who have completed the age of 17 years before July 1st, 1883, or have obtained a First, Second, or Third Class in the Senior Local Examinations.

Candidates will be examined in such places as the Syndics appointed by the University may determine.

A Local Committee, with a Local Secretary, should be formed in any place where an examination is desired, and they should communicate early with the Rev. G. F. Browne, St. Catharine's College, Cambridge, the Secretary to the Syndicate. The final application for an examination at a new centre must be made before April 1st, 1884, and must as a rule guarantee the payment of twenty fees at the least.

1. Every one admitted to examination will be required to pay a fee of forty shillings. After a Candidate has passed in any group, or in Arithmetic, the fee in any subsequent year will be twenty shillings. The amount of the local fee charged at each centre to meet local expenses is fixed by the Local Committee.

2. No Candidate can obtain a certificate who has not satisfied the Examiners in one of the two groups B, C. The further conditions on which a certificate may be obtained are as follows:—

For an Honour Certificate, a Candidate either must (a) satisfy the Examiners in elementary Arithmetic and in three of the eight groups R, A, B, C, D, E, F, H (R and F not counting as two groups for this purpose), and obtain a First or Second Class in two of these eight groups, or (b) having obtained a First, Second, or Third Class in the Local Examinations for Seniors must obtain a First or Second Class in two of the groups R, A, B, C, D, E, F, H (R and F not counting as two groups for this purpose). Particulars of the subjects of examination in each group may be obtained from any Local Secretary.

For an ordinary Certificate, a Candidate must satisfy the Examiners in elementary Arithmetic and in three of the groups R, A, B, C, D, E, F, H (R and F not counting as two groups for this purpose).

Students who in June, 1883, or in any previous year have passed in Arithmetic or in any group, may complete their certificates in 1884 and 1885 according to the regulations in force up to June, 1883.

3. An Honour Certificate admits to Tripos Examinations members of Girton and Newnham Colleges who have resided during a sufficient number of terms, provided the Student has passed in group B and group C.

4. Candidates may take the groups in which they wish to be examined in any order and in successive years. If a candidate passes in any group, or in Arithmetic, though not in a sufficient number of groups for a certificate, this will be recorded and will count towards a certificate in any subsequent year.

5. Candidates who have passed in any group may be examined a second time in that group.

6. The candidates who pass with credit in each group will be placed alphabetically in two honour classes; those who pass to the satisfaction of the Examiners, yet not so as to deserve honours, will be placed alphabetically in a third class. The names of those who request that their names may not appear will not be published. If a candidate is specially distinguished in particular parts of the Examination, the fact will be notified on the certificate. After the examination, notice of the result will be sent to each candidate through the local secretaries.

7. When two or more papers are placed at the same hour in the timetable, no candidate can take more than one of them.

The following local secretaries will furnish information to candidates. Examinations are held at the centres marked with a *.

*Birmingham—Rev. E. F. MacCarthy (Men), King Edward's School; Mrs. Sargant, 1, Rotton Park Road, Edgbaston.

*Bradford—Mrs. W. Claridge, 16, Fairfield Road, Manningham.

*Teignmouth—Mrs. Wooldridge Godley, Orchard House.

*Winchester—Miss Davids, 8, St. Peter's Street.

Wolverhampton—Miss Mander, The Mount.

York—Miss Swaine, 1, The Crescent.

Printed forms of entry may be obtained on March 25th from the Local Secretary of the place at which the Candidate desires to be examined. The forms, duly filled up and signed, must be returned to the same Local Secretary on or before April 20th. With them must be remitted the fees, viz., the University fee and the local fee charged by the Committee at the place of Examination.

No fees can in any case be returned ; but if notice of withdrawal be sent to the Local Secretary at the centre more than 16 days before the examination, the sum paid will be allowed to stand to the Candidate's credit for a future examination. Candidates who have withdrawn must apply for a fresh form of entry, and return it on or before April 20th, in the year in which they wish to be examined.

The class lists are issued about the middle of August, and the report is issued about the end of October. The Examination Papers are published immediately after the examination.

The subjects of examination in the different groups are forwarded on application to any Local Secretary.

SCHOLARSHIPS, PRIZES, &c., FOR WOMEN ONLY.

With a view to meeting the actual expenses of examination of women who are engaged in tuition as a profession, or are preparing for that profession, the sum of 5*l.* each will be given by the Syndicate to the five Candidates fulfilling these conditions who are placed highest in order by the Examiners in June.

The Council of Newnham College offer the following Scholarships:—One of 50*l.* a year for two years, given by the Goldsmiths' Company ; one of 50*l.* a year for two years, given by the Clothworkers' Company, to be held by a student whose resources are inadequate to defray the expenses of residence at Newnham College ; one of 50*l.* a year, given by the Drapers' Company, to be held by a student preparing for the profession of teaching. These three Scholarships will be awarded either (1) for success in two of the groups A, B, C, E, H, provided one at least of the two be B or C ; or (2) for distinguished success in two languages of group B (of which one must be Latin or Greek) or in group C or in group E. Also the Cobden Scholarship of 50*l.* a year for two years, given by Mrs. Winkworth, for distinguished success in group D (including distinction in Political Economy), a preference being given to Candidates who have taken honours in group B or group C. These Scholarships will not, generally speaking, be awarded to Candidates who have already resided as students for two or more terms, unless they have fulfilled the conditions as to examinations required by the University before admission to a Tripos Examination. Any of these Scholarships, if gained by a Candidate who has not yet commenced residence, will be continued to her for a third year, if she be preparing for a Tripos Examination and have a reasonable prospect of obtaining honours. In all cases the performance, if any, in the preceding year, will be taken into account in awarding the Scholarships. Also one or more Scholarships of 35*l.*, for one year, for success in any of the groups A, B, C, D, E, or H to candidates who have not yet commenced residence, and who have not gained one of the larger Scholarships. The recipients of the Scholarships must reside at Newnham College, Cambridge, during the academical terms while they hold the Scholarships. Further information can be procured on application to Mrs. Henry Sidgwick, Newnham College, Cambridge.

A Scholarship of the value of 60*l.* a year for three years, tenable at Girton College, Cambridge, is offered for proficiency in Latin, credit being also given for knowledge of Greek and Mathematics. The Scholar will be required to commence residence at Girton College in October, 1883, under conditions which may be learned on application to the Secretary of the College, Miss Kensington, 22, Gloucester Place, Hyde Park, London, W. The award of the Scholarship may be postponed till the following year, in case no candidate of sufficient merit should present herself.

Candidates for the above gratuities or for the Scholarships must give notice in writing to the Local Secretary at the centre at which they are to be examined before the end of the examination.

Communication respecting instruction by correspondence should be addressed to Mrs. Peile, Trumpington, Cambridge.

The Lowman Memorial Prize will be awarded to the candidate who stands highest in group A among those who are engaged in or are preparing for the work of tuition.

A prize of 5*l.* is offered by a private donor for the best candidate in Religious Knowledge, and a prize of 3*l.* for the best candidate in Italian.

A prize of 20*l.* has been offered by a member of the Senate for the best Essay on the following subject:—Adam Smith's theory of the proper economic functions of government, examined in the light of subsequent economic history. The prize will be open to all women who shall have passed the examination in group D. The Essays must be sent in under cover to the Secretary on or before November 30th, 1882, and will be returned to the Candidates if the name and address are written on the Essay. The successful Candidate in former years may compete, but no Candidate can obtain the prize twice with an Essay on the same subject.

Articles of Agreement were signed on the 8th November, 1873, between the Schools Examination Delegacy of the University of Oxford and the Schools Examination Syndicate of the University of Cambridge, by which, in accordance with the provisions hereinafter named, the Schools Examination Delegacy of the University of Oxford and the Schools Examination Syndicate of the University of Cambridge should act in concert.

1. A Board, consisting of all the members of the Delegacy and of the Syndicate, shall be called "the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board." The Board has power—

- (a) To make regulations respecting its own proceedings; the time and place of its first meeting being settled by arrangement between the Vice-Chancellors of the two Universities.
- (b) To appoint a standing Committee, composed of not less than four of its members, an equal number being nominated by the Delegacy and the Syndicate respectively, and to assign to the Committee such duties as it may think fit.
- (c) To assign to the Secretaries, who are to be appointed by the Delegacy and the Syndicate respectively, such duties and salaries as it may think fit.
- (d) To make regulations respecting the examination of Schools and the duties and remuneration of Examiners, and to appoint Examiners upon the nomination of the Delegacy and the Syndicate respectively, provided that as far as possible an equal number of Examiners shall be appointed from each University.

- (e) To make regulations respecting the granting of Certificates to persons examined under its authority, such Certificates to be granted under such conditions, as regards the persons who are to be admitted as candidates, as may be approved by the Delegacy and the Syndicate ; provided that, so long as the Board grants Certificates only to boys at school, it shall be competent either to the Delegacy or to the Syndicate, acting separately, to examine and grant Certificates to other candidates.
2. The Board shall every year draw up a report of its proceedings, which shall be presented by the Delegacy and the Syndicate to their respective Universities.
3. Either the Delegacy or the Syndicate shall be at liberty at any time to withdraw from the Board after giving a year's notice.

EXAMINATION OF SCHOOLS (BOYS' AND GIRLS').

A School Examination, held under the authority of the Board, shall be of one or more of the following kinds :—

- (a) Such an Examination in the general work of the School, extending either to the whole School, or to portions of the School to be selected with the approval of the Board, as will enable the Examiners to report generally upon the School work.
- (b) Such an Examination in any main subject of instruction, extending either to the whole School, or to portions of the School to be selected with the approval of the Board, as will enable the Examiners to report on the standard reached in that subject.
- (c) Such an Examination of the highest division of the School as will enable the Examiners to report upon the general work of that division, and, if required, to place the boys in order of merit, and to award exhibitions, scholarships, and prizes.

Applications to the Board for the appointment of Examiners shall specify the kind or kinds of Examination desired by the authorities of the School.

In conducting an Examination of the first or second kinds, the School Examiners may avail themselves of the assistance of Masters of the School in such manner as may be approved by the Board. Examinations of the third kind shall, if the statutes of the School permit, be conducted exclusively by the Examiners appointed by the Board. In all Examinations such arrangements shall be made by the authorities of the School for the supervision of the Candidates as shall be satisfactory to the Board. The Head Master shall be responsible to the Board for carrying out such arrangements.

EXAMINATION OF GIRLS.

The published Regulations of the Board with respect to the Examination of Boys shall be extended to the Examination of Girls, and the Regulations for the Examination of Lower Forms and for Lower Certificates will be supplied by either of the Secretaries on application.

[This Examination is adapted for Candidates of sixteen years of age.]

The Certificates awarded for the "Leaving Examination" by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board are of the highest value. The standard of Examination will be better realized when it is known that it is adapted for boys leaving School at eighteen years of age, and that holders of the Certificates are exempt, under certain conditions, from the Matriculations, the Responsions or Little-go at Oxford and Cambridge, the preliminary examinations of the Royal College of Surgeons, the Medical Council, Incorporated Law Society, and also the qualifying examinations for the Army and for Woolwich. Of 694 candidates who entered in all parts of the country in 1883, only 377 have been awarded certificates.

In the year ending October 31, 1882, Examinations were held under the authority of the Board at sixty Boys' Schools.

EXAMINATION OF SCHOOLS.

Five Schools have been examined this year which were not examined in the previous year, viz. Doncaster Grammar School ; Harrow School ; St. Edward's School, Oxford ; Sedbergh School ; and Weymouth College.

Twelve of the Schools examined in the preceding year have not been examined in the past year, viz. Brighton College ; The Grocer's Company's School, Clapton ; St. Chad's College, Denstone ; Derby School ; Edgbaston Proprietary School ; Leamington College ; Newcastle (Staffs.) High School ; Repton School ; Sherborne, King's School ; Wantage Grammar School ; St. Edmund's College, Ware ; and Woburn Park School.

Examinations were also held at twenty-three Girls' Schools, viz.—

|                                        |                                                    |                                   |

The nineteen last named are among those established by the Girls' Public Day School Company, Limited.

The number of Girls' Schools examined in the previous year was twenty-four.

In the Examination for Certificates held in December, 1881, and July, 1882, there were in all 734 Candidates (709 boys and 25 girls), of whom 385 obtained Certificates and 140 obtained distinction in one or more subjects. Out of the 734 Candidates, 140 had already obtained Certificates in a former Examination ; and of these 70 gained a Certificate with distinction in the present year.

In the previous year there were 731 Candidates, of whom 366 obtained Certificates, and 132 passed with distinction in one or more subjects.

Full particulars of the Regulations for the Examination of Schools will be supplied on application to either of the Secretaries.

ABERDEEN UNIVERSITY LOCAL EXAMINATIONS.

These Examinations are held in June, either in Aberdeen or at any other place where six or more Candidates are prepared to come forward. Application from each local centre to be made to the Secretary not later than the 31st March. Candidates receive, on application to the Secretary, a printed Schedule, to be returned at least one month before examination, stating (1) place of their education for the last two years, and (2) subjects chosen by them for their examination.

There are three separate examinations. (1) Preliminary Examination (fee 7s. 6d.), this must first be passed by all Candidates, but may be taken in the same year with the examination for either of the certificates; (2) Ordinary Certificate Examination (fee 12s. 6d.); and (3) an Honour Certificate Examination (fee 1l.); the last two examinations being on subjects selected by Candidates.

Full particulars of the subjects set for each examination will be supplied by the Secretary.

There are three Scholarships given by the Aberdeen Ladies' Educational Association to the three highest Candidates for Certificates, viz., 6l., 5l., and 4l. Professor Pirie, Secretary.

ST. ANDREW'S UNIVERSITY HIGHER CERTIFICATES FOR WOMEN (LL.A.).

Candidates for the LL.A. (Literate in Arts) Certificate, may obtain particulars of the subjects for examination, and the text-books used, on application to Professor Burrell. The Standard of Examination, both for Pass and Honours, is the same as that required for the M.A. Degree. The present Centres are London, Halifax, Bristol, Belfast, and St. Andrews. The Fee of 2*l.* 2*s.* covers two years of the Examination. Candidates who obtain LL.A. pay an additional Fee of 4*l.* 4*s.* No Candidate is admitted to this Examination who does not hold the Local Examination Certificate of a University. LL.A. Candidates may be examined in any subject not previously taken, and obtain additional Certificates, the Fee being 1*l.* 1*s.* for each. The Calendar of the University gives all the Subjects of Examination and the text-books.

According to the official return of the results of the LL.A. Examination of 1883, it appears that no fewer than 371 passed in one or more subjects, and seventy-six obtained the Title and Diploma of LL.A. In 1877, when the scheme was instituted, nine lady candidates entered, and eight passed. This year 440 entered, and 371 passed.

SOCIETY FOR THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF ARTS, MANUFACTURES, AND COMMERCE.

JOHN STREET, ADELPHI, LONDON, W.C.

This Society was founded in 1754, and incorporated by Royal Charter in 1847, for the Encouragement of the Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce of the Country, by bestowing rewards for such productions, inventions, or improvements as tend to the employment of the poor, to the increase of trade, and to the riches and honour of the kingdom; and for meritorious works in the various departments of the Fine Arts; for Discoveries, Inventions, and Improvements in Agriculture, Chemistry, Mechanics, Manufactures, and other useful Arts; for the application of such natural and artificial products, whether of Home, Colonial, or Foreign growth and manufacture, as may appear likely to afford fresh objects of industry, and to increase the trade of the realm by extending the sphere of British commerce; and generally to assist in the advancement, development, and practical application of every department of science in connection with the Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce of this country.

The Session commences in November, and ends in June. The number of Meetings held during the Session amounts to between 70 and 80.

The Examinations are specially intended for Members of Institutions in union with the Society of Arts, and Candidates are examined in Music, theory and practice; Political Economy; Domestic Economy (men as well as women may be examined in this), the subjects, (1) Clothing and its Materials, (2) Health, (3) Housekeeping and Thrift, (4) Cookery. The Council offer Prizes of 5*l.* and 3*l.* in each subject.

Examinations are held annually by the Society, through the agency of Local Committees, at various centres in the country. They are open to any person. The subjects include the principal divisions of a Commercial Education, Sanitary Knowledge, Political and Domestic Economy, and Music. A Programme, containing detailed information about the Examinations, can be had on application to the Secretary,

LONDON SOCIETY FOR THE EXTENSION OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

22, ALBEMARLE STREET, W.

President.—The Right Hon. G. J. Goschen, M.P.

And a numerous and influential Council.

The object of this Society is to bring a systematic course of University

Teaching within the reach of all classes, both men and women, of the inhabitants of London, by means of Lectures, the Society sending their Lecturers and Examiners at different centres; and the demand for this higher education is increasing, and those who wish to establish new centres should communicate with the Secretary. The Lectures are especially intended for young men and women between the period of leaving school and that of settling down in life; but experience has shown that these form only a nucleus with which both older and younger Students may be advantageously associated. Some of the most successful Lectures and Classes have been attended largely by artisans. The course consists of twelve weekly Lectures, followed by class instruction, and advice as to the text-books to be used and the means of effectual study. Each Lecture is also accompanied by printed outlines of the subject matter distributed to the pupils, and by questions. The questions are answered by the Students at home in writing, and are submitted to the Lecturer for correction and comment.

The Lectures extend over two terms of three months each, the first beginning in October, and the second in January. An Examination in writing is held at the end of each course, entry for which is optional to all who have attended Lectures throughout, and Certificates are given to the successful Candidates. The Examiners are distinct from the Lecturers, and are appointed by the University Board, who also issue the Certificates. E. T. Cook, B.A., Secretary.

COLLEGE OF PRECEPTORS.

OFFICES :—42, QUEEN SQUARE, BLOOMSBURY, W.C.

This College, which is filling a most important place in our scheme of National Education, and is the pioneer of that system of local examination, afterwards so thoroughly adopted by Oxford, Cambridge, and other Universities, was established in the year 1846, and incorporated by Royal Charter in the year 1849, “for the purpose of promoting sound learning and of advancing the interests of education, especially among the Middle Classes, by affording facilities to the Teacher for acquiring a knowledge of his profession, and by providing for the periodical session of a competent Board of Examiners, to ascertain and give certificates of the acquirements and fitness for their office of persons engaged or desiring to be engaged in the education of youth.” With this view, the Charter empowers the College to hold Examinations of Teachers and Schools, both boys and girls, and to grant Diplomas and Certificates to such persons as pass these Examinations satisfactorily.

To effect these objects, two plans of examination have been established : (1) That of Teachers, to ascertain their qualifications and fitness to take part in the work of instruction ; and (2) That of Pupils, to test their progress, and to afford at once to the Teacher, and to the public, a satisfactory criterion of the value of the instruction they receive.

The Diplomas granted by the College to Teachers are of three grades—viz., Associate, Licentiate, and Fellow. The qualifications required for the grade of Associate are somewhat higher than those required by the Committee of Council for Certificated Teachers of the First Class; and those for the grades of Licentiate and Fellow correspond as nearly as possible to those required for an Ordinary Degree and for an Honour Degree in Arts, respectively, at the principal Universities of Great Britain and Ireland. A distinctive feature of these Examinations is, that in all cases the "Theory and Practice of Education" is an obligatory subject for each grade.

The Pupils' Examinations were established in the year 1854, four years before the institution of the University Local Examinations, and two years before those instituted by the Society of Arts, both of which may justly be regarded as more or less the fruit of the efforts and example of the College of Preceptors in leading the way in the improvement of the Education of the Middle Classes. They have been carried on half-yearly, since that time, with steadily increasing success; and during the past year the number of candidates examined for certificates amounted to more than 13,000; and about 2,400 schools, both public and private, in all parts of the country are now brought under the influence of the College Examinations. Visiting Examiners are also appointed by the College, for the inspection and examination of Public and Private Schools.

The Higher Certificates awarded by the College at the half-yearly examinations of pupils in schools are recognised by Her Majesty's Judges, and by the General Medical Council, as guarantees of a good general education; and consequently the holders of them, who may intend to enter the Legal and Medical professions, are exempted from the necessity of submitting to the Preliminary Literary Examinations held by the Incorporated Law Society, and by the various Medical Corporations of the United Kingdom. The Pharmaceutical Society also recognises, in a similar way, all the College Certificates above the Third Class, the holders of which have passed an Examination in Latin.

The Examinations, both of Teachers and of Pupils, are open to both sexes. Women form a large proportion of the candidates at the Examinations for Diplomas, and the number of Girls' Schools from which candidates are sent up periodically to the Examinations for Certificates is now very considerable, and is rapidly increasing.

The total number of persons at present examined annually by the College, at the various Examinations which have been mentioned, and the Pupils examined at their own Schools by Visiting Examiners, amounts to about 17,000—a number which, it may be observed, greatly exceeds that of the candidates who present themselves annually before any other examining body especially concerned with the improvement of the education of the Middle Classes.

The Council in the year 1873 instituted a Professorship (the first which has been established in this country) of the Science and Art of Education, as a special subject of instruction; and a Training Course of Lectures and Lessons for Teachers, extending over the whole year, under the direction of competent Lecturers,* is now in full operation.

---

* The course for the year 1882 comprised—(1) Mental Science for Teachers, by James Sully, M.A., Examiner in Mental Science in the University of London; (2) Practical Education and Methods of Teaching, by the Rev. Canon Daniel, M.A., Principal of St. John's Training College, Battersea; (3) The History of Education, by the Rev. R. H. Quick, M.A.

Courses of Lectures upon Education, and upon methods of teaching various special subjects, have also been delivered on several occasions at the College Rooms, and are now published.

Evening Meetings of the Members of the College are held monthly (except during the Christmas and Midsummer vacations), for the purpose of reading and discussing papers upon subjects connected with Education. Members also have the use of a Library of Educational Works, consisting of about 5,000 volumes, to which additions are constantly being made.

The legal Registration of Teachers has long been advocated by the College. A proposal for a Scholastic Registration Act, analogous in its provisions to the Medical Registration Act, was brought before the public in 1861 by a Circular of the Council addressed to the Heads of the principal Schools throughout the country; it has formed the subject of repeated memorials and deputations to the Government since that time, and continues to engage the attention of the Council as a much needed reform, and a first step towards making teaching a distinct and recognised profession.

The Annual Subscription to the College is 1*l.* 1*s.*; a single payment of 10*l.* 10*s.* confers the privilege of Life Membership. All persons engaged in Education are admissible as Members, subject to election by the Council; but all candidates are required either to give evidence of having passed an Examination satisfactory to the Council before some recognised Examining Body, or to pass an Examination at the College.

A Teachers' Examination is held half-yearly—viz., at the Midsummer and Christmas vacations. The Diplomas awarded are of the following grades:—(1) Associate; (2) Licentiate; (3) Fellow; must have had one, two, and five years' experience in teaching respectively, and the Fee is 1*l.* 1*s.* in each case.

The regulations for the examination of pupils and of candidates for Diplomas and Membership may be obtained of the Secretary.

TRINITY COLLEGE, LONDON.

13, MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

The particulars of this College of Music, and the Examinations held therein, are given in the Musical Section of this Work.

THE BIRKBECK LITERARY AND SCIENTIFIC INSTITUTION,

SOUTHAMPTON BUILDINGS, CHANCERY LANE, W.C.

This Institution was long known as the "London Mechanics' Institution." It was founded in 1823, by the late Dr. Birkbeck, aided by the active co-operation and private liberality of Mr. William Ellis, who felt that instruction in social science should be a leading feature for our industrial classes. Among the many friends of education who zealously supported Dr. Birkbeck in his work may be mentioned His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex, the Duke of Bedford, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Althorpe, Lord (then Mr.) Brougham, and Sir Francis Burdett. The Institution was intended to supply facilities for evening education for the occupied and working classes, and at a more recent date for both men and women, at a moderate cost. Its operations have kept pace with the growth of education, and its curriculum has gradually expanded, until now it embraces a wide field of study, including Languages, Mathematics, Natural, Applied, and Mental Science, History, Literature, Law, Art, etc. Its enterprise and liberality are seen in the fact that it was the first educational institution in the country to open its doors to women, and one hundred classes meet weekly in the subjects taught at this Institution.

Since its foundation, the Institution has had over 70,000 members, many of whom have become eminent in Art, Science, and Literature. At the present time there are more than 3,500 Students. Moreover, the list of classes shows that no subject has been omitted which can be useful to the Students, and will, at the same time, prove that this Institution has successfully encouraged and supplied the demand for higher education.

From the very commencement of its existence, technical education formed an important part of its scheme, and the success which has attended this portion of its work has been most encouraging.

The influence of the Institution's labours soon spread in different parts of the kingdom, and it is the parent of nearly 1,000 similar institutions in England, besides many in the Colonies. There are now more than 200 Mechanics' Institutes, with 37,600 members, in Yorkshire alone.

This Institution, which for fifty-nine years has been carrying on an important educational work in the metropolis, has issued its prospectus for 1884. The evening classes are open to both sexes, and ample opportunity is afforded, as above stated, for the study of Ancient and Modern Languages, Mathematics, Natural, Applied, and Mental Science, Art, Law, History, Literature, Music.

The advantages it offers to its members include a library of 9,000 volumes, reading and studying rooms, weekly lectures and evening classes, with fifty professors and thirty examiners. The present President, Mr. W. L. Birkbeck, M.A., is the son of the founder. The prizes competed for by the students are those given by the Science and Art Department and the Society of Arts, as well as those offered by the Institution and its patrons.

The success which has attended the students at examinations has been most marked, and the highest rewards open to such institutions have repeatedly been carried off by the members. It may be mentioned that in one year three of the six "Whitworth Scholarships," open to the entire kingdom, were gained by the students of this Institution; while nearly one-half of the Society of Arts' prizes were also obtained, including the "Prince Consort's Prize," given by Her Majesty the Queen; and the "Council's Prize," instituted for the encouragement of female education.

At the last examinations, 489 certificates and 178 prizes were obtained from the Science and Art Department, fifty-one candidates obtained certificates or prizes from the Society of Arts, and 143 from the Educational Council of the Institution.

For some years past it has been found extremely difficult to provide accommodation for the large numbers seeking to avail themselves of the advantages of this Institution, and a movement is on foot to obtain premises suitable to its great and important work. The sum required was 20,000*l.*, and with improved accommodation it is supposed that the present number of members, 3,500, would be considerably augmented. Considering the great advantages which the Birkbeck Institution has conferred upon the cause of education for more than half a century, it is to be hoped, in order to enable the Committee to meet the increasing demand for space, funds will be readily forthcoming for the erection of new and more suitable premises. Since this was in type, His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany laid the foundation stone of the new buildings on an adjacent site in Bream's Buildings on the 23rd April, 1883. It is a matter of great educational importance to give facilities to establishments of a similar kind throughout the kingdom, where evening classes can be attended by young men and young women who are occupied during the day, and wish to increase their learning and acquire special subjects of knowledge in their leisure time.

The fifty-fifth anniversary was presided over by His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany, K.G., and many eminent noblemen and gentlemen have occupied a similar position. Amongst those of late years may be mentioned the Marquis of Ripon, the Earl of Carnarvon, Earl Lytton, the Earl of Northbrook, the late Earl Russell, the Earl of Shaftesbury, Lord Aberdare, the late Lord Chief Justice, the Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote, the Right Hon. W. E. Forster, M.P., and other well-known friends of education.

OFFICERS.

Patron.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany, K.G.

President.—W. Lloyd Birkbeck, Esq., M.A.

Manager and Hon. Sec. of Educational Council.—Mr. George M. Norris.

Bankers.—Messrs. Smith, Payne, and Smiths. Lombard Street.

Secretary.—Mr. William H. Congreve.

THE SOCIETY OF SCHOOLMASTERS

FOR THE

RELIEF OF DISTRESSED SCHOOLMASTERS AND USHERS

AND OF THEIR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS,

7, ADELPHI TERRACE, STRAND, W.C.

The Society of Schoolmasters was instituted in 1798, and is maintained by voluntary contributions. It was first formed on a principle of Life Assurance, for the benefit of such subscribing members as were Masters of Endowed and Boarding Schools. A Charitable Fund was at the same time instituted for the relief of distressed Subscribers, their Widows, and their Orphans.

The Society was continued on the original plan for twenty-three years, during which nearly 7,000*l.* were paid to forty families for claims that accrued or were surrendered, and several hundred pounds were distributed in charitable donations.

In 1821 the Assurance Society was dissolved, and the surplus of the joint stock, amounting to more than 14,000*l.*, was divided among the surviving shareholders, many of whom gave up their portion to the Charitable Fund. The Society, possessing 4,000*l.* 3 per cents., then became a purely charitable institution; and its aid, which had been previously limited to Subscribers, was extended generally to the Masters of Endowed and Boarding Schools. It subsequently enlarged its design in order to include the Masters of Proprietary Schools.

By the present rule it gives relief to distressed Masters of Endowed, Proprietary, and Boarding Schools, who have subscribed to the Society, their Widows and Orphans; secondly, to distressed Ushers and Assistants of Subscribers, their Widows and Orphans; and thirdly, so far as the funds will allow, after the claims of Subscribers have been considered, to other distressed Masters, Ushers, and Assistants of Endowed, Proprietary, and Boarding Schools, their Widows and Orphans.

Through the investment of benefactions paid by many in lieu of annual contributions, the addition of £1,000 3 per cent. reduced, given by Mrs. Sheppard, of Amport, in 1848, and the receipt of a bequest of £1,000 from Madame Tildesley de Bosset in 1857, the funded property now amounts to £10,100.

The Society has been principally dependent on the subscriptions of Schoolmasters, but it has received liberal and valuable assistance from friends not members of the profession. His Royal Highness the late Duke of Cambridge was for many years its patron. From their Majesties George IV. and William IV. it received not only the high sanction of their names, but also a yearly grant of fifty guineas. Her Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria was pleased to continue the grant of fifty guineas for many succeeding years. The Society was further favoured by three donations from His Majesty Louis Phillippe, King of the French, who had been a teacher of Mathematics in a College near Coire, in Switzerland, in the year 1793. During his residence at Twickenham in 1816, His Majesty, then the Duke of Orleans, wrote to the Treasurer of that day, Dr. Kelly, that "it was his intention to have expressed sooner how much he was flattered by Dr. Kelly's very obliging intimation of the motives for which the Duke of Orleans ought to feel a particular interest for the Schoolmasters. The Duke of Orleans has, in fact, more motives for being attached to that useful and respectable class of men than he believes Dr. Kelly can be aware of; since it is not probable he should know that among the many vicissitudes of fortune which fell to the lot of the Duke of Orleans is to be found that of having been a Schoolmaster. It is, however, a matter of fact that at a time of severe distress and persecution, the Duke of Orleans had the good luck of being admitted as a teacher in a College, when he gave lessons regularly for the space of eight months. The Duke of Orleans hopes, therefore, that the Society for the Relief of Distressed Schoolmasters will permit him to tender his mite as a fellow-Schoolmaster."

The sum distributed by the Committee in relief in the fifty-nine years which have elapsed since the Society became a purely charitable institution has been 18,354*l.*, of which 6,828*l.* has been granted in the last twenty years.

The applications for assistance have, for some years past, been increasing in importance; while, through the lapse of time, the loss of all the early advocates of the Society, and of many annual subscribers to its funds, is deeply felt and regretted.

These facts are submitted to all who are, or have been, Members of the Profession, and attention is called to the necessities of afflicted and meritorious Schoolmasters. The funds of the Society are managed with the most scrupulous economy, and a strict investigation is made into the character and circumstances of each petitioner.

Those who have enjoyed, and who can appreciate, the blessings derived from education, should not be unmindful of the obligations which they owe to men who faithfully devote to the instruction of the young the vigour of their life and the laborious exercise of their best faculties.

President.—The Archbishop of Canterbury.

Treasurer.—Rev. Dr. Baker, Merchant Taylors School.

Chairman.—Rev. Richard Lee, Christ's Hospital.

Secretary.—Octavian Blewitt, Esq., K.L., F.R.G.S., 7, Adelphi Terrace.

Collector.—Mr. G. H. Leah, 73, Park Street, Grosvenor Square, W.

THE EDUCATION SOCIETY.

SOCIETY FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE "SCIENCE OF EDUCATION."

The object of the Society is to examine, systematise, and propound definite and verifiable principles upon which the practice of Education should be based.

It aims at the following special objects :—

- (1) To collect and classify educational facts.
- (2) To discuss educational problems on some definite plan, and to arrange and record the results of the discussion.
- (3) To arrange for the giving of lessons and the discussion of the principles involved.
- (4) To examine and report on school organisation and educational machinery.
- (5) To become acquainted with, and discuss educational ideas, methods, and practice in other countries.
- (6) To examine and criticise the labours of eminent educationists and teachers.
- (7) To examine the lives of typical men, to consider the educational influences (conscious or unconscious) affecting their careers, and to investigate the educational forces at work.
- (8) To publish proceedings.

The Annual Subscription is One Guinea; but Associations of Teachers will be affiliated on payment of a sum proportional to the number of their Members; and a proportional number of copies of the Transactions of the Society will be supplied to these Associations. Country Members who reside more than twenty-five miles from London will be admitted on payment of an Annual Subscription of Half-a-Guinea. A payment of Five Guineas constitutes a Life Membership.

The Society seeks to embrace—

- (1) Persons of eminence who can, by their position, further the cause of the Science of Education, and who are willing to give their sympathy, even if they cannot afford time to give co-operation.
- (2) Professional Educators who are able and willing to co-operate.
- (3) Persons of Scientific attainments (not Teachers) who are interested in Education, and are willing to co-operate in examining its principles.
- (4) Educators in the country and elsewhere, who, though unable to attend meetings, will contribute papers, and otherwise give active support.
- (5) Foreigners, resident in England, who are acquainted with the best that is thought and done in education in their respective countries.
- (6) Teachers generally, who, without taking any active part in the proceedings, are anxious to record their opinion that there may be a Profession of Teachers, and by Membership with this Society do in fact record such an opinion.

All Teachers and others interested in Education are eligible to be proposed as Members.

President.—Rev. J. M. Wilson, M.A., Head Master of Clifton College.

Honorary Secretary.—F. C. Turner, B.A., 99, Tulse Hill, S.W.

THE PRIVATE SCHOOLMASTERS' ASSOCIATION.

The object of this Association, founded by Mr. John Stewart, is to promote social intercourse among the Principals of Private Schools, and to aid in the prosecution of their work. Periodical meetings and conferences are held in London. The committee is composed of twenty-four leading School Principals.

Hon. Treasurer.—Rev. C. W. Arnold, M.A., Woking College, Surrey,

Hon. Secretaries.—G. F. H. Sykes, B.A., Forest House School, Woodford, and J. Stewart, University School, Hastings.

Secretary.—W. T. Jennings, 10, Old Jewry Chambers, London, E.C.

A Journal connected with this Association, entitled the "Private Schoolmaster," is edited by the following members of the committee :— Dr. W. Porter Knightley, G. W. Robinson, M.A., and John V. Milne, B.A.

ASSOCIATION FOR PROMOTING SECONDARY EDUCATION IN SCOTLAND.

This Institution was founded in 1876. Subscription, 2 guineas a year.

President.—Sir T. E. Colebrooke, Bart., M.P.

Vice-Presidents.—Earl of Elgin and A. Campbell Swinton, Esq.

Hon. Treasurer and Secretary.—Professor S. S. Laurie, Nairne Lodge, Duddingston, Edinburgh.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTE OF SCOTLAND.

President.—A. F. Hutchinson, M.A.

Secretary to the Board of Examiners.—Thomas Morrison, M.A., Free Church Training College, Glasgow.

ASSOCIATION OF HIGHER CLASS PUBLIC SCHOOLMASTERS OF SCOTLAND.

This Association was formed after the passing of the Education (Scotland) Act (1872), its object being the advancement of secondary education, the founding of Bursaries in Higher Class Public Schools tenable at the Universities, and the interchange of ideas among members of the profession.

President.—James Cranstoun, LL.D.

Secretary.—Thomas Jeffrey, M.A., High School, Edinburgh.

BIRMINGHAM TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Founded in 1864, the object being to promote the interests of education by lectures and discussions upon subjects connected with education. Annual subscription 2s. 6d.

President.—Rev. J. M. Guest, M.A.

Hon. Secretaries.—Rev. J. H. Smith, M.A., W. F. Talbot.

IRELAND SCHOOLMASTERS' ASSOCIATION.

This Institution was founded in 1869, and its object is to advance the interests of Upper-class Schools in Ireland, and to afford its members advantages of mutual counsel and support. Head Masters of Royal and other Schools, of Graduates of some University, and Assistant Masters at some Schools, are eligible for membership. The meetings are held annually in Dublin in December.

Secretary.—R. Biggs, Esq., LL.D., Galway School.

THE CONFERENCE OF HEAD MASTERS OF SCHOOLS.

FIRST GRADE SCHOOLS.

SCHOOL REFORM.

The Head Masters of the first grade schools were not slow to recognize the great importance of the educational movement now at work in England, and from the advanced position already taken up by them in educational reforms, both as regards the teachers and the taught, we may, if they continue to act in unison, and are guided by the spirit of the times, anticipate the most valuable results; for whatever tendency there may seem to be to suggest theoretical rather than more simple and feasible reforms, there can be little question that these consultations must have some beneficial effect upon the future system of Education, if we take into consideration the fact that the leading promoters of the Conference are men of the highest culture, devoted to the cause of Education, and holding the first positions as educators in the land. The Conference of Head Masters took its rise in a small meeting of Head Masters called by the Rev. E. Thring at Uppingham in 1869. Next year a much larger number of Head Masters met at Sherborne. At the ensuing meeting at Highgate, in 1871, a regular constitution for the Conference was adopted, of which the first article was "that an annual meeting of the Head Masters of the highest schools be held to discuss all questions affecting schools and education." In accordance with this, the Conference meets annually about Christmas at one of the first grade schools and discusses all questions affecting schools and education. The last Annual Conference was held at the University College, London, and the Head Master of the School is the President for that particular Conference. At their last meeting a scheme of scholarships to be offered by some of the schools represented at the Conference to boys who had distinguished themselves in the local examinations was discussed. This scheme has now been brought into a definite shape, and the details have been communicated to the secretaries of the local examinations.

President of the Conference in 1883.—H. Weston Eve, M.A., Head Master of University College School.

OUR SCHOOLS OF SCIENCE.

SCIENCE AND ART DEPARTMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL ON EDUCATION, SOUTH KENSINGTON.

SCHOOLS OF SCIENCE.

The origin and much of the progress of this Department, and the erection of Kensington Museum, was due to the Prince Consort. Lord Granville largely advanced the buildings in 1859, being aided by Mr. Lowe, a most valiant defender of the South Kensington Museum at the time of his connection with the Science and Art Department. The Duke of Buckingham sanctioned the erection of the Science Schools and the great courts in 1866. Probably no one has added more to the promotion of Science and Art than the late Sir Henry Cole, K.C.B., to whom a fitting testimonial has recently been presented in recognition of his eminent services to the Museum.

This Department was established in connection with the Board of Trade in March 1853, as a development of the Department of Practical Art, which in 1852 had been created for the reorganization of Schools of Design, and was placed under the direction of the Committee of Council on Education in 1856.

The following particulars give a general outline of the action of the Department, and have been prepared to enable those who wish to establish a Science School or Class the more readily to understand the detailed rules and regulations under which the aid of the Department is administered.

In order to place a Science School or class in connection with the Science and Art Department, an approved Committee, consisting of at least five well-known and responsible persons, must be formed.

The list of Science subjects towards which instruction is given by the Department are as follows:—Practical, Plane, and Solid Geometry; Machine Construction and Drawing; Building Construction; Naval Architecture and Drawing; Pure Mathematics; Theoretical Mechanics; Applied Mechanics; Sound, Light, and Heat; Magnetism and Electricity; Inorganic Chemistry; Organic Chemistry; Geology; Mineralogy; Animal Physiology; Elementary Botany; Biology, including Animal and Vegetable Morphology and Physiology; Principles of Mining; Metallurgy; Navigation; Nautical Astronomy; Steam; Physical Geography; Physiography; Principles of Agriculture.

The 2nd grade examination in Art is held at the same time as in the Sciences above named. Candidates can be examined in one only of the subjects or stages bracketed together in the following list in any one year.*

* The 2nd grade Art Examination in Freehand Drawing, Model Drawing, Practical Geometry and Perspective, is held at the same time of the year as the Science Examinations. That in Freehand Drawing and Model Drawing is held on a separate evening, but that in Geometry and Perspective may be on the same evening as the Examination in Science subjects, 1, Practical, Plane, and Solid Geometry.

[ii. Machine Drawing ; iii. Building Construction ; iv. Naval Architecture.]
 [xii. Geology ; xx. Navigation.] [xiii. Mineralogy ; xxi. Nautical Astronomy.]
 [xi. Organic Chemistry ; xxii. Steam.] [v. Mathematics, stages 1 to 3.]
 [v. Mathematics, stages 4 and 5.] [xviii. Principles of Mining ; v. Mathematics, stages 6 and 7 ; xiv. Principles of Agriculture.] [xvi. and xvii. Biology ; xix. Metallurgy.]

The aid is given in the form of Public Examinations, in which Queen's Prizes are awarded, held at all places complying with certain conditions ; payments on results as tested by these examinations ; scholarships and exhibitions ; building grants ; grants towards the purchase of fittings, apparatus, etc.

The examinations are held about the month of May, under the superintendence of the local committees and local officers. The examination papers are prepared by the professional examiners in London. An evening is set apart for one or more subjects, so that the examination in each subject is simultaneous over the whole kingdom. Through the agency of the Local Committees, public examinations in all the before-mentioned Sciences—and in Art 2nd grade—in any place in the United Kingdom which complies with the requisite conditions. On the results of this examination payments are made for the instruction of the students, and prizes are awarded.

For navigation classes special examinations may also be held three times a year.

The examinations are of two kinds, but are held on the same evening, and conducted by the same committee :—

(a) The class examinations for students under instruction in science classes, whether taught by teachers qualified to earn payments on results or not.

(b) The honours examination, of a highly advanced character.

A packet of examination papers is sent to each local examination secretary, who opens it in the presence of the committee and candidates. The committee is held responsible that no unfair means of any description are used in working the papers, and that the rules of the Department are strictly complied with.

The examinations are of two kinds, but held together, viz. :—

(a) The class examinations, of which there are two grades or stages ; the first stage or elementary examination, and the second stage or advanced examination. The successful candidates in both stages are divided into first and second class.

(b) The honours examination of a highly advanced character. In this there are also two classes.

Any person, however taught, may sit at any one of these examinations.

Queen's prizes, consisting of books or instruments, are also given to all candidates who are successful in obtaining a first class in either stage of the class examinations. Bonâ fide students in science classes are alone eligible for prizes. Bronze medals are given to all Candidates who obtain a 1st class in honours.

Payments are made either to the committees or to the teachers on the results of the May examination.

These payments are made only on account of the instruction of students of the industrial classes, or on account of the instruction of their children.

Any person may qualify himself or herself to earn payments on results, by obtaining a first or second class in the advanced stage of the class examination, or by passing in honours.

This examination is dispensed with when the candidate has taken a degree at one of the Universities of the United Kingdom, and in certain other cases.

To assist in the instruction of deserving students, aid is given in the creation of two forms of scholarship in connection with elementary schools.

- (a) In the Elementary School Scholarship, 5*l.* is granted to the managers of any elementary school for the support of a deserving pupil selected by competition, if they undertake to support him for a year, and subscribe 5*l.* for that purpose. The payment of 5*l.* by the Science and Art Department is conditional on the scholar passing in some branch of science at the next May examination.
- b. In the Science and Art Scholarship, which is of a more advanced character, a similar contribution of 5*l.* is required on the part of the locality, and a grant of 10*l.* is made by the Department towards the maintenance for one year of the most deserving pupil or pupils in elementary schools who have passed certain examinations in science and in drawing.

In both these cases the scholar must be from twelve to sixteen years of age, and one scholarship is allowed per 100 pupils in the school. Thus a school with fifty pupils may have one scholarship, a school with 150 pupils two scholarships.

The Lords of the Committee of Council on Education have by a recent minute (in 1883) decided to withdraw the prizes hitherto given to candidates in the science examinations who obtain a first class in the elementary stage of the various subjects of science, substituting certificates of merit, and retaining only the prizes given in the advanced stage. The money hitherto devoted to prizes will be employed in providing for 36 National Scholarships—12 each year—which will be offered in competition to students of the industrial classes and awarded at the annual examinations of the Department. The National Scholarship will be tenable, at the option of the holder, either at the Normal School of Science, South Kensington, or at the Royal College of Science, Dublin, during the course for the Associateship—about three years. The scholar will receive 30*s.* a week during the session of about nine months in the year, second-class railway fare to and from London or Dublin, and free admission to the lectures and laboratories.

There are also two forms of Exhibitions. These are—

- a. Local Exhibitions to enable students to complete their education at some college or school where scientific instruction of an advanced character may be obtained. Grants of 25*l.* per annum, for one, two, or three years are made for this purpose when the locality raises a like sum by voluntary subscriptions. And if the student attend a State school, such as the Normal School of Science and Royal School of Mines in London, or Royal College of Science in Ireland, the fees are remitted. The exhibition must be awarded in competition.
- b. Royal Exhibitions of the value of 50*l.* per annum, tenable for three years, to the Normal School of Science and Royal School of Mines, London, and the Royal College of Science, Dublin, are given in competition at the May examinations. Six are awarded each year—three to each institution.

The competition for the Whitworth Scholarships is also in part determined by the results of the May examinations. Particulars respecting these are given on the next page.

A grant in aid of a new building, or for the adaptation of an existing building for a School of Science, may be made at a rate not exceeding 2s. 6d. per square foot of internal area, up to a maximum of 500*l.* for any one school ; provided that certain conditions are complied with, and that the school be built under the Public Libraries and Museums Act, or be built in connection with a school of Art, aided by a Department building grant.

A grant towards the purchase of fittings, apparatus, diagrams, etc., not exceeding 50 per cent. of the cost of them, is made to Science Schools. And where a school is furnished with a laboratory, properly fitted up, payments are made on account of students who during the year receive twenty-five lessons in laboratory practice.

Special extra grants in the form of capitation payments are made in fully organised Science Schools.

Further details in all these points will be found in the Official Directory issued by the Department, together with details of the various subjects required at each examination.

The 28th report issued in 1881 of the Science and Art Department of the Committee of Council on Education is arranged under the following heads :—Aid given towards the promotion of instruction in science applicable to industry ; aid given towards the promotion of instruction in elementary drawing as a part of national education, and in fine art as applied to industry ; the administration of the South Kensington Museum, the central repository for objects of Science and Art, which, as far as practicable, are circulated throughout the United Kingdom ; the branch Museum at Bethnal Green ; other Museums, supported by the State through the Science and Art Department ; the Geological Survey ; institutions and societies which receive aid from the State, subject to the superintendence of the Science and Art Department. The number of schools examined in 1880 was 1,391. The number of candidates who came up in honours was 1,192, of whom 106 passed in the 1st class, and 340 in the 2nd class. The total number of students examined in 1880 was 39,083. New Schools of Art have been established during the year 1877 at Barnstable, Doncaster, Keswick, and Weymouth. The total number of Schools of Art in operation throughout the kingdom was 144. The total number of students in these schools was 29,414. The number of works selected for the National competition was 790, composed of drawings from the antique, designs, and studies in light and shade, or colour. The number in 1876 was 1,230. The number of students in Art classes was 29,579 in 910 classes, the corresponding numbers in 1876 having been 31,158 in 883 classes ; 3,532 students in these classes passed the examination of the 2nd grade, 848 obtained 2nd grade prizes, and 505 obtained prizes for works sent up for inspection. In 3,767 elementary schools, 549,010 children were taught drawing, and 403,208 were examined at the annual examination in March, 1877. The total number of persons who received direct instruction as students, or by means of lectures, in connexion with the Science and Art Department in 1877, was 681,367. The expenditure of the Department during the financial year 1877-8, exclusive of the vote for the Geological Survey, amounted to 276,416*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.*

Respecting Science Education in England the following statistics are encouraging :—In 1860 the number of science schools was 8, in 1870 it was 79, and in 1880 it was 1,391. The number of classes in 1860 was 20, in 1870 it was 2,204, and in 1880 it was 4,932. The number of persons receiving science and art education was in 1860, 386; in 1870, 34,233; in 1881, 970,874; and in 1882, 986,085.

SIR JOSEPH WHITWORTH'S SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MECHANICAL SCIENCE.

A Syllabus of the Subjects and the Rules under which these Scholarships, founded by Sir Joseph Whitworth, Bart., F.R.S., D.C.L., are awarded, may be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Science and Art, South Kensington, London, S.W.

1. The Whitworth Scholarships are of the value of 200*l.*, 150*l.*, and 100*l.*, and they are open for competition to all Her Majesty's subjects—whether of the United Kingdom, India, or the Colonies.

2. The Candidate must be of sound bodily constitution.

He must not have completed the 26th year of his age on the 1st May of the year in which he competes.

He must have been engaged in handicraft for at least three years, and have been at work at the vice and lathe, or the forge, or the bench, for at least six consecutive months in each of those years.

He must have spent at least 12 months at the vice and lathe.

3. Twenty-five Scholarships will be competed for in May 1882, sixteen of the value of 100*l.*, eight of 150*l.*, and one of 200*l.*, in the following subjects :—

Practical geometry. I.
Machine drawing. II.
Building construction. III.
Naval architecture. IV.
Mathematics. V.
Theoretical mechanics. VI.
Applied mechanics. VII.

Sound, light and heat. VIII.
Magnetism and electricity. IX.
Inorganic chemistry. X.
Metallurgy. XIX.
Steam. XXII.
Freehand drawing.

N.B.—The Roman numerals are the numbers of the subjects in the Science Directory.

The competition each year is complete in itself. No marks from a previous success in any subject can be counted.

4. Candidates who are, or intend to be, engaged in machine making—cotton, woollen, flax, etc.; or in engineering—marine, locomotive, and fixed—or in artillery, may only take up subjects I., II., V., VI., VII., VIII., IX., X., XIX., XXII., and freehand drawing. Those engaged in the building trades and coach making may only take up I., III., V., VI., VII., VIII., IX., X., XXII., and freehand drawing. And those engaged in naval architecture, I., IV., V., VI., VII., VIII., IX., X., XIX., XXII., and freehand drawing.

5. The number of scholarships awarded in each of the foregoing classes will be proportioned to the number and ability of the candidates from each.

6. The relative marks in the several subjects and stages, and the method of awarding them, are the same as in the Royal Exhibitions of the Science and Art Department.

7. No candidate can obtain a Scholarship who has not passed in the second stage, or "Honours," of practical geometry; and in the second or third stage, or the "Honours" of those stages, of mathematics, and obtained a first class in the first stage, or passed in the second stage, or "Honours," of theoretical mechanics, and obtained a "good" in freehand drawing.

8. If a candidate has once qualified as above, it will not be necessary for him to be examined again in these subjects, or to pass in them again.

9. No candidate can obtain a Scholarship who has not attained sufficient handicraft power. And if thought necessary by the Department this may be tested by requiring him to make two Whitworth screw bolts, 1 in. in diameter, and 4 to 6 ins. long, with hexagonal heads and nuts, alike within .001 in.

10. Sir Joseph Whitworth will allow the scholars to attend his works at Manchester free of cost.

11. These scholarships are tenable with the Royal Exhibitions and Scholarships of the Science and Art Department, but not with Admiralty Studentships and Scholarships of the Royal School of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering; and no person can take a Whitworth Scholarship twice.

The examinations in the theoretical subjects will be held under the superintendence of Local Committees about the month of May. Any candidate wishing to compete for a Whitworth Scholarship must apply to the Science and Art Department before the 15th March, when information of the dates of the examinations will be sent.

NOTE.—In case of a candidate residing in a town where no Local Committee is in existence, a separate examination may, at the discretion of the Science and Art Department, be held there, provided that a committee satisfactory to the Department be formed.

Candidates who do not reside near any place where arrangements have been made for an examination may be examined at the South Kensington Museum, on payment of a registration fee of 2s. 6d. for each evening on which they wish to be examined, or a composition fee of 10s. for any number of evenings. They must send in their names before the 15th of April.

Candidates may be examined in freehand drawing at any School of Art, or Art night class, in the month of May. If specially required this examination may be held with the Science examinations.

The travelling expenses of candidates who may be required to attend for the practical examination will be paid. They will receive third class railway fare and 7s. 6d. for each night they are required to be absent from their homes. For each day on which, although they are able to return home to sleep, they are obliged to obtain a meal away from home in the middle of the day, an allowance of 2s. 6d. will be made.

SCIENCE OF HYGIENE.

The Council of the Ascham Society have received a letter from the Science and Art Department stating that the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education, having had under consideration the resolution of the Ascham Society, urging that Hygiene should be added to the list of sciences in which grants are made by the Department, have sanctioned the addition of this subject, and that a syllabus will shortly be issued to Science Schools and Classes.

NORMAL SCHOOL OF SCIENCE AND ROYAL SCHOOL OF MINES,

SOUTH KENSINGTON AND JERMYN STREET, LONDON.

The building in which the collections illustrative of the geological structure and of the mineral produce of the British Islands and their dependencies, constituting the Museum of Practical Geology, are exhibited to the public, is, in addition, the seat of the Royal School of Mines, and contains the central office of the Geological Survey of the United Kingdom, out of which both the Museum and the School have arisen ; and the Normal School of Science, South Kensington, is now affiliated with the Royal School of Mines.

In the year 1851, numerous memorials, praying for the establishment of a mining school, were addressed to the Government by the leading representatives of the mining interest of Great Britain. The memorialists urged that, though the value of the annual mineral produce of this country amounted to 28,000,000*l.*, equalling four-ninths of the total amount produced by the whole of Europe, and far exceeding that yielded by any other State, the miners and metallurgists of the United Kingdom were unable to obtain that instruction in the theory and the practice of their calling, which had long been carefully provided for their foreign competitors in the mining colleges of France, Belgium, Prussia, Saxony, Austria, Spain, and Sweden, and the effect of which, in all cases, had been a marked increase in the economy, efficiency, and safety of mining operations.

Guided by those principles of policy which had led successive administrations to establish or to support schools of art and design, for the advantage of other great manufacturing interests, the Government acceded to the request of the memorialists ; the immediate realization of whose wishes was doubtless much facilitated by the circumstance that the complete nucleus of a mining school already existed in the officers, the laboratories, and the mineral and fossil collections of the Geological Survey of the United Kingdom.

This Survey, commenced single-handed by the late Sir Henry de la Beche, in the year 1834, had undergone a slow and gradual expansion, and as the value and the necessary magnitude of its operations became more obvious, had met with more and more support and encouragement from the State, until, in the year 1851, its working staff contained not only practical geologists and field surveyors, but a naturalist, a mining surveyor, a mineralogist, a metallurgist, and a chemist ; and the extensive fossil and other collections, which were not only the fruit of the labours of the Survey, but the justification of its maps, were lodged in the new and spacious museum in Jermyn Street, which had been expressly built for their display and for the purposes of the Survey, by the Government of Sir Robert Peel.

In order therefore to establish a school of mines, little more was necessary than that the Government should formally authorise a certain number of the officers of the Survey to teach those sciences with which it was their official duty to be acquainted ; and, in fact, when the School of Mines was instituted in 1851, all its professors, with a single exception, were officers of the Survey and Museum, and the students were taught in the theatres and laboratories, and by means of the collections which appertained to the pre-existing establishment.

The principal object of the Institution which had thus naturally grown out of, or engrafted itself upon, the Geological Survey of the United Kingdom, has always been and is to discipline the students of the school thoroughly in the principles of those sciences upon which the operations of the miner and metallurgist depend. Of course nothing but experience in the mine and in the laboratory can confer the skill and tact requisite for the practical conduct of these operations ; but, on the other hand, it is only by an acquaintance with scientific principles that the beginner can profit by that experience and improve upon the processes of his predecessors.

The Normal School of Science at South Kensington is intended, primarily, for the instruction of Teachers, and of students of the industrial classes selected by competition in the examinations of the Science and Art Department.

The Royal School of Mines is affiliated to the Normal School. Students entering for the Associateship of the School of Mines obtain their general scientific training in the Normal School.

Other students are admitted so far as there may be accommodation for them, on the payment of fees fixed at a scale sufficiently high to prevent undue competition with institutions which do not receive State aid.

The instruction in the Normal School is arranged in such a manner as to give the Students a thorough training in the general principles of Science, followed by advanced instruction in one or more special branches of Science.

The Associateship is granted in certain divisions or lines of study. Students who go through any one of the prescribed courses of instruction and pass the necessary Examinations receive a Certificate of Associateship of the Normal School, or of the Royal School of Mines.

But students who are not candidates for the Associateship are permitted to take up the course of instruction in one or more special branches of science, and on passing the examination receive a Certificate to that effect.

The Normal School and the Royal School of Mines are administered by a Council consisting of the Professors and some of the Lecturers, with a Dean as Chairman, and a Registrar.

The Associateship of the Normal School of Science is given in one or more of the following divisions—(a) Mechanics, (b) Physics, (c) Chemistry, (d) Biology, (e) Geology, (f) Agriculture, and the Associateship of the Royal School of Mines in (g) Metallurgy, (h) Mining.

The Session is divided into two Terms. The first Term begins about the 1st of October and ends about the middle of February. The second Term begins in the middle of February and ends about the middle of June.

The Christmas Holidays last about ten days, and the Easter Holidays about a week.

The course of instruction is the same for all the divisions during the first two years, after which it is specialised.

Examinations are held at the end of each course of instruction and at such other periods as may be found necessary. On the results of these examinations the successful candidates are arranged in two classes, first and second. There are also "Honours" examinations for the subjects of the third and fourth years, the successful candidates being placed in order of merit.

A student obtains the Associateship who passes in all the subjects of the first two years of the special division he selects for his Associateship.

A student who goes through the prescribed course of instruction in any subject and passes the final examination in it receives a certificate to that effect.

The fees must be paid to the Registrar of the School before the commencement of each course.

Mathematics, 3*l.* per term; Practical Geometry and Mechanical Drawing, 3*l.* per term; Freehand Drawing, 1*l.* per term.

The fees for the first two years amount to 75*l.*, and for the remainder of the course for the Associateship they vary from 30*l.* to 40*l.*

Both the private, and the State-aided, students are required to furnish themselves with certain instruments and apparatus before the commencement of the courses. These are enumerated in the syllabuses of the several subjects.

Students who do not wish to attend the lectures are admitted for short periods to the laboratories, at the discretion of the Professors. The fees for the Chemical and Metallurgical and Physical laboratories are 5*l.* per month; for the Biological and Geological laboratories 4*l.* per month.

Admission is granted to persons desirous of attending the lectures without the laboratory instruction, on payment of the lecture fees.

Officers of the Army, Navy, and Civil Service, recommended by their respective Departments, are admitted to the Lectures and Laboratories at half the foregoing charges.

Students may be re-examined on payment of a fee of 1*l.* for each subject.

Associates of the Normal School of Science and of the Royal School of Mines have the privilege of free admission to the Library and to all the courses of lectures.

Science teachers actually engaged in teaching who have passed in the advanced stage, or in honours, in any subject in the May examination of the Science and Art Department, or in the December examination in Training Colleges, may attend any course of lectures on the payment of 1*l.*

Students who have joined the Royal School of Mines under the old regulations will be required to pass through the following courses of study:—

Second Year, First Term, Physics, Part I.; Second Term, Mechanics, Part I., Mechanical Drawing.

Third Year, First Term, Part I. (Geological Division); Second Term, Mineralogy and Geology, Part I.

Third Year, First Term, Mining and Assaying (Mining Division); Second Term, Geology and Mineralogy.

Third Year, First and Second Terms, Metallurgy with Laboratory practice (Metallurgical Division).

SUMMER COURSES FOR TEACHERS.

Short courses of instruction are given annually, about July, in different branches of Science for the benefit of Teachers of Science Schools in the country. The courses last three weeks. About 200 teachers are admitted to them, and they receive 2nd class railway fare to and from London, and a bonus towards their incidental expenses of 2*l.* each. (See Science Directory.)

WORKING MEN'S LECTURES.

Three or four courses of evening lectures for working men are given annually during the winter months by the Professors and Lecturers of the Normal School and School of Mines. The admission to each course of six lectures which will be given at South Kensington, Jermyn Street, or Bethnal Green is 6*d.* The number of tickets is limited by the size of the lecture theatre.

EXHIBITIONS, SCHOLARSHIPS, AND PRIZES.

There are various Exhibitions, Scholarships, and free admissions attached to the School. They are as follows:—

Royal Exhibitions.

There are twelve Royal Exhibitions of the value of 50*l.* per annum, entitling the holders to free admission to all the lectures and the chemical and metallurgical laboratories, to be held from year to year for three years, on the condition that the holder attends the courses regularly during those years, complies with all the rules laid down for his guidance, and passes the examinations required for the associateship of the schools.

Three or four of the above Royal Exhibitions are open for competition at the May Examination, independently of the prizes, etc., offered by the Science and Art Department.

All persons over twenty-one years of age, excepting artisans and such as come within the category of persons paid under the Science Directory, will be excluded from competing for the Royal Exhibitions. Special cases, however, must be determined according to the spirit of the rules and the object of the endowment.

The competition for the Royal Exhibitions will be determined by affixing the following values to the several results of the May Examination.

The maximum number of marks obtainable in each subject, except mathematics, will be, in the Elementary stage, 100; Advanced stage, 200; Honours, 400. In mathematics the numbers will be, in the 1st stage, 100; 2nd stage, 200; 3rd stage, 300; Honours 500; 4th stage, 150; 5th stage, 300; Honours 500; 6th stage, 300; 7th stage, 400; Honours 600.

But in each case the number of marks gained in the Elementary stage (or in the 1st stage in Mathematics) will be diminished by the minimum number required to pass in that stage, and the number of marks gained in the other stages will be diminished by 20 per cent. of the marks obtainable in those stages.

The remainder will then be added together to determine the candidate's position.

But no candidate will be allowed to take an exhibition who has not obtained in Mathematics at least as many marks as are required for a second class in stage 2.

Free Studentships.

Six Free Studentships are awarded annually under the same rules and conditions as the Royal Exhibitions. They give the Student free admission to the lectures and laboratories for three or three and a half years, as the case may be.

Teachers in Training.

About fifty Teachers and Students in Science Classes, who intend to become Science Teachers, are admitted free to the Sessional Courses of instruction at the Normal School. They receive 2nd class railway fare to and from London, and a maintenance allowance of 21s. per week while there.

Local Exhibitions.

Free instruction is given to Local Exhibitioners. The rules for the creation of Local Exhibitions to which the locality contributes 25*l.* and the State 25*l.* are to be found in the Science Directory.

Royal Scholarships.

Four Scholarships, of fifteen pounds each, are given to the Students who shall stand highest on the list of those who have passed their examinations for the first year; and two Scholarships of twenty-five pounds each to that pupil who has gained the greatest number of marks in the examinations of the first two years.

These Scholarships and Exhibitions are held on the conditions of the Student attending the courses of Lectures regularly, being examined once in the year, and passing satisfactorily.

The Edward Forbes Medal.

The Trustees appointed by the Committee of the Edward Forbes Memorial Fund have presented to the Institution a bronze medal and a prize of books, to be awarded to the Student who does best in Biology.

The De la Beche Medal.

The Council awards annually to the Student who has passed highest in the first class in Mining a bronze medal and a prize of books.

The Murchison Medal.

A medal and a prize of books, the gift of the late Director, Sir Roderick Murchison, will be awarded annually to the Student who stands highest in the Geological Examination.

The Bessemer Medal for Metallurgy, and a Tyndall Prize for Physics.

PLAN OF INSTRUCTION.

The mode of instruction is by systematic courses of Lectures, by written and oral Examinations, by practical teaching in the Laboratories and Drawing Office, and also, under certain conditions, by Field Excursions.

Further information may be obtained by application to the Clerk and Librarian, C. A. Patterson, Jermyn Street, London, S.W.

OLDHAM LYCEUM AND SCIENCE AND ART SCHOOL,

UNION STREET, OLDHAM.

This School was founded in 1840, incorporated in 1864, and was re-built and enlarged in 1880. It was formally opened on March 17th, 1881, by the Right Hon. the Earl of Derby, who distributed the prizes on that occasion.

The comprehensive arrangements made by the Science and Art Department for the encouragement of Technical Education, now supplemented on a large scale by the commendable action of the City and Guilds of London Institute, have had, and are still receiving, the fullest co-operation from this school, situated as it is in a locality where trade has been developed by giant strides, and the importance of technical training being self-evident to the community at large. By the munificent liberality of the representatives of the late Mr. J. Platt, new and commanding buildings have been erected for the furtherance of all those subjects of education which are embraced in the curriculum of schools devoted to science and art studies, now so necessary to enable the British workman to compete with the acknowledged taste of foreign workmen. During the 15 years' history of this school the number of students who have attended these classes exceeds 3,400. The school was incorporated with the Science and Art Department, South Kensington, during the session 1864-65. Funds for the maintenance of the work were provided by annual subscriptions, class fees, and payment on results from the Science and Art Department to the masters.

The following results will prove the "thoroughness" of the various studies:—In 1880 the City and Guilds of London Institute held the technological examinations, and this school gained the silver medal and advanced first prize of 3*l.* for mechanical engineering; also the bronze medal and honours, second prize (5*l.*) for wool dyeing. 442 students, 403 successes, including 18 honours, 3 national medals for honours, 3 Whitworth scholarship prizes, 2 second of 60*l.* each, 1 final second of 100*l.*, 1 Whitworth exhibition of 20*l.* per annum for two years.

Summary of scholarships and medals from 1865 to 1880 :—Gained 9 of the Whitworth scholarships and 9 prizes, 7 Whitworth exhibitions and 2 studentships, total value 3,690*l.*; 1 Bremner exhibition, 4 gold, 7 silver, and 6 bronze medals (grant of these medals discontinued since 1876); gained 10 national medals for honours, and 2 medals for technical examinations. The gross total of money received in prizes, exhibitions, and scholarships since 1867 is 5,490*l.* This amount, being awarded to the students, forms no part of the revenue of the school.

Secretary.—W. Bailey, Oldham.

YORKSHIRE COLLEGE,

LEEDS.

At this institution (now incorporated under the Companies Act 1862 and 1867), which was opened in 1874, and is now handsomely endowed, instruction is given to students in Mathematics and Experimental Physics, Chemistry, Geology, and Mining, Biology, Civil and Mechanical Engineering, Classics, Mental and Moral Science, Modern Literature and History, Greek, German, Oriental Languages, Textile Industries, Dyeing, and other branches. Examinations are held at the end of each term. The title of Associate is conferred upon students who have been members of the College for not less than two entire sessions, have attended classes in not less than three subjects, and have passed (1) a Preliminary Examination, and (2) a Special Examination in each class at the end of their curriculum. Subjects of the Preliminary Examination—English Composition, and the outlines of English History and Geography; Elementary Mathematics, viz.—Arithmetic, Algebra to Simple Equations, and Euclid (Books I. and II.), and Latin, or one Modern European Language. Subjects for Special Examination—Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, Ancient History and Literature, Modern History and Literature. A Course of Lectures, specially devoted to the application of Geology to Mining, Textile Industries, and other industrial pursuits, is given during each term. The Council are now able to give Scholarships amounting to nearly 600*l.* annually, and thirteen or fourteen Scholarships, of amounts more—and in some cases much more—than sufficient to pay all College expenses, are thrown open to competition every year. The Scholarships at the disposal of the College are the Cavendish Scholarship, the Salt Scholarship, and the Akroyd, Brown, and Clothworkers' Scholarships, viz., The Cavendish Scholarship of 50*l.*, awarded for investigations made by the candidates in any branch of Natural Science taught in the college, and is tenable for 1 year; the Salt Scholarship is tenable for 2 years, value 20*l.*; the Akroyd Entrance Scholarships, each of the value of 25*l.* per annum, and tenable for 3 years. The Worshipful Company of Clothworkers of the City of London offer 4 Scholarships of the annual value of 25*l.* each, in connection with the Department of Textile Industries in the Yorkshire College, to be held by Students between the ages of 16 and 24 years. The Akroyd Scholarships are maintained by funds accruing from the Akroyd Trust, and are intended for the encouragement of the study of Natural Science. The Brown Scholarships were endowed by the late Henry Brown, Esq., who bequeathed 5,000*l.* for the purpose of founding five or more Scholarships, to be called the Brown Scholarships, for students attending the said College of Science. The Devonshire Exhibition in connection with the Keighley School of Science and Art, of the annual value of 50*l.*, is tenable at the Yorkshire College, and at other Institutions. And Whitworth Scholarships—6 Scholarships of 100*l.* a year, tenable for 3 years—are competed for at the May examinations of the Science and Art Department. It is understood that the requisite amount—viz., 7,500*l.*—has now been subscribed to endow the Chair of Physics at Yorkshire College, Leeds, as a memorial of the late Lord F. Cavendish, who was Chairman of the Council of the College. Lectures are also given on the Theory and Practice of Coal Mining, Mining Engineering, and Colliery Management. The fees are extremely moderate. There is also a School of Medicine in connection with this school, see Medical Section. The London Clothworkers' Company, who have for years past aided the cause of technical education, resolved at a meeting of the court of governors in July 1883, to make an additional grant of 10,000*l.* to this College, to be applied to the enlargement of the textile industries department, more extensive accommodation being required for both the dyeing and weaving sections.

Perpetual Life Governors.—His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, K.G., LL.D., F.R.S., and four others.

President.—The Most Hon. the Marquess of Ripon, K.G.

Chairman.—Sir Edward Baines, and a Council of 24 members.

Principal.—Professor John Marshall, M.A.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY COLLEGE.

At this Institution Day Classes in Arts and Science, and Evening Lectures, are held to male and female students alike, at extremely moderate fees. The Classes of the Medical Faculty are open to male students only. No person under fifteen years of age will be admitted as a day student, and all under sixteen will be required to pass a Preliminary Examination previous to admission, which will consist of three parts—(1) Language; (2) Mathematics; (3) Science. It will not be necessary to qualify in all of these groups. In order to give some idea of the total cost involved by College training, the following tables are drawn up showing the complete series of lecture courses provided for Candidates for the London University Matriculation and Intermediate Examinations, which involve preparation in a large number of different subjects. For the Matriculation Examination—

The College Classes provide a complete curriculum for the various London University Examinations from the Matriculation upwards, and the College has been recognized by the Senate of the University of London as a centre for the holding of the June Matriculation Examination, the Intermediate Examination in Arts and in Science, the Preliminary Scientific Examination, and the B.A. (Pass) Examination.

The local entrance fee will be the same in all cases, viz.—1*l.* for the Matriculation Examination, and 2*l.* for any other Examination. Luncheon and Refreshment Rooms are provided upon the College premises, and are open to all Students. Four entrance Scholarships have been founded, each of the value of 20*l.* per annum. These Scholarships are tenable for two years, and payable half-yearly. At the close of the Autumn Term there will be a General Examination of Students in the various departments of College work. This examination will extend over three days, and a Syllabus of Evening Lectures and Classes will be supplied by the Registrar.

Principal.—Professor Rendall, M.A., and 18 Professors and Lecturers.

Registrar.—Signor Eugenio Londini, D.L.

HARRIS INSTITUTE, AVENHAM, PRESTON.

This Institution was founded through the munificent liberality of the late Mr. Harris, Prothonotary of Lancashire, who left over 200,000*l.* for useful public objects, and who resolved to grant 40,000*l.* for the foundation of a Science, Art, and Technical School for Preston. The Preston Institution for the diffusion of useful knowledge is now merged into the Harris Institute, the objects being the promotion of Literature, Art, Science, and Technical instruction. But the primary object of the formation of the Institute is the promotion of Technical instruction, and that the other subjects named are intended, so far as practicable, to be furthered with that object mainly in view; and as a Technical School, by this expression it is not intended to be one in which merely the manipulation or routine of a particular trade is taught, but rather one where general instruction is given in the principles of science, and subsequently special instruction in the application of those principles to the operations of special trades.

The course of instruction is divided into four departments or sections; viz.,—(1) Art. (2) Chemistry. (3) Physics. (4) Mechanics. This Institute is filling a most important place in the education of the town in a practical direction, as regards both Art and Science, but its usefulness is capable of considerable expansion with extended means. Instruction is given in Freehand Drawing, Practical Geometry, Perspective and Architectural Drawing, Drawing from Models, Drawing and Painting Flowers, Foliage, Landscape, Still Life, etc., Drawing Ornament, Ornamental design, Drawing the Human Figure from copies, Anatomical Drawing, the Study of the Antique, Drawing the Human Figure from Draped Life Model. Students are required to follow a progressive course, and not to advance to higher work till the Master shall consider them qualified for it. During the Winter and Spring Terms courses of Lectures are given on Geometry, Model Drawing, Perspective, Anatomy, etc.

Prizes and Scholarships are given to Students in addition to the Government awards. A Scholarship of 45*l.* a year, tenable at the South Kensington Art Training School, or some other leading Institution for instruction in Art, will shortly be open for competition by Students attending classes at the Institute. The School year or Session is divided into three Terms of about 13 weeks each. The fees are for the Morning classes, 2*l.* per year, or 17*s.* 6*d.* per term; for Evening classes, 10*s.* per year, or 5*s.* per term.

President.—Wm. Ascroft, Esq., J.P.

Vice-President.—The Rev. George Steele, M.A., H.M. Inspector of Schools.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

Technical education, though it often forms a topic of discussion, is comparatively little understood in England, and until within the last few years has still less frequently been put into practice. Its primary objects are to improve the minds of artisans with all that has been heretofore accomplished in their particular handicrafts, at home and abroad, and to encourage the exercise of the greatest attainable perfection in mechanical skill.

The subject of technical education was first brought under the consideration of the Corporation in May, 1877, in a letter from the associated livery companies inviting the Corporation to nominate representatives, which they did, to attend a meeting on the matter. The resolutions passed at that meeting relative to a scheme for a national system of technical education were laid before the Court, and afterwards the Court nominated thirty representatives on the Board of Governors of the livery companies for the advancement of that education.

The City Companies had for some time past seriously considered the important subject of technical education, and it is a matter perfectly in harmony with duties properly belonging to these guilds; for they, in a great measure, owe their existence to the necessity that arose in bygone times for the greater development and protection of the various trades, and were especially created to discourage bad and slovenly workmanship.

The City Companies proposed, some time ago, to erect on the Thames Embankment a College, with an endowment out of their funds of 20,000*l.* per annum, and intended that it should be formed into a Central Technical University, to which would be attached a Technical Training College and Institute; but South Kensington was the site ultimately determined upon. A general meeting of the masters of the several companies was convened about three years ago to decide upon what should be done, and a committee was formed, of which Lord Selborne (who had been Master of the Mercers' Company) was chairman, and Mr. F. Bramwell, of the Goldsmiths' Company, was vice-chairman. This committee subsequently submitted a series of propositions, the chief object of which was "the improvement of the technical knowledge of those engaged in the manufactures of this country, whether employed as workmen, managers, foremen, or as principals."

Twelve Livery Companies, including those of the Mercers, Drapers, Fishmongers, Goldsmiths, and Clothworkers, promised annual contributions amounting to nearly 12,000*l.*, on the condition that a sound working programme was agreed upon. The aim is to impart a thorough knowledge of the scientific or artistic principles upon which particular manufactures depend, and it was believed that it could be best furnished by the establishment of a Central Institution in London, and local branch Trade Schools to be opened in different districts.

Public education in France is divided into five faculties, those of literature, law, medicine, theology, and science. Foremost amongst the schools for technical education stands the Ecole Polytechnique, with its branches, the Ecole des Mines, and the Ecole des Ponts et Chaussées, destined exclusively for the education of Government, railway, and mining engineers, not to speak of the military and naval branch of the school, nor of the comparatively few who join the Regie de Tabac. The admission to the Ecole Polytechnique is by competitive examination. The degree of Bachelor in Science or Literature is required for admission to the competition. This examination is a somewhat severe test of sound primary education, as it comprises the whole of arithmetic, elementary geometry, algebra, trigonometry, descriptive geometry, physics and general chemistry, and a knowledge of German. From 120 to 150 are admitted per annum, out of a number five times as great, who present themselves for examination. The pupils at the Ecole Polytechnique are boarded and lodged at the establishment at Government expense, and the studies are purely scientific.

Hitherto the only establishment in Great Britain comparable with the Ecole Centrale as regards metallurgy was our School of Mines.

CITY AND GUILDS OF LONDON INSTITUTE FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

PRESIDENTS AND OFFICERS OF THE INSTITUTE.

President—H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, K.G.

Vice-Presidents—The Right Hon. Earl Selborne, F.R.S., Lord Chancellor (Chairman of Council); Sir Frederick J. Bramwell, F.R.S., M. Inst. C.E. (Chairman of Executive Committee); Sir S. H. Waterlow, Bart., Ald., M.P. (Treasurer).

Honorary Secretaries—John Watney, F.S.A.; W. P. Sawyer; Owen Roberts, M.A.

Director and Secretary—Philip Magnus, B.Sc., B.A.

Solicitor—W. S. Prideaux, Goldsmiths' Hall.

Offices—Gresham College, London, E.C.

The report of the Council for the year 1883 was issued on the 1st of August, 1883, and contained many encouraging features, one being in the particulars of the work done by women. In the South London Technical School, the numbers of women students have, during the past year, not fallen far short of those of the men; and in some branches, such as wood engraving, they have been largely in excess. The figures are not, indeed, very considerable as yet, but they are growing; and they have to be taken in connection with those of many other departments of instruction, if we wish to form a true idea of the activity which has lately begun to characterise the movement for female education in this kingdom. In all classes of society, and in all stages of attainment, the last few years have seen an immense advance in this direction. In the Universities, as in the Board schools, our sisters have begun to assert, and to justify, their claim to as good an education as is given to their brothers. Cambridge, as well as London University, the Royal University in Ireland, and Victoria College, Manchester, have already thrown open their degree examinations to women, granting them the usual degrees; and the smallness of the majority by which a like proposal was lately defeated in the Hebdomadal Council shows that in Oxford the same measure is but a question of time

What an improvement has lately taken place in girls' schools is a fact so well known that it need not be dwelt on, and one of the best results of an organization like that of the City and Guilds Institute will be to develop all over the country many centres of good training and educated skill. The number of candidates who presented themselves for examination on May 30th, 1883, was 2,397, as against 1,972 in 1882, showing an increase of 425. 148 prizes were granted, including 48 silver medals and 95 bronze medals.

FINSBURY TECHNICAL COLLEGE, the foundation-stone of which was laid by His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany in 1881, was opened in January, 1883, and more than 500 students are receiving instruction in mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, industries involving applications of chemistry, the building trades and cabinet-making, and other art industries. As to the classes in the Finsbury College, it would seem that last session 1,108 tickets were issued, and that in the recent winter term 652 tickets were taken by 513 students. A summary of results showed that during the past year examinations were held in 147 centres in different parts of the country, that 1,972 candidates were examined, of whom 1,222 had obtained certificates, being an increase of 327 successful candidates compared with the number in 1881. At least one-third of the successful candidates had come from Bolton, Glasgow, Manchester, Bradford, and Oldham, and the mention of these great centres of industry was enough to show that what was highly appreciated there must be most useful for the purposes of the industries of the country generally. Coming, then, to the grants in aid of branch institutions, those of £400 a year were continued to University and King's College, London, as also the grant of £250 a year to the School of Art wood-carving, and of £350 to the British Horological Institute.

The following table gives the result of the examinations since the year 1879 :—

| Year. | Number of Centres. | Number of subjects of Examination. | Number of Candidates. | Number of Candidates who passed. |
|-------|--------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1879  | 23                 | 7                                  | 202                   | 151                              |
| 1880  | 85                 | 24                                 | 816                   | 515                              |
| 1881  | 115                | 28                                 | 1,563                 | 895                              |
| 1882  | 147                | 37                                 | 1,972                 | 1,222                            |
| 1883  | 150                | 38                                 | 2,397                 | 1,498                            |

The South London School of Technical Art has continued its useful work. The number of candidates for the Technological Examinations has steadily increased, and additional grants have been made to provincial institutions.

The building of the Central College at South Kensington is proceeding rapidly. It is expected that this central institution will be completed and formally opened during the summer of 1884. The foundation-stone was laid in July, 1881, by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. At this institution, science of a higher class in its applications will be taught to advanced students. It will not be a mere Ecole Centrale, such as we have referred to in France, or a mere Polytechnische Schule, such as we find in Germany. These schools are very efficient in a certain way ; but, after all, you cannot learn the business of a trade in a school. You must go into the workshop. One thing in which this institute will be of great importance is the formation of teachers of technical science. These have to be exceedingly well instructed in science generally ; they have moreover to study special science as applied to particular crafts, and they have to know sufficient of the craft itself to explain the connection of that science and that craft to the young.

TECHNOLOGICAL EXAMINATIONS, 1883-4.

The City and Guilds of London Institute for the advancement of Technical Education will afford facilities for carrying out an examination in any of the subjects enumerated in the list given below, wherever a class for instruction is formed, or a sufficient number of candidates present themselves, provided a local committee undertake to carry out the examination according to the rules laid down in the programme.

The committee of any Art or Science School under the Science and Art Department,* or any School Board, or any "Local Examination Board" connected with the Society of Arts,† will be accepted as a suitable committee for superintending the Institute's examinations. In special cases, also, the Institute may entertain propositions for the establishment of special local committees for the technological examinations.

SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.

1. Alkali manufacture ; 2. Bread-making ; 3. Brewing ; 4. Distilling—a. Coal-tar distilling, b. Spirit manufacture ; 5. Sugar manufacture ; 6. Fuel ; 7. Oils, colours, and varnishes, manufacture of ; 8. Oils, illuminating and lubricating, manufacture of ; 9. Gas manufacture ; 10. Iron and steel manufacture ; 11. Paper manufacture ; 12. Pottery and porcelain manufacture ; 13. Glass manufacture ; 14. Dyeing—a. Silk, b. Wool ; 15. Bleaching, dyeing and printing of calico or linen ; 16. Tanning leather ; 17. Photography ; 18. Electro-metallurgy ; 19. Textile fabrics, manufacture of—a. Cloth, b. Cotton, c. Linen, d. Silk, e. Jute ; 20. Lace manufacture ; 21. Weaving and pattern designing ; 22. Electrical engineering—a. Telegraphy, b. Electric lighting and transmission of power, c. Electrical Instrument making ; 23. Metal plate work ; 24. Plumbers' work ; 25. Silversmiths' work ; 26. Watch and clock making ; 27. Tools—a. Wood working, b. Metal working ; 28. Mechanical engineering ; 29. Carriage building ; 30. Printing ; 31. Ores, mechanical preparation of ; 32. Mine surveying ; ‡ 33. Milling (flour manufacture). In the subjects numbered 4, 14, 19, 22, 27, candidates must select one branch only, a, b, c, d, or e, in which to be examined.

The examination will be in two grades :—1. Ordinary, or "pass" ; 2. Honours. Certificates (first and second class) will be awarded in each grade.

* A list of these committees can be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Science and Art Department, South Kensington, London, S.W.

† A list of these boards can be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Society of Arts, Adelphi, London, W.C.

‡ The practical examination for the Honours grade will be held at Camborne, and in the neighbourhood of Newcastle-on-Tyne, provided a sufficient number of candidates apply to be examined before April 20th, 1883. Candidates for examination in Honours must have passed in a previous year the examinations in the ordinary grade, or elementary grade (programme 1881).

Besides passing the Institute's examination in technology, candidates will be required, in order to obtain the full technological certificate in the ordinary or pass grade, to have passed the Science and Art Department's examination, in the elementary stage at least, in two of certain science subjects which are named in the syllabus of the several technological subjects; and to obtain the full technological certificate in the Honours grade, they will be required to have passed the Science and Art Department's examination in the advanced stage, at least, in two out of the same list of subjects, unless they can give such other evidence as is mentioned in the following clause, showing that they possess the necessary scientific knowledge.

The Institute will accept as evidence of the candidate's knowledge of the necessary science subjects—1. A certificate stating that the candidate has obtained a degree in science at one of the Universities of the United Kingdom; 2. Certificates from the Professors at any of the following Institutions (the list to be added to from time to time):—Any University of the United Kingdom; the City and Guilds of London Technical College, Finsbury; the Normal School of Science and Royal School of Mines; University College, London; King's College, London; the Owens College, Manchester; the Yorkshire College, Leeds; University College, Bristol; Mason's College, Birmingham; University College, Nottingham; the Royal College of Science, Ireland; stating that the candidate has attended courses of instruction under the Professors at one of the above Institutions in the science subjects allied to the technological subject in which the full certificate is claimed, and has passed an examination in such science subjects satisfactory to the Professors.

PRIZES.

The following prizes will be offered in each subject:—Honours grade: 1st prize, 5*l.* and a silver medal; 2nd prize, 5*l.* and a bronze medal. Ordinary grade: 1st prize, 3*l.* and a silver medal; 2nd prize, 3*l.* and a bronze medal; 3rd prize, 2*l.* and a bronze medal; 4th prize, 1*l.* and a bronze medal; 5th prize, a bronze medal.

The examinations for the year 1884 will be held in May.

There is no limit of age, and no fee for examination. Any persons desiring to be examined should apply not later than April 27th, to the Secretary of the nearest local committee, who will forward their names to the Central Office in London. No application from any candidate can be received after April 27th.

Copies of the programme, containing full particulars of the examinations, a syllabus of each subject, and the examination papers of 1884, can be obtained from the Central Office of the City and Guilds of London Institute, Gresham College, London, E.C.

LIST OF EXAMINERS FOR THE YEAR 1883.

1. Alkali manufacture.—Watson Smith, Esq., F.C.S., and Alfred E. Fletcher, Esq.
2. Bread-making.—Professor Charles Graham, D.Sc., F.I.C.
3. Brewing.—Professor Charles Graham, D.Sc., F.I.C.
4. Distilling.—A. Coal-tar distilling; B. Spirit manufacture.—Professor H. E. Armstrong, Ph.D., F.R.S., W. H. Perkin, Esq., F.R.S.
5. Sugar manufacture.—C. Haughton-Gill, Esq., F.C.S.
6. Fuel.—Professor Edmund J. Mills, D.Sc., F.R.S.

7. Oils, Colours, and Varnishes, manufacture of.—Professor Barff, M.A.
8. Oils, illuminating, and lubricating, manufacture of.—Professor Edmund J. Mills, D.Sc., F.R.S.
9. Gas manufacture.—A. Angus Croll, Esq., Assoc. Inst. C.E.
10. Iron and Steel manufacture.—Dr. C. Alder Wright, F.I.C., F.C.S.
11. Paper manufacture.—E. Bevan, Esq.
12. Pottery and Porcelain manufacture.—G. R. Redgrave, Esq.
13. Glass manufacture.—James Pellatt Rickman, Esq. (Pellatt & Co.)
14. Dyeing—A. Silk; B. Wool.—J. I. Hummel, Esq., F.C.S.
15. Bleaching, Dyeing, and Printing (Cotton or Linen).—William Crookes, Esq., F.R.S., and J. Riley, Esq.
16. Tanning Leather.—Henry R. Procter, Esq.
17. Photography.—Captain Abney, R.E., F.R.S.
18. Electro-Metallurgy.—George Gore, Esq., LL.D., F.R.S.
19. Textile Fabrics, manufacture of—
  - A. Cloth.—Joseph Wrigley, Esq.
  - B. Cotton.—J. Butterworth, Esq.
  - C. Linen.—Michael Andrews, Esq., and Henry McCance, Esq.
  - D. Silk.—Thomas Dickens, Esq.
  - E. Jute.—
20. Lace manufacture.—E. Doughty, Esq.
21. Weaving and Pattern-designing.—John Orr, Esq., and Major W. H. Shepherd.
22. Electrical Engineering—
  - A. Telegraphy.—Wm. Henry Preece, Esq., F.R.S., M. Inst. C.E.
  - B. Electric Lighting and Transmission of Power; C. Electrical Instrument making.—Professor W. E. Ayrton, F.R.S., A.M. Inst. C.E.
23. Metal plate work.—Professor Huntington.
24. Plumbers' work.—W. Eassie, Esq.
25. Silversmiths' work.—James Garrard, Esq.
26. Watch and Clock making.—Edward Rigg, Esq., M.A.
27. Tools—A. Wood-working; B. Metal-working.—J. J. Holtzapffel, Esq., Assoc. Inst. C.E.
28. Mechanical Engineering.—Professor John Perry, M.E.
29. Carriage-building.—G. A. Thrupp, Esq.
30. Printing.—
31. Ores, Mechanical preparation of.—John Darlington, Esq.
32. Mine Surveying.—James Henderson, Esq., M. Inst. C.E.
33. Milling (Flour manufacture).—W. Proctor Baker, Esq.

TECHNICAL COLLEGE, FINSBURY.

Principal—Philip Magnus, Esq., B.Sc., B.A.

The Technical College, Finsbury, referred to above, has for its objects the education of—(1) Persons of either sex who wish to receive a scientific and practical preparatory training for intermediate posts in industrial works. (2) Apprentices, journeymen, and foremen, who are engaged during the day-time, and who desire to receive supplementary instruction in the art practice and in the theory and principles of science connected with the industry in which they are engaged. (3) Pupils from middle-class and other schools, who are preparing for the higher scientific and technical courses of instruction to be pursued at the Central Institution.

The College therefore fulfils the functions of a finishing technical school for those entering industrial life at a comparatively early age; of a supplemental school for those already engaged in the factory or workshop; and of a preparatory school for the Central Institution.

The College embraces the following four chief departments or faculties: 1. Mathematical and Mechanical; 2. Physical; 3. Chemical; 4. Applied Art.

The College is under the general direction of the Principal or Superintendent of Studies. At the head of each department is a Professor, who is assisted by one or more Demonstrators; and besides these there are lecturers and teachers for instruction in special subjects. Skilled artisans are employed in the workshops for the guidance of the students.

The instruction in all the departments consists of lectures, class lessons, laboratory, studio, and workshop practice. Each complete course of day instruction extends over a period of two years, but students may remain longer at the College. The evening course for apprentices lasts three years.

The day classes comprise regular and systematic courses for those who, on leaving the College, are intended to at once enter the factory, workshop, or some commercial pursuit, as well as for those who will proceed to the Central Institution for higher instruction; and it is expected that the pupils of the day classes will attend all the courses of instruction recommended under the department which they enter. The evening classes, intended for apprentices, foremen, and others, are more especially adapted to the requirements of those who are already engaged in specific industries. The students of these classes can ascertain from the head of each department the courses of instruction best adapted to their several trades.

The industries or trades to which the courses of instruction at the Finsbury Technical College specially apply are—

1. Mechanical Engineering.—Professor John Perry, M.E.
2. Electrical Engineering.—Professor W. E. Ayrton, F.R.S.
3. Industries involving applications of Chemistry.—Professor Henry E. Armstrong, Ph.D., F.R.S.
4. The Building Trade.—Head Master, A. P. Brophy.
5. Cabinet-making and other art industries.

The courses of instruction, however, will be, as far as possible, so arranged as to meet the requirements of persons preparing for other occupations, as well as apprentices, workmen, and foremen engaged in other trades not comprised under these headings.

In each of the departments of mechanics, physics, and chemistry, attendance at certain prescribed classes, hereinafter indicated, and satisfactory progress in these classes, as tested by examination, will be accepted by the Council from candidates for the Institute's full technological certificate as equivalent to passing certain of the Science and Art Department's Examinations in pure science.

In July, 1884, and at the close of every following session, certificates will be granted, on the award of the Professors, to students in any department who shall have satisfactorily attended the prescribed courses of that department

The Holl Scholarship of £20 a year for two years, tenable at the Technical College, Finsbury, to be competed for annually, will be awarded to a pupil of certain middle-class schools named in the scheme, in accordance with the conditions therein contained.

The Council have under consideration the foundation of scholarships of 50*l.* per annum, with free education, tenable at the Central Institution, to be awarded to Students of the Finsbury College, who, after the completion of a two years' course, are recommended by the Professors to receive them, and whose circumstances justify the Committee in awarding them.

The session at the Finsbury Technical College is divided into three terms:—The winter term, commencing on the first Monday in October, and ending on December 21st. The spring term, commencing on the second Monday in January, and ending about the 21st of March. The summer term, commencing about the 15th of April, and ending about July 16th.

A composition fee of 4*l.* per annum, and 1*l.* for the use of apparatus and material, payable in advance, secures attendance at the day classes to all the prescribed courses of any one department. The composition fee for a single term is 2*l.*, and 10*s.* for materials, etc. Day students entering the College in January, 1884, will be admitted for the remainder of the session at a composition fee of 3*l.*, and 1*l.* for the use of apparatus and materials.

The fees for the separate evening courses vary from 5*s.* to 12*s.* for the session of about nine months, or from 3*s.* 6*d.* to 6*s.* for a single term.

A composition fee of 1*l.* 10*s.* per annum (or 1*l.* for students entering in January), and 10*s.* for the use of apparatus and material, payable in advance, admits a student to all the evening classes he may require to attend.

Apprentices are admitted to any of the evening courses at half the ordinary fees.

A programme of the courses of instruction in the several departments may be obtained from the Principal.

SOUTH LONDON TECHNICAL ART SCHOOL,

122 & 124, KENNINGTON PARK ROAD, S.E.

SESSION 1883-4.

Director and Secretary—Philip Magnus, B.Sc., B.A.

Superintendent of Studies—John Charles Lewis Sparkes.

I.—MODELLING.

Teacher—Mr. J. Frith.

Classes for modelling meet every night, from 7 o'clock till 9.30, except Saturday. The fee for the life class is 5*s.* per month, or 2*l.* for the session of ten months: for the ornament class 2*s.* 6*d.* per month, or 1*l.* for the entire session, payable in advance.

The course of instruction is arranged to meet the wants of all persons working at plastic art, such as carvers in wood, stone or marble plasterers, die sinkers, potters, modellers for potters, silver and goldsmiths' work, architectural carvers and decorators, sculptors, and others.

IIA.—DESIGN (ADVANCED).

Lecturer and Teacher—Mr. Hugh Stannus.

The class meets on every Wednesday evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock. The fee is 2s. 6d. per month, or 1l. for the entire session, payable in advance.

Instruction is given in higher decoration and design, especially in the Italian and classical styles.

Lectures, designing objects in a given time, and lessons to the individual student, will occupy the alternate evenings. Details will be found on separate prospectus.

IIB.—DESIGN (ELEMENTARY).

Teacher—Miss Amy Walford.

Classes for the study of design meet on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings, from 6 to 8.30.

The fee is 2s. 6d. per month, or 1l. for the entire session, payable in advance.

Instruction is given by lectures and practice in—1. Drawing, flowers, foliage, and natural forms; 2. The arrangement of these studies in elementary designs.

All members of the class must have taken the second grade certificate of the Science and Art Department, or must be prepared, or preparing, to do so.

The course is adapted to students engaged in the practice of ornamental art, such as lithographers, engravers, house decorators, designers for textile fabrics, pottery, and all surface decorations.

Students find their own materials.

III.—WOOD ENGRAVING.

Teacher—Mr. C. Roberts.

The studio is open daily, except Saturdays, from 10 to 4, and from 6 to 8 in the evening. Students are expected to attend regularly and punctually.

The fees are 3l. a year, payable by half-yearly sums of 1l. 10s. in advance. No student can be admitted for a shorter period than one year.

The sections taught are—1. Line cutting; 2. Tinting; 3. Fac-simile cutting; 4. Finished work in (a) ornament, (b) landscape, (c) figure; 5. Drawing on wood.

Male and female students occupy separate class rooms.

IV.—CHINA PAINTING.

Teacher—Miss Florence Lewis.

Pending the extension of the buildings now occupied by the City and Guilds of London Technical Art School, this class will be held at the Lambeth School of Art, Miller's Lane, Upper Kennington Lane, S.E. It meets on each Tuesday and Friday, from 11 to 4.

The course consists of instruction in the manipulation of simple colours, and afterwards of those that require greater skill for their successful use. Landscape, figure, and decoration by natural flowers ornamentally arranged are the subjects principally taught, and all the practice at present is confined to working "over the glaze."

Students have the privilege of selling their works (if they are approved and passed by the Superintendent of Studies) at the sale rooms of Messrs. Doulton & Co., Albert Embankment, S.E.

V.—LIFE CLASSES (DRAWING AND PAINTING).

Teachers—Mr. L. C. Nightingale and J. H. Smith.

Classes meet on every evening, from 7 to 9.30 p.m. for the study of the draped and undraped model in alternation. Fee, 5s. per month, or 2l. for the whole session, payable in advance.

The study of the life is carried on to the highest point, and is arranged to give adequate instruction to students engaged in painting figures for pottery decoration, wood drawing, and all other applications of figure work to industrial art.

All classes, except those of modelling and drawing from the undraped model, are for male and female students.

The course of instruction occupies forty weeks of the year. The vacations are the months of August and September, one week at Christmas and one week at Easter or Whitsuntide.

THE SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY AND ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING.

12, PRINCES STREET, HANOVER SQUARE, W.

This establishment is the only general Electrical Engineering School in England, and supplies an effective course of tuition and training in every branch of applied electricity. Youths of fourteen years old and upwards are received; and since the opening of the school in 1868 upwards of 3,000 pupils have passed through the course. Officers in the Navy, Army, Civil Engineers, sons of professional men, and others, may acquire thorough practical knowledge of all the systems of working, of the construction and management of land and submarine telegraphs, of telephone lines, systems and exchanges, of the construction and management of electric light apparatus, of the operations of telegraphy in the field, as applied to warfare, testing wires, lines, and materials employed, submarine cable testing, localising faults, etc. The systems taught are those in general use in home and foreign service, qualifying students for any branch of the profession. The complete course for students requiring instruction in the practical, theoretical, and scientific branches extends over nine months. Hours of study, ten to five daily. The practical portion includes tuition in all systems of signalling, and in the use of the various instruments employed for testing, etc. The theoretical part embraces gas and other motors, mathematics, mechanics, and chemistry, to general physics in relation to electricity, electro-statics, electro-dynamics (voltaic electricity), magnetism, electro-magnetism, and magneto-electricity (including the theory of, and mode of constructing, dynamo and magneto-electric machines).

The theory of electric lighting by means of arc and incandescent lamps (including the principles of their construction). The theory and details of construction of the various forms of secondary batteries or accumulators. The theory of the telephone and microphone. Testing and localising faults in conductive circuits. Engineering formulæ, etc., etc. These subjects are also delivered in lectures, by well known authorities, to the various classes.

The pupils are divided into two classes, the elementary and advanced. Candidates wishing at once to enter the advanced class will be required to pass a preliminary examination; otherwise they will have first to qualify themselves in the elementary class.

TERMS.—The fee for the complete course, payable in advance, is seventy-five guineas.

Examinations held, and certificates granted, for immediate service.

Candidates preparing for professions, competitive examinations, or appointments in which sound scientific and technical knowledge is required, are privately instructed in mathematics, mechanical and natural philosophy, chemistry, chemical analysis, and other sciences.

Home, Foreign, and Submarine Telegraph Companies, Electric Light and Telephone Companies, are supplied with thoroughly efficient officers, on application to the Secretary.

Managing Director—Mr. T. I. Jones, M.S.T.E. Secretary—W. N. Tiddy.

GLASGOW TECHNICAL COLLEGE.

WELL STREET, CALTON, GLASGOW.

Founded in 1877. Endowed partly by Merchants of Glasgow and partly by Clothworkers' Company of London. The fees for a session of nine months are: Day Classes, 6*l.* 6*s.*; Evening Classes, 4*l.* 4*s.* JOHN ORR, Convener.

HARTLEY INSTITUTION.

SOUTHAMPTON.

Founded by the bequest of the late Henry Robinson Hartley, 1859, and publicly opened by the late Viscount Palmerston, K.G., 1862. Established to promote the study and advancement of the Sciences of Natural History, Astronomy, Antiquities, Classical and Oriental Literature, and the Fine Arts, in the town of Southampton. The Institution building, with the site on which it stands, has cost upwards of 20,000*l.*, and comprises the following Departments: the Circulating Library, the Reference Library, the Reading Rooms, the Museum, the Art Gallery, the Lecture Hall, the School of Science and Engineering, the School of Art, the Department of General Literature, the Evening Classes, and the Reading Room of the Southampton Chamber of Commerce. The educational departments are arranged to prepare candidates by theoretical and practical instruction, for Engineering and other Scientific pursuits, for the Indian Services, the Army, the Civil Services, and the Universities. There are large Laboratories and Class-rooms for the practical study of Natural History, and a School of Art forms part of the scheme. The educational department comprises School of Engineering and Technical Science, School of General Literature, Department of Preliminary Medical Education, School of Art. Fees, 15*l.* to 25*l.* per annum. Scholars are admitted above 14 years of age.

NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE COLLEGE OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

See University of Durham.

THE METROPOLITAN SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

27, CHANCERY LANE, LONDON, W.C.

ESTABLISHED 1870.

Among the many advantages afforded at this School, to Students who are desirous of becoming acquainted with the easy and philosophical system of Pitman's Shorthand, the following are enumerated:—

A large staff of experienced Teachers and the Principal are assisted by a staff of eight Reporters and Shorthand Teachers, who have been for several years professionally engaged in the above capacities, and whose direct interest in the progress of pupils is insured by their salaries consisting principally of passing fees. At this School the Instruction is given either individually or strictly private, the teacher not instructing more than one pupil in one room. The various grades of instruction proceed concurrently in different rooms, from ten in the morning till ten in the evening.

Terms for a thorough knowledge of Shorthand until the Pupil is completed to his satisfaction and can write 150 words per minute, 5*l.* 5*s.*

Six preliminary lessons can be received for 5*s.* 6*d.* When these lessons have been taken, payment of the fee for the course can be made, on the Pupil obtaining Pitman's Certificate and writing sixty words per minute. Principal, E. S. Gunn.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

THE LONDON GYMNASIUM AND SCHOOL OF ARMS.

232, OXFORD STREET, OXFORD CIRCUS.

This School was founded in 1838, and having been recently re-built and re-fitted, it is the most complete in the Metropolis, and being most centrally situated, is easy of access from all parts. It was originally opened by the late Captain Chiosso, author of several treatises on Physical Education, Inventor and Patentee of the Calisthenic and Gymnastic Polymachinon, and author of a work on the subject, Professor of Physical Education at University College School, London, who erected about the year 1838 the first Gymnasium at that establishment, it being one of the earliest Gymnasias erected in London.

In these days, when so many women are engaged in intellectual pursuits of a high character, the question of their physical training ought to receive more attention than it has hitherto done.

Principals, Mr. J. T. Chiosso and Mr. P. J. Chiosso.

SCHOOL OF ART WOOD-CARVING.

ROYAL ALBERT HALL, KENSINGTON, S.W.

In connection with the City and Guilds of London Institute for the Advancement of Technical Education.

The above School has been established with a view of encouraging the art of Wood-Carving in this country as a branch of the Fine Arts.

Both Day and Evening classes are held in the School. The Day classes are held from 10 to 5 on five days a week, and from 10 to 1 on Saturdays. The Evening classes are held from 7 to 9 on four evenings a week, viz., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. The fees for Day Students are 2*l.* a month, or 5*l.* a quarter. The fees for Evening Students are 15*s.* a month, or 2*l.* a quarter.

There are at present twelve Free Studentships in the School, viz., six in the Day classes and six in the Evening classes, the fees for which are paid from funds supplied by the City and Guilds of London Institute for the advancement of Technical Education. The holders of these Studentships are selected by the Committee of the School from persons of the industrial class who are intending to earn their living by Wood carving. Candidates must have passed the 2nd grade Art Examination of the Science and Art Department in Freehand Drawing at least. Those who have some knowledge of Wood Carving, or have passed in the other subjects of the 2nd Grade Art Certificate, or in drawing from the Antique and the Figure, Architectural Drawing, or Designing, or in Modelling, will be preferred. Applications for these Studentships should be addressed to the Hon. Secretary at the School.

All Students are required to provide their own tools, and work done in the School by Free Students cannot be taken away. Students paying their own fees may take away work executed by themselves on their own materials, but all work on materials provided by the School remains the property of the School.

Students who have been in the School not less than twelve months may, on the recommendation of the Instructor, receive such payment for their work as the Committee may determine.

By permission of the Lord President of the Council, students of the School have the privilege of free admission to the South Kensington Museum and Libraries on production of their School Tickets.

Wood Carving for the trade is undertaken by the School, and instruction is also given by correspondence.

Chairman.—Colonel J. F. D. Donnelly, R.E., and a Committee of Management.

Treasurer and Hon. Secretary.—T. Healey, Esq.

Instructor.—Signor Bulletti.

Manager.—Miss Rowe.

BERNERS COLLEGE OF EXPERIMENTAL SCIENCE,

44, BERNERS STREET, LONDON, W.

This College was founded in 1860, for the purpose of teaching Science theoretically and practically in all its branches, and is in connection with the Government Examining Boards.

Professor and Director.—E. V. Gardner, F.G.S.
Assisted by other Professors.

NATURAL MUSEUM OF SCIENCE AND ART FOR IRELAND,

LEINCESTER HOUSE, KILDARE STREET, DUBLIN.

This Institution was founded by Act of Parliament in 1877. It was previously under the control of the Royal Dublin Society. It now embraces the following departments:—1. Natural Library of Ireland. Readers are admitted on introduction by members of the Royal Dublin Society.—Librarian, W. Archer, Esq., F.R.S. 2. Museum of Natural History.—Director, A. Curtis, Esq. 3. Agricultural Museum. 4. Metropolitan School of Art.—Head Master, S. E. Lyne, Esq. 5. Botanic Gardens, Glasnevin.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY,

LEINCESTER HOUSE, KILDARE STREET,

For promoting Husbandry and other useful Arts and Sciences in Ireland ; it is the oldest Society of the kind in the United Kingdom, was founded in 1731, and incorporated by Charter in 1750.

Secretaries. { G. I. Stoney, A.M.
C. Kelly, I.P.Q.C.

ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY,

19, DAWSON STREET, DUBLIN.

This Institution was incorporated in 1786 for promoting the study of Science, Polite Literature, and Antiquities.

Secretaries. { J. K. Ingram, LL.D.
R. S. Bull, F.R.S.
W. Archer, F.R.S.

Librarian.—R. Atkinson, LL.D.

Curator.—Captain MacEniry.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SCIENCE,

STEPHEN'S GREEN, DUBLIN.

This Institution, which is situated on the east side of Stephen's Green, is under the Science and Art Department, South Kensington, London, is a continuation of what was once the Museum of Irish Industry and School of Science. When first founded the Museum was simply Exhibitional, and was formed on the model of the London School of Mines. Subsequently, when Dr. Lyon Playfair was one of the Secretaries in the English Department of Science and Art, the courses of lectures which used to be delivered in the Royal Dublin Society House were transferred here. A particular branch of the present course of Studies is Chemistry. To aid the development of this study a laboratory has been added, and under the present Professor of this Science the College has made much advancement. Several of the pupils having gone from it to England, and there gained the highest honours the London University can bestow.

In 1864 a select Committee advised that the exhibitional functions of the Institution should be handed over to the Royal Dublin Society, in whose buildings a national museum on the plan of South Kensington would soon be inaugurated. The title of the S. Stephen's Green Establishment then became "The College of Science," and the whole of its duty is now instructional.

This College costs the country 7,000*l.* a year, and it supplies a complete course of instruction in Science applicable to the industrial arts, and especially those which may be classed under the heads of Mining, Agriculture,

Engineering, and Manufactures. The course of instruction extends over three years, each divided into two terms, of which the first begins on the first Monday in October, and second on the first Monday in February; the former continuing to February, and the latter to June 21. There are four Royal Scholarships of 50*l.* per annum, tenable two years—two vacant each year—and nine Royal Exhibitions of 50*l.* each, tenable for three years, entitling the holders to free admission to all the Lectures and to the Chemical and Metallurgical Laboratories for three years.

The fees include all the courses of the respective years, and are moderate.

Students wishing to make one payment for the whole three years' Courses of Lectures, are allowed to compound for 25*l.*, which is in addition to the Laboratory fees.

Students entering at the commencement of the Session for the two courses in Physics, pay only 3*l.*, and are entitled to present themselves at both examinations.

The fees are in all cases payable in advance.

The holders of Royal Scholarships or Royal Exhibitions pay no fees.

GARTSHERRIE SCIENCE SCHOOL,

GARTSHERRIE, SCOTLAND.

This School was founded in 1845, and is in union with the Department of Science and Art, South Kensington, London, and about 200 students are in attendance. At the close of the Session, the Government Department of Science and Art holds Examinations at the School, by means of printed questions, to which answers are written in presence of the Committee, and in the absence of the Teachers. These answers are submitted to the official Examiners in London, who thence determine the position of each Student in the subjects of study. During the last eleven Sessions, 1474 Science Certificates, 454 Queen's Prizes, 8 Scholarships, and 7 University Exhibitions of 50*l.* each have been awarded to Students of this School, and also two free Studentships at the South Kensington Science Schools, London. The Vacations are from June to October. There is a large chemical laboratory with fifty sets of apparatus. It is the only School of Mine Engineering in Scotland.

FEES.—Science subjects (8 months), 8*s.*; Chemical Laboratory Practice, 12*s.* extra.; Latin, Greek, and Logic (6 months), alone, 10*s.*; with Science subjects, 13*s.*

Head Master.—T. T. Rankin, C. & M.E., University of Glasgow, and ten resident and non-resident Masters.

THE MASON SCIENCE COLLEGE, BIRMINGHAM.

This College, which has been erected at a cost, with endowments, of 170,000*l.*, was built, founded, and endowed by Sir Josiah Mason, who commenced life as a shoemaker, and it was opened in 1880. At present there are only four departments in the College—chemistry, physics, mathematics, and biology—but the trust deed of the founder provides that the trustees shall, from time to time, reconsider the curriculum of the College, with the view of introducing other subjects, so as to enable the inhabitants to obtain the best and most practical scientific instruction.

It provides for a thorough systematic education in Science, with a distinctly practical application to the industries of the midland district, and particularly those of Birmingham and of Kidderminster. Popular instruction is given in the practical application of science by means of evening lectures to artizans and others who cannot attend the classes for regular systematic instruction.

The session runs from October to July—and examinations are held in December, March, and June yearly.

No student is admitted under sixteen without having passed a preliminary examination, and all departments of the College are open to women upon the same conditions as men.

The course of studies in each department, the fees, hours of attendance, etc., will be supplied by the Secretary.

SCHOOL OF SCIENCE AND ART, FALKIRK, N.B.

This new school of Science and Art is in connection with South Kensington, and was opened on the 21st September, 1878,—new buildings having been erected for the purpose; and at the opening ceremonial Lord Rosebery addressed the meeting in the following words: "He did not think there could be many more pleasant signs of the times—there might be more remarkable—than the development of this anxiety for information in Science and Art. It formed a distinct landmark in our intellectual advancement, it showed that we had passed the time when the first object of our lives was a struggle for elementary education. It showed, moreover, that there was a generation grown up which was anxious to have explained the mysteries of Science, and which was anxious also to partake of the grace of refinement and of Art.

Charles G. Dewberry, M.A., C.C., Camb. Mathematical Master of Blair Lodge School, near Falkirk, is the Lecturer of Mathematics and applied Mechanics.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF ARTS,

BURLINGTON HOUSE, PICCADILLY, LONDON, W.

About 300 Students are educated, of whom about forty are admitted annually under the following regulations :—

It is required that applicants for admission should have already attained such proficiency as will enable them to draw or model. An acquaintance with Anatomy (comprehending a knowledge of the skeleton, and the names, origins, insertions, and uses of at least the external layer of muscles) is indispensable for those who are to pursue the branches of Painting, Sculpture, and Engraving.

A Painter is required to produce, as a specimen of ability, a finished drawing in chalk, about two feet high, of an undraped antique statue ; or, if of the Theseus or of the Ilyssus (the only mutilated figures admissible), it must be accompanied by drawings of a head, hand, and foot. Similar specimens will be required from Engravers.

A Sculptor must send a model, either in round or in relief, about two feet high, of an undraped antique statue, accompanied by a drawing in outline of a similar figure.

Prior to the delivery of the specimens referred to, the applicant must obtain from the Registrar, through the written request of any member of the Academy, or other artist or person of known respectability, a printed form, the blanks of which must be filled up and delivered, with the drawings or model, at the Royal Academy, on or before the 28th of June or the 28th of December, to be submitted to the first Council held after those dates. If approved of, the applicant will be entitled to admission as a probationer, and three months are allowed in which to prepare within the Academy a set of drawings or a model and drawings. The time of attendance to be from ten o'clock in the morning until three in the afternoon.

A Painter or Engraver will be required, during his probation, to make a finished drawing, in chalk, not less than two feet high, from an undraped antique statue, together with an outline drawing or drawings of the same figure anatomized, showing the bones and muscles in one or two drawings, with references to the several muscles, tendons, and bones contained therein.

A Sculptor will be required, during his probation, to produce a model, in the round or in high relief, not less than two feet high, from a similar figure, together with an outline drawing or drawings of the same figure anatomized, showing the bones and muscles in one or two drawings, with references to the several muscles, tendons, and bones contained therein.

These drawings and models will be submitted to the Council, together with the drawings or models originally presented by the applicant for admission as a probationer. Should they be considered satisfactory by the Council, the probationer will then be admitted as a Student of the Royal Academy, for seven years, and receive a ticket of admission from the Keeper.

Each candidate to be Student in Architecture shall submit to the Council four drawings (not necessarily made for the occasion), viz., a plan, elevation, and section, or details of some existing building, or a sufficiently important portion of a building or other monumental structure, together with a tinted or shaded drawing from a cast or in the round; such drawings being declared by him in writing to have been wholly executed by him, and the same being attested by the person recommending him, to the best of his knowledge and belief. The drawings shall be accompanied by a certificate (on a printed form to be obtained at the Academy) from an Architect Member of the Royal Academy, of the Royal Institute of British Architects, or of any other public institution for teaching Art and Science, certifying that the applicant has followed up the study of Architecture and Architectural Drawing, and has acquired a reasonable degree of proficiency in the same. If such drawings and certificates are approved by the Council, the candidate shall be required to make, in the Academy, further drawings of a similar nature to those sent in, at least one original complete design, and a sketch design and drawing from the cast executed each in one day, in the Architectural Class Room, which drawings, together with those originally submitted, shall be laid before the Council; and if approved, the candidate will be admitted as Student for seven years, in like manner as other Students.

Those who have been unsuccessful in their first endeavours can renew their application at any subsequent period, by again going through the prescribed forms; but the drawings or models submitted must be different from those sent in on any previous occasion.

If any candidate shall be found endeavouring to impose on the Academy, by presenting, as specimens of his talents, drawings or models not of his own performance, he shall be declared incapable of being admitted a Student of the Royal Academy.

All instruction in the Academy is gratuitous, the Student providing his own materials

Persons resident in London or its vicinity must apply personally.

SCIENCE AND ART DEPARTMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL ON EDUCATION, SOUTH KENSINGTON.

A sum of money is voted annually by Parliament for instruction in Art in the United Kingdom, and is administered by the Science and Art Department, hereinafter called the Department. The nature of the aid given towards instruction in Science is explained elsewhere.

The head of the Education Department, of which the Science and Art Department is a branch, is the Lord President of the Council, assisted by a member of the Privy Council, who is called the Vice-President of the Committee of Council on Education, and who acts under the direction of the Lord President, and for him in his absence. (Order in Council, 25th February 1856, Act 19 and 20 Vict. c. 116.)

The object of this vote is to promote instruction in Drawing, Painting, and Modelling, and Designing for Architecture, Manufactures, and Decoration, especially among the industrial classes.

To effect this object, the Department will give aid towards the teaching of Elementary Drawing in Elementary Day Schools ; towards the teaching of Drawing in Art Classes ; towards instruction in Art in Schools of Art ; and towards the training of Art Teachers. The Art Library and Collections of Decorative Art at South Kensington are also made available for the purposes of instruction in Schools of Art. Detailed information as to the regulations may be had of the Registrar at the Schools, or to the Secretary, Science and Art Department, South Kensington Museum, London.

LECTURES AT SOUTH KENSINGTON.

A course of twelve Lectures on Anatomy as applicable to the Arts is given in each session. The Spring course may be attended by ladies. Fee for the course, 6s. For a single lecture, 1s.

Other Lectures will be delivered occasionally, and duly announced.

The Schools are open free for the inspection of the public every Saturday, from 2 till dusk. Entrance through the Museum.

Metropolitan District Schools of Art are now established at the following places :—

1. The Female School of Art, 43, Queen's Square, Bloomsbury.
2. City and Spitalfields, New Bishopsgate Ward Schools.
3. St. Thomas's Charterhouse, Goswell Road.
4. St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Castle Street, Long Acre.
5. Lambeth, Miller's Lane, Upper Kennington Lane.
6. West London, 204, Great Portland Street.
7. North London, Sandringham Road, Kingsland.
8. Islington, 21, Cross Street.
9. Stratford, Maryland Point.
10. Westminster, St. Mary's, Hyde Place, Vincent Square.
11. Westminster, Royal Architectural Museum.

These Schools are open in the evening from 7 to 9, and there are Female Classes at most of them. Applications for admission, prospectuses, or any other information, should be made at the School in each district.

There is an annual examination for prizes in all the Schools, and a national competition. In 1883, at the annual exhibition of prize works, besides the gold and silver medalists, of which there were fifty-six prize winners, sending in designs for such subjects as wall decoration, printed silk hangings, wall paper, tiles, lamps, mirrors, and drawings of figures in chalk, oils, and watercolours, one hundred and two works were adjudged worthy of the bronze medal. Besides the medals nearly 200 national book prizes were awarded to a miscellaneous collection of watercolour sketches and samples of modelling. In all the number of drawings, etc., sent up from the Schools of Arts was 225,253, from 191 centres. Of these 926 were passed for the national competition.

THE NATIONAL ART TRAINING SCHOOL.

SOUTH KENSINGTON, LONDON, S.W.

This school is under the Science and Art Department of the Committee of Council on Education. The courses of instruction pursued in the School have for their object the systematic training of teachers, male and female, in the practice of Art and in the knowledge of its scientific principles, with a view to qualifying them as teachers of Schools of Art competent to develop the application of Art to the common uses of life, and to the requirements of Trade and Manufactures. Special courses are arranged in order to qualify Schoolmasters of Elementary and other Schools to teach elementary drawing, concurrently with reading and writing, as a part of general education.

The instruction comprehends the following subjects:—Freehand, Architectural, and Mechanical Drawing; Practical Geometry and Perspective; Painting in Oil, Tempera, and Water Colours; Modelling, Moulding, and Casting. The classes for Drawing, Painting, and Modelling, include architectural and other ornament, flowers, objects of still-life, etc., the figure from the antique and the life, and the study of Anatomy as applicable to Art.

In connection with the Training School, and open to the public, classes, meeting separately, for male and female students, are established; the studies comprise Drawing, Painting, and Modelling, as applied to ornament, the figure, landscape and still-life. The fees charged on admission to these classes are as follows:—Fees for classes studying for five whole days, including evenings, 5*l.* for five months, and an entrance fee of 10*s.* Evening classes: male school, 2*l.* per session; artisan class, 10*s.* per session, 3*s.* per month; female school, 1*l.* per session, three evenings a week.

Teachers in private schools or families may attend the day classes for not more than three months on payment of 1*l.* per month, without payment of the entrance fee.

No students can be admitted to these classes until they have passed an examination in freehand drawing of the 2nd grade. Examinations of candidates will be held weekly at the commencement of each session, and at frequent intervals throughout the year. These examinations are held at the School on Tuesdays, at 11.45 a.m. and 6.45 p.m. Unsuccessful candidates cannot be re-examined until after a month's interval. Candidates who have already passed an examination in freehand drawing are admitted on application to the Registrar, without further examination.

The Annual Sessions, each lasting five months, commence on the 1st of March and the 1st of October, and end on the last day of July and the last day of February respectively. Students who have passed the examination may join the School at any time, on payment of fees for not less than five months, but those who have already paid fees for five months may remain until the end of the scholastic year on payment of a proportional fee for each month unexpired up to the 31st July in each year. The months of August and September are not counted as part of the five months paid for. The months of August and September, one week at Christmas, and one week at Easter and Whitsuntide are vacations. The School will be open every day except Saturday. ## THE CRYSTAL PALACE COMPANY'S SCHOOL OF ART, SCIENCE, AND LITERATURE,

SYDENHAM, KENT.

LADIES' DIVISION.

The School was established to utilise the valuable courts and collections of the Crystal Palace for the purposes of instruction in Art, etc., so that education of the highest class might be afforded on reasonable terms under most advantageous conditions. The original design of the Crystal Palace was to promote education, and for that purpose large sums were expended in Science and Art collections. The Ladies' division now has 500 regular students and 30 professors and instructors. The Directors are seeking to develop the educational department of the Palace into a Collegiate institution for the South of London. The Cambridge Local Examinations for ladies are conducted at the Palace, and it is the fourth centre for them in England in importance. Courses of lectures are regularly delivered in this School by teachers appointed by the Cambridge Syndicate, which constitutes this not only an Examining but a Teaching Centre of the University. The Vice-Chancellor's certificate can be worked for and obtained here only. Courses by the ordinary teachers of the school are also delivered in or near London.

The Studios and Class Rooms are strictly private. Statues and Art objects, trees, plants, etc., may be moved into the Studios for use by the Professors and Students.

The system of tuition is for some subjects in the manner of private tutorial instruction, but some subjects are taken on the University method of Lecture and Class by Professors from the Universities. A Student may take lessons in one or several studies at option. Lessons are counted from date of inscription.

A Committee of Ladies assists the Directors in the immediate management of the Ladies' Division.

Parents of present and of past Students have the privilege of introducing pupils to the School direct. Strangers must, if requested, give a reference for the satisfaction of the Ladies' Committee.

The mother, or a Professional Governess, or other lady deputed to represent the mother, may, under certain conditions, accompany the pupil.

A Student's ticket admits the holder to the Palace free on those days when the classes she attends are held. Pupils have free use of the Reading Room, and certain privileges in connection with the Company's Library, which contains a valuable collection of educational works and books of reference.

The School is a public centre for both the University of Oxford and the University of Cambridge Local Examinations, in addition to its own University Examinations.

The General Term commences on October 1st, and closes July 31st.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

The undermentioned Annual Scholarships are awarded by independent Examiners at the close of the Session in July :—

IN ART.—Value 30*l*. Open to those Students who obtain the Certificates awarded by the Committee of Artists at the close of the Session, in accordance with the Regulations. The Committee of Artists shall adjudge the Scholarship to that one of the Students gaining Certificates who in their estimation manifests most promise in art. The award will entitle the gainer to instruction during the next ensuing Session, without any payment of fees, or for models, from any of the Art Masters in the School whom she may select, or from all.

IN MODERN LANGUAGES, LITERATURE, ETC.—Value 25*l*. Entitling the gainer, during the next ensuing Session, to Studentship, free of any fees, in the Classes or Lectures in French, German, Italian, English, and General History. Open only to Students who have attended during one entire Session, and no more, for the subjects that are chosen. To be awarded by independent Examiners at the end of the Session. Candidates may elect to be examined in any of the above subjects, but must pass in two of them.

IN MUSIC.—Value 40*l*. Entitling the holder to Instruction, free of any fees, in Pianoforte Playing, or Solo Singing, Pianoforte Performance, Harmony, Counterpoint, and Solfeggi, with freedom to select any Instructor in the School, during the next ensuing Session. Open to any Student who has studied either of the above-named subjects in the School during the entire Session preceding. The Examination will be in all the subjects, but Candidates must pass in at least two of them.

UNIVERSITY EDUCATION FOR LADIES.

The Syndicate appointed by Grace of the Senate of the University of Cambridge to organize and superintend Courses of Lectures and Classes, will, during the Session of the Crystal Palace School of Art, Science, and Literature, conduct Courses on the within-mentioned subjects in the Ladies' Division of the School. The Syndicate have made the following Regulations for the conduct of the Lectures and Classes :

"The teacher to remain in the Lecture Room for some time after the conclusion of each Lecture and Class in order to answer questions, or solve the difficulties which have occurred to pupils, and to give advice as to the reading of text-books and other means of efficiently studying the subject.

"Each Lecture to be accompanied by a syllabus distributed to the pupils, and by questions. Those who desire to answer these questions to do so in writing at home, and to be at liberty to submit their answers to the teacher for correction and comment.

"The Class in each subject to be formed only from among those who attend the Lectures in that subject, and to consist of those who are desirous of studying it more fully. The Class, at the discretion of the teacher, either to take up the subject of the Lectures or cognate subjects bearing directly thereon and necessary for the better elucidation of the subject of the Lectures. The teaching in the Class to be more conversational than that in the Lecture."

The teaching in a Course of Lectures and Classes is of a strictly continuous character.

Written Examinations are held at the conclusion of each Course by Examiners appointed by the Syndicate, open to any pupil who has attended any complete Course of Lectures and Classes.

THE VICE-CHANCELLOR'S CERTIFICATE.

For the purpose of this Certificate, the subjects of Lectures can be classified in three groups : A, including the branches Literature, Language, Political Economy, History, Logic ; B, including the branches Political Economy, History, Logic, Moral Science ; C, including the branches Natural Science, Logic.

Superintendent Educational and Literary Department.—F. K. J. Shenton.

CRYSTAL PALACE SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL ENGINEERING.

GENTLEMEN'S DIVISION.

This School was established in 1871, with the purpose of affording to students of civil or of mechanical engineering the advantage of thorough practical instruction in the rudiments of either profession, and in the manipulation of materials. The leading object is to prepare students, by systematic practical instruction, for professional articles ; so that on entering an Engineer's office or works, the pupil may at once be useful to his principal, and enabled to take advantage of the opportunities for learning open to him, because he has mastered the elementary details of the profession.

The School is also available for Students already articled, who desire instruction either in the offices or shops ; for gentlemen anxious to become Engineering Draughtsmen ; or to compete for the Whitworth Scholarships ; or to enter the Steam Mercantile Marine ; or to fit themselves by practical knowledge of scientific and mechanical work and expedients, for life in the colonies or abroad, as explorers or settlers, especially when they may be entirely dependent on their own resources.

Candidates for admission to this School are required to pass a preliminary or entrance examination in the rudiments of arithmetic, algebra, and geometry, the mechanical powers, the composition and resolution of forces, and the elements of mechanical drawing. Applicants who are not ready for this examination, or who fail to pass it, can be received for preparatory instruction designed to fit them for passing the entrance examination. Fee for this tuition, 50 guineas, or 17*l.* 10*s.* per term.

Students must be sixteen years of age before they can be examined for entrance into the School of Engineering.

The mechanical course is comprised in one year, and is designed to convey instruction essential either to the student who intends to be a Civil Engineer, or to one who intends to follow exclusively the mechanical branch of the profession. The year is divided into three terms of fifteen weeks each, leaving seven weeks for vacations :—Easter Term, from first week in January till last week in April. Summer Term, from last week in April till first week in August. Winter Term, from first week in September till the week before Christmas.

One term of the course is devoted to the study of Mechanical Drawing, another to Pattern Making and Foundry Work, and a third to Fitting and Smiths' Work. While the Students are employed in the Drawing Office, they are engaged in making drawings of machinery and constructions ; in tracing, in getting out quantities and estimates, and in calculating the strength of materials. In the Pattern Shops they are employed in preparing patterns or models of engines and machinery ; in the Fitting Shop, in fitting and erecting engines of from 3 to 6-horse power, or other suitable work for the market ; in the Smiths' Shop and Foundry, in forging, moulding, and preparing small castings.

Lectures on Engineering subjects are delivered to the Students on Mondays and Thursdays. During these Lectures, Students are expected to take notes ; they have examples given them to work out before the next Lecture, and are examined upon the subjects of the Lectures at the expiration of each term. A list showing the order of merit in which the candidates stand in the examination is duly exhibited.

The premium for the course is fifty guineas, payable to the Crystal Palace Company in advance ; and for additional term, 17*l.* 10*s.* each ; a single term in either of the offices or shops, 25*l.* Students can enter the School at any time, but they will commence their regular course at the beginning of the next ensuing term. The intermediate period will, in such case, be employed in preparatory work, and the fee of 52*l.* 10*s.* will be increased in exact proportion to the time.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.

The instruction is intended to be supplementary to the Mechanical Course of the School, and like it, a preparation for articles ; or it can be attended separately ; and the Student can attend one or more of the terms into which the tuition is divided. In 1882 there were 90 Students in attendance.

The tuition for those who have not attended the Mechanical Course is divided into three terms each of fifteen weeks.

The first term is common to the Civil and Mechanical Engineers, and is devoted to instruction in steam and mechanical subjects.

The second term is devoted to preliminary instruction in practical surveying and levelling, including the use of instruments, and the preparation of parliamentary plans and estimates for various Public Works.

The third term is devoted to preparing specifications, estimates, working plans, and drawings for Public Works to be carried out by contract or otherwise.

For such Students in the Civil Engineering Division as have attended the three terms of the Mechanical Course, and desire to complete a second year of instruction, a sixth term will be devoted to an advanced course in Physics and the application of the Exact Sciences to actual construction, with occasional lectures and demonstrations on the details and principles of works already executed.

Lectures and special demonstrations are given to the Students in this department regularly. Students who have not previously passed through the Mechanical Course of the School must attend the School Lectures.

Before a Student can enter this department—whether he has been through the Mechanical Course of the School or not—he must pass an examination as to his knowledge of mechanical drawing, and of arithmetic, algebra, and trigonometry, such as will satisfy the Principal that the Student is sufficiently advanced to commence work.

The premium for this division is sixty guineas, payable to the Crystal Palace Company in advance ; for additional terms, 21*l.* each ; for a single term, 26*l.* 5*s.* For the two years' course (combining the M. E. and C. E. Schools), fee 100 guineas.

At the expiration of each term a general examination of Students in the several divisions is conducted by Engineers of eminence, not connected with the School. If it be found that a Student has arrived at the required degree of proficiency, a certificate of his place on the list is awarded to him for knowledge of the subjects that have been treated in the lectures, as well as a similar certificate for his work in the office or shop in which he has served.

At the close of the course, should the Student not have obtained his certificates, he is allowed to remain, upon payment of a proportionate premium, for an additional term in each or any department in which he has failed.

SCHOOL OF GARDENING AND PRACTICAL FLORTICULTURE.

(1) PRACTICAL GARDENING.

(2) FLORTICULTURE.

The Course of instruction extends over a period of three years. The fees are about 60*l.* per annum.

Principal.—Mr. E. Miller.

Instructor.—Mr. W. G. Head.

COLONIAL SECTION.

This section is designed particularly for gentlemen who are going to the Colonies or abroad, as explorers or settlers. The object proposed is to afford them so much practical knowledge of scientific and mechanical work and expedients, as shall enable them best to utilise the means at their disposal, especially when entirely dependent on their own resources.

The course is divided into three terms, of fifteen weeks each, and the attendance is in accordance with Reg. I. of the School.

The instruction is, as far as possible, practical in all details. Lectures covering the whole subject are delivered to the Students on Tuesdays and Fridays, at 4 p.m., regularly during the Session. Special Lectures, treating on the resources and circumstances of particular Colonies, and other fields of enterprise, are delivered from time to time.

The premium for one year's (three terms') instruction is 52*l.* 10*s.*, payable to the Crystal Palace Company in advance ; for additional terms, 17*l.* 10*s.* each ; for a single term, 25*l.*

The hours for work are from ten a.m. to one p.m., and from two p.m. till five p.m., except on Saturdays, when the School closes at one p.m.

Students can inscribe their names, and the fees must be paid only in the office of the School of Art, Science, and Literature, Byzantine Court, North End, Crystal Palace.

Each Student must take a Season Ticket to the Crystal Palace, which will be issued to him at half the ordinary price. School Boarding House, by the Rev. G. H. Whitaker, M.A., in the immediate neighbourhood of the School, and under the direct supervision of the Principal.

The London, Brighton, and South Coast, and the London, Chatham, and Dover Railway Companies, have consented to issue special cheap season tickets between London and the Crystal Palace Stations at the following rates, to Students actually attending in the School of Art, Science, and Literature, viz. :—For the year—First class, 6*l.* ; covered carriages, 4*l.* Per quarter, severally ending Oct. 31, Jan. 31, April 30, July 31—First class, 2*l.* ; covered carriage, 1*l.* 10*s.*

Principal.—Mr. J. W. Wilson, Assoc. Inst. C.E.

Superintendent.—F. K. J. Shenton.

Manager of the Crystal Palace.—Geo. Gordon Cleather.

THE FEMALE SCHOOL OF ART,

43, QUEEN SQUARE, BLOOMSBURY.

ESTABLISHED IN 1842-3.

In connection with the Science and Art Department of the Committee of Council on Education, South Kensington.

UNDER THE ESPECIAL PATRONAGE OF THE QUEEN.

Vice-Patrons.—H.R.H. the Princess of Wales, H.R.H. the Princess Louise, H.R.H. the Princess Mary Adelaide.

This School has had the great advantage of the kindly personal interest of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. The members of the Royal Family have always distinguished themselves and rendered themselves deservedly popular by the share they take in the encouragement and advancement of every educational work; and the youngest of Her Majesty's daughters, the Princess Beatrice, is one of the latest instances of this, when she presided on the 10th of March, 1883, at the annual meeting for the distribution of prizes and medals to the Students of this School. During the past year 183 Students received instruction in Art, and 3,012 drawings, paintings, and models were forwarded to South Kensington, being the works of 152 Students, or an average of nineteen works for each Student. Tested by results there is no school of all the 164 in operation that can refer to a roll of honour more distinguished than that which is exhibited by the Female School of Art. Among the national awards gained by pupils at this School from the year 1866 to 1882 inclusive may be mentioned six gold, twenty-three silver, and thirty-eight bronze medals, and fifty-nine Queen's prizes, making a total of 136 awards.

The general course of instruction comprises Geometrical Drawing and Perspective; Freehand Drawing from the flat and from the round; Shading from the flat and from the round; Drawing from Solid Models; Figure Drawing from the flat, from the antique, and from the life, including Anatomical Studies and Drapery; Modelling in clay and wax from the ornament, figure, etc.; Painting in Water-colours, Tempera, Fresco, and Oil, from examples of Ornamental Art, from landscapes, animals, flowers, fruit, etc.; Exercises in composition, and original designs for decoration and manufactures. The Instructors of the School hold full Certificates from the Science and Art Department.

There are two sessions during the year, commencing on the 21st of February and 1st of October, and ending on the 20th of February and 15th of July respectively. During the sessions two weeks at Christmas and one week at Easter or Whitsuntide are vacations. The classes meet every day except Saturday. Hours of attendance—Morning, 10 till 12.30; afternoon, 1 till 3; whole day, 10 till 3. In the summer session advanced Students are allowed to remain till four o'clock. Evening class on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from 7 till 9.

Students have the privilege of copying specimens of plants and flowers from the Royal Gardens at Kew; the Managers of the Royal Botanic and Zoological Societies also grant free admission to Students in the advanced classes to sketch in their Gardens.

Local Examinations of the Second Grade in Elementary Drawing, Geometry, and Perspective are held annually in May.

Local Examinations of the Third Grade in Perspective, Anatomy, Design, Painting Groups, Drawing and Modelling from the Antique and Life, are held annually, and prizes given by the Science and Art Department to those who pass excellent.

Examinations for Art Class Teachers' Certificates (Higher Second) are held annually in May.

Examinations for Art-Mistresses' Certificates of the Third Grade are held annually in February.

Free Studentships of the value of 10*l.* for one year, renewable on expiration, are granted to all Students who are preparing to become teachers, who obtain the first certificate of the third grade, dating from the 1st of October of each year. Students studying professionally, who have paid fees for two consecutive sessions, who obtain a second grade certificate with the mark excellent to two of their papers, one of which must be for Freehand or Models, and are preparing for the higher Second Grade or Third Grade Examination, may be allowed to attend the School at half the full fees. Renewals of this privilege for the second or third year are granted on certain conditions.

Two National Scholarships (Gilchrist) of 50*l.*, held for two years, dating from the 1st of March of each year. Competition every year open to all female Students under 22 years of age; works sent in on the 10th of January of each year, in accordance with printed conditions, to be obtained at the school.

Local Scholarships to Students studying professionally. Queen's Scholarship of the value of 60*l.* per annum, tenable for one or two years, in accordance with the conditions on which the Scholarship is granted. The Clothworkers' Scholarship of 20*l.*, under certain conditions. Subscribers Scholarships of 10*l.* and of 20*l.* Students may also compete for admission into the Training School of the Science and Art Department, with an allowance of from 5*s.* to 15*s.* per week. Students prepared for admission into the Royal Academy Schools.

There is an annual local examination for the Queen's Gold Medal, Gilchrist, and other prizes.

National competition at the Science and Art Department, South Kensington. Works are selected annually to compete for the Princess of Wales's Scholarships, Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals, Queen's, and Third Grade Prizes.

RULES RELATING TO FEES.—All fees are paid in advance. Fees for classes studying for five whole days per week, 6*l.* 6*s.* for the session; 10*l.* 10*s.* for two sessions; entrance fee to all these classes 10*s.* 6*d.*

With the view to meet the wishes of parents, a Juvenile Class is held on Mondays and Wednesdays, from 1 till 3. Fee, 2*l.* 2*s.* for the session; entrance fee, 10*s.* 6*d.* Age from nine to fourteen inclusive.

ARTISTS' BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION,

24, LD BOND STREET, OLONDON, W.

This Institution was founded in 1814, and incorporated by Royal Charter June 30, 1842, and its object is to relieve distressed artists, whether they be subscribers to its funds or not, as well as their widows and orphans, merit and poverty being recognized as furnishing a sufficient claim to aid from its resources. Since its establishment up to the beginning of last year, the society has granted donations amounting in the aggregate to 46,683*l.*, and in 1876 it distributed 1,745*l.* in sums varying from 10*l.* to 80*l.*, among ninety-five applicants. Mr. F. Leighton, R.A., who presided at the anniversary festival in 1878, made the following eloquent appeal on behalf of this Institution; he said,—“That the cause of the charity had for more than sixty years been pleaded on such occasions by men of conspicuous oratorical power—the most impassioned voice of all being that of Charles Dickens; and the only consideration which could have induced him to yield to the desire of the Council to take the chair that evening was that while his predecessors in that position had been enabled to speak as it were merely from without, he as an artist could address his audience with that full inward sympathy which was based upon experience. Upon the artist who had taken any part in the distribution of the gifts of the Society, and who had the opportunity of seeing the wreck and ruin over which it shed its silent beneficence, a reflection forced itself which was at once startling and deeply pathetic—that those who, baffled and beaten in the race, had set out in the morning of life with hopes as bright and courage as high as they did who had been fortunate enough to reach the desired goal of prosperous distinction. The same enthusiasm, the same singleness of purpose, the same elevation of sentiment, the same unclouded faith of youth, might have been common to them all, but while to some the end had brought fame and plenty, for others it was accompanied by obscurity and want. Who could think without emotion on so strange a contrast? But those to whom he was appealing would naturally stay their hands until they had first ascertained that the Artists’ General Benevolent Society was worthy of their esteem and co-operation. He hastened at once, therefore, to assure them that the gifts placed at the disposal of the Council were by no means indiscriminately lavished. They were, on the contrary, never distributed except to those whom the strictest investigation had shown to be worthy of receiving them. Such investigations, he might add, were not made by salaried agents, nor vicariously, but personally, by the Council, and there could, he thought, be no better guarantee for the wise bestowal of the funds of the charity. It should be borne in mind that it was not recklessness only, nor a blameworthy life, which led to poverty. Adversity had many gates, and the causes which led to it were numerous. Of these causes, some were personal and from within, while others were external. In the latter category the most frequent were periods of depression in the national prosperity or political perturbation, the shadow of impending war, fluctuations in the public taste, and indifference on the part of the public to certain forms of art. But more inexorable were those sources of failure which were personal, and sprung from the artist himself. Daily experience showed that large numbers of young persons of both sexes embraced the profession of art under a complete delusion as to their gifts and qualifications. Conscious no doubt of an artistic temperament which might seek some mode of expression, fired by the example of others who might have splendidly succeeded, gratified by the flattery of relatives, they found themselves lured on by the most fascinating of all pursuits, but to realize when too late the bitter truth that they had mistaken a wish for a gift, and that they had read power where Nature had written only desire. Perhaps, however, the most terrible of all the sources of failure was the loss of health. If it was a bitter thing for a man to discover that he had misunderstood his natural endowments, how infinitely more bitter, was it not, for an artist who was conscious of the talent living within him to find himself checked at every turn by the paralyzing hand of sickness and disease! In such cases it was that the institution whose claims he was advocating exercised a widely beneficial influence; nor did the aid which it gave end there. Death in due time came with its blessed relief, but the misery which it scattered around it still remained. The widow and the orphan were left penniless and unfriended, and to them at such a moment the institution was, indeed, a haven of refuge. If, he might add, the good works of the Society were worthy of appreciation because of their timeliness, they were no less deserving of it because of their secrecy. There was in connection with its accounts no list of names to gratify curiosity. Persons of refined nature, rendered more sensitive by suffering and adversity, frequently shrank from exposing their wants, but they were able to come to the Society in the full confidence, trust, and reliance, that its gifts would in all cases be shrouded by the grace of a respectful silence. Such then was the scope, such the action of "The Artist's General Benefit Fund," to which he invited the company to drink prosperity. It was swift to give, it was silent, it was discreet, it was discriminating, and it was beyond example, he believed, economical in its working. The sufferings of which he had spoken were, on the other hand, not imaginary, not rare, and not remote; they were real, they were constant, they were at their very doors. Never did want stand with more dignity before them; would they turn away from it?

Another charitable Society in immediate connection with this one, is called the "Artists' Orphan Fund," and was established in 1871. The fund now amounts to 21,000*l.*, producing an annual income of about 800*l.* This Society specially appeals to every member of the various branches of Art, who has achieved success in any way, to help those who, deprived of parental aid and support, are often left in a situation of helplessness, dependence, and poverty, and without the means of obtaining that education which is necessary for future success in life.

MANCHESTER SCHOOL OF ART,

MANCHESTER.

This Institution was founded about forty years ago, through the influence of the celebrated painter, Haydon.

The aim of a School of Art is to train the pupil systematically in the several stages or branches into which graphic art may be divided; so that presuming he is diligent and ready of apprehension, he may apply his knowledge first to the study of nature, in order to acquire power, freedom, and certainty in drawing, together with an appreciation of colour, and next to such original production as he may possess the ability for, or to practical applications connected with his occupation.

A new building in Cavendish Street has recently been erected, for which purpose subscriptions amounting to about 22,000*l.* have been collected.

This year Students at this School received from the Science and Art Department the following awards:—2 Silver Medals; 3 Bronze Medals; 6 Book Prizes; 40 Third Grade Prizes; and in the Second Grade Examination, held in May, sixteen Students obtained “excellent,” and fifty-three “passed.”

ROYAL HIBERNIAN ACADEMY OF PAINTING, SCULPTURE, AND ARCHITECTURE,

LOWER ABBEX STREET, DUBLIN.

This Institution was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1823. The annual Exhibition opens the 19th February, and closes the 1st June. Students are admitted to the Schools on producing a certificate from the Department of Science and Art, stating that the applicant has passed in the four papers of Freehand, Geometry, Perspective and Object Drawing of the second grade, or are admitted by the Council of the Academy on forwarding specimen drawings. Spring Session commences in February, and the Winter Session opens in October. An examination is held in July, when medals and the Albert prize are awarded.

The buildings were erected in 1823, by the munificence of Mr. Fras. Johnston, its first President. At present the chair is held by T. A. Jones, who was one of the chief contributors to the Exhibition of 1878. In 1829 the Royal Hibernian Academy opened their first Exhibition.

Like other chartered associations, the Hibernian Academy is the embodiment of several minor societies of Irish Artists.

The Hibernian Academy is the Burlington House of Dublin, and the Summer and Winter Exhibitions are, as in London, objects of considerable interest.

President.—T. A. Jones, Esq.

Professor of History.—W. J. Fitzpatrick, Esq., LL.D.

Professor of Antiquities.—J. T. Gilbert, Esq., F.S.A.

ARUNDEL SOCIETY

FOR PROMOTING THE KNOWLEDGE OF ART,

24, Old Bond Street, London, W.

This Institution was founded in 1848, and named from Thomas Howard, Earl of Arundel (in the reigns of James and Charles I.), who has been called "the father of virtu in England," and "the Mæcenas of all politer arts."

The Society is governed by a council of twelve members. The object is to promote the knowledge of art by copying and publishing important works of ancient masters. Members are admitted under three heads: (1) associates on payment of one guinea, and a classification of second and third subscribers, limited to 1,500, each paying one guinea annually.

Secretary.—F. Lambe Price, Esq.

OUR SCHOOLS OF MUSIC.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The study of Music, which is appropriately termed the first and most popular of the fine arts, is now cultivated in England in a far higher degree, and to a much greater extent, than at any former period of our history, and the system pursued in institutions for the development of this improved public taste, and where the necessary instruction in every branch of the art can be obtained, are modelled chiefly in accordance with the newest arrangements carried out in Continental schools. The late Lord Chief Justice, Sir A. Cockburn, made some happy allusions on the subject, and in an able speech, which he delivered at an anniversary festival of the Royal Society of Musicians, His Lordship's remarks in reference to musical education were as follows :—

“When we remember what we owe to music—how it adds to the enjoyment of life in all its stages from infancy to age, and in all its forms from the highest to the lowest—now charming our senses with the ‘concourse of sweet sounds,’ but still more often adapting itself to all the varying forms of emotion, sentiment, and passion of which the human mind is capable, enhancing and exalting our sense of joy, assuaging and softening our sense of woe and pain, adding to the happiness and enjoyment of life—where shall we set bounds to our grateful sense of all that is divine and glorious in music? Again, when we reflect how vast and varied is the sphere over which music reigns, from the shepherd's reed to the pealing organ, and to the many combinations of orchestral power, from the popular air to the colossal grandeur of Handel; when we call to mind all the richness, the fulness, the poetry, and the power, the marvellous blending of divine melody with sublime and majestic harmony which in the symphonies of Beethoven carries us away from ourselves, and transports us to the fulness of rapture and enjoyment; when we consider again in what various forms this charming art presents itself—at one time enchanting us with the beauty and melody of music, at another addressing itself to our hearts and evoking all the various sentiments of which the heart is capable, from the ardour of war to the tenderness of love, and to pity, which we are told is akin to love; addressing itself to our highest faculties, working on our imagination, carrying us to the realms of fancy and to the still more sublime regions of the beautiful and the eternal, showing that it is true, as was said by the poet, that—

“Music, the choicest gift which Heaven bestows,
In harmony with human feeling glows;
Exalts our joys, and softens all our woes;
In prayer and praise lends wings on high to rise,
And wafts our souls in rapture to the skies.”

Where, then, shall be the limit of our gratitude to those who have given us the benefit and advantages and enjoyment of the art of music? When I am speaking of what we owe to the art of music, I am not dealing with a mere abstraction which has no actual life, but I must be understood to speak also of those who cultivate and practise it. They it is who are entitled to our acknowledgments—the professor, the maestro, who, in his studio, adding genius to science, produces the marvellous masterpieces which are the glory of the art and the property of the world; and the executant who, adding to native talent the skill which is acquired by long and assiduous labour, gives actual life and being to the great works which must otherwise remain a dead letter.”

The Bishop of Gloucester, in distributing the prizes gained by the Gloucester students at the musical examination in connection with Trinity College, London, addressed the competitors in these words:—“Nature,” he said, “had denied him the gift of what is called ‘an ear for music,’ and while he could feel the pleasure that flowed from hearing a melody, he could not penetrate into the mysteries of harmony, and therefore he was a singular specimen of one who respected, though he did not thoroughly love, music. In answering the question, What is music? he reviewed the progress of musical art since the Renaissance age, and pointed out that from the middle of the 16th to the end of the 17th centuries, musical composers endeavoured not only to please the ear, but also to touch the sensibilities. At the beginning of the present century the power of music to express sentiment began to be clearly recognised. Every one hearing very fine music must have felt that it expressed some inward feeling, something hardly to be analysed, expressing a realm of thought in part felt and in part lying beyond. A distinguished German, addressing music, said, ‘Away, away! thou speakest to me unutterable things that I have life-long sought for, and never, never found.’ That was saying in highly poetic language that music had powers of expression that went beyond even the power of words. Some of our composers had made this a subject of very careful study. Haydn had done this in the first movement of his first Symphony. But music was something more than a means of expressing sentiment and feeling. There was a power in music to call out the emotions, the nobler and the better feelings. It was in touching the inner life, in penetrating the inner chambers of the soul, and in awakening nobler feelings, that music showed its greatest and its noblest power; and no music deserved to be thoroughly admired and honoured except in a great measure it expressed that power. If music only appealed to his ear, he should not care to hear any more; if it only expressed his inner feelings, he should not care to hear much more; but if he could sit in the concert-room or in the spacious minster, and listen to music which called his better emotions and feelings to the surface, then he began to say to himself, ‘This is truly a divine art;’ and imperfectly constituted as he might be, he uncovered his head and honoured and revered the great, the divine art of music.”

A meeting was held in September, 1878, at Marlborough House, under the presidency of the Prince of Wales, with the view to advancing the science and art of music, and of founding a Royal and National College of Music. At present the Royal Academy of Music and the National Training School for Music have no connection. It was proposed, with the assent of the managers of both these Institutions, to consider the best methods of bringing them into connection, so that they might co-operate in promoting higher education in the Art of Music, and form the basis for a new college on a more extended and permanent footing than any existing institution. This School and amalgamation have now become a fait accompli, and was formally opened by its Founder and President, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, in 1883 (see p. 608), and doubtless this will soon become the leading Musical Institution in the country.

Mr. Jolly, one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools, strongly recommends the Tonic Sol-fa system (see p. 618) for general adoption in schools, not only elementary, but higher; he says that the manner in which very young children can be made to read music in a short time, with all the ease of a common reading book, is remarkable. The wonderful cultural power of song in thought, feeling, taste, and morals, he thinks, does not seem to be realized, but, in time, with proper teaching, we might become a musical people, able to rival our own eminence in lyrical poetry by our power to render it worthily and sweetly in song.

The Education Department has recently issued a return which shows that in 28,532 departments of schools in England and Scotland the following musical systems are in use:—Hullah's in 691 schools, the old notation with movable ditto in 676 schools, more than one system in 61 schools, and tonic sol-fa in 3,987 schools. The remaining 23,117 schools teach by ear, using no system.

The number of candidates examined in music during 1881 by the various English examining bodies was unusually large. Trinity College, London, heads the list with 5,669, the University of Cambridge comes next with 1,185, the Society of Arts third with 596, and the University of Oxford last with 281, the combined total being 7,731 candidates. The largest number of students now attending any school of music is at the Guildhall School, London, E.C.

THE ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

TENTERDEN STREET, HANOVER SQUARE, LONDON, W.

Patron.—The Queen.

President.—The Right Hon. the Earl of Dudley.

This Institution was founded in 1822, by the late Earl of Westmoreland, and was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1830. In 1868 there were only 70 pupils in attendance, now about 300 or 400 Students attend a regular course of instruction in the various branches of music. The Institution is most ably conducted under the following regulations, viz.:—

All orders whatever for the government of the Academy emanate from the Committee of Management, whose decisions are delivered through their Chairman, to the different offices of the establishment.

All branches of music are taught in the Academy ; and Students may choose any one of these for their principal study. Should the branch for which a male Student enters be Composition, Organ, Pianoforte, or Harp, he is required to learn, in addition, any orchestral instrument the Committee may choose for him.

Students are required to learn Harmony and Pianoforte ; and all are required to attend the Sight-Singing Class ; and, when competent, to take part in the orchestral and choral practices.

Should the branch for which a Student enters be Singing, he or she is required to attend the Elocution Class.

The classes for the English, Italian, French, and German languages may be attended by any of the Students on payment of an additional fee of one guinea per term for each class.

The year is divided into three Terms of thirteen weeks each ; the Michaelmas Term commences on the third Monday in September, the Lent Term on the third Monday in January, and the Easter Term on the fourth Monday in April. There are vacations of four weeks at Christmas, of one week at Easter, and of eight weeks at the close of the Easter Term.

The annual fee for the entire course of study is thirty guineas, or ten guineas per Term, with an entrance fee of five guineas (which last, when a Student has remained in the Institution for three consecutive years, is deducted from the fee for the tenth Term).

An extra fee of three guineas per Term is paid by Students who pursue two principal studies.

All payments are made in advance.

Notice must be given of the withdrawal of a Student.

Orchestral Students, if competent to take part upon any instrument in the orchestral practice, pay an entrance fee of two guineas, and an annual fee of fifteen guineas, divided into terminal payments of five guineas. They are entitled to instruction twice a week, in any study of their own choice, and are required to assist in the weekly practices and in all public performances.

An operatic class for the study of the lyrical drama has been opened for composers and singers. Students already accepted in the Academy will be admitted to this class on payment of an additional fee of two guineas per Term each.

Students are admitted at the commencement of each Term and half-term. Candidates for admission must attend for examination, bringing music they can perform, at eleven o'clock on the Saturday before each Term or half-term, with a recommendation from a Subscriber, a Member, an Associate, or an Honorary Member.

The fee for examination is one guinea, which is returned on the admission of the candidate.

Candidates residing at a distance from London may be primarily examined by any one of the Local Examiners, from whom they may obtain information and advice respecting the Academy. One or more Local Examiners (whose services are honorary) are appointed in every principal town in the kingdom.

The Students are required to pay implicit obedience to all persons placed in authority over them, and to attend punctually at the hours appointed for their instruction, and at all orchestral and choral practices, rehearsals, and performances.

As a mark of particular distinction, advanced Students are appointed sub-Professors, and required to give instruction in the Academy, under the supervision of their own Professors.

No Student is allowed to undertake any public engagements, without first obtaining the sanction of the Principal.

No Student is allowed to publish any composition without the sanction of the Principal; and a copy of all compositions published with his sanction must be presented to the Library of the Academy.

Students have the privilege of practising on the Organ if they pay the cost of blowing, and on the Pedallier without charge.

Any infringement or violation of the Regulations, or any discreditable or improper conduct, will subject the Student, at the discretion of the Committee, to dismissal from the Institution.

After leaving the Academy, Students may undergo an examination. Should the examination prove satisfactory, they will receive a certificate; and, in special cases, the additional distinction of being made an Associate of the Institution.

Students who distinguish themselves in the musical profession after quitting the Institution, may be, by the Committee of Management, created Members of the Royal Academy of Music.

The above Regulations are appointed by the Committee of Management, acting under the Charter given by his late most Gracious Majesty King George IV.

There is a Library attached to the Academy, for the use of Students, who are responsible for any works they borrow. A selection of literary books has been presented by C. Mudie, Esq., in memory of Thomas Mollison Mudie.

There are Scholarships, Exhibitions, and Prizes awarded to successful Students, viz.:—

A WESTMORELAND SCHOLARSHIP,

FOUNDED 1861,

for Vocalists, as a memorial of the late Earl of Westmoreland, the founder, contended for annually in December.

It is open to female candidates between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four years.

The amount of the Scholarship is ten pounds, which will be appropriated towards the cost of a year's instruction in the Academy.

THE POTTER EXHIBITION,

FOUNDED 1860,

is open to competition by female and male candidates, in alternate years, who shall be pupils of the Academy, and have studied not less than two years in the Institution.

The amount of the Exhibition is twelve pounds, which will be appropriated towards the cost of a year's instruction in the Academy.

THE STERNDALÉ BENNETT SCHOLARSHIP.

FOUNDED 1872.

The Scholarship is open for competition in any branch of Music, to male candidates, between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one years.

The competitor must be a British-born subject, and will have to pass an Examination in General Education previously to entering the musical competition.

The subjects for examination will comprise Orthography, English Grammar, Elementary Arithmetic, Rudiments of Geography and English History ; and candidates above eighteen in any Foreign Language of their own choice.

The successful candidate will be entitled to two years' free education in the Royal Academy of Music.

THE PAREPA-ROSA SCHOLARSHIP.

FOUNDED 1874.

To be awarded to Vocalists.

The successful candidate to be entitled to two years' free Musical Education in the Royal Academy of Music.

THE SIR JOHN GOSS SCHOLARSHIP.

FOUNDED 1875.

The Scholarship is open for competition in any branch of Music, to male candidates between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years, who shall have been members of cathedral choirs, and who will make the organ a chief study.

The Scholarship is for three years, and amounts, at present, to about fifteen guineas, which will be appropriated towards the cost of instruction in the Academy.

THE PROFESSORS' SCHOLARSHIPS.

FOUNDED 1875.

Two Scholarships have been established for the advancement of orchestral studies by subscription of the Professors and their friends.

These Scholarships consist of two years' free education in the Academy to candidates between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one years, and are awarded to those adjudged the best player on the violin, and the best player on any other orchestral instrument.

THE THALBERG SCHOLARSHIP.

FOUNDED 1877.

For Pianists.

The amount of the Scholarship is twenty pounds a year, which will be appropriated towards the cost of two years' instruction in the Academy.

THE NOVELLO SCHOLARSHIP.

FOUNDED 1877.

Presented by Messrs. Novello, Ewer, and Co.

The Scholarship is open to competition by male candidates, being British-born subjects, between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, and will be awarded to the one showing the greatest promise of musical ability, preference being given to talent for composition. The competitor will have to pass a simple examination in general education previously to entering the musical competition.

The successful candidate will be entitled to three years' free education in the Royal Academy of Music, which period may or may not be extended, according to the requirements and deserts of the scholar, and at the discretion of the Committee of Management.

THE BALFE SCHOLARSHIP.

FOUNDED 1876.

This Scholarship is open for competition by male candidates between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one years, and will be awarded to the one who may be judged to show the greatest promise in composition.

The successful candidate will be entitled to one year's free education in the Royal Academy of Music.

MEMORIAL PRIZES.

Chairman of the Committee of Management.—Sir G. A. Macfarren.

Treasurer.—J. L. Cock.

Secretary.—John Gill.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC, KENSINGTON GORE, W.

President—H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, K.G.

This College, recently founded, owes its origin to the direct influence and support of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who is, appropriately, its first President, and the "National Training School of Music" has now become a part of the "Royal College."

Music is of so much national importance, that it may be well to give a short account of the origin of this College. The musical tastes of the Royal Family are hereditary. George III.'s devotion to Handel is well known. George IV. was a generous and enlightened patron of music, and himself a performer. The Queen and the Prince Consort continued the musical traditions of the Royal Family. Her Majesty's talent for singing is well known to the readers of Mendelssohn's delightful letters; and the practical good done by the Prince in the introduction of fine music at the ancient concerts, the philharmonic concerts, and the performances at Windsor Castle, is specified at length in the appendix to Sir Theodore Martin's "Life of the Prince Consort," volume i. The opportunity of creating a national institution did not arise in the Prince's lifetime, but he showed repeatedly how much he had the advancement of music at heart; he was himself a composer of no mean merit, as the public have an opportunity of judging from the collection of his musical works very recently published. The Duke of Edinburgh, as is well known, is himself an executant, and his skill, taste, and love for music are proverbial throughout the country.

In pursuance of this object, the Prince of Wales, in July, 1878, summoned a number of gentlemen to attend a meeting at Marlborough House. Its purpose is formulated in the following extracts from the programme:—

"It is expedient to promote the further advancement of the art of music in the United Kingdom by the establishment of a Royal National College of Music on a more permanent and extended basis than any existing institution.

"The object of the College will be the combination in one representative body, under the presidency of the Prince of Wales, of practical musicians and the best and most influential patrons of music, with a view to the efficient regulation and improvement of the art and science of music, and, above all, the providing musical instruction of the highest class.

"The instruction afforded will consist of a complete course of professional training extending over several years. Scholarships of an amount sufficient to defray the whole or a great portion of the expense of a course of training will be obtainable by open competition. Non-professional pupils will also be admitted on such terms as to entrance fees or otherwise as may be deemed to be most beneficial to the interests of the College; but in every case the attainment of a sufficient standard of acquirement or ability will be ascertained by examination before any pupil, professional or non-professional, is admitted to the College.

"Honorary fellowships will be bestowed upon persons eminent in the musical world, and it is intended to establish fellowships carrying with them pecuniary advantages."

The mayors and corporations throughout the country supported and encouraged the movement by holding public meetings, and the powerful and eloquent speech of His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany at Manchester gave a still greater impetus to the national feeling, and in his address he showed that relatively to foreign countries England occupied three centuries ago a higher place in the musical world than she does at the present time, and he proved that the almost universal establishment of central and national musical institutions abroad, and the want of such an institution in England, had been one cause why musical progress has not in this country kept pace with the increase of wealth and population, and the corresponding development of science and art.

The movement having now obtained a firm hold in public estimation, liberal subscriptions and donations flowed in with a response equal to the occasion and object. Sir Erasmus Wilson, K.C.B., Sir William J. Clarke, Bart., Sir Thomas Elder, and Miss Courtenay at once subscribed £3,000 each to found three scholarships, and many other equally munificent donations were given, the result being that we have now a conservatoire of Music fully established, which will doubtless last for all time, and is destined to occupy the same position in relation to musical art in the United Kingdom as in Germany is occupied by the conservatoire of Berlin, and in Austria by the conservatoire of Vienna, and will certainly constitute a new era in the history of music in the United Kingdom. On the 29th March, 1883, the first open competitive examination for scholarships was held, and many were awarded. The College is situated in Kensington Gore, S.W. in the building presented for the purpose by Sir Charles J. Freak, Bart., closely adjoins the Albert Hall, and rooms in that building will be available for choral and instrumental practice. The College will be open to pupils of both sexes, who will consist of scholars, exhibitioners, and students. All will follow the same system of study, under the same instructors, and will have similar advantages afforded to them in regard to range and choice of subjects. The above and following extracts have been collated from the articles which appeared in the first printed reports issued by the College, and supplied to this work by the courtesy of the Hon. Secretary. The information may therefore be considered as strictly accurate.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

A Scholarship will entitle the holder to a thorough and systematic education in theoretical and practical music, as represented in the following branches :—Harmony, counterpoint, and composition ; organ, pianoforte, harp, violin, and other stringed instruments, wind instruments ; singing, including solo, part, chorus, and dramatic singing, with declamation.

Scholars will be entitled to select, at their own option, one of the above branches as a principal subject, but they will also be required to receive instruction in such additional subject or subjects as may be chosen for them. There will further be classes for the practice of orchestral, chamber, and choral music, in which the scholars will be required to take part ; harmony classes and sight-singing classes ; lectures on the history of music, and the construction of instruments. The attendance of all scholars will be compulsory at both of these courses. A course of instruction in modern languages, which the pupils in singing will be required to attend.

The Scholarships are tenable for a period of three years, but may be terminated by the Council at any time, should the progress or conduct of the scholar be unsatisfactory ; on the other hand, the period may be extended when the ability and circumstances of the scholar are considered by the Council to warrant such extension.

Candidates for scholarships are eligible up to the following ages :—Composition, males and females, 21 ; pianoforte, males 18, and females 19 ; organ, males 19, females 20 ; harp, males 18, females 19 ; violin and other stringed instruments, males and females, 18 ; wind instruments, males 20 ; singing, males between the ages of 18 and 23, females between 17 and 22.

The Scholarships are of two classes : Open Scholarships ; Close or Local Scholarships.

OPEN SCHOLARSHIPS.

These are open to all classes of Her Majesty's subjects, within the prescribed ages, and are obtainable by competitive examination only. The final competitions for vacant Scholarships will be held, after due and proper public notice, at the College.

A certain number of the Open Scholarships will provide not only for the musical education, but also for the maintenance of the scholar.

Fifty Scholarships will be awarded at the opening of the College.

Preliminary examinations will be held throughout the country, with the view of previously testing the candidates, and selecting those whose qualifications are such as to give them a reasonable prospect of success in the final competition ; and those only who may be selected at such preliminary examination will be allowed to attend the final competition.

No fee is charged for admission to the preliminary examination ; but the fee for examination at the final competition is one guinea, which will be returned to the successful scholars.

Open Scholarships providing musical education and maintenance, and bearing in each case the name of the founder, may be founded by any person, association, or public body, by the donation of £2,500 for each scholarship. Four of these have already been established. These are—The Courtenay Scholarship, founded by Miss Courtenay, in memory of her brother, Frank Courtenay, Esq. ; the Wilson Scholarship, founded by Sir Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., F.R.C.S.; the Morley Scholarship, founded by Samuel Morley, Esq., M.P., Howard Morley, Esq., and Charles Morley, Esq.; the Elizabeth Pringle Memorial Scholarship, founded by her daughter, Lady Harvey, of Langley Park, Slough.

CLOSE OR LOCAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

These may be founded by any person, association, or public body, by the donation of £3,000, which provides both musical education and maintenance; they are obtainable by competition only; may bear such name as the donor may desire, and be confined to natives of the locality, or otherwise restricted as may be wished by the donor, and approved by the Council.

The competition will take place at the College, as in the case of the Open Scholarships; when, if no candidate reaches the required standard of excellence, the funds of the scholarship will be applied to the general purposes of the College, until such time as a sufficiently qualified candidate is elected by competition.

The following Local Scholarships have already been founded:—The South Province (of Victoria) Scholarship for public competition among natives of Victoria, founded by the Hon. Sir William J. Clarke, Bart., Melbourne, Victoria; the South Australian Scholarship, founded by Sir Thomas Elder, Adelaide, South Australia; the Portsmouth Scholarship, founded for natives of Portsmouth, Hants. Mr. William Gilstrap, of Farnham Hall, Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, and Newark-on-Trent, Notts, who last year gave £1,000 to the funds of the Royal College of Music, has now added £2,000 to that sum, with the view of founding a scholarship in the College, in his own name, to be awarded (1) to natives of Suffolk, or failing them (2) to natives of Nottinghamshire, or failing them (3) to the country at large.

Exhibitions will be created from time to time, as the funds of the College may admit. They will entitle the holders to certain reductions in the expense of their education, and will be awarded to those who, having failed to obtain Open Scholarships, are next in merit to scholars.

A person becoming entitled to a Scholarship or Exhibition, who declines to accept the emoluments thereof, by reason of his being able to pay for his education or maintenance, may bear the title of Honorary Scholar or Honorary Exhibitioner, or such other title as may be determined by the Council.

STUDENTS.

Persons desiring to enter the College as students or paying pupils must pass an entrance examination at the College. The fee for the examination is one guinea.

The full course of instruction occupies three years, and no student is admitted for a shorter period than one year.

As a rule, students are only admitted at the beginning of a term, but exceptions may be made at the discretion of the Director.

Students have the same advantages offered to them, in regard to range and choice of subjects, that the scholars have, and may take part, if sufficiently advanced, in the practices of orchestral, chamber, and choral music. The lectures on the history of music, and the construction of instruments will be open to them; and the students in singing may enter the course of modern languages.

The fee for a student is £40 per annum, payable on entrance and at the beginning of each subsequent year.

Note.—In the case of students, it is open to any person so disposed to provide or assist the education of a pupil by paying the fees, either wholly or in part.

TERMS.

The College year will consist of three terms, of about thirteen weeks each, as follows :—1. First term, beginning on the Monday nearest to the 1st of May. 2. Second term, beginning on the Monday nearest to the 20th of September. 3. Third term, beginning on the Monday nearest to the 15th of January.

Notice of the precise date of the beginning and ending of each term, of the vacations, of extra holidays, if any, and of the daily hours of instruction, will be given from time to time by the Director.

LODGINGS.

Provision will be made, under the direct supervision of the authorities of the College, for the board and residence of the holders of scholarships which include maintenance, in houses approved by the Council. These houses will also be open, on payment of such fees as may be fixed by the Council, and so far as the accommodation may extend, to the holders of scholarships which do not include maintenance, and also to students who, not being resident in London, may desire to be accommodated in them.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

Before entering the College, each scholar or exhibitioner, with a parent or guardian, or other responsible person, will be required to sign a form binding the pupil to obey the rules of the College, and to remain for the entire term of the scholarship or exhibition, except in case of illness or other unavoidable cause.

All pupils, whether scholars, exhibitioners, or students, must attend punctually at the hour appointed for their respective classes, and must on no account absent themselves from any lessons without the permission of the Director.

Any pupil breaking the rules of the College, or otherwise guilty of misconduct, will be subject to dismissal, on the decision of the Council.

No pupil will be allowed to take part in any public performance, or publish any composition, or enter into any engagement, except by the written permission of the Director.

Pupils will be examined periodically, and marks of distinction will be awarded to those who pass their examinations satisfactorily.

Pupils must be at least nine years of age when they enter the College; and must possess the educational and physical qualifications necessary for the class of study proposed to be adopted.

In addition to the regular course of instruction, pupils may be required to attend other classes, when this is considered desirable by the Director.

This prospectus will be subject to alteration from time to time, with the exception that the rights of the existing holders of scholarships and exhibitions will be preserved.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION FOR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Notice to Candidates.

Candidates will bring not less than three pieces of music, which they have prepared, one of which, in the case of instrumentalists, should be a study; and they will perform any portions of them selected by the Examiners.

Their knowledge of the rudiments of music, such as clefs, keys, scales, times, etc., will be tested, and they will be expected to answer questions as to the meaning of any signs, marks of expression, etc., which may occur in the music performed. They will also be expected to play or sing any scale required, to read at sight, and to play or sing from memory.

Special credit will be given to those candidates who, in addition to the above, are able to pass an examination in transposing, modulating between given keys, and preluding or extemporising.

Candidates who have attempted composition may submit specimens of their work, and must be prepared to play them, if required.

An application form is supplied to those wishing to attend a preliminary examination for an open scholarship; it has to be signed by the candidate, and accompanied by registrar's certificate of age, with (1) name in full, (2) address, (3) age last birthday, (4) profession or occupation of father, (5) the place in which candidate wishes to be examined, and (6) candidate to state which of the following is intended to be made the principal study:—(1) composition, (2) singing, (3) pianoforte, (4) organ, (5) harp, (6) violin or other stringed instrument, (7) other orchestral instruments.

N.B.—No candidate to be eligible, whose age, on May 1st, 1883, shall have exceeded, for composition, males and females, 21; pianoforte, males 18, females 19; organ, males 19, females 20; harp, males 18, females 19; violin or other stringed instruments, males and females, 18; wind instruments, males, 20; singing, males, between the ages of 18 and 23, females, between the ages of 17 and 22.

No fee is charged for admission to the preliminary examination; but a fee of one guinea will be required from those who present themselves for the subsequent final competitive examination, which will be returned to successful candidates. The date of payment of this fee will be notified to those candidates who pass the preliminary examination.

The form must be forwarded, and all communications addressed, to Charles Morley, Esq., Honorary Secretary, Royal College of Music, Kensington Gore, S.W., London.

Applicants for admission as paying pupils (students) are also required to fill up a form which will be supplied to them by the Honorary Secretary, giving the (1) name, (2) address, and (3) subject for principal study.

The fee for examination is one guinea.

TRINITY COLLEGE, LONDON.

MANDEVILLE PLACE, MANCHESTER SQUARE, W.

This College was instituted in 1872, and incorporated under its present title in 1875—the Council being enlarged and re-incorporated in 1881—having for its objects the advancement of Musical and General Education, by (1) organising classes and lectures; (2) holding examinations at which diplomas, certificates, and prizes are given to the successful candidates; and (3) the doing all other such lawful things as are calculated to promote the objects in view. About 300 pupils attend the classes.

The Academical Division, under the superintendence of a Board deputed by the Council, consists of two departments:—1. Classes and Lectures; 2. Public Examinations.

CLASSES AND LECTURES.—The scheme includes every subject connected with the Science and Art of Music, viz., Choir Management, Harmony, Counterpoint, Musical Composition, Vocal Music, Organ (with opportunities for practice), Pianoforte, Orchestral Instruments, Vocal and Instrumental Practice, etc., and General Subjects, viz., Classics, Mathematics, Modern Languages, English Literature, Science, etc. Some free Scholarships have been established; also gold and silver medals, as well as other prizes for diligence and progress in study.

Those with an asterisk form the Board of Professors.

Resident Students are received upon conditions named in the Calendar for 1881-82.

The Examinations for Diplomas in Music are held twice a year, and are open to persons of either sex, whether Students of the College or not. There are now 75 Licentiates, and about 100 Associates.

The special certificates are designed to meet the needs of those who, unable to enter for the Professional Diplomas of the College, desire to obtain credit for technical knowledge of any special subject. The subjects are—(1) Harmony, (2) Counterpoint, (3) Instrumentation, (4) Solo Singing, (5) Pianoforte, (6) Organ, and (7) Violin, Violoncello, or any other Orchestral Instrument approved by the Academical Board. Candidates may enter for one or more subjects at the same examination.

Local Examinations in Elementary Musical Knowledge are held in all parts of the United Kingdom and the Colonies, at centres placed under the care of Local Secretaries. There are national prizes, honour certificates, and pass certificates. Applications for the appointment of local centres should be made, in the first instance, to the Secretary. Since 1877 over 12,000 candidates have been examined.

Local Examinations in Instrumental and Vocal Music may be arranged through the Local Secretaries. The Examiner, appointed by the Academical Board, may visit an examination centre at any time. Since 1879 nearly 3,000 candidates have been examined.

INSTITUTIONS IN UNION.—Any Institution, College, School, Choir, or Society may, subject to the approval of the Academical Board, be enrolled in union with the College, on the election of the Principal or Secretary as an honorary member. Institutions in union, amongst other privileges, may enter their members for all the Local Examinations at reduced fees. Applications for enrolment should be directed to the Hon. Local Secretary of the centre in which the Institution is situate, or, if there be no centre, to the Secretary. Up to the present time upwards of 500 Institutions, Schools, etc., have been enrolled in union.

Honorary membership of the College is obtainable by election, and on payment of an annual subscription of one guinea. Honorary members have free access to the College Library; the privilege of competing for Scholarships and Prizes; the Calendar and College Journal (monthly), gratis; free enrolment of an institution in union; the electoral privilege of the College Senate; right of attendance at the usual public meetings of the College. "House members" have in addition (on payment of a further annual subscription of one guinea) the free use of the Reading Rooms of the College, etc. There are now about 500 honorary members.

Regulations as to the classes, the prizes, and conditions will be supplied on application to the Secretary.

FEES.—Per Term: Harmony, 1*l*. 5*s*.; Counterpoint, etc., 1*l*. 5*s*.; Form, 1*l*. 5*s*.; Orchestration, 1*l*. 5*s*.; Musical Acoustics, 1*l*. 1*s*.; Pianoforte, 2*l*. 10*s*. and 4*l*. 4*s*.; Ensemble Pianoforte Class, 2*l*. 2*s*.; Organ, 2*l*. 10*s*.; Harmonium, 2*l*. 10*s*.; Solo Singing, 2*l*. 10*s*. and 4*l*. 4*s*.; Violin, 2*l*. 10*s*. and 4*l*. 4*s*.; Violoncello, 2*l*. 10*s*.; Flute, 3*l*. 3*s*.; Oboe, 3*l*. 3*s*.; Clarinet, 3*l*. 3*s*.; Harp, 3*l*. 3*s*.; Choral Society, 5*s*.; Extemporaneous Fugue Playing, 3*l*. 3*s*.; Figured Bass Playing, 3*l*. 3*s*.; Sight Singing, 5*s*.; Physiology of Vocal Organs and of the Ear, 2*l*. 2*s*.; Musical History, 1*l*. 1*s*.; Choral Class for Clergy, 2*l*. 2*s*.; Orchestral Society, 10*s*. 6*d*.

COMPOUNDING FEE.—Students for three studies (Pianoforte, Singing, and Harmony) are received at an inclusive fee of Five Guineas per Term, the Student having the privilege of naming his principal study and choosing the Professor for it, subject to the approval of the Chief Director. For the secondary studies, Students are placed with the Professors chosen by the Chief Director.

SESSIONAL TICKETS.—The fees per Session of three Terms are, for a practical subject, from 6*l.* 15*s.*; this however may be paid for in three instalments, as follows: First Term, 2*l.* 10*s.*, Second Term, 2*l.* 5*s.*, Third Term, 2*l.*, thus giving a distinct advantage to Sessional Students without the necessity of paying the whole fee in advance. The Sessional payment may be reckoned from the beginning of any Term in which the Student enters.

UNIVERSITY LECTURES.—The London Society for the extension of University Teaching having established a centre at Trinity College; a course of Lectures on Musical Acoustics will be given by Dr. W. H. Stone, M.A., M.B., F.R.C.P., on Fridays, at 5.30 p.m. At the end of the Term an Examination will be held, and Certificates granted by the joint Board of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and London. Fee, One Guinea per Term. Special Terms will be made in the case of Enrolled Schools, etc.

There are Evening as well as Day Classes, and Students may enter for a Single Study.

Each Student receives Individual Instruction, and Separate Classes are formed for Ladies.

There are Three Terms (of Twelve Weeks each) in the Academical Year.

Michaelmas Term (1882) begins September 25, ends December 16.

Lent Term (1883) begins January 15, and ends April 14.

Trinity Term (1883) begins April 30, and ends July 23.

A Registration Fee of Five Shillings is charged on entering the College, and is appropriated to a Special Fund for the maintenance of the College Library. Each Student on entering the College will be presented with a copy of the College Calendar.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Classes and Lectures are intended as a preparation for the Public Examinations at the Universities, and for the Examinations of the College. Students preparing for any of the Examinations may obtain special advice and assistance from the Warden or the Chief Director. Students of the College are allowed to enter for all the College Examinations at reduced fees.

The following is the Scheme of the Trinity College Examinations:—

The Diplomas of Associate and Licentiate in Music of Trinity College, London.

Higher Examinations for Women.

Special Certificates for Technical skill and the positions of Associate-Pianist, Organ-Associate, and Associate-Vocalist of the College.

Local Examinations in Elementary Musical Knowledge, and in Instrumental and Vocal Music.

The regulations for all or any of the above Examinations may be obtained on application to the Secretary, from whom also may be had the Official List of Vocal and Instrumental pieces approved by the Board for the Curriculum and Examinations of the College.

THE HENRY SMART SCHOLARSHIP,

OF THE VALUE OF THIRTY GUINEAS PER ANNUM, TENABLE FOR THREE YEARS, OPEN TO ALL COMERS OF EITHER SEX.

The following Prizes and Medals are awarded amongst the Students of the College :—

The Tallis Gold Medal.

Silver Medal }
Bronze Medal } for Regularity and Diligence.

Composition Prizes for Musical Students.

The Stark Medals.

COLLEGE CHAPEL.

Divine Service is held occasionally. The Service is fully choral. Resident Students, being members of the Church of England, are expected to attend, and all other Students, members and friends of the College, being members of the Church of England, are cordially invited.

RESIDENT STUDENTS.

Halls of Residence in connection with the College have been established for the reception of Students coming from the country, and the following Halls have already been licensed by the Academical Board :—

THE TONIC SOL-FA COLLEGE,

FOREST GATE, LONDON, E.

The Tonic Sol-fa College was established in 1863, and since its incorporation in 1875 has been doing a great and useful educational work throughout the country. Its system of graded Certificates, Postal Courses, etc., has been eminently successful in spreading a knowledge of music among the people.

A fund is being raised for the purpose of erecting a building suitable for the work of the College, containing Lecture Hall, Class Rooms, etc., as the increasing demand for qualified Sol-fa Teachers for the elementary schools throughout the country renders it necessary that the personal teaching of the College shall not be limited to a short summer Session, but be continued throughout the year. A portion of the building has been erected, and is now occupied.

The objects for which the College is established are :—

- (a) The musical advancement of the Students of the Tonic Sol-fa Method. The term Tonic Sol-fa Method means the method of teaching musical subjects, which is set forth in the publications of the late Mr. John Curwen, and such developments of the same method as may be adopted by Special Resolution at an Extraordinary General Meeting of Members.
- (b) The training of Teachers of the Tonic Sol-fa Method.
- (c) The extension of musical knowledge among the people by means of the Tonic Sol-fa Method.
- (d) The holding of Examinations and the awarding of certificates, scholarships, and fellowships.
- (e) The doing all such other lawful things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

The income and property of the College, whencesoever derived, shall be applied solely towards the promotion of the objects of the College.

During the year ending May 31st, 1880, Certificates of various grades in the practice and theory of Music were issued to the number of 11,237.

Mr. John Spencer Curwen, the indefatigable President of the College, has written a very able pamphlet entitled "The Story of Tonic Sol-fa," and he introduces his article with the following interesting particulars :—

There was living at Norwich, about the year 1812, the daughter of an English clergyman, who, with her sister, was active in all kinds of philanthropic work. A young Sunday-school teacher came to her sister one day, wanting to learn enough of singing to be able to use his voice in church. His instructress set to work to play a tune to him repeatedly on the pianoforte, while he endeavoured to imitate with his voice the sounds which the instrument gave forth. It soon occurred to Miss Glover, however,—for this was the lady's name,—that if she pasted letters over the keys of the pianoforte, and then wrote on a piece of paper the letters corresponding with those placed over the keys, in the order in which they needed to be touched to bring forth the tune, the youth might teach himself. So she chose the last twelve letters of the alphabet, and pasted them over the black and white keys. But O, P, Q, and the rest, looked barbarous, and the question came "Why not place the old Sol-fa syllables beneath the pitch notes, and slide them up and down, following the keynote of each tune, after the genuine fashion of solmisation?" It was not long before do, re, mi, and the rest, were thus added, and then those who tried to pick up a tune in Miss Glover's way told her that they never looked at O, P, Q, finding all they needed in do, re, mi. She therefore discarded the letters, except when they were necessary, in the beginning of a tune, to tell where its pitch lay. All that was left was a Sol-fa Notation of Music. The thought of music, thus cleared from the mystery of sharps and flats, was in itself so fascinating, that Miss Glover was led on with increasing interest. She began a series of experiments with the children of the City Charity School, the Norwich Union, and the parish school of Pakefield, in Suffolk. The work was not all encouraging, for musical people said that the attempt to teach music by a notation of letters was chimerical, while others thought that if children were taught to read music, it would be pretty well over with their morals. But Miss Glover's patient perseverance conquered, and her work went on. She had received a thorough musical education, and had obtained from Dr. Marsh the idea of a family of keys—the principal major key with its relative minor, and their offspring, the key of the dominant with its relative minor, and that of the sub-dominant with its relative minor. On this idea her ladder of tune was founded. Her way of writing music was nothing more serious than the letters of this diagram, already familiarised to the mind's eye, written down in horizontal lines.

"My own connection with the system," says Mr. Curwen, "has arisen in this wise. I am one who is deeply interested in the education of children. About eight years ago—we are quoting from a paper read to some school-teachers in the year 1846—I became anxious to teach a number of them under my charge to sing, chiefly with the design of making them love the Sunday-school. Having no natural advantages of ear or voice, I sought help. I learnt a few tunes, and with the assistance of a friend, taught them to the children. We had 200 children for two hours twice a week. By dint of loud singing we carried the voices of the children with us, and taught them many tunes. We endeavoured most strenuously also to give them a knowledge of crotchets and quavers, flats and sharps, and clefs, hoping thereby to give some permanence to the fruits of our labours; but this was in vain. We succeeded, however, in producing most delightful results for the time, although they extended not beyond the particular tunes which we had taught with extreme labour. For myself, all this while I could neither pitch a well-known tune properly, nor by any means "make out" from the notes the plainest psalm-tune which I had not heard before. To obtain that moderate ability was the height of my musical ambition. I therefore sought a private teacher, who, with the help of a piano, drummed much practice into me, but no independent power. I now saw that Miss Glover's plan was to teach first the simple and beautiful thing Music, and to delay the introduction to the ordinary antiquated mode of writing it, until the pupil had obtained a mastery of the thing itself. Her method was, beyond all controversy, more deeply established on the principles of the science than any other ; and, by giving it a fair trial on myself, and on a little child who lived in the same house, I became convinced that it was also the most simple of all—the most easy to teach and the most easy to learn.”

The Rev. E. P. Cachemaille, M.A., Vicar of S. Peter's Stepney, has written an article entitled “The Tonic Sol-fa Method, the Sunday-school, and Church Psalmody,” of which the following is an extract :—

“Music is a power,” especially with children ; and the simpler and more effective the method of teaching music, the more easily can that power be wielded. Music forms an indispensable element in the day-school instruction, but it is of scarcely less use and importance in the Sunday-school ; for our Sunday-school teachers are generally some of our most devout, earnest, and intelligent communicants, and our Sunday-scholars are, or ought to be, the future members of our congregations. There is the closest connection between the Sunday-school and the Church. By promoting music in our Sunday-schools, then, we not only do our scholars a moral good, and provide them with a heaven-sent means of innocent and wholesome recreation, but also we exercise a powerful influence on our Church psalmody, and train up intelligent recruits for our Church choirs.

THE ROYAL NORMAL COLLEGE AND ACADEMY OF MUSIC FOR THE BLIND, WESTERN STREET, UPPER NORWOOD, LONDON.

Patron.—Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen.

President.—His Grace the Duke of Westminster, K.G.

By the will of the late Mr. Gardener he left the munificent sum of 300,000*l.* to promote the welfare of the blind, and it is not improbable that this benefaction might constitute the commencement of a new epoch with regard to the position and education of the blind in this country. At present this is the only high School of Music for the blind, and it undertakes no other work than to teach them music and to prepare them by general education to be musicians ; 70 to 80 per cent. of the pupils educated here learn to maintain themselves and earn incomes of from 50*l.* to 100*l.* a year. The cost of building and founding the College was 25,000*l.* It is charmingly situated on the slope of a terraced hill. There is a gymnasium for the pupils, and a large level playground, covered with green turf, bounded by a broad walk paved with planks at the corners to indicate to the blind Students when they should turn. The terraces are severally appropriated to the recreation of pupils of different age and sex. There are 82 pupils in the Institution. Of the eleven who left last year, nine are well employed ; the other two are forming private connexions as pianoforte tuners.

Mr. J. F. Campbell, the Principal, is himself blind, and he is an accomplished musician, and a true benefactor to the blind. Sir Rutherford

Alcock is the Treasurer, and Lord Richard Grosvenor, M.B., is the Chairman of the Executive Committee.

The Institution was founded on the 1st March, 1872, and its object, as before stated, is to afford a thorough general technical and musical education to the youthful blind of both sexes who possess the requisite talent, so as to qualify them for self-maintenance. Experience has shown that the blind can seldom fully support themselves merely by manual labour, and the great majority of those who have been trained to industrial trades continue to require charitable assistance during their whole life. It is well known that many of the blind possess musical talent, yet only a small number in the United Kingdom have ever been qualified to earn their living by the profession of music.

Such was formerly the case in other countries, but during recent years great improvements in the general and musical education of the blind have been effected abroad, particularly in France and America, and large numbers of this class, educated in the institutions of those countries, have been enabled to maintain themselves fully by various pursuits, especially as skilled organists, teachers, pianists, and pianoforte tuners.

In view of the practical results of the improved education of the blind in other countries, the Normal College and Academy of Music was founded in order to afford similar advantages to the youthful blind of the United Kingdom.

Upwards of 80 pupils from London and other large towns have been under instruction; a number have already left the College, and are now regularly employed as thoroughly competent pianoforte tuners, and the progress of the pupils generally has proved so satisfactory that numerous eligible candidates from all parts of the kingdom, who will soon pass the age for effective training, are now anxious to obtain the special education and training afforded at the Normal College.

MUSICAL DEPARTMENT.—Through the earnest labours of able teachers, the pupils have made great progress in this department during the year. In his regular pianoforte recitals, Mr. Hartvigson is playing and carefully analysing the most useful works for the piano. There is an excellent organ in the new hall, Mr. Hopkins being the teacher.

The Messrs. Broadwood, who have always been among the most liberal patrons, have recently placed one of their finest concert grands in the new hall for the use of the College; and Dr. Armitage has presented one large and two small organs, which have been erected at the cost of a thousand guineas.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.—The duties of the school begin and close each day with simple devotional services. The recitations and lessons, with the exception of pianoforte classes, continue forty-five minutes—fifteen minutes of each hour being devoted to recreation. Each pupil is also required to spend an hour in the gymnasium for special gymnastic training. Classes receive instruction in reading, writing, spelling, defining, Bible history, English grammar, analysis, elocution, objects, natural history, political and physical geography, physiology, natural philosophy, arithmetic, and geometry. In the evening all the pupils are required to listen to well-selected historical and general reading, and for this purpose they are arranged in classes, according to age and ability. Teachers.—Miss M. C. Greene, and Miss E. S. Adams.

The fees vary somewhat according to age. Pupils over 13 years of age are charged 60*l.* per annum. This includes board and general education, use of instruments, etc. Pupils are admitted from 7 to 21 years of age, at first only on trial, and they only become permanent pupils when the Principal is able to certify that in his opinion the candidate can be qualified for self-maintenance by a thorough course of training. A number of Scholarships have been established by Local Committees in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Paisley, Dundee, Manchester, Bristol, and other towns.

Examinations in the Educational Department have usually been conducted by one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools, and are held with the Musical Examinations at Easter. The annual vacation begins early in August, and closes early in October.

Neither pains nor expense is spared to make the instruction equal to that given in the very best schools for sighted persons.

LONDON ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

ST. GEORGE'S HALL, REGENT STREET NORTH, W.

This academy (which is divided into two departments, one for ladies, the other for gentlemen) is doing great and increasing work. It is designed for vocal and instrumental students, amateur and professional, desirous of receiving a complete musical education in this country, from the best London professors, at the moderate fees of the continental institutions. Candidates for admission as students, either as amateurs or professionals, must show that they possess sufficient ability by the course of study, and are required to attend at the academy, St. George's Hall, Langham Place, previous to admission, in order that they may be examined by the principal. There are about 350 students, who are grouped into classes under the direction of their respective professors.

A branch establishment for amateurs only has been opened at No. 1 Hampstead Gardens, South Kensington.

ROYAL SOCIETY OF MUSICIANS OF GREAT BRITAIN,

12, LISLE STREET, LEICESTER SQUARE, W.

“To deliver the poor that cry.”

This Society was founded in 1738, for the maintenance of aged and indigent musicians, their widows and orphans, and it was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1789. It is at present supporting fifteen members, forty-three widows, and twelve children. The Earl of Dudley is one of the patrons of the Society; and this excellent and valuable Institution calls for the generous and open-handed support of all lovers of music.

The origin of the Institution, like that of many others, was purely accidental. Above a century ago, a celebrated German oboe-player of the name of Kytch came to this country, where he soon obtained such eminence that he was engaged at two or three private parties in an evening, to play Opera songs, etc., etc., which he executed with exquisite taste and feeling. But, with all the patronage and encouragement that Kytch enjoyed, he, like too many other talented men, was very improvident: he neglected his family, then himself; consequently he became totally incapable of appearing before any respectable assembly, and at last he was found one morning in St. James's Market, breathless.

That "great good often rises from partial evil" has been verified in this instance. Soon after the death of Kytch, Festing, the celebrated violinist, Weidemann, the flute-player, who instructed His Majesty George the Third, and Vincent, the oboe-player, were standing at the door of the Orange Coffee House in the Haymarket, when they observed two very interesting boys driving milch asses; on enquiring who they were, they proved to be the orphans of the unfortunate Kytch. With a feeling that reflects honour on their memories, they entered into a subscription to rescue the children of their departed brother-professor from such a degrading situation; and on consulting with Dr. Green and several other eminent composers, on the necessity of a fund to alleviate the distress of indigent musicians, their widows and orphans, they established, on the 19th of April, 1738, this Society.

The Founders of this Society worked with energy and determination, and in a very short time the most celebrated musicians of that period were enrolled as members, Handel being one of the professors who took part in this great movement, and who continued throughout his life to watch over the interests of the Institution. He testified his appreciation of the good effected by bequeathing 1,000*l.* to its funds.

In the year 1789 the Society was granted a Royal Charter by His Majesty King George III.; and from the constant interest taken by this sovereign in its welfare, as well as the large amount it received from the Commemoration Festivals at Westminster Abbey, amounting to 25,000*l.*, it was enabled to diffuse an extent of relief and comfort to its distressed members commensurate with the views of its promoters. From that time to the present, each year has been marked by a constant accession to its funds. Subscriptions, donations, and legacies, contributed by those interested in the encouragement of the art of Music, and in the welfare of its professors, are presented at each anniversary.

In 1789 the Institution was made a corporate body, under the designation of "The Royal Society of Musicians of Great Britain," to be managed by twelve Governors and a Court of Assistants, consisting of forty-eight members.

During the last season, over 3,000*l.* were expended in providing for the maintenance of the widows and orphans, and solacing the declining years of its poorer members, who, in old age—having worked hard, oftentimes ill-paid—had been precluded and disabled from continuing the stern struggle for employment.

The payment of ten guineas constitutes an honorary subscriber for life; and the payment of one guinea, or more, annually, an honorary subscriber; for which each subscriber is entitled to two half-guinea tickets for the Society's Annual Performance of Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah," (Conductor, Mr. W. G. Cusins,) at which the distinguished Artists kindly give their gratuitous services.

It is a most interesting scene when the claimants attend at the Society's Rooms, in the first or second week in June, to make a declaration of their income, independently of the Society's allowance, to behold the happy and contented appearance of the widows, some of whom have been claimants for forty or fifty years.

The Society enrolls on its list of more than 200 Members the names of ladies and gentlemen possessing talent in their profession, second to none in Europe, who not only afford pecuniary aid, but who devote a great portion of their valuable time to the business of the Institution.

HER MAJESTY'S COLLEGE OF ARMS, OR HERALDS' COLLEGE,

QUEEN VICTORIA STREET, DOCTORS COMMONS, E.C.

This ancient corporation, rich in historic associations, does not, as might be inferred from its title, afford any means of instruction in the "mysteries of Heraldry;" and it has been said that there is no institution in London, around which so impenetrable a barrier has been thrown. Instruction in the science is not however exactly a "sealed letter," but is exclusively confined to its own members and employés who acquire chiefly the knowledge of such duties as pertain to their respective positions.

Her Majesty's College of Arms is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, Institution in the Kingdom. It is composed of fourteen members, namely, one Earl Marshal, three Kings of Arms, six Heralds, and four Pursuivants. The Patronage of the College belongs to the Duke of Norfolk as Hereditary Earl Marshal. Stanley House was the original tenement, which was destroyed in the great fire, anno domini 1666, and the present building is a quaint-looking edifice situated in Queen Victoria Street, E.C.

A mistaken idea prevails, that this College is a wealthy one. There was a time when no doubt it was so, as for some centuries it was the sole channel of honours flowing from the crown to the subject, and at one period the fees that were paid to the "College of Arms," as well as to the Crown, were very considerable indeed, but now that compulsory honours are no longer known, the receipts have greatly fallen off, and the salaries attaching to the various offices have remained as they originally were. At the present day the Garter King of Arms enjoys a nominal stipend of 49*l.* a year. The Heralds receive something like 18*l.* a year, and the Pursuivants possibly a less amount. The working of this useful Institution costs the public, however, nothing. It is not merely in matters of pageantry and dignity with which the Heralds' College has to do. Many questions with regard to inheritance have been settled by a reference to what are termed the Visitation Books, which contain the fullest particulars of the family history of the nobility and gentry of this country, from the Reformation to the Revolution. The official records of the College of Arms are divided under twelve heads, namely:—

(1) The Visitation Books, above referred to ; (2) books of miscellaneous pedigrees entered both during and after the period of the visitations ; (3) books of the pedigrees and arms of peers ; (4) books of the pedigrees and arms of baronets ; (5) books of the funeral certificates of the nobility and gentry ; (6) books containing accounts of coronations and Royal marriages and funerals ; (7) books called the Earl Marshal's Books, from the reign of Queen Elizabeth ; (8) books of the arms of Peers, Knights of the Garter and Bath, and copies of all grants of armorial bearings ; (9) a list of Knights from early times, and the names of all persons on whom knighthood has been conferred from the beginning of the seventeenth century ; (10) a register of the pedigrees and arms of Knights and Esquires of the Bath from the beginning of the current century ; (11) registers of the pedigrees and arms of Scotch and Irish families under the authority of the Lyon and Ulster Kings of Arms respectively ; (12) books termed Partition Books, commencing in the reign of Henry VIII., and containing an account of the fees received by and distributed among the officers of arms for their attendance at public ceremonies, and for the performance of other duties by them. In addition to this, the library of the College of Arms contains nearly 1,200 other MS. volumes, consisting of copies of visitations, collections of pedigrees and arms, transcripts and abstracts of charters, deeds, inquisitions, and other records applicable to genealogical and antiquarian researches ; comprehending the accumulated labours of Glover, Camden, Vincent, Phillpot, Walker, Dugdale, Le Neve, Dale, Brooke, and Townsend, and those of other distinguished and able members of the College.

With the custody of such important records the College of Arms must undoubtedly remain as one of the permanent and necessary Institutions of the country. In Scotland there is a College of Arms, consisting of Lyon, King of Arms, and three Heralds ; and in Ireland the Chief Heraldic officer is styled Ulster King of Arms.

The officers of the three Colleges are as follows, and the official hours are from ten to four daily.

Earl Marshal.—Duke of Norfolk.

THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY,

SAVILE ROW, LONDON, W.

(In its relation with our Public Schools.)

Prize Medals were instituted in 1868, by this important Society, to be competed for at the chief Public Schools, and to be awarded annually; and a limited number of schools are specially invited to compete for them. The medals were formerly gold and bronze, but the second medal is now of silver instead of bronze. The subjects of examination are Physical Geography and Political Geography; two papers being set in each, one general, and one on some particular country or region, changed every year.

With regard to the medals offered by the Society to the chief public schools, eleven schools have sent candidates this year, seven schools sending eleven candidates in physical geography, and four schools sending six candidates in political geography. Forty-eight public schools were invited to send candidates, and this year there was one school less than in the previous year. No silver (second) medal has been awarded this year in political geography. Dulwich College, which sent two medallists, has gained at least one every year since 1875.

The medallists in physical geography—Mr. Thomas Rose, gold medallist, and Mr. S. W. Carruthers, silver medallist, both of Dulwich College; and in political geography, Mr. S. C. Farlow, gold medallist, of Harrow School—were presented by General Sir Henry Lefroy. Lord Aberdare, the president, in presenting the medals, remarked that since 1875 Dulwich schoolmen had taken fifteen medals.

The Examinations are held at the various Schools, and the prizes are presented at the anniversary meeting of the Society.

ELLIS'S IRISH EDUCATION DIRECTORY

FOR 1884.

Editor and Proprietor :

WM. EDWARD ELLIS, B.A., LL.B. (Dubl.), Barrister-at-Law,
Chief Clerk to the Intermediate Education Board for Ireland.

Publishers :

LONDON : SIMPKIN, MARSHALL, & Co.,

DUBLIN : M. H. GILL & SON, Upper Sackville Street.

This very excellent handbook, the third annual issue of which will appear at the beginning of 1884, has already received a large amount of patronage in England as well as in Ireland.

It gives most reliable information, in a concise and attractive form, with regard to all Educational agencies at work in Ireland,—from the Universities and Professional Schools down to Primary Schools, and including the Institutions established for the Education of Women.

The able and experienced Editor of “Whitaker’s Almanac,” who is perhaps the very best judge of a compilation of the kind, in a letter to the Editor of Ellis’s Irish Education Directory, says :—

“I have looked into your Education Directory with a good deal of interest. It is one of the very best books of the kind : carefully and conscientiously edited by one who is evidently master of its subject.”

Every one engaged in Educational Work or who wishes to have a key to the Irish Educational system should have a copy of this work.

Orders for Advertisements in the book will be received by—

T. J. Bellingham Brady, Esq., LL.D.

The subject of "Irish Intermediate Education" occupied the public mind in Ireland for some considerable time, and the voice of its requirements has been at last heard above the din of agrarian turmoil and sectarian agitation, by the steady and determined attitude of the middle class of the Irish nation, which was thoroughly responded to by the late Government, in framing in the early part of 1878, and passing into law (August 16th, 1878), "the Irish Intermediate Education Act."

The term "Irish Intermediate Education" is on the face of it somewhat vague; it seems to imply a system of education (not of fixed Schools), occupying a platform between the Universities and Primary Schools, a sort of debatable ground between the former two regions, an ill-defined territory, the inhabitants of which could not well see their way to push the limits upwards (in dread, no doubt, of trenching upon the vested interests of others), nor, on the other hand, to tread downwards, as a sort of amour propre feeling forbade the latter course. However, to borrow a bold, but perhaps perverted metaphor, the cause of "Irish Intermediate Education" could scarcely be described as having life enough left to fall into a "place where two seas met." Matters were in this plight when the late Government, in August, 1878, passed the now justly celebrated "Irish Intermediate Education Bill;" the all-but unanimous support of which in both Houses of Parliament proved that the sense of the combined Legislature of the United Kingdom recognized in the measure a gift of "justice to Ireland," in the broad and true meaning of the term. The late Government, so often charged with the dangerous craze of riding hobbies in a highly aggressive style, over the pet corns of foreign potentates, nevertheless found time in the face of most heavy continental troubles to cast an eye upon the educational wants of that considerable section of the Irish people who were practically excluded from any share in the existing organisations for middle class education. The late Government had special difficulties in dealing with this proposed Educational Scheme. On the one hand there were those who would oppose any system which required Roman Catholics to attend at institutions not under the control of their Church authorities, while on the other many would resent any attempt at the concurrent endowment of a new set of colleges and schools and the establishment of a regular system of denominational education. The late Government clearly foresaw these difficulties, and they managed, between a sort of "Scylla and Charybdis" to steer the "Intermediate Education" bark into safety by the cautious rule of "In medio tutissimus ibis." Having now briefly referred to the preliminary difficulties attending a scheme of Irish "Intermediate Education," we wish to inform our readers that up to the passing of the Intermediate Education Act the educational requirements were met only by the following scholastic systems, two in number:—

I. By the High-class Royal Schools (six in number), by the four "Erasmus Smith" Grammar Schools, Midleton College, by the steadily advancing schools of the Incorporated Society, by some minor Endowed Schools, and by some totally unendowed Schools, some of the latter frequently competing for high University distinctions, upon equal terms with their richly endowed relatives.

Of late years also many institutions have been established by the teaching orders of the Roman Catholic Church, which institutions, as well as the Diocesan seminaries of that church throughout the country, in the recent contests under the Intermediate Education Board and the Royal University, have shown that they possess very high teaching powers, and that their teaching extends over every department of a modern liberal education.

In none of the endowed institutions, however, was any provision made for the higher education of girls. The Alexandra College in Dublin, established in 1866, under most influential patronage, but without any State or public aid, and served by most distinguished professors, may be regarded as the only attempt of any public kind made towards improving female higher education until the passing of the Intermediate Education Act. See vol. ii.

II. Under this head we find the "Primary Schools," chiefly under the "National School" State-aid system, receiving about 700,000*l.* per annum from the Imperial Exchequer; here we have a network of Primary Schools spread over the length and breadth of the land, some vested in the "National Education" Board, the majority "non-vested," but all receiving "State aid" more or less. This system has worked admirably, and its Schools are to be found as well upon the lonely mountain-side and in the deep secluded valley, as in the busy town or thriving village. Of course these Primary Schools cannot be expected to impart what is called "Intermediate Education," and no rewards are held out to National School teachers under the Intermediate Education system. An examination of the published results will, however, show that, notwithstanding this drawback, many pupils of National Schools have passed most creditably at the Intermediate examinations. The Irish middle classes, with that insatiable craving for learning so characteristic of the Irish people from the remotest times, (indeed, during the dark ages Ireland kept the lamp of learning burning brightly amid the all but universal gloom,) hailed with great and general delight the prospect of "Intermediate Education," offered by an Act which, although open to corrections, and imperfect in some of its details, seems nevertheless based upon principles of generosity and justice. As the object of the "Irish Intermediate Education Act" has been already stated, we shall now give a brief sketch of the way, first, in which it is worked, and secondly, of the results which have already accrued from its working. We may premise that the main principle of the Act is essentially "non-sectarian."

I. The machinery for working the Act and the modus operandi is as follows:—

- A. A staff of eminent Examiners, selected from the Universities and principal Colleges of the United Kingdom. Out of a list of names prepared annually by the Board, a sufficient number are selected, with the approval of the Irish Lord-Lieutenant, to conduct each annual examination.
- B. A numerous staff of "centre superintendents," whose special business lies in taking charge of the sealed packets of Examination papers sent them by the Intermediate Education Commissioners, opening said packets and distributing them to the Candidates at the several Examination centres. These the Candidates answer to a certain number, not a name, and must, previous to presenting themselves, have subscribed to certain necessarily stringent rules laid down by the Commissioners.

The centre superintendents are bound to remain in their respective Examination Halls the whole time of the Examinations, and the Examinations last from 10 o'clock a.m. to 1 o'clock p.m., and from 3 o'clock p.m. to 6 o'clock p.m. Having thus given a brief, and it is to be feared a somewhat imperfect sketch of the mode of working out the arrangements of the "Irish Intermediate Education" system, we shall give an outline of the results that have already accrued from the Examinations held under the Act in June 1882.

Of 5,153 boys and 1,461 girls who presented themselves for examination in June 1882, the following were successful:—

I. In gaining Exhibitions and money prizes:—

- (a) 90 boys and 32 girls gained 15*l.* a year for three years in the Junior Grade (i.e., for those under 16).
- (b) 28 boys and 12 girls gained 25*l.* a year for two years in the Middle Grade (i.e., for those under 17).
- (c) 11 boys and 5 girls gained money prizes of 40*l.* in the Senior Grade (i.e., for those under 18).

II. In obtaining prizes in books:—

- (a) 584 boys obtained prizes in books, value in the aggregate 1001*l.*, and
- (b) 186 girls obtained prizes in books, value in the aggregate 366*l.*

III. In passing the Examination (these figures include the Exhibitioners and prize winners above detailed):—

- (a) 2,186 boys and 685 girls in the Junior Grade.
- (b) 568 boys and 236 girls in the Middle Grade.
- (c) 229 boys and 96 girls in the Senior Grade.

Total, 2983 boys and 1017 girls.

The English public can judge from the foregoing facts what a great educational stimulus this "Intermediate Education" Act has given to the Irish middle classes, by offering and giving so liberally such a large number of substantial prizes to every creed and party.

A political, or rather a sectarian, objection has been brought against this Irish "Intermediate Education" Act, viz., that it diverted one million of money of the "Irish Church" surplus to carry out the programme of this Act, some saying the scheme was pretty similar to that of "robbing Peter to pay Paul;" but an educational scheme which offers such signal advantages to the Irish middle classes—out of merely a million of the capitalised value of Church funds—should not for a moment be called an act of spoliation, as the advantages are offered on equal terms to all candidates.

The results of the examinations were, however, a complete surprise to many, for they disclosed an educational power amongst the Roman Catholic institutions which few even of their own friends could have expected from them.

To conclude these remarks about this Irish "Intermediate Education" Act. A leading feature of the scheme is its recognition of the efforts of teachers engaged in the work of "Intermediate Education" under the Act. Prizes are awarded to the teachers according to the quantity and quality of their pupils' successes; these prizes are called Teachers' "Result Fees," and they have already proved, and doubtless will continue to prove, a strong encouragement to Teachers, and thus it is only reasonable to conclude that this twofold system of encouragement—viz., both to pupils and teachers—must in the long run greatly raise the standard of "Intermediate Education" in Ireland. In writing these remarks, we are not influenced by any particular bias. Indeed, we care not whether this Irish "Intermediate Educational" Scheme were evolved out of the "internal consciousness" of some sombre, strait-laced "Conservative," or by some cautious, forecasting, constitutional "Whig," or whether it were forged in the glowing furnace of some fiery Radical, or concocted in the fertile brain of some "Chameleon," "Protean," time-serving politician: we simply hail the "Irish Intermediate Act," as an act of real justice to Ireland, and amidst the loud din of electioneering struggles, and the convulsive efforts of rival politicians, we wish the Irish Intermediate Education Act all success.

The Intermediate Education Board for Ireland was established to promote intermediate secular education in Ireland by (1) instituting and carrying on a system of public examination of studies; (2) by providing for payment of prizes and exhibitions, and for giving certificates to students; (3) by providing for payment of managers of schools complying with prescribed conditions of fees dependent on results of public examinations; (4) generally by applying the funds placed at the disposal of the Board for purposes of the Act as hereby directed, provided no examination be held in any subject of religious instruction, nor any payment made in respect thereof. The examinations extend over a course of three years, and are held in accordance with rules of which the following is a summary:—The examinations in three grades according to the students' ages are held usually at the end of June, at convenient centres, and in the following subjects: Ancient Language, Literature, and History of Greece; ditto of Rome; Language, Literature, and History of Great Britain and Ireland; ditto of France, Germany, and Italy, or any one of them, either separately or together, with Celtic Language and Literature; Mathematics, including Arithmetic and Bookkeeping; Natural Sciences; any other subjects of secular education as the Board may from time to time prescribe. Programme of examinations, including a list of authors in which the literary part of examination consists, is annually published by the Board. The list of examiners will be published every year, before January 1. Students of first year's course shall be under 16 on June 1st in the year in which he first presents himself for examination. Every student desiring to be examined in any year shall in April send to the Board notice of his intention, with certificate of his age; the fee for such notice is 2s. 6d. Before admitting any student to an examination, the Board shall satisfy itself that during the twelve months immediately preceding the examination he has actually studied in Ireland. The prizes and exhibitions are alluded to in the introductory article, and such prizes and exhibitions are awarded to students highest in order of merit in general examination list of the whole country in each year. Result fees are paid to heads of schools for students who, having attended their schools from November 1st of the year previous to that of examination, and having made at least 100 attendances from that date to the last day of the month preceding the examination, may pass the examination. Results fees will be paid at rates not exceeding—junior grade, 1s. 3d. per 100 marks assigned to subject or section; middle grade, 1s. 6d. per 100 marks assigned to subject or section; senior grade, 1s. 9d. per 100 marks assigned to subject or section; provided that in the case of any one student there shall not in one year be paid, in the aggregate, in the junior grade, a results fee greater than 3*l.* 10s.; in the middle grade, a results fee greater than 4*l.*; or in the senior grade, a results fee greater than 5*l.*

IRISH INTERMEDIATE COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS.

THE ROYAL SCHOOLS.

There are seven of the Schools which are designated "Royal Schools." Five were founded by King Charles I., in 1627, viz., Armagh, Cavan, Dungannon, Enniskillen, and Raphoe, and the remaining two, viz., Banagher and Carysfort, were founded in 1629.

The following Schools in Ireland will be found in Part VIII., in topographical order.

ARMAGH, ROYAL SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. W. Moore Morgan, LL.D.
 BANAGHER, ROYAL SCHOOL. Head Master, P. King Joyce, B.A.
 CAVAN, ROYAL SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. W. P. Moore, M.A.
 DUNGANNON, ROYAL SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. F. H. Ringwood, LL.D.
 ENNISKILLEN, PORTORA ROYAL SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. W. Steele, D.D.
 RAPHOE, ROYAL SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. J. A. Weir, LL.D.

DIOCESAN SCHOOLS.

These were the earliest Academical Institutions in Ireland, and were intended to meet the educational wants of the middle classes; they were founded in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and were maintained by contributions levied off the incomes of the clergy of the late Established Church. When the Church of Ireland was disestablished in 1869 the Diocesan School system was practically discontinued, for the Act enabled the schoolmasters to commute their salaries, and retire from their work, a privilege which was availed of by nearly all the schoolmasters. Of 14, which were in existence in 1869, only 2 (in addition to Foyle College) are now in existence under the old foundation. The Diocesan School at Waterford has been re-established under the patronage of the Bishop of Cashel.

SLIGO, DIOCESAN SCHOOL. Head Master, W. C. Eades, M.A.

ERASMUS SMITH'S SCHOOLS.

These Schools were founded by Erasmus Smith, who in 1659 was an alderman of the City of London, and charters were granted in the reign of King Charles II., to the Grammar Schools at Drogheda, Ennis, Galway, and Tipperary. The High School, Dublin, was founded in 1869. These Schools will be found fully described in topographical order in Part VIII.

DROGHEDA, GRAMMAR SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. F. S. Aldhouse, M.A.

DUBLIN, THE HIGH SCHOOL. Head Master, W. Wilkins, M.A.

DUBLIN, BRUNSWICK STREET SCHOOL. Head Master, George Porte.

ENNIS (Co. Clare), ENNIS COLLEGE. Head Master, R. H. Flynn, LL.D.

GALWAY, GRAMMAR SCHOOL. Head Master, Richard Biggs, M.A., LL.D.

TIPPERARY, GRAMMAR SCHOOL. Head Master, Rev. W. B. Lindesay, LL.D.

INCORPORATED SOCIETY'S SCHOOLS.

ATHLONE, RANELAGH SCHOOL. Head Master, R. Baile, M.A.

DUNDALK, EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION. Head Master, Rev. J. Turner.

KILKENNY, POCOKE COLLEGE. Head Master, J. B. Brown.

We glean from the report of the Commissioners appointed by the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland to inquire into the endowments, funds, and actual condition of all schools endowed for the purposes of education in Ireland, the following "conclusions":—

"The inactivity of 'The Commissioners of Education,'* and the inadequacy of their powers, have continued to cause the inefficiency of that Board, and tended to confirm 'its failure as an institution for the promotion of education.' In this and other instances the selection, as the ex-officio managers of endowments, of dignitaries and officials whose time and attention are otherwise occupied, has tended to preclude that active personal exertion and interest, and that sense of individual responsibility on the part of the members of a governing body, which are necessary to secure efficiency.

“ Since the passing of the Irish Church Act, 1869, the resources of the educational societies and of the independent schools connected with the Church of Ireland have generally diminished, and many of the primary Church schools have in consequence been brought into the system of national education. Where this step has not been taken, these schools have generally deteriorated.

“ A growing tendency has been manifested, especially by the members of the Church of Ireland, to place primary schools, possessing endowments or aided by voluntary contributions, in connection with the National Board, retaining the patronage or management in private hands. The schools so placed have generally benefited by the change, but have remained practically denominational. We met but very few instances of ‘ non-exclusive ’ Endowed Schools where the attendance of children of one denomination did not largely preponderate; and, owing to the objections of Roman Catholics to ‘ mixed education,’ and to the mode in which the majority of the ‘ non-exclusive ’ endowed schools were managed, we found that the benefits of such schools were usually enjoyed by Protestant children, and that the management of their endowments had generally passed into Protestant hands.

“ While the course of discipline and instruction in the larger grammar schools is in most cases satisfactory, and much sound and careful teaching is given in the schools of every class, many of the smaller local endowments (especially for higher education) have proved inadequate, and have failed to effectuate the intentions of the founders. With few exceptions, the teaching of natural and experimental sciences and of modern languages has been comparatively neglected; the schools are in general insufficiently furnished, and imperfectly supplied with libraries and the appliances required for special instruction and for recreation. The want of more extensive provision for practical and technical training, and of an education adapted to prepare pupils for commercial life and other pursuits not calling for classical study, has been much felt.”

OUR AGRICULTURAL COLLEGES.

---

On the subject of European Agricultural Schools we learn from the report of the Commissioners of Education that Austria supports no less than seventy Schools of Agriculture, with 2,200 students, besides 174 Agricultural Evening Schools, with 5,500 students. In contrast with this, Italy has three Agricultural Colleges and High Schools. Ireland is the only part of the United Kingdom that has a regular system of agricultural education. There are 115 of the National Schools that have a farm attached, and form National Agricultural Farm Schools. There are, besides, sixteen National Model Agricultural Schools, with Model Farms attached. The Albert Institute at Glasnevin is the National Agricultural College of Ireland. France has forty-three Farm Schools, with about thirty or forty pupils at each. The Government pays the board of each pupil, and allows him 70 fr. a year for clothing. There are also three Departmental Schools of Agriculture, and a National Agricultural Institute (now in Paris). Germany has at present over 150 Schools of Agriculture, Horticulture, Arboriculture, viniculture, etc. Each of these has Farms, Gardens, etc., attached. The first experimental Agricultural Station was established in 1852, and in 1877 their number was fifty-five. Each of these is devoted to some special line of research.

Mr. Henry Tanner recently called public attention to the present neglected state of Agricultural Education in England. He states that "it has long been a reproach to us as a people that we are so much in the rear of other countries in providing facilities for the technical education of the great majority of those who are about to enter upon the occupation and management of land. It is true that we have two very good Agricultural Colleges in England, which are very well suited for the education of the more wealthy class, but these colleges are absolutely beyond the reach of the children of the great bulk of the tenant-farmers of this kingdom.

An effort has been made by the Council of the Institute of Agriculture to correct this difficulty, and friendly help which has been given to them has enabled them to supply the deficiency, so far at least as the London centre is concerned. Here, then, the work will be re-commenced on the 1st of October next, and a regular and fairly complete course of about 280 lectures will be given, extending up to the 3rd of May, 1884.

The lecturers, about twenty in number, are all well known in the Agricultural world as very eminent experts in their respective section of work, while the lecture fees will be so very moderate that the entire series may be attended for the sum of 14*l*.

The objects aimed at by the Council were thorough efficiency and experience on the part of the lecturers, and, on the other hand, small fees, which should not keep back the sons of tenant-farmers, or any others who may desire a moderate expenditure. The entire course of study may be regarded as calculated to give that intelligent knowledge of the surrounding conditions which influence agricultural practices which will make the subsequent learning of the business of farming more than usually complete.

No institution has more cordially aided the Council than the College of Agriculture at Downton, near Salisbury, for no fewer than three members of the staff (Professor J. Wrightson, the president, Professors Fream and Sheldon) have richly assisted in the work of the current session, and have thereby helped to prepare some of the students of the institute for learning the application of science to actual farm practice.

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY,

12, HANOVER SQUARE, LONDON, W.

President.—J. D. Dent, Esq.

SOCIETY'S EDUCATION PRIZES.

Senior Examinations take place at the Society's House, usually in April, when a form of entry, duly filled up, with a Certificate of general education, must be first sent in to the Secretary. Candidates are required to satisfy Examiners in the following subjects:—Science (chemical) and practice of Agriculture, in Book-Keeping, and also in one or two of the following subjects:—Land-Surveying and Mechanics as applied to Agriculture. Any candidate may offer himself for examination in one or more of the following optional subjects:—Botany, Geology, or Anatomy, and any knowledge he may show of these will be counted to his credit. Each candidate obtaining a First Class Certificate will thereby become a Life Member of the Society.

The Prizes in the first class are 25*l.*, 15*l.*, 10*l.*, and 5*l.*, in addition to which Certificates will be granted to candidates placed in the first and second class.

JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Ten Scholarships of 20*l.* each are offered annually in November on condition that the scholar remains at school until the end of the summer term in the following year, or spends the ensuing year with a practical Agriculturalist, to be approved by the Educational Committee, or at an Agricultural College, or both. Candidates must be between 14 and 18, and must satisfy the Committee of their fitness to compete. Entries must be made by the 1st October in each year.

Annual Examinations are held simultaneously in November at such schools as have candidates, and at the Society's Rooms. The Scholarships will be awarded to boys in the highest order of merit. The subjects are: (1) Land-Surveying, (2) Elementary Mechanics as applied to Agriculture, (3) Chemistry as applied to Agriculture, (4) Principles of Agriculture, especially with reference to rotation of crops, nutrition of plants and animals, and mechanical cultivation of soil.

Secretary.—H. M. Jenkins.

THE INSTITUTE OF AGRICULTURE

FOR THE

PROMOTION OF AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION,

SOUTH KENSINGTON, LONDON, S.W.

Patrons.

His Grace the Duke of Westminster, K.G.

The Right Hon. the Earl of Aberdeen.

The Right Hon. Lord Aberdare.

Sir John Lubbock, Bart., M.P.

Council.

The Right Hon. the Earl of Aberdeen, and 25 Members.

This Institute has been established for the purpose of advancing Technical Instruction upon various sections of Agricultural Practice, and especially for bringing these advantages within the reach of the children of tenant farmers, and others, who are now precluded from such advantages by reason of the expenses which are at present associated with education of this character.

Evening Lectures on Agricultural Science are delivered in the Lecture Theatre in South Kensington Museum, and are open to Members of the Institute and their friends. Lectures embrace the following branches:—Farm seeds and their adulterations; Conditions influencing Land Drainage; Bees, in relation to flowering plants and fruit production; Natural and Artificial Grasses, variations in form and quality; Dairy Management; Some of the changes which Nitrogenous matter undergoes within the soil; Farm Crops, their habits and requirements; Insect injuries to Farm Crops, and their prevention; An Examination of the preceding Evening Lectures; Report and Public Distribution of the Certificates of Merit.

Technical Lectures are delivered in the same Lecture Theatre, and the course of Instruction on Poultry Management is given by W. B. Tegetmeier, Esq., F.Z.S., and will extend from March to April, the Examination for Certificates of Merit taking place in April. The Lectures are illustrated by living and dead specimens, exhibition of appliances, diagrams, and demonstrations. Syllabus of Lectures:—The Origin of Domesticated Fowls—their history and habits. Food of wild species. General Structure of Fowls in relation to Practical Management—digestive organs, crop, gizzard, liver, etc. Egg-producing Organs—ovary, oviduct. Muscular System—flesh. Production of Eggs—structure of eggs, yolk, albumen, membranes, shell. Variation of fertility in different breeds; increased fertility, how secured. Description and Exhibition of the most important Non-Sitting and Sitting Varieties, as Spanish, Hamburgs, French, Dorking, Game, Asiatic Breeds, etc. Management of the Sitting Hen—nests, hatching. Management and Food of Chicken—proper and improper kinds of food, modes of feeding. Coops—their use and abuse, tethering hens. Diseases of Chicken—gapes, cramp, etc. Necessity for Fresh Ground for Chicken. Poultry Houses—enclosures and appliances. Incubators and Artificial Hatching—ancient: Egyptian, Chinese; modern: Cantelo's incubator, eccaleobion; recent manufactures, French and English. Artificial Mothers. Turkey Mothers. Poultry for Table and Market—present system of supply. Ideal poultry farms; France, England. Breeds for Table. Exhibition and description of the most useful pure and cross Breeds—relative advantages of each. Methods of Fattening—food, coops, cramming, Killing—various modes. Plucking. Capons and Poulardes. Turkeys, Guinea Fowls, Ducks, Geese, Pigeons—their origin, varieties, hatching, rearing, food, general management, and value for the table. Fee for the Course, 1 guinea.

The course of Instruction on Dairy Management is by Professor J. P. Sheldon, and other Experts.

Examinations for Certificates of Merit takes place in April. Syllabus of Lectures:—The growing importance of Dairying and Stock-Raising.—The different Breeds of Dairy Cattle and their Special Qualities.—The importance of careful Breeding, and the objects to be kept in view.—The Treatment and Feeding of Milch-Cows.—The Influence of Breed and of Food on the Yield and the Quality of Milk.—The Question of Ensilage.—Milking, its use and abuse: Hand and Machine Milking.—The Treatment of Milk in the Dairy.—The Dairy, its Construction, its Temperature, its various Utensils.—The Raising of Cream on the various Ancient and Modern Systems.—The Management of Cream apart from the Milk.—Making, Washing, Salting, and Packing the Butter.—The various faults and shortcomings of ordinary Dairy work in Butter Making.—Artificial Butter and Cheese.—The Management of Milking.—Cheese-making.—Rennet, and its action in Coagulation.—Acidity, its use and abuse.—Packing, Grinding, and Salting the Curd.—The Ripening of the Cheese in the Curing Rooms, and its Marketing afterwards.—The different Systems of English, American, and Continental Cheese-making.—The question of adopting in England some of the Continental methods of making Soft Cheese.—Cheese and Butter-making v. the Milk Trade. The Chemistry of Milk.—Milk Testing.—The Principles influencing the Growth of Food for Dairy Purposes. Fee for the Course, 1 guinea.

The course of Instruction on Bee Management is by F. Cheshire, Esq., and extends from April to May. The Examination for Certificates of Merit takes place in May. The course is well illustrated by large diagrams, models, and microscopic preparations. The operations described are actually performed with hives of living Bees. Syllabus of Lectures:—The Bee as an Insect.—Outline of the Economy of the Hive.—The Substances gathered by the Bee, and their Uses.—The relation of Bees to Flowering Plants.—Hives, their Early History.—Straw Hives, Fixed Combs.—Movable Comb System.—Examination of Hives.—General Principles involved in manipulation.—Queen Bees, Workers, Fertile Workers, Drones.—Natural Swarming.—Driving and Transferring.—Artificial Swarming.—Raising and Inserting Queens.—Lamp Nurseries.—Species and Varieties of Bees.—Treatment of Swarms and Stocks.—Foundation; its history, method of manufacture, mode of use.—Honey, its Chemical Composition and Value as Food; Methods of judging Adulteration.—Foreign Honey.—Foreign Apiaries.—Supering and Harvesting.—The Extractor.—Wax, its Treatment.—Food and Feeding, Feeders.—Wintering Bees.—Diseases.—The reason of the high Profits attainable by modern management. Fee for the Course, 1 guinea.

MEMBERSHIP.—A Subscription of 1 guinea per annum entitles a person to the rights of Membership of the Institute of Agriculture—including free admission to the Evening Lectures for self and friend, together with a free copy of any memoirs or proceedings published by the Institute. Life

Tickets are issued on payment of 10 guineas. Students who have secured Advanced Certificates for the Principles of Agriculture, under the Government Department of Science, are entitled to the rights of Membership, on payment of half-a-guinea per annum.

Director of Educational Arrangements.—Professor H. Tanner, M.R.A.C., F.C.S., and ten Professors and Lecturers.

Secretary.—John Algernon Clarke, Esq.

Hon. Secretaries of the Ladies Committee.—Miss Thorne, Miss May Thorne, Southover Grange, Lewes, Sussex.

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CIRENCESTER.

Incorporated by Royal Charter, A.D. 1845.

Patron.—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G.

President.—His Grace the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, K.G., and a large Committee of Management.

This institution, which is the chief seat of higher Agricultural Education in this country, was founded in 1845, under the patronage of the late Prince Consort, and a large number of noblemen and gentlemen interested in agriculture. A Royal Charter was granted, incorporating the College for "Encouraging and Supporting the Study of Agriculture." The Prince of Wales is the present Patron, the late Duke of Marlborough was the President. The College is situated about a mile from the town of Cirencester, on the flank of the Cotswolds; it adjoins the noble Oakley Park, the seat of Lord Bathurst, and is a stately Gothic building situated in the midst of the College farm. It includes a chapel, dining hall, library, reading-rooms, museums, lecture-theatre, laboratory, class-rooms, studies, and private rooms; and in close proximity are a botanic garden, veterinary hospital, forges, and workshops. The College farm completely surrounds the College, and contains about 500 acres, of which 450 are arable; about twenty acres being exclusively reserved for agricultural experiments. "Practice with Science" is the adopted motto of the Society. The staff of instructors includes Professors of Agriculture and Estate Management, Agricultural Law, General and Agricultural Chemistry, Natural History, Mathematics and Physics, Land Surveying and Engineering, Veterinary Science, and Building, besides practical instruction in field work, carpentry, wheelwright work, forge work, and saddlery. Provision is also made for athletic exercise and recreation. There are a gymnasium, five courts, tennis court, and cricket and football grounds. The College course extends over at least two years, after which Students are admitted to the final examination for the diploma which the College by its charter is authorised to confer. The students comprise young men from all parts of the world, those from Great Britain being usually the sons of landed gentlemen and professional men, who desire to qualify themselves either for the duties of country gentlemen or as land agents, or for the colonies. Several officers of the Indian army have, from time to time, spent their furlough there, with a view of qualifying themselves for forest and agricultural appointments in India.

In addition, however, to affording a thoroughly scientific and practical education for agricultural pursuits, and the professions of Surveyors, Estate Agents, etc., the College offers to its Students many of the general advantages (educational and social) of a University Course, with an excellent training in Natural Science, and a special preparation for the duties of Country Gentlemen in the management of their Landed Estates.

COLONIAL PREPARATION.

The Workshops, Museum, Veterinary Hospital, etc., together with the Lectures on Colonial Agriculture, Colonial Surveying and Engineering, Building Materials and Construction, and the rest of the College Course in the Lecture Room and on the Farm, afford an exceptionally valuable training for intending Colonists.

ADMISSION AND REMOVAL OF STUDENTS.

Students are admitted, and begin the College Courses, every Session, either as In-Students or Out-Students.

In-Students, as a rule, are required to be eighteen years of age. A few, however, are admitted on probation, and subject to somewhat stricter discipline, at the age of seventeen.

Out-Students, except in special cases, are required to be twenty-one years of age, and may be of any greater age, and either married or unmarried. They attend any or all of the courses of Lectures at their discretion.

DURATION OF COURSE.—The ordinary College course extends over two years or six Sessions, but for the Diploma over seven Sessions.

There are three Sessions in the year—Spring, Summer, and Winter—each of about twelve weeks' duration, commencing near the 28th of January, the 28th of May, and the 6th of October, respectively.

FEES.—Per annum, to be paid each Term, in proportion, in advance. In-Students, 135*l.*, or 45*l.* per Term; Out-Students, 75*l.*, or 25*l.* per Term. A limited number of furnished Private Rooms in the College is reserved for Students, and for which there is an extra charge of Ten Guineas per Term. The Fees include all College charges except Laundress (1*l.* per Term) and Damages.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES.

Six Scholarships, three of 25*l.*, and three of 10*l.*, will be awarded annually, viz., two every Term of 25*l.* and 10*l.* respectively, according to the results of the Weekly and Sessional Examinations. These Scholarships are open to all Students of not more than six Terms' standing, who are proceeding to the Diploma. A very successful Student may thus obtain as much as 75*l.* per annum.

Six Scholarships, each of 200*l.* a year, created by the Government of Bengal, two annually, and tenable for 2½ years, are open to certain native Indian Graduates of the University of Calcutta.

More than two hundred Prizes are awarded annually.

For the Practical Work, prizes of Silver Medals or Books are given in the Winter Session for Farm Valuation, and for Ploughing; in the Spring Session for Horse-shoeing, and Shepherding; in the Summer Session for Sheepshearing, and for Farm Excursion Reports; and terminally for Lathe, Carpentry, and Wheelwright Work, Smith Work, and Saddlery and Harness Work; also of Books in the respective classes, as passed, for Farm Journal and Cultivation Book, etc., Chemical and Biological Laboratory Journals, etc., Veterinary Hospital Journal, Natural History Collections and Reports, Survey Plots, etc.

Three Gold Medals are annually awarded, the Ducie every April, the Holland every August, and the Haygarth every Christmas.

Principal.—The Rev. John B. M'Clellan, M.A., Double-First-Classman in Honours, and late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

PROFESSORS AND INSTRUCTORS.

Agriculture.—Professor John Scott; Russell Swanwick, Esq.; Mr. Rutherford; Mr. Jas. Dickson.

Practical Instructor in Horticulture.—H. Miller, Head Gardener.

Chemistry (General and Agricultural).—Professor E. Kinch. Assistants.—Mr. C. Rawson, F.C.S.; Mr. W. James.

Geology, Botany, and Zoology.—Professor Allen Harker.

Mathematics and Physics.—Professor H. Ohm, M.A.

Land-Surveying and Engineering.—Professor A. R. Carrington.

Veterinary Medicine and Surgery.—Professor J. A. M'Bride, Ph.D., M.R.C.V.S.

Book-Keeping.—Professor A. R. Carrington.

Agricultural Law.—Professor W. M. Fawcett.

Building Materials and Construction.—Professor F. W. Waller, of Gloucester, Architect.

Estate Management.—Professor T. J. Elliot, M.R.A.C.

Architectural and Mechanical Drawing.—Mr. James Miller, Art Master.

Lathe Work.—Thos. Kay.

Carpentry and Wheelwright Work.—Chas. Limon.

Smith Work and Shoeing.—Sergt. Terry.

Saddlery and Harness.—Geo. Mills.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

DOWNTON, NEAR SALISBURY.

This College, although only established in 1880, already takes high rank as a School of Agriculture. The farm constitutes a most important feature as an integral part of the College, all the live stock and implements belonging to it, the Students are required to enter fully into all the details of working the farm, which is 550 acres in extent, to keep a record of all the monetary transactions on both sides of the ledger, and to be present at the annual valuation in October. The College, therefore, offers to each Student all the advantages of a private pupil under a Farmer combined with the highest collegiate instruction in the sciences on which the Art of Agriculture is based.

The College is governed by a Council consisting of the President and ordinary members.

The object of the College is to afford sound and practical instruction in Agricultural Subjects, so as to qualify the Students to occupy the positions of Landowners, Land Agents, Farmers, Surveyors, and Colonists.

The College, which is in South Hants, is two miles from Downton in South Wilts, where there is a station on the Salisbury and Dorchester branch of the London and South-Western Railway. It is pleasantly situated in the midst of gardens and orchards, and is about a quarter of a mile from the River Avon, and commands views of the confines of the New Forest. The building at present affords accommodation for about forty In-Students, and is provided with a commodious dining-hall, common-room, lecture-rooms, library, and other offices.

THE LABORATORIES.

The Chemical Laboratory is large, airy, and fitted with the newest appliances. Students have here the opportunity of studying Analytical and Agricultural Chemistry and researches on subjects of general agricultural interest.

The Physiological Laboratory is devoted to experimental courses of instruction on the structure and functions of animals and plants. The practical Anatomy of farm animals is also studied here.

ADMISSION.

Each Student is required to have entered upon his eighteenth year, to find references as to general conduct, and to fill up the necessary form of admission. Gentlemen above twenty-one years of age are received as Out-Students. Excellent lodgings may be obtained in the neighbouring village of Downton.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

There are three Terms and as many Vacations in the year. The charge for the entire year is 12*l.* for In-students, and 6*l.* for Out-students. These charges include, for In-students, board, lodging (with separate sleeping apartment), tuition, and laundry, but not books, apparatus, instruments, breakages, and subjects for dissection. A fee of 1*l.* 1*s.* per Term is charged for the Chemical Laboratory.

INSTRUCTION.

Instruction is imparted by Lectures, Field Classes, Practical Work, and Catechetical Lectures; and the results of the teaching are tested by weekly examinations, conducted on the Farm, in the Laboratories, and by means of printed papers. Each Student is expected to keep a Farm Journal, and these books are inspected and reported upon at regular intervals.

SUBJECTS.

These include Agriculture, and Dairy and Pastoral Farming; Estate Management, Land Agency, and Forestry; Mensuration, Land-Surveying, and Architectural Drawing; Book-keeping and Commercial Knowledge; Physics and Mechanics; Chemistry; Geology and Mineralogy; Botany and Vegetable Physiology; Zoology, including Entomology; Anatomy and Physiology; Veterinary Surgery. The lectures and classes are so arranged that in the complete two years' course the Student has laid before him everything necessary to enable him, if industrious, to pass the examinations of the Royal Agricultural Society of England, of the Highland and Agricultural Society, and of the Institution of Surveyors.

SCHOLARSHIPS, CERTIFICATES, AND PRIZES.

At the end of each Session a Scholarship of the value of 10*l.* is offered for competition amongst the Students who at that time complete their first year of Study at the College.

At the end of each Session examinations are held in the various subjects which have been studied, and prizes awarded.

By permission of the Council the Professors are also at liberty to offer Special Prizes in their various departments.

THE CERTIFICATE OF MEMBERSHIP.

This Certificate is granted by the Council at the end of a two years' course to all Students who, having passed the preliminary examinations, also satisfy the Board of Examiners as to their proficiency in the Theory and Practice of Agriculture. The examinations for this Certificate are held at the close of the Winter and Summer Sessions.

The Certificate of Proficiency in Practical Agriculture and other Certificates are granted to such Students as do not compete for the Certificate of Membership, but who nevertheless acquire a sound knowledge of practical farming, supplemented by a fair general knowledge of the sciences on which the art of agriculture is based.

RECREATION.

The College Athletic Club undertakes the promotion of all outdoor games and sports, including boating, cricket, lawn tennis, and football. The boat-house is within three minutes' walk of the College, and the River Avon is much frequented by the Students for boating, bathing, and fishing. A debating society, glee class, and other indoor attractions are supported in the winter months.

OUR TRAINING INSTITUTIONS FOR TEACHERS.

These Schools are placed topographically, similar to the order in which the Endowed and Private and Roman Catholic Schools are arranged, and those Institutions referring to the training of girls and women are arranged in a similar manner in Vol. II.

There is a yearly examination in religious knowledge of pupils of Training Colleges, conducted by experienced clergymen appointed under a board consisting of three members, one appointed by the two Archbishops, one by the National Society, and one by the principals of Training Colleges. The results of the past year show that 963 masters were examined, of whom only three in the second year were totally unsuccessful, none of the first year students failing. Of the masters of the first year, 92 succeeded in obtaining a first class, while of the second year 53 masters were in the first class.

NATIONAL SOCIETY'S TRAINING COLLEGE FOR SCHOOLMASTERS,

BATTERSEA, S. W.

The Battersea Training College was founded in the year 1840, by Sir James P. Kay Shuttleworth, Bart., and Edward Carleton Tufnell, Esq., for the purpose of preparing young men to become Schoolmasters. Towards the close of 1843 it was transferred to "The National Society for the Education of the Poor in the principles of the Established Church," in whose hands it has since remained.

Candidates for admission are allowed to present themselves for examination subject to the following conditions : viz., that they (1) intend bonâ fide to adopt and follow the profession of Teacher in Elementary Schools ; (2) having been Pupil Teachers, have successfully completed their apprenticeship ; (3) not having been Pupil Teachers, will be more than eighteen years of age on January 1st next following the date of the Examination.

This article will also apply to pupil teachers whose period of apprenticeship may have been determined (1) without discredit to themselves, and (2) for reasons approved by the Education Department.

The examination of candidates is held annually at each Training College. It commences at 10 a.m. on the first Tuesday after the 2nd of July. In the final selection of candidates for admission, the Principal is mainly guided by their testimonials, physique, qualifications, and position on the Scholarship list.

Candidates for admission must produce satisfactory testimonials from their clergy, certifying as to conduct and character ; and such candidates as have been pupil teachers must produce testimonials from their schoolmasters also, certifying as to practical skill in teaching, attention to studies, demeanour and general fitness for the office of teacher. A grave responsibility is incurred by the Principal in recommending students to take the charge of young children, and it is therefore of the highest importance that no one should be admitted into the College whose habits and character disqualify him for the office of Schoolmaster.

Each candidate for admission will be required to forward to the College a certificate of health, signed by some properly qualified medical man. A form for this purpose will be sent to each candidate before the July Examination.

Each candidate must be prepared to sign, on admission, the following declaration :—" I desire to become a Student for two years in the Battersea Training College, on the conditions contained in this prospectus, and with the understanding that I am to follow the profession of a Church Teacher in Elementary Schools ; and I engage to conform in all respects to the rules of the College, and at the end of my training to accept a School under Government inspection, and to do my utmost to obtain my Certificate from the Council Office at the earliest possible period."

Those Queen's Scholars who are selected for admission into the College are charged an entrance fee of 10*l*. Candidates who do not pass the Queen's Scholarship Examination are not admitted under any circumstances. No payment is charged for board, lodging, washing, medical attendance, or education. Books necessary for the prescribed course of study are sold to Students at about half the published price.

Candidates are admitted into the College in the January following the examination.

The syllabus of subjects for examination will be found in the New Code. It is co-extensive with the subjects required in the course of a pupil teacher's apprenticeship. Additional marks may be obtained for Language, Science, and Drawing. A copy of the questions set at the last Government Examination may be obtained from Messrs. Longman, price 6*d*. Timely notice of the date of the examination will be sent to each candidate.

There are two long vacations, one beginning about the first week of July, and lasting till the middle of August ; the other beginning about the third week in December, and lasting till the fourth week in January. During these vacations the College is entirely closed. Usually there is also a recess of a week or ten days at Easter, during which Students residing at a distance have the option of remaining at the College.

Weekly examinations are held throughout the year, the results of which are registered. Prizes are awarded to those Students who have the highest aggregate of marks in each subject.

Students are prepared for the examinations in connection with the Science and Art Department, South Kensington. At the examinations in May 1877, 184 Science Certificates were gained, 81 of which were of the advanced stage. After the examinations in November and December, 56 Students had completed their Full Drawing Certificates.

Students are expected to rise at six o'clock in the morning, the first Lecture commencing at a quarter to seven.

Divine Service is celebrated in the College Chapel at nine in the morning and half-past nine in the evening. Students attend both services.

Students go to bed immediately after evening service.

There are three meals in the course of the day ; viz., breakfast at eight, dinner at one, tea at half-past six.

One hour is spent daily in drill exercise or garden work.

The Students are expected to spend a certain portion of each year in the Practising School for the purpose of learning the practical part of their profession. Great importance is attached to the Normal Master's Report on their industry and ability, both by H.M. Inspector in assigning marks for teaching, and by the Principal in making appointments to Schools.

Students are not allowed to leave the College without special permission, except on Wednesday afternoons, from twelve to six in winter, and from twelve to seven in the summer, from three to six all the year round on Saturday afternoon, and on Sunday afternoon from three to half-past five.

There are in the College two organs, one pianoforte, and four harmoniums, on all of which the Students practise, the times and length of practice being determined by the Organist.

The Students are formed into a Volunteer Corps. Membership is optional, and entails no expense. Drill takes place regularly in the College grounds, and, as often as the College arrangements permit, the Students attend Battalion Drill.

The College does not pledge itself to find situations for out-going Students, but no difficulty is found in obtaining appointments for such Students as conduct themselves satisfactorily, and avail themselves of the various opportunities for improvement which the College offers.

Secretary to the Council.—The Rev. J. Duncan, M.A., National Society's Office, Sanctuary, Westminster.

Principal.—The Rev. Evan Daniel, M.A.

Vice-Principal.—Mr. Edwin Hammonds.

S. MARK'S TRAINING COLLEGE, CHELSEA.

S. Mark's College is an institution for the education and training of School-masters, and was established in 1840, by the National Society. Instruction to about 120 male Students, so that they may become teachers in Church of England Schools. The age of admission ranges from eighteen to twenty-one years complete. A candidate whose years exceed or fall short of these limits can only be received by special agreement. The time of admission is at the end of the second or third week in January. Application should be made nine months previously. Before a pupil can be received, a written application must be made on his behalf to the Principal by some responsible person, accompanied by a certificate or other satisfactory proof of baptism, and a recommendation from a clergyman or other responsible person (to be countersigned by a clergyman), who is requested to state as particularly as possible the grounds on which it is given, as well for the satisfaction of the authorities of the College as to prevent disappointment and needless expense on the part of the candidate and his friends. Good moral character, amiability, truthfulness, and diligence are indispensable requisites. These who successfully pass the Government Entrance Examination may be received as Students on payment of an entrance fee of 10*l*. No other payment will be required from them during their two years' residence. There are 3 Exhibitions of 10*l*. each, founded by the late Samuel Wood, Esq. (brother to Lord Halifax), open to natives of the old Deanery of Doncaster, or to those whose parents have resided in the Deanery for 5 years.
